By order No. 3991-I.R.|IR|10L-71|58, dated 19t September 1958, the Government of West Bengal i the Labour Department referred an industrial disput between Messrs. General Trading and Engineering Cc and their workmen represented by General Tradin and Engineering Workers' Union relating to the under mentioned issue to the Second Labour Court fo adjudication:

Issue

Whether the dismissal of the following workmer is justified? To what relief are they entitled'

(1) Rambrich Sarma, (2) Sadanand Sharma, (3 Baldeo, (4) Ramanand, (5) Dharison, (6 Satram, (7) Chandrika, (8) Rajnarain, (9 Dhanbahadur, (10) Sarat Chandra Dey.

During hearing of the case Shri Sarat Chandra Dey, one of the workmen mentioned in the issue of the order of reference, and Messrs. General Trading and Engineering Co. filed a joint petition to the effect that they have settled out of Court the dispute relating to Shri Sarat Chandra Dey. Hence I hold that there is no longer any industrial dispute in relation to Shri Sarat Chandra Dey. As regards the other workmen mentioned in the issue of the order of reference, the case of General Trading and Engineering Workers' Union (hereinafter referred to as the Union), briefly stated, is as follows:—

The workmen of Messrs. General Trading and Engineering Co. (hereinafter referred to as the Company) were on strike from 7th April 1958 to 11th May 1958. Shri Rambrich Sarma who was the Vice-President of the Union took an active part in the strike. Sarbasri Sadanand Sharma, Ramanand and Dhanbahadur participated in the strike. So they were dismissed by the Company on 27th May 1958 arbitrarily. Sarbasri Chandrika and Dharison were also dismissed arbitrarily on that date. Twenty-two days later they received registered letters, dated 16th June 1958, from the Company containing a false charge and they gave their written replies to the charge on 21st May 1958. So the Union contends that the dismissal of the above workmen is unjustified. There is no mention of Sarbasri Baldeo, Satram and Rajnarain in the written statement of the Union.

The Company has raised a preliminary objection to the effect that this is not an industrial dispute. As to the merits of the case, the Company agrees with the Union that there was a strike from 7th April 1958 to 11th May 1958. The Company denies that it dismissed one of the 9 workmen whose case is being considered now. So according to the Company, there is no question of the Company dismissing Shri Rambrich Sarma for taking an active part in the strike or the other workmen for participating in the strike. According to the Company, the workmen in question began to be absent on and from 27th May 1958 without any intimation. The Company waited for th resumption of duty by them for some days. O 16th June 1958 the Company issued to them letter asking them to state within 24 hours of the receip thereof the cause of their absence and telling them th if they fail to do so, the Company would take it tha they had left their services voluntarily. Sarbasr Chandrika and Dharison received those letters; bu they did not send any reply, as claimed by the Unio in its written statement. None of the workmen in cluding the above two showed any reason for thei absence or reported for duty. So the Company presumed that they had left their services voluntarily. The Company intimated this to Sarbasri Chandrika and Dharison by letters, dated 30th June 1958.

I first take up the preliminary objection raised by the Company. The Company has not stated in its written statement why it averred that this is not an industrial dispute, not to speak of adducing any evidence to show that this is not an industrial dispute. So I summarily reject the preliminary objection of the Company and hold that this is an industrial dispute. I now enter into the merits of the issue.

Before I enter into the first portion of the issue, viz., about the justifiability of the alleged dismissal of the workmen, it is necessary to say a few words about the second part of the issue, viz., about relief. In its written statement the Union has prayed for the reinstatement of the workmen mentioned therein and for payment of compensation to them for the period of their forced unemployment. It has been proved before me that Sarbasri Baldeo, Satram and Rajnarain were re-employed by the Company about six months after the termination of their services; Satram is now dead. As regards the other six, a joint petition by the Company and the Union was filed before this Court on 27th July 1962 in which it was agreed that the Company would re-employ them, if they resumed work by 26th August 1962. Sarbasri Sadanand Sharma, Ramanand and Chandrika resumed work within that date and were re-employed by the Company. Sarbasri Rambrich Sarma, Dharison and Dhanbahadur did not join within that date; so according to the Company they have lost any claim to reinstatement in view of the joint petition filed before this Court. The Union does not press the claim for reinstatement on behalf of Sarbasri Rambrich Sarma and Dhanbahadur; but the Union claims reinstatement of Dharison on the ground that he could not resume work within the stipulated date on account of his illness. So the only contingent relief claimed by the Union in this case is about reinstatement of Dharison and payment of compensation to all the workmen in question for the period of their forced unemployment. The question of compensation will naturally depend on the decision of the question whether the termination of the services of the workmen in question was justified or not. The question of reinstatement of Dharison will depend on the decision as to the question of the justifiability of the termination of the services as also as to the question whether he is prevented by the joint petition from claiming reinstatement.

I first take up the question of justifiability of the termination of services of the workmen in question. For the decision of this question the only point that arises from the pleadings of both sides is whether the above workmen were dismissed or they voluntarily left their services. The Union has led evidence to the effect that on 27th May 1958 Shri Ruliaram, a partner of the Company, asked the workmen in question to put signatures on a piece of paper. As they could not understand the contents of that paper, they requested him to allow them to take it outside to have the contents explained to them by the Secretary of the Union. Shri Ruliaram refused to allow this. Then they enquired of him about the contents of the paper; he replied that it was a bond to the effect that they were entering services as new hands. They refused to sign the bond. So Shri Ruliaram told them that they were dismissed and drove them out of the factory. The Company has denied the above contention of the Union. It has led evidence to the effect that on 26th May 1958 Shri Rambrich Sarma produced a telegram before Shri Ruliaram and asked for leave saying that there was a marriage in his house. Shri Ruliaram asked him to put in an application for leave; he refused to do so and insisted on going on leave without any application for the purpose. Then Shri Ruliaram told him that he might do as he liked. From the following day Shri Rambrich Sharma and the other workmen in question stopped coming to the factory. In this divergence of contentions it is worthy to note that the workmen or the Union did not write any leter to the Company or to the Labour Directorate about the conduct of Shri Ruliaram in asking the workmen to sign a bond. Even the Secretary of the Union in his letter to the Labour Commissioner [Ext. 1(h)] has not stated the circumstances of the alleged dismissal of the workmen in question. If the contention of the Union about the dismissal of the workmen in the circumstances described above were true, one would have expected the Secretary to inform the Labour Commissioner about the conduct of Shri Ruliaram in the matter. Again Sarbasri Baldeo, Satram and Rajnarain in their applications praying for re-employment have stated categorically that they left the services of the Company voluntarily without any intimation. The representative of the Union has tried to question the genuineness of the applications. But if he thought that the applications were not genuine, he could easily prove this by producing before me Sarbasri Baldeo and Rajnarain who are still alive; he has not done this. He has argued that they have not stated in their applications that they worked elsewhere, as alleged by the Company. But the question whether they worked elsewhere is only an incidental one; the main question is whether they left the services of the Company voluntarily; this question has been answered affirmatively by the applications of the above three. Shri Chandrika and Shri Dharison have admitted the receipt of the letters wherein the Company asked them to state the reasons of their absence without intimation. They have stated in evidence before me that they handed over their replies to the effect that they were dismissed to Ruliaram who refused to give them any receipt for the replies. If that were so, one would have expected them to send replies by registered post or at least to inform the Company about Shri Ruliaram refusing to give them a receipt for the letters handed over by them. So this evidence of Sarbasri Chandrika and Dharison cannot be believed. Thus there is no evidence of the Union or the workmen putting in writing at the relevant time that the workmen were dismissed. So the above discussion clearly shows that the workmen in question voluntarily left the services of the Company.

The Union has raised the plea of victimisation on account of the workmen in question being active members of the Union. There is no evidence to show that the Union ever reported the names of the office bearers or other important members of the Union to the Company. It is true that some of the workmen mentioned in the issue of the order of reference were present at a conciliation meeting; this may lead to an inference that they were active members of the Union. But the question of victimisation arises only when it is proved that they had been dismissed. As I have held that they left the services of the Company of their own accord, the question of victimisation cannot arise at all. In this connection the representative of the Union has referred me to a decision of the Labour Appellate Tribunal of India in the case of Lipton Ltd., reported at page 319 of L.L.J. 1956, Vol. I. In that case it has been held that an adjudicating court can enter into the reasons of the discharge of a workman even when he is discharged after due notice as per Standing Orders. As the present case is not a case of discharge, the above decision has no application here.

As the workmen in question voluntarily left their services, the question mentioned in the issue of the order of reference whether their dismissal is justified does not arise. So none of them is entitled to any relief.

I now take up the case of Shri Dharison. The above discussion has proved that he was one of those who left services voluntarily. So he cannot claim any relief on account of the losing of service. The only question is whether he can claim to get back his job on the strength of the joint petition filed before this Court on 27th July 1962. According to that petition he was to resume work by 26th August 1962. He failed to do so. He says that he was ill and has produced a medical certificate in support of his illness. But he did not inform the Company, the Union or this Court about his inability to resume work by the stipulated date. If he had done so, something might have been done. He turned up with a prayer for getting back his job long after the stipulated date. In this connection the representative of the Union has referred me to a decision of the Labour Appellate Tribunal of India in the case of Kanpur Tannery Employees' Union, reported at page 141 of L.A.C. 1956. In that case it has been held that Industrial Tribunals can scrutinise a contract entered between an employer and his employees with a view to see whether the terms are fair and reasonable. I need not say that the terms of the joint petition filed before me are quite fair and reasonable. So each party to that petition is bound by the terms of that petition. As Shri Dharison failed to comply with the terms of that petition, he cannot claim to get back his job.

AWARD

The above dispute over the Issue given in the order of reference and reproduced below was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 1918-I.R.|IR|4L-20|62, dated the 24th May 1962.

Issue

Bonus for the years 1960 and 1961.

After service of notices on the parties, the Union filed its written statement on 18th July 1962, after taking some adjournments. On that very date, seven letters were received by registered post and they purported to be letters from all the workmen of each of the seven employers named in the order of reference and the letters were to the effect that they had received the bonus for 1960 and 1961 from the employers and they had no dispute with the employers regarding the question of bonus. These letters were kept with the record and the employers were asked to file their written statements. The employers filed their written statements on 17th August 1962. In these written statements, they pleaded, inter alia, that there was no existing dispute between them and their workers over the question of bonus for 1960 and 1961 and no such dispute ever existed, nor was apprehended and as such, the adjudication proceeding was not maintainable. It was also alleged that the employers had voluntarily paid sufficient bonuses to their employees for the years 1960 and 1961. After this, seven joint petitions supported by affidavits were filed before this Tribunal by the seven concerned employers and their workmen on 21st August 1962. In these petitions, it was stated that all the workmen of these employers had already received their bonuses for the years 1960 and 1961 and there is and there never was any dispute between the employers and the workmen over the question of bonus. It was also clearly stated in the petitions that these were filed by all the workmen of the concerned employers and these workers were not members of the Union named in the order of reference, viz., the West Bengal Marine Union. Upon these allegations, it was prayed in ea of the joint petitions that the reference should dismissed as untenable, or a suitable award sho be made on the basis that there was no dispute betwe the parties. Copies of these joint petitions and a davits were served upon the Union's lawyer. In vi of these joint petitions and affidavits, the Tribu directed that there should first of all be a prelimin hearing as to whether the adjudication should proce on merits, and the Union was directed to file repl to the affidavits before the preliminary hearing. against the seven joint petitions and affidavits, filed the employers and their workmen, the Secretary the Union filed an affidavit on 22nd October 19 After this, there was hearing on the preliminary poi as to whether the adjudication should proceed merits or it should be disposed of on the basis th there was no dispute between the employers and t employees referred to in the order of reference.

At the hearing, the concerned workers of the sev employers put in appearance through Shri P. Mukherjee, Lawyer, by giving him written authori to appear on their behalf. Shri P. R. Mukherj represented them at the hearing. He fully supporte the joint petitions and affidavits filed by the employe and the workmen and pressed for an award on th basis of the affidavits. All the concerned worke thus participated in the hearing through a lawyer.

It is clearly stated in each of the seven petitio filed jointly by the employers and the workmen tha all the workmen of each of the seven concerne employers are parties to the petitions and each petitio is supported by an affidavit sworn by one of th workers of each of the seven concerned employers In the counter-affidavit filed by the Secretary of th Union, there is absolutely no clear and specific denia of the aforesaid statement in each of the petitions There are allegations in the counter-affidavit to th effect that the employers took the signatures of thei workers on some blank sheets of paper by force an threats. Not a single of the workers of any of th concerned employers has appeared before this Tribunal to deny any of the joint petitions and affidavits file on their behalf. The Union has not been able to produce any worker to speak against any of the petitions and affidavits. There is no reason why the joint petitions and affidavits filed by the employers and the workmen should not be accepted and acted upon in the present case. The affidavits stand unrebutted. I have no hesitation to hold upon the facts and circumstances discussed above that the joint petitions and affidavits filed by the employers and their workmen before this Tribunal are bona fide and reflect the true position in regard to the alleged dispute between the employers and their workmen referred to in the order of reference. So, these affidavits must be accepted and it must be held thereon that there is no industrial dispute between the concerned employers and their workmen which requires to be adjudicated upon and there was never any such dispute and consequently, the present reference is to be disposed of on that basis.

It has been vehemently argued on behalf of the Union Secretary that when the Union is named in the order of reference, the workers themselves have no right to intervene in the adjudication proceedings to plead that there is or was no dispute between them and their employers, and thereby put an end to the adjudication proceeding. I am unable to accept this argument. It is the workmen who are parties to the alleged industrial dispute with their employers and the Union is referred to in the order of reference as simply representing the workmen in the dispute. The workmen are, therefore, the principal parties. They have certainly every right to come and state before the Tribunal that they have or had really no dispute with their employers and they do not want any adjudication on the supposed dispute. In the present case, the workers have also stated in their petitions and affidavits that they are not at all members of the Union said to represent them in the order of reference. The Union Secretary has denied this statement in his affidavit. After considering the overall facts and circumstances, I prefer to believe and accept the statements of the workers in this respect. There is no positive evidence before me to show that these workers or even some of them are members of the concerned Union.

I am satisfied from the facts and circumstances disclosed by the joint petitions and affidavits filed by the employers and their workmen, which have already been accepted as correct and bona fide, that the concerned Union has or had no right or locus standi to raise the dispute referred to in the order of reference and no such dispute exists or ever existed between the concerned employers and their workmen and as such, this reference is not maintainable and no adjudication on the merits of the alleged dispute is necessary. I make an award accordingly.

AWARD

By Order No. 2410-I.R./IR/11L-139/60, dated the 18th May 1960, the Government of West Bengal, in the Labour Department, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Carlsbad Mineral Water Manufacturing Company, 14 Watkins Lane, Howrah, and their workmen represented by the Carlsbad Factory Employees' Union, 172 Beneras Road, Salkia, Howrah, regarding the matters specified in the schedule, to the Third Industrial Tribunal constituted under section 7A of the Industrial Disputes Act by notification No. 808-I.R./IR/3A-2/57, dated the 11th March 1957, for adjudication.

Issue

Bonus payable in 1959.

The reference came from the Government for adjudication of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Carlsbad Mineral Water Manufacturing of 14 Watkins Lane, Howrah (hereinafter be referred to as the Company), and their workmen represented by the Carlsbad Factory Employees' Union (hereinafter be referred to as the Union).

Immediately after receipt of the reference notices were given by this tribunal to both the parties who duly entered appearance and filed their respective written statements.

The Union's case in the written statement is that the Company is engaged in the manufacture of Carlsbad mineral water and is a highly prosperous concern earning fabulous profit every year. But the Company is indifferent to look to the welfare of its workmen. In June 1959 the workmen organised themselves under the present Union and in July that year the Union submitted a claim for bonus equivalent to two months' total wages to be paid before the Puja of 1959. But the Company in spite of its huge earning in that year did not pay any bonus. The matter had to be taken to the Labour Directorate for conciliation if possible but there was none in view of the unsympathetic attitude of the employer. Hence the present reference was made.

The Company in its written statement has denied the Union's allegation that it is a highly prosperous concern making enormous profit every year and that it can easily pay bonus equivalent to two months' wages. On the contrary, the Company's case is that its factory is one of the smallest units amongst the mineral water manufacturing concerns and it cannot be run throughout the whole year but it is of a seasonal character and the work remains suspended for about four months in every winter. The Company earned a very meagre profit in the year 1958 and if Full Bench Formula be applied there would be left no available surplus and as such no bonus can be claimed on the earning of profit in the year 1958. The Company has further objected to Union's claim of bonus equivalent to two months' total wages. Its contention is that bonus cannot be claimed on the basis of total wages. It may, if found admissible, be claimed on the basis of basic wages and not total wages.

Decision

At the hearing the Union did not adduce any evidence either oral or documentary excepting filing on 23rd May 1961 some notes on calculations of available surplus as per Full Bench Formula submitted earlier on 15th May 1961 by the Company. Thereupon the Company filed a statement in reply on 6th December 1961. The Company examined one witness and tendered a few documents into evidence. Admittedly the Union's claim is of profit-sharing bonus for the workmen. The Union's case in the written statement is that "the Company has made fabulous profit" in the year in question, and "the claim for two months' total wages as bonus is only too moderate." It is, however, well-known that the basic concept of bonus is that its payment depends on surplus of trading profit available according to the Full Bench Formula evolved by the Full Bench of the Labour Appellate Tribunal in the case of Mill Owners' Association, Bombay versus Rastriya Mill Mazdur Sangh, Bombay [1950 (II) L.L.J. 1247]. Their Lordships in that case made the following observation: "*As both capital and labour contribute to the earnings of the industrial concern, it is fair that the labour should derive some benefit, if there is a surplus after meeting the prior or necessary charges."

Their Lordships further observed that "the claim of the employees for bonus would only arise if there should be residue after making provision for—

(a) prior charges, and

(b) fair return on paid up capital and on reserves employed as working capital.

The Full Bench Formula evolved by the Full Bench of the Labour Appellate Tribunal was approved in several later decisions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court and the identical views as aforesaid were expressed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Burn Company's case [1957 (I) L.L.J. 226]. The Formula was thoroughly examined and elaborately explained by Their Lordships of the Supreme Court in the case of Associated Cement Companies versus their workmen [1959 (I) L.L.J. 644]. This Formula has worked fairly satisfactorily all over the country and should be adhered to, as has been observed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court [1961 (I) L.L.J. 521], without revision till such time as a high powered Commission went into the question.

There is no dispute as to the applicability of t Full Bench Formula in the present case in view the fact that the demand is for profit-sharing bor and not on the ground of custom or condition service.

In the case of Muir Mills Company Ltd. report in 1955 (J) L.L.J. 1, it was held by the Hon'l Supreme Court that two conditions have to be fi filled before the demand for bonus can be sustaine They are: (1) the wages paid to the workmen mu fall short of the living standard and (2) the indust must make profits, part of which are due to t contribution which the workmen make in increa ing the production.

Therefore, the first essential condition for raisi a demand for bonus is that the wages of the wor men concerned must fall short of the living wa standard and the onus of proving that there disparity between the existing wages and the livi standard lies with the workmen themselves. In th present case there is no controversy between th parties on this point. It is not the case of th Company that it has been paying living wages to i workmen. In fact, it is the contention of the Unio that the workmen are not getting even the fair wag not to speak of living wages and the Company do not deny this fact but it pleads inability to pay i view of its poor profit from the small business whic is of a seasonal character. According to th Company its work practically remains suspended fo about four months in winter. Previously workme had to be retrenched but in view of their difficultie it is now being avoided. Therefore, it can be con cluded that the workmen of the Company are no getting living wages. It may not be out of place t mention here that the ideal of living wages is yet t be achieved in our country and the time is still ver far off.

The next essential condition for a successful clai for bonus is that the Company must earn som profits, because profit-sharing bonus can be paid onl out of surplus profit after meeting the prior charges.

The Union's claim for bonus in the present case relates to a particular year, i.e., for the year 1958 pay able in 1959. Therefore, the onus is upon the work men to make out a case for bonus, i.e., they must show after meeting the prior and necessary charges and payment of dividend on paid up capital and the reserves employed as working capital sufficien surplus is left, out of which bonus can be claimed [1953(II) L.L.J. 858].

There is, however, in the present case no dispute that the level of existing wages is far below the livin standard and the balance-sheet (Ext. D) shows that the Company made some profit in the year 1958 There is no dispute that the trading year of the Company begins with January and ends with Decem ber of each year. The Company has produced before the Tribunal the audited balance-sheet of the year 1958 (Ext. D) which shows that there was a net profit of Rs. 16,433.91 nP. in the trading year in question. It will now be seen, in accordance with the Full Bench Formula, what surplus of profit, if any, be available for payment of bonus after meeting the prior charges, namely, (1) depreciation, (2) taxes, (3) return on paid up capital, (4) return on working capital, and (5) rehabilitation.

The Formula further deals with the claim for bonus on the basis that the relevant year for which bonus is claimed is a self-sufficient unit. Therefore, appropriate accounts have to be made in respect of the said year. When the available surplus profit would be determined in accordance with the Full Bench Formula, there would be three parties entitled to claim shares therein. They are—

(1) Labour's claim for bonus,

(2) Industry's claim for the purpose of expansion and other needs, and

(3) The shareholder's claim for additional return on the capital invested by him. If there be no available surplus or profit for distribution there can be no case for payment of profit bonus. [1961 (I) L.L.J. 521.]

The work on the Full Bench Formula begins with the figure of gross profits taken from the profit and loss account and which are arrived at after payment of wages and D.A. to the employees and other items of expenditure. As a general rule gross profits arising at the face of the statement of profit and loss account should be taken as the basic figure while working out the formula. In this case the Company has produced the audited balance-sheet and statement of profit and loss account for the year ended 31st December 1958 (Ext. D). It shows that the net profit for the year was Rs. 16,433.91 nP. Union has not disputed this amount of net profit for the year in question. As a matter of fact, Union has admitted this amount of net profit in the notes on calculation submitted by the Union on 23rd May 1961. The Company in the statement of calculation of available surplus filed on 8th November 1961 (Ext. C) has stated this amount as the gross profit in absence of any depreciation fund or any other item for being added back to the net profit. Out of this amount of gross profit the Company has deducted income tax at the rate of 8 annas per rupee amounting to Rs. 8,217 and thus the gross profit was reduced to Rs. 8,217. The Union has challenged this deduction on the account of income tax on the ground that the Company did not pay any income tax in the year in question and as such it is not entitled to the deduction claimed by way of income tax. Of course, this point ultimately was not seriously pressed and was practically abandoned by the Union at the time of argument, probably having regard to the authoritative decision on the point of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case reported in the case of Kirloskar Oil Engines Ltd. and their workmen [1960 (I) L.L.J. 512]. In that case it was held that—

> "In working out the Full Bench Formula, the employer is entitled to claim proportionate amount of income tax payable on the profit determined under the Formula even though under the provision of the Income Tax Act [Section 24(2) of the Act] he may not be required to pay the said tax on account of loss incurred in previous year. The provision of income tax under the Formula is to be calculated by deducting from the given profit of the year the admissible depreciation."

Therefore, although it is admitted that the Company having incurred loss in the previous year had not to pay any income tax, still under the Full Bench Formula they are entitled to the deduction of the income tax from the gross profit.

The next item of prior charges claimed by the Company is the return on paid up capital. The Company has claimed return at the rate of 6 per cent. on the paid up capital of Rs. 2½ lakhs. The audited balance-sheet of the year (Ext. D) shows that the paid up capital was amounting to Rs. 2½ lakhs. So the Company has claimed deduction of an amount of Rs. 15,000 by way of return at the rate of 6 per cent. on the paid up capital. Union does not dispute this item for prior charges. On the contrary, it admits this amount in its statement of calculation filed on 23rd May 1961. After deducting this amount from the balance gross profit of Rs. 8,217 the result is found to be a deficit of Rs. 6,783 as shown in Ext. C.

The Company has further claimed an amount of Rs. 12,225 by way of cost of rehabilitation of machineries and buildings. In calculating the cost of rehabilitation of machineries and buildings, the Company, as will appear from Ext. C, has taken into consideration the written down value of the fixed assets as shown in the balance-sheet Ext. D. The Company has taken the useful life of the machineries as 15 years and that of the buildings as 30 years. Of course, it did not use any multiplier for the purpose of determining the cost of rehabilitation and replacement of the machineries and buildings. Even without the multiplier the total cost of rehabilitation of machineries and plants has been found after deduction of 5 per cent. breakdown value of the original costs to be Rs. 12,225. The Union does not challenge this amount by way of cost of rehabilitation of machineries and buildings as claimed by the Company. So there will be a net deficit of Rs. 19,008 and as such the question of payment of bonus does not arise.

The Union, as I have already observed, does not adduce any evidence to question of the cost of rehabilitation as claimed by the Company even without any multiplier. The Union has mentioned in its statement of calculations filed on 23rd May 1961 that the expenses amounting to Rs. 35,653.03 nP. are not admitted. But it has not clarified the position as to what items of expenditure are not admitted. The Company has, of course, filed a reply to this chart of the Union in which it has detailed the disputed amount of the expenses. It will appear from the chart of the Company that the Union admitted the Director's remuneration amounting to Rs. 12,000 but disputed the salary paid to the office staff and the line staff amounting to Rs. 35,653.03 nP. (Vide Company's reply to the chart submitted by the Union, dated 6th December 1961.) The Union, as I have already said, does not adduce any evidence whatsoever to clarify the expenses not admitted as shown in their statement, dated 23rd May 1961, or to challenge the Company's reply submitted on 6th December 1961. Therefore, it is very difficult to understand the Union's position. The position taken by the Union as apparent from the notes on calculation filed on 23rd May 1961 is that the Director's salary amounting to Rs. 12,000 is admitted but not the wages of the line staff and of the office staffs amounting to Rs. 35,653.03 nP. But in fact, Union actually objected to the said amount of Rs. 12,000 paid as remuneration to the Working Director Shri B. N. Bhaulka. According to D.W. 1 Shri Gouri Dutt Sukla, the Cashier of the Company, the said Working Director was paid monthly remuneration of Rs. 1,000 in consideration of his whole-time services. That remuneration was sanctioned by the Board of Directors by a resolution, dated 15th June 1956 (vide Ext. A). It is not denied by the Union that Shri Bhaulka renders wholetime services for the business. Therefore, it is a permissible item of expenditure for the purpose of the Bonus Formula as held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Kapoor & Co. and their workmen [1960 (I) L.L.J. 510]. The Union admits in its written statement, paragraph 6, that it is a proprietory concern and it does not deny that Shri Bhaulka has been rendering wholetime services for the purposes of the business and that the amount of his remuneration was sanctioned by a resolution of the proprietors.

The Union has urged that the salary of the factory staff is much less than what is shown in the balance-sheet. The Company has denied this allegation. The Union does not adduce any evidence in support of this contention but the Secretary of the Union has simply sworn an affidavit to State that there were 18 workmen only in 1958 and their wage bill was for Rs. 13,032. The affidavit was sworn by the Union Secretary on 9th November 1961. In reply thereto one of the Directors, who is in actual charge of the business, has sworn a counter-affidavit on 16th November 1961 in which he has stated that the wages of the factory workers for the year 1958 including the wages of the daily-rated casual workers and overtime wages were Rs. 31,127.94 nP. as will appear from the Ledger Folio Account No. F/2 series. The Company produced before this Tribunal the account books including cash books and vouchers to show payments to the casual workers. The Union does not deny the fact of employment of casual workers and the wages paid to them as apparent from the vouchers and also from the entries in the cash book and other books of account. D.W. 1 Shri Gouri Dutt Sukla is the Cashier of the Company and he proved the payments. Therefore, it is extremely difficult to beleive this Union's allegation in absence of any evidence to support it. On the contrary, the audited balance-sheet (Ext. D) shows that the factory wages were amounting to Rs. 31,127.94 nP. and there are also supporting evidences to prove payment of the said amount as wages to the factory staff.

So, the position, as I have already found, remains the same, i.e., there is no available surplus for distribution as bonus. Consequently, the Union's claim for bonus for the year 1958 payable in 1959 is rejected. The workmen of the concern are not entitled to get any bonus for that year.

This is my award.

Issues

Bonus out of profits for the year ending the 31st December 1959 payable in 1960.

Puja bonus payable in 1961 and bonus out of profits for the year ending the 31st December 1960 payable in 1961.

AWARD

›on receipt of the order of reference on 14th :h 1962, notices were issued upon the parties ıppearance and for filing written statements.

The workmen represented by the Vegetable Products Workers' Union (hereinafter referred to as the Union) filed their written statement on 19th April 1962. It is contended by the Union that the Company, i.e., Messrs. Vegetable Products Ltd., is a prosperous concern which earned enough profits in the years 1959 and 1960 and that the workers are paid wages much below any reasonable standard of living wages. It is thus claimed that the workers are entitled to get profit bonus at four month's wages for those years payable in 1960 and 1961 respectively. It is also asserted that the employees had acquired a right to claim Puja bonus as a customary right on the eve of Durga Pujas and for that the Company must pay one and a half months' wages as Puja bonus in 1961.

The employer, i.e., Messrs. Vegetable Products Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as the Company), filed the written statement on 17th May 1962. It is alleged by the Company that they are paying fair and reasonable wages to the workmen in comparison to the industries in the neighbourhood and that the wage structure had recently been revised by the award given by the Third Industrial Tribunal as published in the "Calcutta Gazette", dated 28th June 1960. Regarding the claim for profit bonus, it is contended that there was no available surplus left after deduction of prior charges for the trading years 1959 and 1960 and, therefore, the workmen are not entitled to demand any bonus under that head. It is also alleged that the claim for profit bonus for the year 1959 is a belated claim and should not be entertained at this stage. It is asserted that the demand for Puja bonus on the basis of an implied contract, as a condition of service or on the strength of a customary right, should not be entertained as whatsoever bonus had been paid in the past was in the nature of ex-gratia payment and that the payment was on the basis of assumed profit. In this context it is alleged that the claim of bonus should be entirely rejected.

After completion of the preliminary stages, the dispute came up for hearing on 8th September 1962. Both parties led evidence, oral and documentary, in support of the case. After conclusion of evidence the learned representatives of the parties advanced argument in support of their respective contentions.

The dispute is relating to a claim of bonus. The Union claims Puja bonus at one and a half months' wages payable in 1961. Besides, the workmen claim profit bonus for the accounting years 1959 and 1960 payable in the following years.

I take up the question of Puja bonus first.

It appears that this factory which is engaged in the manufacture of Vanaspati vegetable products was virtually started in 1953 when the present employer purchased the factory from Messrs. Sisir Oil Industry Ltd. which had gone into liquidation. The activities of Messrs. Sisir Oil Industry are not known definitely. It appears that the workers demanded one month's wages as Puja bonus in 1954. The claim for Puja bonus was amicably settled by conciliation affected by Shri N. G. Chatterjee, Labour Officer, Barrackpur, and the memorandum of settlement, Ext. 2, dated 29th September 1954, indicates that the Company paid ten day's wages as bonus to the employees on the eve of Durga Pujas. It appears from the evidence that a demand for Puja bonus had been made by the workers in the next year, i.e., in 1955, and the Company paid the workmen 20 days' wages as bonus (vide Ext. 3—a letter written by the General Manager of the Company to the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Barrackpur, dated 17th October 1955). Thereafter the Company paid 30 days' wages as bonus to all permanent daily-rated workers on the eve of the Durga Pujas in 1956 (vide Ext. 4, a letter of the Company, dated 20th September 1956). It is admitted by both the parties that the workers were paid 30 days' wages as bonus in 1957, just on the eve of Durga Puja. Payment at the same amount as bonus had been made by the employer to the workmen on the eve of Pujas in 1958 as shown in the Office Order, Ext. 5, dated 1st October 1958. The workers made demand for Puja bonus in the year 1959 on the eve of the Pujas. The dispute was amicably settled by a tripartite settlement. Ext. 6 is the memorandum of settlement, dated 22nd September 1959. It appears from the terms of settlement that the parties settled the dispute in the manner that 30 days' wages would be paid as bonus (ex-gratia) for the accounting year 1957-58 to all the workmen who had completed 240 days work by the day of payment and whose name was borne on the Company's roll. There is nothing to indicate that the payment of bonus was anything but Puja bonus which is a well recognised type of bonus in this State. A claim regarding customary Puja bonus and also for the profit bonus cropped up in 1960 and finally the Company paid one month's wages as Puja bonus and 15 days' wages as recoverable advance. It appears that the claim for profit bonus as made by the workmen could not be settled by the Conciliation Officer as the Company took a stand that the audited balance-sheet for the year ending 31st December 1959 had not been ready [vide Ext. 8(a)—a letter from the Labour Officer, Barrackpur, dated 16th September 1960]. It follows therefore from the evidence that the workmen had been paid on the eve of Pujas one month's wages as bonus every year from 1956 to 1960 (five years). The question, therefore, arises for consideration if on account of such payment of bonus made by the employer on the eve of Pujas for a continuous period of five years at an invariable rate, the workers had acquired a customary right to claim bonus as customary Puja bonus.

There is no dispute on the point that the workers are entitled to claim, in appropriate circumstances, bonus—as a customary bonus or as a condition of service, and such claim if once established can be sustained irrespective of the question of profit and loss earned by the Company. The claim for such bonus unrelated to profits came up for consideration before the Supreme Court in the case of Messrs. Ispahani Ltd., Calcutta, and Ispahani Employees' Union, as reported in 1959, II, L.L.J., page 4. In that case the dispute was relating to a claim of bonus based on an implied agreement creating a term of employment between the employer and the employees. It was held, in the particular circumstances of the case, that when payment at one month's wages as bonus had been made every year from 1948 to 1952 without any break and when such payment had been made even in the year of loss, the workers had acquired a right to claim bonus as a condition of service. In the subsequent decision of the Hon' Supreme Court in the case of Messrs. Graha Trading Co. and their workmen as reported in 19 II, L.L.J., page 393, which was, in fact, relating a claim of bonus as a customary and traditior bonus, the tests upon application of which a co clusion as to the existence of such customary rig could be sustained had been laid down. A clai of Puja bonus as a condition of service is somewh distinguishable from that in the case of a clai based on a customary right.

The tests to be applied in deciding the claim Puja bonus are as follows:

(i) Whether the payment had been made ove an unbroken series of years.

(ii) Whether such payment had been made fo a sufficiently long period.

(iii) The circumstance that the payment depend ed upon the earning of profits has got to b excluded. Any unilateral declaration b the employer that the payment was ex gratia would not affect the claim based o custom.

(iv) The payment must have been at a uniform rate throughout to justify an inference that the payment at such rate had become customary and traditional in the particular concern.

Applying the tests as stated above I find that it is established in this case that the payment had been made at a uniform rate of one month's wage for a continuous period of five years, i.e., from 1956 to 1960. There is nothing to show from the facts and circumstances that the payment had been made on the question of profits earned by the Company. It is also to be noted that the Company took the plea of inability to pay higher wages to the workmen in the dispute regarding wages as decided by the Third Industrial Tribunal by the award published in the "Calcutta Gazette", dated 28th July 1960. From the award I find that the Company in the written statement of that case stated that they had been incurring losses year after year till the year ended 30th September 1958. In fact, it appears from the award that the Tribunal found upon reference to the documents filed in that case that the Company suffered loss in 1954 and 1955. Clearly bonus at one month's wages had been paid in 1956 in spite of the fact that there was loss in the year 1955.

The learned lawyer for the Company urged that in the case of customary bonus, the payment of bonus must be proved to have been made for a larger number of years. That is, of course, necessary to be established when the claim for Puja bonus is based on a customary right. At the same time there is no hard and fast rule fixing the number of years over which the payment need be shown to have been made to sustain a claim of traditional Puja bonus. In this case the Company started its business in 1953. Within this limited period of its existence, Puja bonus at one month's wages had been paid for last five years. In the circumstances of the case, I hold that the period is sufficiently long to give rise to an inference that a customary right had been acquired by the workers when all other tests are satisfied. In this case the claim cannot obviously be sustained on the basis of an implied condition of service as the employer described the payment as ex-gratia. But all the tests laid down in the case of Messrs. Grahams Trading Co. necessary to be satisfied for customary Puja bonus are fully satisfied by the evidence adduced in this case. I, therefore, hold that the workmen are entitled to one month's wages as Puja bonus payable in 1961. Obviously there is no reason in support of a claim for such bonus at one and a half months' wages.

I now take up for consideration the claim of profit bonus as made by the Union.

It appears that the claim of profit bonus for the trading year 1959 had been made by the Union in 1960. The dispute was taken up for conciliation by the Labour Directorate sometime after the claim of profit bonus for the trading year 1960 has been made. As no settlement of the dispute taken as a whole could be made with respect to the claim of profit bonus for these two years, this reference had been made by the appropriate Government on 13th March 1962. It cannot be said in the circumstances that the claim regarding bonus for the trading year 1959 was made at a late stage. In fact, in the middle of 1960, the Company took a stand that the balance-sheet and the Profit and Loss Account for the year 1959 had not been prepared. Obviously the claim for profit bonus could not be decided for late preparation of accounts. I, therefore, hold that the claim for bonus for the year 1959 payable in 1960 is maintainable.

Obviously the claim for profit bonus would depend upon proof of existence of available surplus following the Full Bench Formula, as laid down by the Labour Appellate Tribunal in the case of a dispute between the Mill Owners Association, Bombay, and the Rastriya Mazdoor Sangha (1950, L.L.J. II, page 1247). It is clear from the evidence that the present wages paid to the workmen fall much below any reasonable standard of living wage. There is also no dispute on the point that whatever profit had been earned by the Company was the result of a joint effort of the labour and capital. So, in case there is available surplus, the workers are entitled to participate in the profits. The main question, however is, whether there was any available surplus according to the calculation of Full Bench Formula which could be distributed as bonus with respect to the profits earned by the Company for the years 1959 and 1960. The Company produced the Directors' Report and the accounts for both the years [vide Ext. N & N(1)]. The balance-sheet and the Profit and Loss Account as audited by the qualified Accountant are to be taken as prima facie evidence of the actual trading position of the Company. The Union did not challenge the correctness of the figures as to the profits earned by the Company shown in Profit and Loss Accounts. In fact, on the basis of the audited balance-sheet and the Profit and Loss Accounts the parties made their own calculation regarding available surplus.

Let me first of all calculate the available surplus for the year ending 31st December 1959. The calculation given by the Union is shown in Ext. 1 and that of the Company is in Ext. B.

There was no controversy on the point that the gross profit earned by the Company in that year should be taken at Rs. 4,69,597 as shown in Ext. B. The Union in the statement added back the amount paid as subscription. There is no reason why the subscription paid by the Company as a member of the Vanaspati Association of India should not be taken as normal trading expenses. The learned representative of the Union did not insist for adding back the amount of Rs. 1,958 spent on account of such subscription.

The Company has claimed deductions from the gross profit under the head of (i) Normal notional depreciation, (ii) Income Tax, (iii) Return on capital at 6 per cent., (iv) Return on reserve used as working capital at 4 per cent., (v) Provision for rehabilitation and replacement of machineries.

On account of normal notional depreciation the Company claimed deduction by Rs. 1.23 lakh. The details of calculation is given in Ext. K. The rate of depreciation had been correctly calculated item by item for the assets, properly classified. It appears from the evidence that some of the items of assets had been purchased in course of the year. In the chart, Ext. K, the addition made in the assets had been separately shown. It transpires from the evidence that some of the addition in the assets had been made in course of the year. Obviously for the machineries brought in use during the bonus year, only proportionate depreciation should be allowed. So, to that extent, the calcuation is not mathematically correct. Leaving aside that error the amount claimed as depreciation calculated on the basis of normal depreciation according to the statutory rates, as allowed by the Income Tax Authorities, and the multiple shift depreciation is correct. However, in the absence of any evidence coming from either side as to the actual date of purchase of the assets in course of the trading year, I accept the depreciation as claimed by the Company.

Next comes the question of deduction on account of Income Tax according to the principles laid down in the mode of calculation. The amount to be deducted on account of Income Tax should also be a notional amount and in calculating the notional amount all the concession which an employer is entitled to under the Income Tax Act should be deducted from the gross profit. In the Company's calculation the amount of concession given under the head of "Development Rebate" had not been deducted from the gross profit in the calculation of Income Tax. This development rebate is allowed under the Income Tax Act to provide for replacement of machineries. There is no reason why the concession allowed by the Income Tax Authorities to the employer should not be taken into account in the calculation of notional Income Tax under the Full Bench Formula. In fact, this development rebate, now allowed, takes the place of initial depreciation with some modifications. So, Income Tax deduction should be made on the gross profit of Rs. 4.71 lakhs deducted by Rs. 1.91 lakhs at 45 per cent. amounting to Rs. 1.26 lakhs.

There is no controversy on the point that the Company is entitled to get a deduction by Rs. 60,000 under the head of "Return on Capital" which stood at Rs. 10 lakhs at the rate of 6 per cent. of the said, irrespective of the question of dividend finally declared by the Company.

It is the case of the Company that a sum of Rs. 6.37 lakhs had been used as working capital in 1959. The said sum is obtained by adding the sum of Rs. 1.35 lakhs shown as reserve and the total depreciation amounting to Rs. 5.02 lakhs. The onus is upon the Company to show actual investment of the reserve, as working capital throughout the year, and strict proof beyond more analysis of the balance-sheet is to be furnished by the Company. There must as well be independent evidence, direct and circumstancial, over and above the balance-sheet to show that the reserves had actually been used as working capital throughout the year. The Accountant of the Company states that there is no record to show what portion of the reserve had been used as working capital for what part of the year. There is, however, some indirect circumstancial evidence to give rise to an inference that the reserve had been utilised as working capital. The Company had an over-draft to the extent of Rs. 9.90 lakhs. Naturally to run the business when bank over-drafts had been taken, the reserve had not been kept idle. Considering the evidence as a whole I am inclined to hold that the reserve at Rs. 1.35 lakhs had been used as working capital throughout the year.

Now, regarding the claim that the depreciation amounting to Rs. 5.02 lakhs, written off from the fixed assets, in the asset side of the balance-sheet, should be taken as working capital, I find absolutely no justification for the same. The calculation given in Ext. B(2) to show how the assets are utilised is nothing but a rearrangement of the figures in the balance-sheet. Such calculation does not help, on showing, that the depreciation shown in accounts had been available as working capital. Hence under the head of "Return on Working Capital", I allow the same at 4 per cent. on Rs. 1.35 lakhs or at Rs. .05 lakh.

Now I take up the question of deduction under the head of rehabilitation charges. The Company produced charts showing the mode of calculation of the same under the head of (1) Plant and machinery, (2) buildings and (3) properties.

The employer has claimed Rs. 2.37 lakhs as rehabilitation charges for each of the successive years in question. In support of the claim, the employer filed three statements—one for plant and machineries, marked as Ext. M, one for buildings marked as Ext. M(1) and for other for machineries as motor cars, trucks, tractors, office and laboratory apparatus, marked as Ext. M(2). The mode of calculation is shown in those statements and I need not describe the same once again in course of my decision.

It is now well settled that the bonus is entirely upon the employer to prove by dependable evidence the claim under the head of rehabilitation. The employer has got to prove the price of plant and machineries, the cost of construction of buildings, the price of other machineries, the age of those properties with reference to the original date of purchase or construction, the period by which those assets would require replacement, the cost of replacement. In determining the exact amount to be allotted as the provision of rehabilitation, the Tribunal has also got to consider the amount standing in the depreciation and reserve fund, and to what extent such fund would meet the cost of replacement. In fact, in the absence of sufficient proof furnished by the employer on all these points the Tribunal cannot decide the question of the claim under this head which may otherwise be totally rejected.

As already stated, the entire factory including plant and machineries had been pruchased by this Company in 1953 from Messrs. Sisir Oil Industries Ltd. The Company produced a letter, Ext. D, dated 20th June 1962, which appears to have been written by the Accountant of Messrs. Sisir Oil Industries Ltd., in reply to reference made by this employer to indicate that the machineries had been installed in the early part of 1949 and that the cost of plant and machineries was Rs. 13.13 lakhs and that of the buildings Rs. 5.74 lakhs. Except this letter, Ext. D, there is practically no evidence to show what was the original value of the plant and machineries and the cost of construction. In the schedule of fixed assets as shown in the Profit and Loss Account, the original value of plant and machineries as per last balance-sheet had been shown at Rs. 7.34 lakhs for the year ending 31st December 1959 and that at Rs. 9.35 lakhs for the year ending 31st December 1960. Naturally the original price as shown in those accounts, Ext. N and Ext. N(1), was done after deduction of depreciation up to that time. The Union urged that the original price should be taken at Rs. 7.34 lakhs as shown in Ext. N. I do not agree, as I am concerned with the original cost price, before any depreciation had been deducted as per letter, Ext. D. Even then, I would say that the evidence adduced by the employer to show the original price is not very convincing. It was expected that the employer would furnish better evidence to prove it. The employer is, of course, in my opinion, in some difficulty in adducing clear evidence as to the original price as they have secured the factory by purchase from the Company which had gone into liquidation. However, considering the facts and circumstances of the case, I am inclined to accept the Company's version that the original cost of the plant and machinery was Rs. 13.10 lakhs and for the building Rs. 5.74 lakhs as claimed by the Company.

I now take up for consideration the plant and machineries subsequently purchased. It appears from evidence that the Company purchased under this head properties worth Rs. 4.46 lakhs during 1954 to 1959. The plant and machineries need be divided into two parts—one for those purchased in 1948-49 and the other for those purchased in 1954-59. It is strange that the Company used the same multiplier at 2 for all the machineries purchased between 1948 and 1959. All these machineries had been purchased after the ceasation of Second World War. The Company produced a letter from the Power Gas Corporation Ltd. which shows that a price of complete 20 tons day plant would be £ 75,000 in 1957 (vide Ext. G). The Company produced another letter of the same Company showing therein that the price of 25 tons day plant would be about £ 48,825. The Company, however, did not examine any expert worth the name who is conversant with the plant and machineries of the type used by this Company. There is nothing to connect the particular plant and machineries given in Ext. H with the estimated price of the plant and machineries mentioned in Ext. G. Besides, I get no idea about the rise in price of all the plants and machineries in use. The evidence adduced by the employer in support of the ıse that the multiplier should be 2 unfortunately not at all convincing. So far as the machineries ırchased between 1954 and 1959 there is no reason hy the employer would adopt multiplier at more an 1. It is true that the entire calculation regard-g the use of multiplier and devisor for finding out e rehabilitation charge has got to be based on some nount of reasonable guess work. In the case of ssociated Cement Co. Ltd., reported in 1960, L.L.J. , page 644, the multiplier was used at 2 for the achineries purchased between 1945 and 1947 and 1 for those pruchased between 1948 and 1954. ı the case of Messrs. Titaghar Paper Mills Ltd., ported in 1959 L.L.J. II, page 9, the multiplier as used as 2 for the block between 1945 and 1947 ıd at 1 for the block purchased between 1st Aprii)49 and 31st March 1952. Of course, such multi-iers used for those concerns do not serve as a rule r determination of multiplier in respect of this ırticular type of plant and machineries used in a ıncern of this nature wherein Vanaspati vegetable oducts are manufactured. For want of proper idence I was once inclined to hold that the claim rehabilitation should be totally rejected. But at e same time it is not be an idle conjecture that ere is a general rise in the price of plant and achineries in the present day market compared to e price as prevailed about 10 years back. In this nsideration I think it proper to use the multiplier 1.25 for the plant and machineries purchased in 48-49 and at 1 for those purchased between 1954 d 1959.

Regarding expected life of machineries, the Com-ny has calculated the same on the basis of 20 ars. The Company gave distinct calculation in ct. M on the basis of 13, 20 and 25 years probable e. In the final calculation of available surplus the expected life by 20 years had been adopted. Considering the evidence as a whole, I take it that the Company's contention that the probable life would be 20 years is reasonable. I thus make my own calculation of rehabilitation charges for plant and machineries as shown below with due regards to the heads of particulars given in the Company's statement. Obviously, in determining the actual replacement cost I have deducted the scrap value at 5 per cent. and the total depreciation allowed up to date to find out the ratio at .8 by which the replacement value is to be multiplied to find out the real value. The entire calculation is thus to be done afresh.

For the rehabilitation charges for buildings the evidence adduced by the Company is practically nil. I do not find any evidence as to how the multiplier and devisor had been used. It is, of course, generally recognised that the life of buildings used as factory is about 30 years. In this view, I take the devisor at 30 as claimed by the Company. For the use of multiplier I think it would be reasonable to use the same at 1.25 for the block installed in 1948-49 and at 1 for the block installed between 1954 and 1959.

For the other properties like motor cars, etc., the Company in the statement Ext. M(2) had shown the original value at 1.24 lakhs and used multiplier at 2 and took the probable life at 10 years. There is absolutely no evidence to show what would be the value of motor cars, trucks, office and laboratory apparatus used in the factory in the present day market. I get no evidence as to exact nature of cars, trucks and apparatus in use to find out to what extent price got increased and what would be the expected life of the same. So under this head I disallow the claim entirely. The calculation for rehabilitation charge thus comes out as follows:

Plant and Machinery.

ar of installation.	Original value	Multiple	Replacement value	Ratio	Real replacement value	Probable life—20-year divisor.	Result.
1948-49	13.10	1·25	16·28	·8	13·04	11	1·19
1954-60	4·46	1	4·46	·8	3·57	17	·21
			Buildings.			Probable life—
						30 years.
1948-49	5·74	1·25	7·18	·85	6·10	20	·31
1954-59	2·02	1	2·02	·85	1·72	27	·06
							·37

Thus the rehabilitation charges comes to 1.77 lakhs nus 1.23 lakhs that is .54 lakhs.

So the calculation of available surplus for 1959 nes as follows:

Bonus calculation for 1959.

ross profit	4·70	(A)
Deduct—
a) Normal depreciation	1·23
b) Income Tax	1·26
c) Return on capital	·60
d) Return on working capital at 4 per cent.	·04
e) Rehabilitation charge	·54
(a)+(b)+(c)+(d)+(e)	3·67

The available surplus thus comes to Rs. 4.71 lakhs minus Rs. 3.67 lakhs or Rs. 1.04 lakhs.

The monthly wage bill being Rs. 0.12 lakh the workers have a justifiable claim for four months' wages as profit bonus. Upon payment of that sum with due regards to Income Tax rebate, the Company would have sufficient sum to safeguard the interest of the shareholders and the industry.

Next I take up the calculation of available surplus for 1960. I adopt the same principle in calculating prior charges as before.

Both parties have adopted on the basis of the Profit and Loss Account, the figure for gross profit at Rs. 3,30,327 after adding to the net profit, the amount of depreciation, development rebate, reserve and tax provision.

Regarding prior charges, I allow for the same reason Rs. 1.22 lakhs under normal depreciation, Rs. .60 lakh as return on capital and Rs. .85 lakh for Income Tax. For Income Tax calculation I have as before deducted from the gross profit of Rs. 3.30 lakhs depreciation at Rs. 1.22 lakhs and development rebate at Rs. .20 lakh, so that the tax at 45 per cent. is calculated upon Rs. 1.88 lakhs.

Regarding the claim on return on working capital, I have calculated the same as before on the amount shown as reserve, i.e., Rs. 1.35 lakhs, and for that the same comes to Rs .05 lakh.

Thus the calculation of available surplus comes as follows:

Gross Profit	..	3·30	(A)
Deduct—
(a) Depreciation	..	1·22
(b) Income Tax	..	·85
(c) Return on capital	..	·60
(d) Return on working capital	..	·05
(e) Rehabilitation	..	·54
		3·26 lakhs	(B)
Availabe surplus (A—B)		·04 lakh

Payment of bonus at one month's wages would consume Rs. .12 lakh leaving Rs. .02 lakh with the employer. At the same time the employer would get a rebate in Income Tax by Rs. .054 lakh, so that the sum in the hand of employer would be Rs. .074 lakhs. It has got to be noted in this connection that the employer has got Rs. 1.35 lakhs as development rebate, reserve and such sum is actually meant for replacement of plant, machineries, etc.

In the final result, I allow four months' total wages as bonus to the workmen for 1959 and the same at one month total wages for 1960.

This is the award.

AWARD

By Order No. 777-I.R.|IR|10L-36|60, dated 22nd February 1960, the Government of West Bengal in the Labour Department referred an industrial dispute between Messrs. India Stores Supply Co., Manufacturing Contractors to Messrs. Thakurdas Sureka Iron Foundry Ltd. and their workmen represented by Iron & Steel Workmen's Union relating to the undermentioned issue to the Second Labour Court for adjudication.

Issue

1. Whether the dismissal of the following workmen is justified? To what relief, if any, are they entitled?

(i) Shri Ranjit, and (ii) Shri Ganga?

It is clear from the written statements of the two sides and from the evidences adduced by them that the name of the first workman mentioned in the issue should be Ramjit and not Ranjit. So the issue is about Sarbasri Ramjit and Ganga.

The facts of the case, in brief, are as follows: Messrs. Thakurdas Sureka Iron Foundry Ltd. have got two factories; the factory No. 1 is situated at 10 Goho Road, Ghoosery, Howrah, and the factory No. 2 is situated at 24 Gowshala Road, Lillooah, Howrah. Messrs. India Stores Supply Co. (hereinafter referred to as the Company) and Messrs. Patnaik & Co. are two independent contractors for execution of contracted jobs in the said factory No. 2 at 24 Gowshala Road, Lilloah, Howrah. On 18th April 1959 there was a disturbance in that factory. Over that disturbance charge-sheets were issued to Sarbashri Ramjit and Ganga, two employees of the Company and to one Darbari, an employee of Messrs. Patnaik & Co. On the charges mentioned in these charge-sheets the ompany dismissed Sarbashri Ramjit and Ganga on th May 1959.

The case of Iron and Steel Workmen's Union ereinafter referred to as the Union), briefly stated, as follows: The workmen of the Company orgaed themselves under the above Union for realisan of economic demands and safeguarding their hts through constitutional Trade Union movement. is united effort of the workmen for Trade Union ovement was not taken in good grace by the ompany which adopted various measures for dispting the Trade Union movement of the workmen. he Company issued charge-sheets to Sarbashri amjit and Ganga with a clear victimising motive. hey submitted replies to the charge-sheets denying the arges mentioned therein and explaining the facts d circumstances showing that the charges were lse. The enquiry about the charge-sheets was not nducted properly and the charges could not be tablished. The above two workmen could not be nsidered liable for the activities of others. So the nion contends that their dismissal is unjustified.

The Company has denied the allegation of the nion that it did not take in good grace the Trade nion movement of the workmen or that it dismissed rbashri Ramjit and Ganga out of a victimising otive. It has denied its knowledge of the Trade nion activities of the above two workmen. As to e charges mentioned in the charge-sheets, the case the Company is, in brief, as follows:

On 18th April 1959 Shri Ramjit, though absent m work, entered the factory at about 9 a.m. and manded stoppage of work of the factory to enable workers to go on strike in sympathy with the rkers who had started a strike in a neighbouring ctory known as R. S. Engineering Works. His mand was rejected by the management. Thereupon and Ganga and one Darbari entered the moulding ed of the factory, shouted and incited other workers stop work. Work was stopped in consequence ereof for some time and the above three workers nt out of the factory; thereafter work was resumed. nding that the workers did not stop work a crowd about 150 outsiders led by the above three workn forced open the main gate, entered the factory d started breaking moulds and snatching away ldles from the hands of the workers who were rking. In consequence of the above riotous and sorderly acts the work of the entire factory was pped. The crowd then left the factory along with 150 workers of the Company and of Messrs. Pattnaik Co. The work, however, restarted with those rkers who did not leave the factory. Finding that e work was being still carried on, at about 11-30 n. a huge crowd of outsiders in a threatening mood th lethal weapons, brickbats, Union flags and lathis their hands approached the two gates of the factory. ie crowd led by the above three workmen forced en the two gates and entered the factory in a enacing attitude. The General Works Manager of akurdas Sureka Iron Foundry Ltd. tried to purade Ganga and others to leave the factory and not create disturbance, but to no effect; the crowd led the above three workmen rushed inside the departent shouted and threatened the workers that they ould be assaulted if work was not stopped. The orkers having refused to stop work, the crowd started ssault on them with brickbats and broke and damaged ie moulds and created a situation of awe and terror. The police on being informed came and resorted to lathi-charge and tear-gassing; thus the situation was brought under control. Thereafter charge-sheets were issued to Sarbashri Ramjit and Ganga for instances of misconduct arising out of the above incident. On receipt of their explanations notices of enquiry were issued to them fixing 9th May 1959 for an enquiry. The enquiry was held on 9th May 1959 and it was adjourned till 11th May 1959. On that day the enquiry was complete. At the enquiry seven witnesses were examined on behalf of the management; some of them were cross-examined by the charged-sheeted workmen; the cross-examination of others was declined by them. They also produced six witnesses in their defence. They were examined and some of them were cross-examined. So the charge-sheeted workmen were given every opportunity to defend themselves at the enquiry. On a consideration of the evidences adduced at the enquiry and of the explanations submitted by the charge-sheeted workmen, the Enquiring Officer was satisfied that the charges mentioned in the charge-sheets were conclusively proved. In view of the grave nature of the offence he recommended the punishment of dismissal. The management agreeing with the finding of the Enquiring Officer dismissed the above two workers, viz., Sarbashri Ganga and Ramjit. So the Company contends that the dismissal of Sarbarshri Ramjit and Ganga is justified.

So the first point that arises for consideration is whether the enquiry was properly held and whether the finding of the enquiry is supportable. The Company has adduced evidence in support of its contention that witnesses, on behalf of the Company were examined in presence of the charge-sheeted workmen who cross-examined some of them and that the charge-sheeted workmen produced witnesses on their behalf. This has been admitted before me by the charge-sheeted workmen who have appeared as P.W. 1 and P.W. 2. Their only grievance is that they asked for a copy of the statements of witnesses or for them to be explained to them; but neither of the requests was acceeded to. But they have admitted that they signed the proceedings of the enquiry; their explanation is that they were told that they would be given a copy of the proceedings of the enquiry later on and that they signed the proceedings of the enquiry on that promise. But the Enquiring Officer and other witnesses on behalf of the Company have denied this allegation of the charge-sheeted workmen. As a matter of probability, it is not possible to believe that the charge-sheeted workmen agreed to sign the proceedings of the enquiry without being sure as to what they contained. So even if it be conceded that they asked for a copy and that that request was not complied with, there can be no doubt about the fact that the charge-sheeted workmen signed the proceedings of the enquiry after these were explained to them and they were satisfied about their correctness. So the alleged refusal of the Enquiring Officer to supply them with a copy of the proceedings of the enquiry does not in any way militate against the principles of the natural justice. So it must be held that the enquiry was properly held. The next question is whether the finding of the enquiry is supportable. This question has to be considered on the basis of the evidence recorded at the enquiry and on the basis of the evidence adduced before me, as has been held by the Punjab High Court in the case of Ved Luxmi Flour & General Mills (P) Ltd., reported at page 614 of L.L.J. 1961, Vol. II. A perusal of the evidence adduced at the enquiry clearly shows that the finding of the Enquiring Officer that the charges against the two workmen have been proved is reasonable. Even before me the Union has not produced any evidence to show that the finding of the Enquiring Officer is unreasonable. Before me the Union has raised a plea of alibi of the two charge-sheeted workmen. That plea was raised before the Enquiring Officer also; on considering the evidence adduced at the enquiry he rejected the plea and came to the finding mentioned above. Before me the Union has adduced evidence to the effect that at about the time of incident on 18th April 1959 the two charge-sheeted workmen were in a Howrah Court in connection with a case. The evidence is a oral evidence. But such an assertion could be easily proved by the production of a copy of any paper from the proceedings of that court for that day; but this has not been done. So in face of the evidence of the Company about the two charge-sheeted workmen taking leading part in the disturbance of 18th April 1959 their evidence that they were at Howrah Court at that time cannot be believed. Even if they could produce satisfactory evidence before me about their alibi, the value of such evidence in this case in view of my finding about the enquiry would be doubtful, in accordance with decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Ritz Theatre (P) Ltd., reported at page 498 of L.L.J. 1962, Vol. II.

The representative of the Union has argued that the Company has failed to show any motive why the two charge-sheeted workmen should take part in the incident of 18th April 1959. He has developed his argument that if according to the Company the workmen of the Company did not want to stop work, there is no reason why the two charge-sheeted workmen who are leaders of the workmen would want to stop work. He has further argued that some outsiders are responsible for the incident and that the two charge-sheeted workmen have been falsely implicated. But it is well known that motive lies deep in the human breast. It is not always possible to ascertain a motive for an act. Even if we do not know the motive, the overt acts of the two charge-sheeted workmen have been proved beyond any shadow of doubt before the domestic enquiry and before me also.

On behalf of the Union a copy of a order in the criminal case arising out of the incident has been filed before me. It shows that the charge-sheeted workmen were acquitted in that case. On this basis the representative of the Union has argued that the charges on which the two workmen have been dismissed are baseless. In support of his argument he has referred to a decision of the Madras High Court in the case of Radhakrishna Mills Ltd., reported at page 678 of L.L.J. 1960, Vol. II. But in that case the management dismissed the workmen after they were acquitted in a criminal court. In the present case the Company dismissed the two charge-sheeted workmen before the disposal of the criminal case. So there is nothing mala fide in its action in dismissing them on the result of a proper enquiry held by it. In this connection the Lawyer of the Company has referred to a decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Delhi Cloth & General Mills Ltd. reported at page 520 of L.L.J. 1960, Vol. I; but that decision is not applicable to the facts of the present case. The representative of the Union has referred to a decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Bharat Sugar Mills Ltd. reported at page 644 of L.L.J. 1961, Vol II, to show the scope of an enquiry by an adjudicating court in an industrial dispute. I have followed the direction of the Supreme Court given in that case in dealing with the present case. The representative of the Union has further argued that I should give more weight to the decision of a Ciminal Court than to the decision of a domestic enquiry over the same incident. But I do not know any ruling nor have I been shown any in support of that contention. On the contrary it is now the settled law that if an adjudicating court comes to the finding that a proper domestic enquiry was made and that the finding of that enquiry in supportable, and adjudicating court should not interfere with the order of the management in accordance with that finding.

Another argument advanced by the representative of the Union is that though Darbari is also alleged to have taken a leading part in the incident of 18th April 1959, he is still in the service of Messrs. Pattanaik & Co. An inference of discrimination has been sought to be made on account of the above fact. But the present company, viz., Messrs. India Stores Supply Co. cannot be held responsible for what has been done by another Company. This Company is certainly entitled to take disciplinary action against its employees, even if another company chooses not to take any disciplinary action against its employee on account of the same incident. So the fact that Messrs. Pattanaik & Co. did not take any action against Darbari is of no consequence in this case.

In view of the above considerations I hold that the dismissal of Sarbashri Ramjit and Ganga is justified; as such they are not entitled to any relief.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act filed by Shri Kshetra Mohan Banerjee, of South Suburban Municipality (represented by Shri Balai Chatterjee, 213 K.L. Traffic Quarters, Asansol), against the Commissioners of South Suburban Municipality, Behala, Calcutta-34. (Case No. 68 of 1962 under section 33A.)

For the complainant: Shri Ajit Roy Mukherjee, Counsel, Shri B. Chatterjee, General Secretary, W.B.M.E.A.

AWARD

This is a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act by Shri Kshetra Mohan Banerjee, an employee of South Suburban Municipality, against the Commissioners of the said Municipality. It is alleged by the applicant in the petition of complaint that he was unjustly and illegally removed from service on and from 21st May 1962 by a resolution of the Municipal Commissioners passed at a meeting held on that day and the intimation of this resolution was sent to him on 8th June 1962. It is further alleged that previously a charge-sheet, dated 5th May 1962, was served upon him, but it was a mere eye-wash because no enquiry was held after his reply thereto and no opportunity was given him to meet and refute the charges made against him. It is also alleged that the charges were false, baseless, malicious and motivated and the applicant was made a victim of party politics in the Municipality arising out of conflict between the Congress and leftist parties for dominating the Municipality. It is contended that the applicant was removed from service by the leftist party in power at that time on the supposition that he was a Congressite. It is further stated in the petition of complaint that before the order for removal from service he was placed under suspension and the suspension itself was illegal and unjust and effected with some ulterior and mala fide motive. The resolution for removal of the applicant from service, dated 21st May 1962, was passed when adjudication proceeding in respect of another dispute between this Municipality and its workmen, referred to this Tribunal by Government order No. 3623-I.R.|IR|14L-IR|60, dated 19th July 1960, was pending before this Tribunal and without seeking the approval of this Tribunal as required by section 33. The removal of the applicant from service is consequently alleged to have been in contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The Municipality has filed a written statement in reply to the petition of complaint. The relevant pleas raised in the written statement may be briefly summarised as follows:

The present complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is not maintainable and is premature because the impugned resolution, dated 21st May 1962, was passed under the provisions of section 72 of the Bengal Municipal Act as the applicant had brought himself within the mischief of that section by certain acts and conducts and under the provisions of that section he ceased to be in Municipal service by reason of his acts and conducts and this resolution was simply forwarded to the applicant but no order of the Chairman in pursuance of the said resolution has yet been passed. It is then contended that the Municipality had rightly passed the resolution for the applicant's removal from service for good and sufficient reasons and duly forwarded a copy of the resolution to the District Magistrate, 24-Parganas, for necessary action according to law. It is then alleged that a charge-sheet was duly issued to the applicant giving details of the charges therein and it was not an eye-wash, as alleged, and after receipt of his explanation an enquiry was held into the charges giving him every opportunity to defend himself against the charges, and there was no violation of natural justice or any requirements of law. It is further contended that after the enquiry the applicant was found guilty of the charges framed against him and the charges related to his acts and conducts which brought him within the purview of section 72, Bengal Municipal Act, and caused cessation of his service by operation of law. The matter was thoroughly discussed at the meeting of the Commissioners held on 21st May 1962 and the resolution for his removal from service was passed after proper and mature deliberation. The resolution was not motivated or malicious, nor the result of party politics in the Municipality, as alleged. The Commissioners passed the resolution in the interest of the public and the Municipality. It is finally contended that on the basis of some remarks in the audit reports against the applicant and after getting various complaints of his misconducts, the Municipality at first suspended him and then took action finally terminating in the resolution of the Municipality, dated 21st May 1962. He was suspended pending enquiry and final disposal of his case. The complaint must, therefore, fail.

Apart from the pleas specifically raised in the written statement of the Municipality and set out above, a new legal plea against the maintainability of the present complaint under section 33A was raised at the hearing by the learned Advocate for the Municipality. He argued that section 33, Industrial Disputes Act, could not have any application to the alleged dismissal of the complainant or his removal from service and the Municipality was under no legal obligation to act according to the provisions of section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act, in regard to his dismissal or removal from service, because the adjudication proceeding in respect of the reference made by the Government to this Tribunal under order No. 3623-I.R./IR/14L-IR/60, dated 19th July 1960, with reference to which the present complaint has been made relates only to a dispute between this Municipality and its conservancy staff and other workers employed on "no work no pay" basis and consequently that reference does not cover the category of employees to which the applicant belongs, the applicant being the Head Clerk of the Municipality and so the pendency of the adjudication proceedings arising out of the said reference could not make any provision of section 33, Industrial Disputes Act, applicable to the alleged dismissal of the complainant or his removal from service. It is contended that the clerical staff to which the present complainant belongs was not a party to the dispute covered by the said reference and as such the present complainant cannot avail himself of the benefit of the adjudication proceedings of the said reference for the purpose of raising the present complaint under section 33A of contravention of the provisions of section 33, Industrial Disputes Act, in regard to his dismissal or removal from service. On behalf of the complainant, the reply given to this plea is that the said order of reference relates to a dispute between the Municipality and all its workmen represented by the West Bengal Municipal Employees' Federation, though the subject-matter of the dispute and necessarily the issue referred for decision cover only a section of the employees, viz., the conservancy staff and other employees engaged on "no work no pay" basis. On this basis, it is contended that the present complainant must be deemed to be a party to the dispute covered by the said reference and as such "a workman concerned in such dispute" as referred to in section 33(2), Industrial Disputes Act. I have seen the order of reference referred to in the present complaint. I find that the order shows that the dispute over the issue given in the order of reference which only covers the conservancy staff and other staff employed on "no work no pay" basis was raised by all the workmen of this Municipality through the West Bengal Municipal Employees' Federation and it is a dispute existing between the Municipality and all its workmen. Necessarily, all workmen, irrespective of the category to which he belongs, must be deemed to be parties to the said dispute and as such covered and bound by the said reference, irrespective of the fact that the dispute is raised with regard to a limited issue concerning a particular category of workmen. This being the legal position, it must necessarily be held that the present complainant is a party to the said dispute and as such "a workman concerned in that dispute", as referred to in section 33(2) and so he would be competent to make a complaint under section 33A in regard to his alleged dismissal or removal from service during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings under the said reference on the plea that the relevant requirements of section 33 were not complied with and so his dismissal or removal was in contravention of the provisions of that section. This position is supported by the precise decision on this point made by the Assam High Court in the case of the Bengal United Tea Co. Ltd., versus Ram Labhaya, [A.I.R., 1961 (Assam) page 60] relying on the Supreme Court decision in the case reported in A.I.R. 1960 section 875. It was held in that case that the expression "workman concerned" in section 33(2) do not mean any workman directly or immediately concerned with the dispute in question even as a mat of construction and the expression includes all wo men on whose behalf the dispute has been rais as well as those who would be bound by the awa which may be made in the said dispute. I ha already held that the category of workers to whi the present complainant belongs must be deemed be a party to the said dispute and necessarily he to be bound by the award in respect of that disp under section 18(3)(a), Industrial Disputes Act. T learned Advocate for the Municipality has relied up the case of Khagesh Sarkar and others versus Ta nagar Foundry Company Ltd. and others, decided the Patna High Court [L.L.J., 1962(II) page 379]. have gone through that case. In my view, the fa found in the present case in connection with the poi under consideration, clearly attracts the applicati of the principle laid down in the Supreme Court ca referred to above. In the Patna High Court case, was held that the question whether a workman concerned in the dispute under adjudication for t purposes of section 33, Industrial Disputes Act, is mixed question of law and fact and it is not possib to lay down any specific or particular test or rule law or formula for determining this question and each case the matter will have to be determined view of the particular facts of that case. The Pat High Court also observed that the principles applicab in such a case would be to find out the nature of t dispute under adjudication, the effect of its decisi on the rest of the workmen and the nature of t representation of the workmen in the dispute. I ha already shown above that in the present case t dispute under adjudication has been raised by all t workmen of the Municipality through the West Beng Municipal Employees' Federation and as such all t workmen are parties to the dispute and must be boun by the award notwithstanding that the subject-matt of the dispute and the issue referred for decision relat only to a particular category of the Municip employees. The Patna case cited on behalf of t Municipality does not, therefore, alter the positio arising out of the application of the principles la down in the Supreme Court case to the relevant fac found in the present case. In the above view of t matter, I reject the new legal plea against the mai tainability of the present complaint under sectio 33A, Industrial Disputes Act.

I now proceed to dispose of the case arising o of the written statements filed by the parties. Th written statements do not disclose all the materi facts and circumstances of the case, but these clear appear from the evidence adduced by the parties. Th relevant facts which are mostly undisputed may b briefly summarised as follows:

There was Government audit of this Municipalit for the year 1960-61 and in the audit report certa remarks against the Head Clerk, who is the presen complainant, about his being interested directly o indirectly in some firms which supplied goods to th Municipality on contracts in contravention of sectio 72, Bengal Municipal Act, were made and the Muni cipality was asked to look into the matter. Som other irregularities in the matter of purchase of form and stationery by the Municipality were also pointe out in the report. The report referred to the firm of Messrs. S. N. Banerjee & Bros. in connection with the remarks against the Head Clerk. [Vide Ext. H and paragraph 42(a) of Ext. H.] On the basis of the audit report, the Municipal Commissioners passed a resolution at the meeting held on 23rd March 1962 suspending the Head Clerk, pending enquiry into the remarks against him and appointing an enquiry committee consisting of two Commissioners to hold enquiry regarding the remarks made in the audit report against the Head Clerk. Shri Sankari Bhattacharjee and Shri Debidas Mukherjee were appointed members of the enquiry committee (Ext. G). The enquiry committee issued a questionnaire to the Head Clerk for his replies (Ext. K). The Head Clerk submitted his reply to the questionnaire (Ext. E). The Head Clerk was, however, not personally questioned or examined and he was not personally called for the enquiry. The enquiry committee finally submitted its report against the Head Clerk and in support of the Auditor's remarks (Ext. D). This report was placed before the Service Committee of the Municipality at the meeting held on 29th April 1962. The Service Committee accepted the enquiry committee's report and remarked that by reason of his having interest in the firm of Messrs. S. N. Banerjee and others which had contractual dealings with the Municipality, he had ceased to be a Municipal officer and so he should be removed from his office. The decision of the Service Committee was placed before the general meeting of the Commissioners held on 30th April 1962 and it was resolved in this meeting that for the purpose of removal of the Head Clerk from office, a formal charge-sheet should be framed against him and notice of the charge-sheet should be issued to him to show cause why he should not be removed from his office for enabling him to answer the charges (Vide Ext. 2). In pursuance of this resolution, the charge-sheet, Ext. A, dated 5th May 1962, was issued to the Head Clerk. The Head Clerk submitted a detailed reply to the charges by the letter, dated 11th May 1962 (Ext. B). After this, the matter of the charge-sheet and the Head Clerk's reply thereto was made an agenda in the meeting of the Commissioners proposed to be held on 16th May 1962, but that meeting was adjourned to 21st May 1962 and on this date the charge-sheet to the Head Clerk and his reply were considered and the following resolution was passed:

> "Resolved that Shri K. M. Banerjee, Head Clerk of this Municipality under Order of suspension, has ceased to be a Municipal employee and that he be removed from his office and that his office has become vacant from this date on which he is removed from office" (vide Ext. C).

A copy of this resolution was forwarded to the Additional District Magistrate in accordance with his previous request. This resolution was passed by 11 against 8 votes. The Additional District Magistrate is said to be exercising the powers of the State Government in relation to the Municipality by delegation of authority. No reply from the Additional District Magistrate about the resolution has as yet been received. There is no evidence of any enquiry into the charges against the Head Clerk after he was served with the charge-sheet, Ext. A, and submitted his reply thereto, Ext. B. No proceedings of any such enquiry have been produced. The Chairman, Shri Ramendra Nath Roy, has given evidence and has stated that after his reply, the Head Clerk was called and asked whether he had anything further to state and he stated that he had nothing further to state and no new facts were disclosed in the Head Clerk's reply to the charge-sheet in addition to the facts disclosed by him before the enquiry committee. This evidence is not certainly sufficient to show that there was really an enquiry according to the fundamental principles of natural justice in the matter of the charges framed against the Head Clerk and served upon him. It is significant to note that the Head Clerk submitted detailed replies in respect of every charge giving certain facts and figures. It may be safely held, therefore, that there was no enquiry as contemplated by law and natural justice after the charge-sheet to the Head Clerk and his reply thereto and the resolution for his removal from office and giving effect to the resolution from that date was passed without any enquiry and as such without giving him any opportunity to meet the charges and place his defence against them. This position clearly appears from the evidence on the record. It it contended on behalf of the Municipality that the fact that some enquiry was held by the enquiry committee appointed by the resolution of the Commissioners, dated 23rd March 1962, was quite sufficient and no further enquiry was necessary. It is contended that the enquiry committee held a thorough and detailed enquiry by looking into office records and by issuing questionnaire to the Head Clerk, thereby giving him an opportunity to put forward his replies. I am unable to accept this whole contention. The enquiry held by the enquiry committee has not been proved to be a sufficiently detailed enquiry held in the immediate presence of the concerned clerk after giving him suitable opportunity to meet all the documents and other materials which the members of the enquiry committee accepted as going against him. Much is made of the fact that a number of papers (Ext. J) including some papers relating to this Municipality's transactions with two firms, Messrs. National Traders and Messrs. S. N. Banerjee & Bros., were recovered partly from the almirah and partly from the table drawers of the Head Clerk and it is contended that this fact shows that this Head Clerk was really carrying on transactions with the Municipality in the name of the two firms showing his brother, Shri Bijoli Banerjee, as the proprietor of National Traders and his minor son, Sib Banerjee, as the proprietor of Messrs. S. N. Banerjee & Bros. It is not disputed that Bijoli Banerjee is the brother of the Head Clerk. He might have been the owner of Messrs. National Traders. But this does not conclusively show that this Head Clerk had really any interest in these transactions. The Head Clerk stated in his reply to the charges that he had nothing to do with any dealings of his brother, B. Banerjee, with the Municipality. His brother, B. Banerjee, might quite naturally have independent dealings with the Municipality. There is no satisfactory evidence before this Tribunal to prove independently that his son, Sib Banerjee, was really the proprietor of Messrs. S. N. Banerjee & Bros. Of the two members of the enquiry committee, Shri Sankari Prosad Bhattachariee and Shri Debidas Mukherjee, the former has deposed as a witness for the applicant and the latter has deposed as a witness for the Municipality. Shri Sankari Prosad Bhattacharjee has clearly stated that for the purpose of the enquiry they did not call the concerned Head Clerk, but simply issued a questionnaire to him and they submitted their report after considering his reply and the connected office papers. He has further stated that they held enquiry in the Municipal office. The other member of the enquiry committee, Shri Debidas Mukherjee, has stated that they made an inventory of the connected office papers in presence of the Head Clerk whose signature was taken in the inventory (Ext. 1) and in course of making this inventory they found out the papers of Ext. J. But it is not clear from his evidence that apart from seizing these papers, they considered these papers after giving a suitable opportunity to the Head Clerk to put forward his own explanation regarding them. Of course, he has said that in course of the enquiry, some papers were shown to the Head Clerk and his explanation was asked for and he made some personal statements. Unfortunately, however, this statement is not corroborated by the other member of the enquiry committee, Shri Sankari Prosad Bhattacharjee, and there is nothing in writing to show that any explanation was called for from the Head Clerk regarding the papers and what explanation, if any, he gave. It is further significant to note that after this enquiry, the charge-sheet was issued to the concerned clerk. This clearly indicates that even after the enquiry by the enquiry committee, the Commissioners considered it fit and proper that a charge-sheet must be issued to the Head Clerk and his reply must be taken. This naturally indicates that the Commissioners also considered it necessary that there should be a thorough enquiry into the charges made against the Head Clerk after his reply, so that he might have an opportunity of meeting the charges and placing his own defence. I have already indicated above that he gave a detailed reply to each one of the charges and in his reply, he also gave some explanation about some of the papers which the enquiry committee members used against him. In my view, it was quite necessary according to the principles of natural justice that the Head Clerk should have been given a full opportunity to meet the charges against him after these were formally framed and served on him and after he replied to the charges denying them and giving detailed explanation regarding every charge. In this view of the matter, I find that the enquiry held by the enquiry committee after it was formed on the basis of the Auditor's report was not sufficient to do away with a further and fuller enquiry regarding the concrete charges framed against and issued to him on 5th May 1962 after his reply thereto on 11th May 1962 and failure to hold such enquiry and finally condemning him by finding him guilty of the charges and removing him from service under the provisions of section 72 of the Bengal Municipal Act certainly offended against the fundamental principles of natural justice. No doubt section 72, Bengal Municipal Act, provides that any Municipal employee having any interest in any contract in respect of Municipal affairs shall cease to be a Municipal employee and his office shall become vacant from the date on which he is removed from office by the authority which appointed him. But for the purpose of giving operation to the provisions of section 72(2), the Municipal employee concerned must be properly found guilty of the conduct referred to therein after a sufficient and suitable opportunity according to the principles of natural justice and only after such an enquiry is held and he is found guilty, such an employee may be removed from office by the appointing authority. The position in the present case is that the provisions of section 72(2), Bengal Municipal Act, were given effect to against this Municipal employee without complying with the aforesaid requirements. The utmost that can be said is that there might have been some ground for suspicion against him about the dealings of National Traders and Messrs. S. N. Banerjee & Bros., but suspicion is not certainly a sufficient ground for taking the drastic action provided in section 72(2), Bengal Municipa Act. In this view of the matter, the resolution of th Municipal Commissioners, dated 21st May 1962, already referred to above, cannot be supported and accepted by this Tribunal in dealing with the dispute raised by the complainant Head Clerk. From the facts and circumstances discussed above, I am also of the view that the resolution was not bona fide but it was passed hurriedly and light-heartedly by violating all principles of natural justice. It is further to be noted that after the resolution, dated 21st May 1962, wherein it was clearly stated that he had been removed from office from that date and his office had fallen vacant, no application was made to this Tribunal for approval of the action taken under the proviso to section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act, though adjudication proceedings in respect of another dispute between this Municipality and its workmen were then pending before this Tribunal and I have already held that the pendency of those proceedings brought the action taken against the Head Clerk and complained of in the present case within the purview of section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act. So, there was clear contravention of the provisions of section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act, in the matter of removal from office of the complainant Head Clerk by the resolution, dated 21st May 1962. Here, I should notice and dispose of the plea raised by the Municipality in its written statement and argued at the hearing that section 33 was not required to be complied with in the matter of the resolution for removal of the Hea Clerk from office passed on 21st May 1962, becaus the Head Clerk was not actually removed from offic on that date, but simply a resolution was passed fo his removal and the resolution which was passed by 11 against 8 votes could not be effective without the consent of the State Government and though a copy of the resolution had been sent to the Additional District Magistrate representing the State Government, no reply had been received. The substance of the contention is that it was a mere resolution and the resolution has not been made effective and it cannot be made effective. It is not disputed that the Head Clerk falls within the category of "employees" referred to in proviso (iii) of section 66(2), Bengal Municipal Act. The resolution of 21st May 1962 itself shows that the copy of the resolution and the necessary papers had been forwarded to the Additional District Magistrate. It is an admitted position that no reply from the Additional District Magistrate has yet been received. The question now would be whether the resolution would attract the operation of section 33, Industrial Disputes Act. I have already reproduced the resolution above. It clearly shows that it was to the effect that the Head Clerk had ceased to be a Municipal employee and his office had fallen vacant and he had been removed from office from that date. A copy of this resolution was sent to the Head Clerk with a letter, dated 8th June 1962 (Ext. F). It is clear that after passing the resolution, the Municipality treated the office held by the Head Clerk as vacant on his removal from service with effect from the date of the resolution. It is stated in the evidence of the Head Clerk (P.W. 1) that after the resolution he was not allowed to hold his office and his name was removed from the attendance register and the pay sheets after May 1962. There is no challenge to this statement of the Head Clerk and there is also no counter-evidence on the other side. No doubt under the law, the resolution was ineffective unless it was consented to by the State Government and the consent has not yet been received, but the real position was that immediately after passing the resolution the Municipality gave effect to it and put the Head Clerk out of office and this position is still continuing, though it is wholly illegal. In dealing with the matter, the Tribunal has to go to the root of the matter and to see what had actually happened, whether it was mere passing of a formal resolution without giving effect to it, or it was a resolution which was at once given effect to by putting the Head Clerk out of office. The basic reality of the situation is that the Head Clerk was immediately removed from office on the passing of the resolution and with effect from that date, notwithstanding that the consent of the State Government had not been received, and no approval of this Tribunal was asked for according to the provisions of section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act. The resultant position was that a resolution which had no legal effect immediately was, however, put into effect immediately by removing the Head Clerk from office in accordance therewith and in doing so the Municipality contravened the provisions of section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act. Removal from office on the grounds given in the charges issued to the Head Clerk certainly amounted to his dismissal for misconduct unconnected with the dispute in respect of which adjudication proceedings are still going on under the main reference. It is also contended on behalf of the Municipality that the real position is that he has been kept under suspension pending final disposal of his case legally according to the resolution, dated 21st May 1962. But the facts clearly speak otherwise. From the facts proved and discussed above, it is clear that the Head Clerk was actually removed from office with effect from 21st May 1962, in pursuance of the resolution of that date and it was not a case of his being kept under suspension only pending final action. The language of the resolution reproduced above clearly points to this position.

Upon the findings and for the reasons recorded above, this complaint must succeed and there should be an award in favour of the complainant giving him proper reliefs.

In the result, I allow the application under section 33A, Industrial Disputes Act, and award that the removal of the complainant Head Clerk from his office with effect from 21st May 1962 was illegal, unjustified and not bona fide and it was also in contravention of section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act, and consequently he is to be reinstated to his office on his reporting for duty within 10 days of the publication of the award and he shall get his full wages for the period from 21st May 1962 till his reinstatement and for the prior period of suspension, he shall get a subsistence allowance at the rate of one-fourth of his full wages and the Municipality shall pay him these wages within 15 days from the publication of the award.

S. K. RAY,
Judge, Seventh Industrial Tribunal.

The 13th November 1962.

By order of the Governor,
S. C. MUKHERJEE, Asst. Secy.

No. 6671-I.R.|IR|10L-56(C)|58.—30th November 1962.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5015-I.R.|IR|10L-56(C)|58, dated the 22nd October 1959, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Textile Machinery Corporation Ltd., Belghoria, 24-Parganas, and their workmen represented by Texmaco Workers' Union, 49 Nimta Road, Belghoria, 24-Parganas, regarding the issue mentioned in the said order, being a matter specified in the third schedule to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), was referred to the Fifth Industrial Tribunal for adjudication;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Industrial Tribunal Shri Hanuman Goswami, workman of the said Company, made a complaint in writing to the said Industrial Tribunal against the said Company alleging that the said Company had dismissed the said workman concerned in such dispute;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Industrial Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an application filed by one Shri Hunuman Goswami under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, against his employer Messrs. Textile Machinery Corporation, Belghoria, arising out of the dispute, roferred under Government order No. 5015-I.R.|IR|10L-56(C)|58, dated the 22nd October 1959. (Case No. 32|62 u|s. 33A)

For the Union: Shri Ram Sen.

This is an application under section 33A by Shri Hanuman Goswami, a durwan, against his employer Messrs. Textile Machinery Corporation Ltd., on the allegation that he has been dismissed illegally on a false charge of theft without any departmental enquiry whatsoever during the pendency of an industrial dispute between the Company and its workmen before this Tribunal. The Company's case in short is that though no application for approval of the punishment was sought by the Company in accordance with section 33 of the Act, it had sufficient reasons for terminating the services of the applicant workman.

So the point for determination is whether there has been any contravention of section 33 of the Act by the Management; and if so, whether there were sufficient reasons for the Management for dismissing the workman concerned.

Decision

The facts giving rise to this application may be briefly stated as follows: The applicant was admittedly a permanent durwan of this Company. On the 6th of February 1960, there was a theft of five typewriters from the Sales Department of the Textile Division of the Company and information was lodged with Baranagore police-station on the same date in respect of this theft. The police took up investigation and placed Shri Goswami, the applicant, under arrest. Of course, he was subsequently released from the custody. On the 15th of February 1960, the Company issued a charge-sheet against Shri Goswami and it was sent to him by post. The Postal Department however, returned the charge-sheet with the remark "Left". It is not at all in dispute that police after investigation submitted a final report and all the accused arrested by the police were discharged by the Criminal Court. Thereafter the applicant approached the Management for employment. But the Management refused to employ him and by a letter, dated 23rd December 1960, discharged him from service on the allegation that there was sufficient material in the police report to show that he was directly connected with the said theft. It is nobody's case that any departmental enquiry was held in respect of the charge-sheet issued against him. Thus, in fact, Shri Goswami was not allowed any opportunity whatsoever to defend himself against the charge levelled against him. So there is no escape from the conclusion that there were gross violation of rules of natural justice in terminating the service of Shri Goswami. It is also a fact that the Management did not file any application before this Tribunal for approval of the punishment of discharge or dismissal inflicted on Shri Goswami So there is no doubt that there has been a contravention of the provisions of section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act by the Management.

Of course it may be urged that mere technical contravention of section 33 of the Act is not sufficient for granting relief under section 33A. It is open to the Management to show that there are sufficient reasons or materials to substantiate the charge levelled against him or to support the order of dismissal passed by the Management. So I must see what is the evidence, if any, on record to show that Shri Goswami was really responsible or connected with the theft in question. Shri Goswami, of course, denies outright any connection whatsoever with the said theft and he pleads that he is not in any way responsible or connected with the said theft. As against this, the only witness examined on behalf of the Company is Shri R. S. Sharma, the Commercial Manager of the Company. Shri Sharma simply says that in the night of 6th February 1960, five typewriters were stolen from the Sales Office and this theft was detected in the following morning. It is also added that none of the durwans on duty made any report in this connection. His only allegation is that Shri Goswami was posted near the Sales Office in the night of 6th February 1960, and the theft was committed from Sales Office. But Shri Goswami swears that in the relevant night he was posted at the st gate and not at Sales Office which was situated abo 250 yards away from his duty post. This shows th if Shri Goswami's version be correct, he cannot held anyway responsible for the theft from Sal Office. It is the positive evidence of Shri Goswar that some other durwans were actually posted th night at the Sales Office. Shri R. S. Sharma of t Company cannot outright deny this allegation. H simply tries to allege that Shri Goswami's duty po was near Sales Office. But it is already clear th Shri Goswami was posted at a distance of 250 yar at least. It is also admitted by Shri Sharma th Security Office allots duty to different durwans an Lieutenant Colonel D. N. Sharma was the Securit Officer at that time and he did the actual allotment of durwans for the relevant night. But the Compan makes no attempt whatsoever to examine Shri D. N Sharma in this connection. In fact, Shri R. S Sharma, the Commercial Manager, has no persona knowledge regarding the allotment of duty t Shri Goswami. So, I have no reason to disbeliev Shri Goswami on this point. The allegation made i the charge-sheet issued was that Shri Goswami wa one of the persons responsible for the theft of th typewriters. But, in fact, there is no evidence befor me to show that Shri Goswami was actually responsibl for the theft of the said typewriters. In the order o dismissal or termination of service, the Compan simply tries to say that there were sufficient ground to suspect Shri Goswami's complicity in the commission of the said offence. But mere suspicion is no proof and no Tribunal can act upon it. It is next alleged that the Management received a report from the police and this report revealed that sufficient material was obtained by police against Shri Goswami during investigation. Unfortunately, this report, if any, is not before this Tribunal. Moreover, a police report is not really an evidence and is not sufficient for convicting anybody. If police found sufficient material against Shri Goswami, it had no reason to submit a final report. The very fact that a final report was submitted by the police proves that there was no evidence of theft against Shri Goswami. In fact, it is conceded by the Management also that there was no direct evidence against Shri Goswami. Nor there is any evidence before this Tribunal either indirect or circumstantial to show Shri Goswami's complicity with the said theft. So I am unable to accept the contention that there is sufficient reason for dismissal of Shri Goswami, on the allegation that he was responsible for the theft.

Lastly it is contended that in fact, Shri Goswami was not dismissed but his services were simply terminated under section C, clause (b)(1) of the Standing Orders of the Company. But I am afraid, the said provisions of the Standing Orders do not apply to this case. It was not really a case of simple termination. From the order of dismissal also it is clear that this termination of service was inflicted by way of punishment or penalty for an alleged misconduct. So this termination must be treated as dismissal and there are sufficient materials to show that this termination really constitutes dismissal with penal consequences. So, I am unable to accept the contention of the Larned Representative of the Company. Thus, in any view of the case, the order of dismissal passed by the Management cannot be supported. Admittedly, an industrial dispute between the Company and its workmen was pending before this Tribunal at the relevant time and so, the Company was bound to seek approval under section 33(2)(b) of the Act. Thus, there has been a contravention of section 33 of the Act. The order of dismissal is not justifiable on merit also. So I finally hold that the order of dismissal must be set aside and the applicant is entitled to relief. I do not find sufficient reason why Shri Goswami should not be reinstated in his service. I do not think that he had any responsibility in the matter of theft, and, so, compensation cannot be considered sufficient relief in this case. Hence, it is directed that the applicant be reinstated within one month of the publication of this award. His services will be deemed to have continued without break. The Company shall pay full wages of Shri Goswami for the period of forced unemployment.

This is my award.

For the Company: Shri T. K. Jagdish, Labour Adviser.

AWARD

By order No. 5015-I.R.|IR|11L-266|60, dated the 23rd September 1960, the Government of West Bengal, in the Labour Department, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Swaika Vanaspati Products Ltd., Goushala Road, P.O. Bhattanagar, Lillooah, Howrah, and their workmen represented by the Swaika Mazdoor Union, 61 Chintamoni Dey Road, Howrah, regarding the matters specified in the schedule, to the Third Industrial Tribunal, constituted under section 7A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, by Notification No. 808-I.R.|IR|3A-2|57, dated the 11th March 1957, for adjudication.

1. Wages including Dearness Allowance.
2. Grades and Scales of Pay.

The present reference relating to some industrial disputes existing between Messrs. Swaika Vanaspati Products Ltd. (hereinafter be referred to as the Company) and their workmen represented by Swaika Mazdoor Union (hereinafter be referred to as the Union) was received from the Government at about the close of the year 1960 during the tenure of my predecessor-in-office.

Record shows that immediately thereafter notices were sent out for service upon the parties who on receipt thereof entered appearance and filed their respective written statements. Considerable time was taken by the parties regarding production of material documents and inspection of each other's documents. The case was then taken up for hearing. Both parties examined their witnesses and tendered various documents into evidence. But just before the hearing of the arguments there was a talk of compromise which ultimately yielded satisfactory result and all the existing disputes were finally settled amicably.

Both parties have filed a joint petition of compromise on 19th September 1962 signed by the representatives of the parties and their respective Advocates. I have gone through the joint petition of compromise and carefully considered the terms of settlement. I have found them to be fair, reasonable and legal. So, the terms are accepted and award is given on compromise which do form part of the compromise award as an Annexure.

This is my award.

RESOLUTION

No. 11571F.P.—21st November 1962.—In Resolution No. 3691, dated the 12th April 1961, a Committee was constituted in each of the districts of West Bengal for considering and vetting all Small Irrigation Schemes up to Rs. 10,000 each as also Tanks Improvement Schemes each costing up to Rs. 10,000 or more. The District Agricultural Officer of each district is to function as Secretary of the Committee under the terms and conditions laid down in the aforesaid Resolution.

2. The districts of 24-Parganas and Midnapore were divided, for agricultural purposes, into two parts, viz., 24-Parganas (North) and 24-Parganas (South) and Midnapore (East) and Midnapore (West). Two District Agricultural Officers were accordingly posted in each of the districts. A question has now arisen as to which of the District Agricultural Officers will function as Secretary of the Committee in the aforesaid two districts.

3. The Governor is now pleased to direct that the District Agricultural Officer under whose jurisdiction the Small Irrigation or Tank Improvement Schemes fall will function as Secretary of the Committee under the terms and conditions laid down in the aforesaid Resolution. The District Agricultural Officer whose headquarters are at the district headquarters of the two districts should be responsible for issuing notices of the meetings after fixing dates with the approval of the District Magistrate/Deputy Commissioner or Additional District Magistrate/Additional Deputy Commissioner, as the case may be. If there are schemes concerning the District Agricultural Officer, 24-Parganas (North), and District Agricultural Officer, Midnapore (East), they should send a list of the schemes to the District Agricultural Officer stationed at the district headquarters so that a complete list of all schemes may be put up by the latter before the District Magistrate/Deputy Commissioner or Additional District Magistrate/Additional Deputy Commissioner concerned. In the mettings of the District Small Irrigation and Tanks Improvement Committee, the outlying District Agricultural Officers should also be invited to attend.

Order

Ordered that the Resolution be published in the "Calcutta Gazette" and copies forwarded to all members of the Committee in each district, Home (Publicity) Department, Home (General Administration) Department, Irrigation and Waterways Department, Chief Engineer, Irrigation and Waterways Department, the District Commissioners, Director of Agriculture, West Bengal, Director of Fisheries, West Bengal, Deputy Directors of Agriculture, and Superintending Engineer (Agri.), ex-officio Joint Director of Agriculture (Eng.), West Bengal, for information.

OFFICE OF THE DEPUTY COMMISSIONER, COOCH BEHAR

ORDER

Dated Cooch Behar, the 28th November 1962.

Whereas I am of opinion that for maintaining supplies essential to the life of the community, it is necessary to prevent unlawful trade and smuggling to any Hat or market or any other place situated within five miles in the district of Cooch Behar from Indo-Pakistan border;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by section 20 of the West Bengal Security Act, 1950 (Act XIX of 1950), as delegated to me under section 38 of the said Act, by the State Government in their notification No. 2170P./30-S-50, dated the 11th April 1950, I hereby order that all movement of any commodity, article or thing excepting such as exempted or may be exempted by me in writing in the manner specified in the said order, in Hats or markets or any other place lying within a belt of five miles in the district of Cooch Behar from Indo-Pakistan border be prohibited between dusk and dawn.

The above order shall remain in force for a period of three months from the 1st December 1962. Any person contravening this order shall be punishable according to the provisions of law.

Given under my hand and seal of the Court, this 28th day of November 1962.

LABOUR DEPARTMENT

ORDERS

No. 4430-I.R.|IR|11L-260(B)|61.—29th September 1962.— Whereas under the Government of West Bengal Labour Department, order No. 8177-I.R.|IR|11L-260(B)|61, dated the 23rd December 1961, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Krishna Silicate & Glass Works Ltd., Jadavpur, Calcutta-32, and their workmen represented by Krishna Silicate & Glass Works Mazdoor Union, 48 Dharmatolla Street, Calcutta-13, regarding the issue mentioned in the said order being a matter specified in the second schedule to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), was referred for adjudication to the Second Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Second Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Krishna Silicate & Glass Works Ltd., Jadavpur, Calcutta-32, and their workmen represented by Krishna Silicate & Glass Works Mazdoor Union, 48 Dharmatolla Street, Calcutta-13, referred under G.O. No. 8177-I.R.|IR|11L-260(B)|61, dated 23rd December 1961. (Case No. VIII-2|62.)

BEFORE THE SECOND INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri P. C. PAL, Judge.

Appearances:

For the Company: Shri H. L. Roy, Advocate,

For the Union: Sm. Gayatri Das Gupta, Secretary of the Union.

This is a reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947 by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 8177-I.R.|IR|11L-260(B)|61, dated 23rd December 1961, for determination of the following issue, namely:

> Whether the refusal of work to Shri Purushottam Barui is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

AWARD

The written statement of the Union contains the following averments. The concerned workman, named Purushottam Barui, worked as a cutter under the Company since 1955. On 17th April 1961 Biswanath Chatterjee, Foreman, abused him for his Trade Union activities and asked him to give up connection with the Union and to sign a blank paper. Purushottam refused to comply. Thereafter he was repeatedly threatened with dismissal unless he deserted the Union. On 2nd May 1961 Purushottam was refused to work without any notice or charge-sheet. On 3rd May 1961 he wrote a letter to the Company explaining his position and asking for work. As the Company remained silent, the Union took up his cause. Conciliation meetings over the dispute proved futile and hence this reference. On these allegations the Union prays for reinstatement of the concerned workman with back wages, etc.

The Company's allegations as per its own written statement are as follows: The workman concerned had been in service of the Company since December 1956. The allegation of abuse and threats as mentioned in the Union's written statement are all false and frivolous. In fact, the workman concerned resigned his job by a letter, dated 15th April 1961, and the resignation was accepted by the Company on 17th April 1961. It is untrue that the Company refused work to this workman on and from 2nd May 1961 and that the workman addressed a letter on 3rd May 1961. After the acceptance of his resignation, he was asked to collect his dues; he agreed, but subsequently on ill-advice he made an attempt to make out a case like this against the Company. On 22nd May 1961 the Company sent a registered letter to this workman as he failed to collect his dues, but the letter was returned with the note "Left". The Conciliation Officer was duly apprised of the fact of Purushottam's resignation. In all these circumstances, therefore, the Union has no case and its prayer must be rejected.

Decision

In this case Purushottam Barui, the concerned workman, as well as the Union's Secretary named Mrs. Gayatri Das Gupta were examined by the Union. On the side of the Company there are the depositions of the Company's Manager named Shri Satya Ranjan Ghosh (O.P.W.1) and Foreman named Shri Biswanath Bhattacharjee (O.P.W.2). Purushottam (P.W.1) has said before the Tribunal that the Manager and Biswanath Babu (i.e., O.P.Ws.1 and 2) refused works to him since 2nd May 1961. As a reason for this alleged attitude of the latter, it is said that they asked the workman to sever connection with the Union but he refused to comply. That was about two or three months before 2nd May 1961, as P.W.1 says. The allegations made by P.W.1 have been totally denied by the Company's Manager and Foreman. This matter is therefore only an oath versus oath. There is no sufficient or dependable evidence to show that Purushottam was victimised on account of any Trade Union activity. On the contrary, the Company's specific case is that Purushottam resigned his job on 15th April 1961 and that resignation was accepted on 17th April 1961. The fact of resignation is denied and challenged by the concerned workman. The Company has put in a letter, dated 15th April 1961 (Ext. B), purporting to be the resignation letter in question. The contents of Ext. B are to the effect that Purushottam was resigning his job on ground of personal inconvenience as he intended to go away to his native place. In that letter Purushottam appears to have prayed for payment of all his outstanding dues including the Provident Fund money Admittedly, the writings of this letter are not in Purushottam's hand. But this letter bears a left thumb impression, purporting to be that of Purushottam himself. This thumb impression is denied and challenged by Purushottam and the Union. For purpose of cogent evidence in this respect, I required the Company to get a Finger Print Expert examined for removal of any doubt in regard to the identity of the left thumb impression appearing in Ext. B.

In pursuance to the said order, the Company availed itself of the opinion and evidence of a Finger Print Expert, named Shri T. K. Bakshi. This Expert was examined as O.P.W.3 on behalf of the Company on 17th September 1962. He took specimen L.T.Is. of Purushottam in Court on 9th August 1962 (vide Ext. G) and photographs of these specimens and the disputed L.T.I. in Ext.B, and got their enlargements by two and half times (vide Ext.H and H/1). In his report (Ext. I) he stated having found identity of the two sets of L.T.I.s examined and compared by him. He has also deposed before me to this effect, by stating that he found as many as eight points of identity. He was cross-examined by the Union's Secretary herself. In his earlier letter, dated 17th August 1962, the Expert stated that photographs taken by him in regard to the specimens had not come out up to the mark satisfactorily as the pad ink was faint and violet coloured. In that letter he prayed for taking fresh specimens with Printer's ink. As the workman could not be available new specimens could not be taken. In the Expert's letter mentioned above he made an alternative request that if fresh specimens were not available then he might be permitted to take another photograph of the disputed and the specimen L.T.I.s already taken. He was given the permission and he took Irsh photographs of the two sets of L.T.I.s and made the said enlarged photographs. It is by compairing and examining these photographs and the disputed and specimens L.T.I.s that the Expert has given his final opinion as stated above. It seems to me that the photographs he took for the first time were somewhat defective on account of some internal defect in the camera or some defective way of taking the exposure. Nothing of the sort appears to have occured in regard to the new photograph taken by the Expert. The evidence of the Expert stands good and does not appear to be shaky or doubtful in any way. I therefore accept and rely on the Expert's evidence, and hold that the L.T.I. in Ext.B was really that of Purushottam Barui. In view of the above considerations it can be easily held that Ext. B was really a letter of resignation and that Purushottam had actually resigned his job on 15th April 1961. The Union tried to cast some doubt on the story of resignation by stating that the alleged acceptance of the resignation was very much delayed by more than a month as stated in Company's letter to the Labour Officer on 16th June 1961. In that letter (Ext. 1) the Manager wrote, amongst other things, that resignation was made on 15th April 1961 and accepted by the Management on 22nd May 1961. If properly considered, this seeming delay has its explanation. The Manager (O.P.W.1) has said that the resignation was accepted on 17th April 1961. He has further stated that as Purushottam did not turn up to receive his outstanding dues he was sent a letter on 22nd May 1961 by registered post which came back undelivered. In that letter (Ext.D) it was clearly mentioned that the resignation was accepted on 17th April 1961. Thus in Ext.A the mention of 22nd May 1961 as being the date of acceptance of the resignation was nothing but enormous.

It further appears from the evidence of the Company's Manager that Purushottam was keeping indifferent health for some time past and was unable to bear the brunt of hard work near the furnace and so he used to take leave and ultimately decided to resign. The Manager also says that on the 18th and 19th of April 1961 Purushottam approached him to know how much was due to him, and the information given by him was that he was to get a sum of Rs. 641.26 nP. all told, including Provident Fund money, but he did not come thereafter. This evidence suffic ently confirms to the resignation letter Ext.B In view of the facts and circumstances, the evidence of the Manager cannot but be relied upon.

In the result, I hold that the Union has no case regarding the point of alleged refusal of work to Purushottam Barui inasmuch as he himself resigned his job willingly. Thus the case is rejected.

An award is passed accordingly.

AWARD

The above dispute over the Issue given in the order of reference and reproduced below was referred to this Tribunal for adjudication by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 577-I.R.|IR|15L-7|62, dated the 20th February 1962.

Issue

Whether the refusal of employment to the following workmen is justified? To what relief, if any, are they enttitled?

(i) Shri Makar Sahu, (ii) Shri Banka Palai, (iii) Shri Pari Sahu, (iv) Shri Kristo Majhi, (v) Shri Nath Mullick, (vi) Shri Pran Kristo Das, (vii) Shri Chakradhar Sahu and (viii) Shri Bidyadhar Maity.

The relevant case put forward by the Union on behalf of the concerned workers is briefly as follows: These workers were engaged for the work of loading and unloading goods by the Company for its oil mill and they were paid wages on piece-rates basis. A dispute arose between the workers and the Company about the rates of wages paid to them and the matter was referred to the Labour Directorate for conciliation. When the conciliation was pending in the Labour Directorate, the Company, on 3rd December 1961, persuaded the Sirdar, Shri Makar Sahu, to take part-payment of some arrear wages. Shri Makar Sahu took the payment and gave a signed receipt for it. On the next day, i.e., on 4th December 1961, Shri Sahu and his colleagues, the other concerned workmen, came to the Mill for work as usual, but they were not given any work and were told that their services were no longer required. Then an industrial dispute arose between the Management and Makar Sahu and his colleagues, but the latter were not allowed to enter into the Mill premises. Shri Sahu was then called by the proprietor of the Mill inside the Mill premises. He went there escorted by some men of the proprietor. When he entered the room, the door was bolted from inside and his signatures were taken on some blank sheets of papers, some of which were stamped, under threats of assault upon him. Shri Sahu lodged an information with the local police regarding the said occurrence. Police did not take cognizance of the case. Then Shri Shau made a petition before the Additional Chief Presidency Magistrate, who ordered the police to take cognizance of the case. The police, however, submitted a final report and on the basis of the report, all the accused persons were discharged. The Company did not give any work to the concerned workers from 4th December 1961 and this amounted to their illegal and unjustified non-employment by the Company by way of victimisation. They are entitled to be reinstated to their services under the Company and to get all arrear wages and also wages for the period of unemployment.

The Company has filed a written statement. The pleas raised by the Company in reply to the Union's case on behalf of the workers may be briefly summarised as follows: The workers named in the order of reference were not directly employed by the Company and there was no relationship of employer and employees between them. They were employed by and worked under Narayan Roy, a contractor of the Company. In the aforesaid circumstances, they are not entitled to raise any industrial dispute in respect of their alleged non-employment against the Company and, as such, the dispute as referred to this Tribunal, is not an industrial dispute referable for adjudication under section 30 of the Industrial Disputes Act, and so the reference itself is without jurisdiction and not maintainable. These workers were employed by the contractor mainly for loading the goods of customers in their lorries or other vehicles and unloading them at the destination and their wages were included in the bills of the customers and were paid when the customers paid the bills. Shri Sahu and his colleagues finally expressed their desires not to work with the Company any more and demanded full payment of their accumulated dues. So, Shri Sahu was paid Rs 2,700 on 2nd December 1961 for the work done by them. He received the money on behalf of himself and his colleagues, the other concerned workers, and gave a stamped receipt. These workers, therefore, voluntarily gave up their work under the Company and it was not a case of their non-employment by the Company, as alleged. So, they are not entitled to get any relief on the basis that the Company illegally and unjustly refused them employment. It is not true that the concerned workers presented themselves for duty after 2nd December 1961 and were refused employment by the Company.

I now take up the first plea raised by the Company which is in the nature of a preliminary objection against the maintainability of the present reference From the evidence adduced before me on this plea by both sides, I am satisfied that the real position was that Shri Sahu was employed by the Company for loading and unloading of the goods of its customers and also of some goods of the Mill on certain rates of wages and Shri Sahu himself engaged the other workers of the reference for doing this work and he used to take the entire wages payable to himself and all the workers and to pay the wages to other workers. P.W. 1 Shri Sahu and two other workers examined in this case, P.W. 2 Shri Palai and P.W. 3 Shri Pari Sahu, have clearly admitted this position in their evidence. P.W. 1 Shri Sahu has made the following sugnificant statement in the concluding portion of the evidence "The other workers had no concern with the Company in respect of the work. I engaged them and looked after their work and realised wages for them and paid wages to them." P.W. 2 Shri Palai has clearly admitted that Makar Sahu engaged him in work and he used to pay their wages and supervised their work. P.W. 3 Shri Pari Sahu has also clearly admitted that he had been engaged in work by Shri Makar Sahu, who used to pay his wages. O.P.W. 1 Shri Paramanik the proprieter of the Mill has, of course, tesified that all the concerned workers including Shri Makar Sahu were not his employees but they were the employees of the contractor, Narayan Roy. This plea that all the workers were the employees of Narayan Roy, the contractor of the Company, has not been established though O.P.W. 2 Shri Narayan Roy has also come forward to support this plea by evidence. I do not see any reason whatsoever why a contractor came in between the Company and these workers. The most significant point in this connection is that there is no evidence to show that Shri Narayan Roy used to take their wages from the Company and pay them, or that he ever supervised and controlled their work. The evidence, on the contrary, is that Shri Sahu used to take their wages from the Company and pay them. Shri Roy has further admitted that he did not get anything from the Company for working as contractor. This is rather strange. If he was a contractor, he must have worked for gain, and it is naturally to be expected that he should get some money from the Company in return for his work. In fact, after careful consideration of the entire evidence, I cannot discover any reason for the interposition of a contractor between the Company and Shri Sahu and his colleagues. There is no paper to show the allaged contract between the Company and Narayan Roy. On the other hand, it clearly appears from the evidence of O.P.W. 1 Shri Jagannath Paramanik, the proprietor of the Oil Mill, and from Ext. B, a previous receipt for wages paid to Shri Sahu after accounting, that Shri Sahu used to get payment of wages directly from the Mill. In the result, I hold that the real position was that Shri Sahu was only employed by the Company for loading and unloading work on certain terms fixed by contract, and Shri Sahu engaged the other concerned workers of this case for doing the loading and unloading work covered by his terms of employment under the Company and so, only Shri Makar Sahu was an employee of the Company but the other concerned workers were not employees of the Company and they worked under Shri Sahu, who engaged them, on the basis of some understanding or contract between them. The position, therefore, comes to this that there was employer and employee relationship between Shri Makar Sahu and the Company but there was no such relationship between the other workers and the Company. After this finding of fact, it must be held that Shri Sahu is competent to raise an industrial dispute against the Company as its employee but the other workers are not competent to raise an industrial dispute against the Company, and the Union is similarly competent to raise an industrial dispute against the Company on behalf of Shri Makar Sahu and not on behalf of the other workers named in the issue. The dispute so far as it relates to Shri Sahu may, therefore, be said to be an industrial dispute referable for adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, but the dispute so far as relates to other workers, cannot be said to be such an industrial dispute. The present reference is, therefore, maintainable only in respect of the dispute concerning Shri Makar Sahu but not in respect of other workers. This disposes of the first plea raised by the Company.

I now come to the merits of the case. The crucial question to be determined in connection with the merits of the case is whether Shri Makar Sahu along with his colleagues employed by him were really refused employment by the Company on and from 4th December 1961, as alleged by the Union, or they voluntarily relinquished their work under the Company after Shri Sahu was paid all the due arrears of wages by accounting on 2nd December 1961. The Company's case in this respepct is clearly supported by receipt, Ext. A, which goes to show that on 3rd December 1961 corresponding to 16th Agrahayana 1368 B.S. there was some settlement of account between the Company and Shri Sahu, and Shri Sahu took all outstanding arrears of wages on the basis of the accounting and intimated that he and his men would no longer work in the Company. In the receipt, he described himself as Sardar. The body of the receipt and the accompanying accounts are written in Bengali and Shri Sahu signed in Oriya and also wrote endorsements in Oriya admitting receipt of all due wages for the years 1364 to 1368 B.S. He gave the Bengali date 16-8-68 below his Oriya signatures upon stamps. His dated signatures, and endorsements in Oriya are admitted by him. He has, however, come forward with the plea that his signatures were taken by force upon some blank stamped papers on 3rd December 1961, when the dispute raised by the workers regarding their rates of wages were pending for conciliation in the Labour Directorate and the motive for taking such receipt forcibly from Sahu was to put an end to the dispute which was pending for conciliation by unlawful means. The Company's case, on the other hand, is that all disputes between Shri Sahu and the Management regarding the wages payable to him and his men were finally settled on 2nd December 1961 and on this date, an accounting was made for ascertaining the correcct dues of Shri Sahu and his men and after this accounting as per second sheet of Ext. A, the balance due to Shri Sahu on account of wages after deducting part-payments already made, was paid to him and after the payment, he signed the written receipt Ext. A, and made endorsement admitting receipt of all due wages for the years 1364-68 B.S. Though in the written statement of the Company the case put forward is that Rs. 2,700 the total amount written in the Account Sheet of Ext. A, was actually paid to Shri Sahu, the evidence given on behalf of the Company at the trial is that Shri Sahu was actually paid Rs. 1,043 out of the total dues settled by account at Rs. 2,700 after deducting part-payments already made. OPW 1 Shri Paramanik, made this statement in his evidence. In cross-examination, he was challenged on this point and was asked to produce the Cash Book to support the alleged payment of Rs 1,043. He at once produ d the Cash Book and proved the entry, Ext. C, owing that Rs 1,043.03 nP. were paid to Shri Sahu n 2nd December 1961. The Union practically vited this corroborative evidence in cross-examina-on and got it. As against the receipt, Ext. A, rroborated by the Cash Book entry, Ext. C, and the al evidence of O.P.W. 1 Shri Paramanik, in respect the Company's case based upon the receipt, the ly evidence on the Union side in support of its case at Shri Sahu's signatures were taken in blank amped papers by force and threat is the interested al testimony of P.W. 1 Shri Sahu himself. I have ready referred to the fact that the papers of Ext. A t only contains his Oriya signatures with Bengali date 5th Agrahayana 1368 corresponding to 2nd Decem-r 1961 but also endorsements in Oriya admitting ceipt of all due wages as stated in the receipt. It significant to note that the Union's case is that his gnatures were forcibly taken on 3rd December 1961 d not on 2nd December 1961. But the Bengali te given by Shri Sahu in the papers of Ext. A early belies this story. It is unnatural and highly probable that he was forced to put a wrong date en if it is assumed that his signatures were taken rcibly. There could be no reason and motive for king such wrong date. It is to be noted that the mitted case of the Union is that Shri Sahu brought te given by Shri Sahu in the papers of Ext. A king the same plea against it as in the present case t it ultimately failed upon the final report of police d all the accused were discharged (vide Ext. 1). annot accept the interested oral testimony of P.W. 1 ri Sahu as sufficient and satisfactory proof of his a that the receipt, Ext. A, was taken from him by rce and threats and that he was made to sign on nk stamped papers by force and threats. A heavy us lies upon the Union and the concerned worker, ri Sahu, to make out this plea of force and threats d I am firmly of the opinion that this onus has not en discharged. I accept the Company's case regard-g the receipt, Ext. A, and the circumstances under hich it was taken and, accordingly, I hold that the ceipt, Ext. A, is bona fide and genuine and Shri Sahu anted the receipt after taking all arrears of wages due him for work rendered to the Company by himself d through his men after proper accounting and after is, he voluntarily gave up his work under the Com-ny along with his men. The receipt clearly recites is fact also. This conduct on the part of Shri Sahu as not absolutely unnatural and improbable. It was t unnatural or improbable that when the dispute ised by him in respect of wages was pending for nciliation before the Labour Directorate, there was settlement between the contending parties by nicable accounting and payment of arrear dues on e basis of the accounting. The receipt, Ext. A, early shows this position. It was not also unnatural d improbable that after this Shri Sahu and his men ould give up their work with the Company. In the bove view of the evidence and circumstances of the ase, I decide the crucial question formulated at the eginning of these discussions in favour of the Com-any and reject the contrary case of the Union and old that it was not a case of non-employment of the orkers by the Company on and from 4th December 961 but it was a case of voluntary relinquishment f the work by Shri Sahu, the Company's employee, nd other workers engaged by him after 2nd Decem-er 1961 corresponding to 16th August 1968 and before such relinquishment, Shri Sahu took all his due wages for himself and his workers from the Company. In view of this decision, the workers would clearly not be entitled to get any relief.

Upon the decision and for the reasons recorded above, I award as follows: The dispute under reference is not an industrial dispute so far as the workers other than Shri Makar Sahu is concerned and, as such, the reference in respect of such workers is not maintainable in law. So far as Shri Sahu is concerned, it is an industrial dispute and the present reference is maintainable in respect of him. It was not a case of refusal of employment by the Company to Shri Makar Sahu and other workers engaged by him but it was a case of voluntary relinquishment of work under the Company by Shri Sahu for self and the workers engaged by him with effect from 2nd December 1961 after receipt of all due wages from the Company. None of the workers is, therefore, entitled to get any relief.

For the Union: Shri Matish Ray.

The Government of West Bengal by its Labour Department order No. 5205-I.R./IR/10L-175/61, dated 28th August 1961, referred to this Tribunal an industrial dispute between Flash Light (India) Private Ltd., 106 B. T. Road, Calcutta-35 (hereinafter referred to as the Company, and their workmen represented by the Flash Light (India) Private Ltd. Employees' Union, 22/1 Kali Charan Ghose Road, Calcutta-2 (hereinafter referred to as the Union), for adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The only issue referred to this Tribunal for adjudication is as follows: -

> Whether the termination of employment of Shri Durga Charan Sil is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

AWARD

Both parties have filed their respective written statements. The workman's case in short is this:

Shri Durga Charan Sil was all along an employee of this Company from 1953 till the date of his discharge lately. It is alleged that this Company had two departments, one being the Flash Light and Radio Assembly department and the other Radio Techincian Training Centre. Shri Sil was working as a solderman in the manufacturing department. Thereafter he was employed in the Radio Technician Training Centre. But on the 1st of April 1959, the management closed the place of employment for those workmen who were attached to the Radio Technician Training Centre and terminated their services by a notice, dated 31st March 1959, and with effect from the 3rd of June 1959. However, after several representations before the management on behalf of the discharged workman, there was a settlement between the parties an Shri Sil together with some other employee were re-employed by the Company. After this re employment Shri Sil was working as a soldermar On 13th November 1959, however, the Compan without any cogent reason again terminated th services of Shri Sil. It is urged that this termina tion was absolutely without any justification an hence this dispute.

The Company's case on the other hand is as fo lows:

This Company was incorporated in June 193 for manufacture of dry cell batteries and in 195 it started manuufacturing radio receiving sets. I 1957-58, the Government of West Bengal aban doned its scheme of supplying radio sets and dis continued taking radio receiving sets and radi batteries from this Company and as a result, ther was a sharp fall in the business of the Compan and this gave rise to a financial crisis. In 1957, th Government of West Bengal started a Radio Techn cians' Training Centre at Kalyani and formed a advisory committee to run this centre. This Com pany was, however, entrusted with the manageme of this Training Centre. After this Training Centr was started some of the workmen of this Compan including Shri Sil voluntarily relinquished the se vices of the Company and joined the staff of th Radio Technicians' Training Centre. This Compan did not see any reason to object to the abandoing o their services, because the business of this concern ha already received a terrible set back. In June 195 again, the Government of West Bengal decided t directly manage the Radio Technicians' Trainin Centre and on the directions of the authoritie concerned, this Company was compelled to serv notices of termination of service to the then employee of the said Training Centre on the ground of it closure. After the closure of the said Training Centre Shri Sil again applied for a job to thi Company and evidently, he was appointed tempo rarily as a probationer with effect from 5th o June 1959. During the probationery period, how ever, the work of Shri Sil was not found satis factory and he developed a habit of absenting him self from work without previous leave. Consider ing the unsatisfactory nature of his work, the Com pany by its letter, dated 13th November 1959 terminated his services. So, there was every justi fication for his discharge and there is no reason f any grievance.

Other facts will appear from the body of t award that follows.

From what I have mentioned above, it will l clear that according to the Union or the workma concerned the Radio Technicians' Training Cent (hereinafter referred to as 'R. T. T. C') was a pa and parcel of this Company and Shri Sil's co tention is that he was working in this Company a along till he was discharged on 13th of Novemb 1959. Accordingly it is urged on behalf of th workman that Shri Sil was a permanent employe of this Company and as such, the straight termina tion of his services without any reason or compensa tion was highly improper, nay, illegal. On th other hand, it is the definite case of the Compan that Shri Sil was no doubt, an employee for in this Company and worked in that capacity for a few years. Subsequently, the Government of West Bengal decided to start the R. T. T. C. and for various reasons, the management, thereof, was entrusted to this Company, though the overall control and supervision of the Centre was with the Directorate of Industries, West Bengal. Hence it is urged by the Company that this Company had no control over the Centre or its employees absolutely, and this Company was at best working as agent or representative of the Government of West Bengal. Thus, the parties differ as to the locus standi of this Company in respect of the R. T. T. C. Shri Subodh Pal (P. W. 1) says that R. T. T. C. was under the management of this Company; that this Company used to pay the wages of the technicians thereof, and the technicians of the Centre used to enjoy same facilities and privileges with the employees of this Company. Similarly, Shri Durga Charan Sil in his deposition (P. W. 4) alleges that while at Kalyani, he used to work at R. T. T. C. belonging to the Company and this Company used to pay his wages and grant leave, etc., to him. Shri Sil further adds that when this Centre was abolished, some of the employees of the Centre were employed by this Company and continued to serve as before without any break of service. But to me it appers that this is not the correct position so far as the R. T. T. C. was concerned. From the evidences on record it appears that this R. T. T. C. at Kalyani was really started by the State of West Bengal in its Commerce and Industries Department and an advisory committee was constituted by the Government for running this Centre, though the management of the Centre was entrusted to the present Company. From the Government letter on record, it appears that the functions of the said advisory committee were amongst other things, to select staff needed for the Centre; to fix up qualifications for recruitment of training staff and also to arrange actual appointment of staff, through selection after interview. Thus, it is clear that the staff and the employees of the Training Centre were really appointed by the advisory committee and this Company had little or nothing to do in the matter. It is also clear that this Training Centre did not surely belong to the Company itself and accordingly the employees thereof should not be treated as workmen of this Company. Of course, it is the common case of both the parties that after this Training Centre was opened, Shri Sil relinquished the services of this Company and joined the staff of the Training Centre presumably for better emoluments and facilities. Unfortunately, for Shri Sil, the Government decided to close this Centre by the middle of 1959 and on the direction of the Director of Industries, notices of termination were served on all the employees of the R. T. T. C. and in fact, this Centre was closed for reasons best known to the Government. So, it is evident that all the employees of the Training Centre were thrown out of employment as a result of these notices of termination. The workmen in his written statement, no doubt, speaks of this termination taking effect in the month of June, 1959, and also of the second termination by this Company on the 13th of November, 1959. Though the issue framed by the Government and referred to this Tribunal for adjudication does not expressly mention which termination is really the subject-matter of this issue, it is the common case of both the parties that the present dispute relates to the second termination taking place in the month of November, 1959. In view of this position I can at once observe that I am not required to consider whether there was any justification for termination of services of Shri Sil in the month of June, 1959. The fact remains that about 23 or 24 persons received notices of termination as employees of R. T. T. C. and they were thrown out of employment. It is also not in dispute that majority of these discharged employees sought employment elsewhere after this termination and only about 7 or 8 persons including the present workman got employment again in the present Company. Shri Sil tries to say that his services in the present Company were in continuity of his service in the R. T. T. C. But I have already pointed out that this R. T. T. C. was not a concern of the present Company and as such, the question of continuity of service did not arise at all. Shri Sil, like many others, gave up the services of this Company previously and joined the Training Centre. The Training Centre having gone again, they were thrown out of employment. Of course, here Shri Sil again got an employment in this Company and so, it must be held that this employment was a new one for all legal purposes. Shri Sil tries to allege that he did not apply for any such job in the Company again and that he was taken in automatically in continuity of his previous service in the Centre. In this connection the Company, however, refers me, to Exts. B and B/1. From Ext. B Series it appears that Shri Sil formerly applied for a fresh employment in this Company and his prayer being allowed, he formally joined the service of the Company again on 5th June 1959. Shri Sil, of course, denies that he signed Ext. B and B/1. But Shri Dilip Sen, the Manager of the Company, swears that both these documents were actually signed by Shri Sil in his presence and to his knowledge. I have no sufficient reasons for disbelieving Shri Sen. On the other hand, circumstanced as he was, Shri Sil was normally expected to put in a fresh petition for new employment in this Company as he long ceased to be an employee of this Company. So, I accept the Company's case that Shri Sil applied for a fresh job in this Company after his discharge from the R. T. T. C. and got a job actually. According to the workman, Shri Sil, he became a permanent employee from the very inception of his employment in June 1959 in this Company and so, the Company had no right to terminate his services by a simple notice of termination. On the other hand, the sworn evidence of Shri Sen, the Manager of the Company, is that Shri Sil was actually employed in June 1959 as a temporary employee on probation; though he previously served the Company for years together. Shri Sil has nothing to show that he was employed permanently from the very date of his employment in June 1959. This Company, of course, has no certified Standing Orders but nevertheless, it is the positive evidence of the Comapny's side that all new employees are taken in by the Company temporarily and on probation and nobody is employed permanently from the very beginning. This version of Shri Sen gets a clear cut corroboration from the workman's own witness Shri Gopi Nath Das also. Shri Das in his deposition admits that all new entrants in this Company are employed as temporary employees. Of course, he tries to add that an employee is made permanent by this Company after three months' services. But as against this, the evidence of Shri Sen, the Manager of the Company, is that every new employee is required to work as a probationer for at least six months. On this point also I am not in a position to disbelieve Shri Sen because a probationery period of six months is not an unreasonable one. It is not the case of Shri Sil that he was confirmed or made permanent earlier because of his past services and in fact, there is nothing to show that he was made permanent before the lapse of six months. So, to me, it appears that Shri Sil was really a probationer on the date of his discharge, i.e., on 13th of November 1959. It is urged on behalf of Shri Sil that he was an old employee of the Company and thus, an experienced solderman and the Company had no reason to discharge him within the period of probation. It is alleged that this act of the management was only taken recourse to in a spirit of victimisation for his union activities. But I am afraid, there is no sufficient evidence before me to convince one that this discharge was actually done with a spirit of victimisation alone. It is the categorical evidence of the Manager that Shri Sil was lately found very much negligent and often absenting from duty without any leave or permission. Of course, the Company is not bound to show any reason for its discharge of an employee during the period of his probation. But nevertheless, there is evidence before this Tribunal to show that the services of Shri Sil were lately found unsatisfactory and hence, the Company was compelled to terminate his services. I am afraid, in the circumstances, this Tribunal has no legitimate ground for interference with the management decision It was a management function to confirm or not to confirm a probationer employee and the management in its discretion did not thing it fit to confirm Shri Sil, a probationer, undoubtedly, at the relevant time. Lastly, it is urged on behalf of Shri Sil that Provident Fund contribution was all along deducted from his wages by the management and so, it must be presumed that he was treated as a permanent employee by the Company. But I am afraid, from the deduction of Provident Fund contribution alone, it cannot be held that the management treated Shri Sil as a permanent employee all along. The evidence of Shri Sen, the Manager of the Company, in this connection is that deductions are made from every employee from the very beginning and if any employee becomes permanent, a Provident Fund is opened for him and his deductions are credited and thus, the Privedent Fund Scheme is given retrospective effect. It is also added that the deductions made during the probationary period are kept in suspense account unitll the workman becomes permanent. If any worker is discharged before permanency, the deductions are refunded to him. Thus, from the evidence of Shri Sen it appears that no presumption of permanency can be made from the simple deduction of Provident Fund contribution as alleged by the worker. Thus, in any view of the case, it cannot be held that Shri Sil was a permanent employee of the Company at the time he was last discharged by this Company. He put in not more than 5 or 6 months' services at the time, and so, there was no question of paying any compensation also under section 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act. Thus, I finally hold that it cannot be said that the termination of employment of Shri Durga Charan Sil is without justification, and so he is not entitled to any relief in the present case.

This is my award.

Seventh Industrial Tribunal.

For the Union: Shri Lenin Roy, Advocate and Shri S. N. Pandey, Secretary.

For the Employers: Shri K. K. Maitra, Advocate.

AWARD

The above dispute over the issue given in the order of reference and reproduced below was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 8340-R./IR/11L-211(B)/61, dated the 29th December 1961.

Issue

Whether the dismissal of Shri Sitaram Jha is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

On the final date of hearing (20th November 1962), the parties filed a joint petition of compromise setting out the terms upon which the dispute had been settled amicably and praying for an award on the basis of the compromise.

I have considered the terms of the compromise. The terms appear to be quite lawful, fair, reasonable and equitable. I am satisfied that there has been a bona fide settlement of the dispute in terms of the joint petition of compromise. I would, therefore, take a compromise award, as prayed for.

In the result, I make an award on compromise in terms of the joint petition filed by the parties on 20th November 1962, a copy whereof is made a part of the award as an Annexure.

The humble petition of compromise of the parties abovenamed—

Most respectfully sheweth:

1. That the above case is compromised between the parties on the following terms and conditions.

2. That the workman, Shri Sitaram Jha, expressed his unqualified apology and regret for the misconduct committed by him on 25th January 1961.

3. That in view of expression of regret, the Society agrees to reinstate Sitaram Jha in service with effect from 26th November 1962 with continuity of service. The period of unemployment from 26th January 1961 to 25th November 1962 shall be treated as special leave without any wages.

4. That the service of Shri Subhadra Jha, who is working in the place of Shri Sitaram Jha, will be terminated; and for that the Union agrees not to raise dispute regarding the same in the future.

5. That the workman, Shri Sitaram Jha, assures that he will maintain peace and discipline and work satisfactorily.

Under the circumstances, your petititoners most humbly pray that your honour will be graciously pleased to accept the above terms as just and fair and pass an award in terms thereof making this petition as a part of the Award.

And your petitioners shall ever pray.

AWARD

The above dispute over the issue given in the order reference and reproduced below was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department order No. 4036-I.R.| 11L-283|62, dated the 7th September 1962.

Issue

Is the termination of service of Shri Ram Chandra Bhattacharjee justified? What relief, if any, is he entitled to?

The Tribunal issued notices to the parties fixing October 1962 for appearances and filing of written tement by the Union. Notices were duly served. one appeared for the Union and no written statent was filed on its behalf on 1st October 1962. 27th September 1962 a letter was received from essrs. Anuradha Cinema by post asking for adjournent on the plea that it would not be possible for anyne to be present on behalf of the Cinema before the ribunal on 1st October 1962. The case was adjourned to 29th October 1962 with the direction that if no ritten statement was filed by the Union within a.m. on that date, the case would be disposed of ording to law. On 29th October 1962 the Union eared and filed its written statement, but there was appearance for Messrs. Anuradha Cinema. The case s again adjourned to 10th November 1962 for filing written statement by the Cinema. On 10th Novem- 1962 the Union Secretary appeared, but there is no appearance and no written statement was filed behalf of the Cinema. The case was then again ourned to 22nd November 1962 with the direction at if on written statement was filed by the Cinema 12 a.m. on that date, the case would be heard parte on that date. On 22nd November 1962 the ion was represented by its Joint Secretary, but re was no appearance on behalf of the Cinema d no written statement was filed on its behalf up to a.m. The Tribunal waited till 12-30 p.m. and then took up the case for ex-parte hearing. The case was thus finally heard ex-parte in the absence of Messrs. Anuradha Cinema, the employer.

The case put forward by the Union on behalf of the concerned worker may be briefly summarise as follows. The concerned worker, Shri Ram Chandra Bhattacharjee, was employed as Accountant of Messrs. Anuradha Cinema. He was sometimes required to work in other industrial establishments of this employer. In the second-half of 1961, there was a Statewide movement of cinema employees for statutory wages and workmen of this Cinema also joined this movement under the leadership of this concerned worker. The employer was displeased with the concerned worker for this conduct on his part. From 13th December 1961, the employer did not allow this worker to work and also refused to record his attendance without showing any reason whatsoever. No charge-sheet was issued to him and no order or anything in writing was served on him. No enquiry was held at all. His service was thus terminated against all principles of social and natural justice and he was victimised in the most unlawful and unjust manner. The Union took up his case with the local Conciliation Officer of the Government, but all attempts at conciliation failed. As the termination of service of the concerned worker was unlawful and unjust and against all principles of natural justice, he is entitled to be reinstated with full back wages.

There is no reply on behalf of the employer to the aforesaid written statement filed on behalf of the concerned worker.

At the ex-parte trial, the concerned worker gave evidence on oath and proved the whole case put forward by the Union on his behalf. I am satisfied from his unchallenged and uncontradicted evidence that he was victimised for his Union activities by unlawful and unjust termination of this service with effect from 13th December 1961 without any charge-sheet and without any enquiry and in violation of all principles of natural justice and the termination of his service was malafide. He is, therefore, entitled to be reinstated to his service with back wages. As the worker himself has admitted in his evidence that he has been doing some temporary work for the last six months, I would allow him back wages for five months.

In the result, I award that the termination of service of the concerned worker, Shri Ram Chandra Bhattacharjee, was not justified and the employer, Messrs. Anuradha Cinema, shall reinstate him to service on the same terms and conditions as before on his reporting for duty within fifteen days from the publication of the award and the employer shall also pay him five months' back wages at the rate last drawn by him within fifteen days of his reporting for duty.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act filed by Shri Baijnath and two others, workmen of Messrs. Textile Machinery Corporation Ltd. against the said Company. (Case No. 31 of 1962 under section 33A).

BEFORE THE FIFTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri N. B. CHAUDHURI, Judge,
Fifth Industrial Tribunal

Appearances:

For the Company: Shri S. R. Singh, Officer of the Engineering Association of India.
For the workmen: Shri Brojen Bagchi.

This is an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act by three workmen complaining that the opposite party Company discharged them on a false charge and without any enquiry whatsoever during the pendency of an industrial dispute between the Company and its workmen before this Tribunal. It is alleged that the Company discharged them without obtaining any approval of the Tribunal. The applicants' case in short is this: They were all permanent employees of the opposite party Company. On 6th February 1960 the local Police placed them under arrest on account of an information lodged by the Management with the Baranagore police-station. Thereafter they were released on bail, but the Management did not employ them in spite of their prayer in that behalf. Sri Baijnath, one of the applicants was subsequently charge-sheeted with a false allegation, and he gave his reply thereto. The Police also submitted their final report against all the applicants, and they were ultimately discharged by the Criminal Court Subsequently on their prayer for re-employment, the Management issued a letter, dated 23rd Novembe 1960, discharging them from service. No enquiry wa held into the charges levelled against the applicants.

The Company's case on the other hand may b briefly stated as follows: The Company concedes tha no application for approval of the said dismissal wa actually made and that no departmental enquiry wa also held. But it is contended on behalf of th Company that these applicants were all responsible fo the theft of 5 type-writers from the sales departmen of the textile division of the Company. Though th Police failed to submit any charge-sheet against thes applicants in the absence of any direct evidence, there were materials for holding them responsible for the theft, and so the Company had to terminate their services in accordance with its certified standing orders.

Other facts will appear from the body of the award that follows:—

AWARD

It is not in dispute that an industrial dispute between the Company and its workmen was pending before this Tribunal [vide Government order No. 5015-I.R.|IR|10L-56(C)|58, dated 22nd October 1959]. It is also not in dispute that the Company did not apply for necessary approval for dismissing the present applicants in accordance with the provisions of section 33(2)(b) of the Act. The Company, however, tries to maintain that charge-sheets were issued against all these applicants, and the Company had sufficien reasons for terminating their services. Certain fac are more or less not in dispute. Either party did no challenge the fact that 5 type-writers were stolen fro the sales department of the textile division of th Company. It is also not in dispute that the Manage ment sent an information to Baranagore police-statio on 6th February 1960, and the police placed thes persons under arrest on that very date purely o suspicion. It may be mentioned in this connectio that the applicants Shri Baijnath and Shri Baghirat Singh were automobile drivers of the Company, and the other workman was an ordinary workman, or coolie. It is also a fact that these three applicants were enlarged on bail by the Criminal Court pending investigation by the Police. After release on bail, they approached the Management for allowing them to work as before, but the Management refused to employ them. On or about 15th February 1960, the Manage ment issued charge-sheets against all of them i identical language. These charge-sheets were sent b Post. Shri Baijnath got the charge-sheet, and h submitted his reply thereto denying the charge. Bu the other two charge-sheets were returned undelivere to the Company for some reason or other. It is also not in dispute that the Police after investigation sub mitted a final report against all of them, and no charge-sheet could be submitted before the Criminal Court for want of evidence against them. Accordingly the Criminal Court discharged all these three applicants After discharge by the Criminal Court, the applicant again applied before the Management for employment But by a letter, dated 23rd December 1960, the Management terminated the services of all the three applicants on identical grounds. Exhibit D-series are the letters of termination of service. It is nobody's case that any departmental or domestic enquiry w ld in respect of any one of these three applicants

1 the charges levelled against them. So, it can be once concluded that no opportunity was offered to ıy one of these applicants for defending themselves gainst the impugned order of dismissal. The Comıny's simple case in this respect is that there were ffici- t materials before the Police to prove that e applicants were involved directly in this theft case, ıd so the Company did not consider it proper to tain them in service any longer. In this connection, may refer to the letter of dismissal or termination self. For convenience of discussion, I quote verbatim ıe relevant portion of the letter of termination:—

"You were arrested by the Police in connection with the theft of 5 typewriters from the sales department of the textile division of the Company on 6th February 1960, as there were sufficient grounds to suspect your complicity in the commission of the said offence. We have also received a report from the Police which reveals that during Police investigation sufficient material was obtained to prove that you were directly connected with the said theft. But as direct evidence was deficient in certain respects, no charge-sheet could be filed against you by the Police and consequently the case against you could not be sent up for trial. In view of your unseemly conduct and the Police report referred to above against you, we have lost all confidence in your integrity and honesty and suspect your loyalty. As such we do not consider you trustworthy to be retained in the service of the Company any longer."

From the letter quoted above, it will appear that he Management tried to give various reasons for erminating the services of these applicants. But in he charge-sheet against them, the allegation was simply his:

"It is alleged against you that you were one of the persons responsible for the theft of the typewriters. Your above action amounts to theft within the factory and commission of acts which are subversive of factory discipline."

These charge-sheets were issued under the signature f some Departmental Head, whose name is not clear 'om the papers on record. From what I have menoned above, it is clear that according to the Manageıent there are reasons to suspect the applicants in onnection with theft of 5 type-writers, and though 'ere is no direct evidence to connect them with the eft, the report of the investigating Police Officer sclosed sufficient materials to confirm this suspicion. may be at once observed that mere suspicion is no 'oof, and no charge can be said to have been estabished simply because the complainant or the prose-ıtor cherishes a suspicion against the charge-sheeted erson. The Management did not venture to institute domestic enquiry and try to find out for itself what re the alleged materials to support the contention t these applicants were responsible for the theft. e Management simply refers to some Police report. t unfortunately for me neither the Police Officer ıcerned nor the report itself is before this Tribunal. nay also add that a report of an investigating Police ficer is no evidence whatsoever against any accused rson. The Police makes investigation usually in the sence of the accused, and the accused does not get opportunity to defend himself against any opinion ned by the Investigating Officer. So, it is absurd to suggest that the offence against these applicants has been made out simply because some investigating Police Officer might have expressed certain adverse opinion against them. If there was any reasonable basis for any such adverse opinion of the Police Officer, he would have undoubtedly issued a charge-sheet against these applicants and there would have been trial before the Criminal Court. The very fact that a final report has been submitted by the Police Officer is sufficient to convince anybody that the Police failed to collect any material for implicating any one of these applicants who were placed under arrest on mere suspicion. It is also admitted that the Police failed to get any direct evidence. But it is not stated by the Management what indirect or circumstantial evidence, if any, was obtained by the Police Officer and why no prosecution could be started on the basis of those indirect and circumstantial evidences, if they were sufficient to make out a case of theft. So, the Management's referring to Police report in the order of dismissal is neither here nor there. Not only the Management failed to make any departmental enquiry, but it also failed to adduce any evidence whatsoever before this Tribunal in support of the contention made in the charge-sheet or the letter of dismissal. One Shri A. Banerjee, Circle Inspector of Barrackpore South, was cited as a witness by the Company before this Tribunal. But it is nobody's case that Shri Banerjee had any personal knowledge in respect of the theft in question or anything in that connection. His connection, if any, with the investigation alone does not make him a competent witness in respect of the charge itself. At one stage, Shri G. L. Sondhi, Personnel Officer of the Company, was held out to be a material witness by the Management and an adjournment was also taken on the plea of his absence. But on the date of actual hearing of the case, no attempt was made to examine Shri Sondhi, presumably because he knew nothing personally about the theft in question. On the date of hearing, however, the Company asked for an adjournment on the plea of absence of Shri R. S. Sharma. It is alleged that he was lying ill on that day, but nothing sufficient was produced to satisfy me with regard to the bona fides of his illness. Be that as it may, the fact is that Shri Sharma is no other person than the Commercial Manager of the Company under whose signature the letter of dismissal was issued. It is nobody's case that Shri Sharma knew anything personally in respect of the theft in question or the complicity of these applicants in the matter of theft. Had it been so, he would have certainly come forward to establish the case before the investigating Police Officer and also the domestic tribunal. But nothing of the kind has been attempted. Evidently, it is clear that the absence of Shri Sharma was pleaded simply for an adjournment, and thus for further delaying the proceedings. So, without any hesitation I may observe that the Management had not an iota of evidence before it for implicating any one of these applicants with the theft in question. A charge-sheet was simply issued, but no attempt was made to hold an enquiry. The applicants were dismissed summarily on the plea that there were sufficient reasons for their discharge. But no attempt has been made to support the order of dismissal by proper evidence before this Tribunal also. In this view of the matter, there is absolutely nothing to find that the decision of the Management for dismissing these applicants was proper and legal. The learned representative for the Company contends that in fact these applicants were not dismissed. It is alleged that their services were simply terminated under the provisions of section C of clause (b)(1) of the certified standing orders of the Company. But I am afraid, this contention of the Company also cannot be accepted. In the present case, it was not a case of simple termination of service as alleged. The services of these applicants were dispensed with by way of punishment or penalty for some alleged misconduct. A very serious charge was brought against all these applicants. But the charge had no legs to stand upon. Nevertheless, the Management dismissed them on that very ground, and evidently on mere suspicion alone. So, there is no escape from the conclusion that the discharge of these applicants was by way of penal measure against them, and this discharge constitutes dismissal with penal consequences and not termination simpliciter. In view of the admitted pendency of an industrial dispute before this Tribunal, the Company was bound to ask for approval of this Tribunal under the provisions of section 33(2)(b) of the Act. So, not only there has been contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Act, but also the Company has no material whatsoever to support the order of dismissal against these applicants. Accordingly I hold that these applicants are entitled to relief.

The question, therefore, arises what should be the nature of relief available to these applicants. The Management may suspect these persons. But it has not been shown that there was any reasonable basis for this suspicion. Under the circumstances, I think, this Tribunal has no reason to deprive these workmen of the just relief of reinstatement and back wages for the entire period of their forced unemployment. Accordingly, it is directed that all the three applicants should be reinstated in service and paid their back wages for the entire period of forced unemployment within one month of the publication of this award. It is also directed that the services of these applicants should be deemed to have continued without break.

This is my award.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an application under section 33A o the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947 b Shri Monoranjan Bhattacharjee of Bhadreswa Government Colony, P.O. Bhadreswar, district Hooghly, against Messrs. Albert David Ltd. a 5/11 D. Gupta Lane, Calcutta-50, in connection with G.O. No. 69|I.R.|IR|11L-213|61, dated 6th January 1962. (Case No. 35|33A|1962.)

Appearances:

For the Applicant: Shri C. L. Ganguli, Advocate

For the Opposite Party: Shri N. M. Dasgupt Advocate.

This is an application under section 33A of th Industrial Disputes Act of 1947 by one Monoranjan Bhattacharjee, an employee of the opposite party Company, for necessary relief on the following allega tions. The applicant had been working under the opposite party Company for 13 years with good reco of service. He incurred the Company's displeasu as he took leadership after the formation of the Alb David Employees' Union and was being harasse unnecessarily. On 30th November 1961 he wa suddenly issued an order of transfer to Vijayawad with a mala fide motive on the part of the opposit party by way of punishment and victimisation. His service condition was thus altered by the Company during the pendancy of the main dispute which is pending before this Tribunal. The applicant fell ill from 1st December 1961 and applied for leave. The order of transfer was in violation of section 9A of the Industrial Disputes Act. Such an order is illegal and unjustified and should be cancelled. The applicant prays for maintaining status quo.

Besides objections in point of merits, the opposite party Company has also raised a preliminary objection of law to the effect that violation of section 9A of the Industrial Dispute Act, if any, is of no consequence and that the Company has not violated the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Dispute Act and hence the present Application under section 33A is not maintainable.

I have taken up the point of preliminary objection raised on behalf of the opposite party Company. In the application under section 33A violation of section 9A has been alleged. This section requires the employer to give notice to the workman concerned before affecting any change in the condition of the service. Such a violation would not certainly entitle the concerned workman to come under section 33A. An application would be maintainable in law only when an employer contravenes the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Dispute Act. It is to be seen whether the opposite party really violated the provisions of section 33. The contention of Shri Ganguli for the applicant is that shortly after the retrenchment of a number of workmen by the Company the dispute was raised before the Conciliation Officer and during the conciliation stage the transfer order was made and hence the transfer order violated the provisions of section 33 as it was made during the pendency of that dispute. The main reference made under section 10 of the Act was on 6th January 1962, whereas the order of transfer was issued about a month earlier. Under section 33A an application would lie if the provisions of section 33 are contravened during the pendency of proceedings not before the Conciliation Officer but before the Tribunal. In the present case the impunged order of transfer was made not during the pendancy of the proceedisgs before this Tribunal but one month before the main reference itself was made. Hence the provision of section 33A is not attracted in this case.

On this ground alone the present application under this section is not maintainable and is hereby rejected. It is not necessary to enter into the question of merits.

Award is passed accordingly.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Radha Cinema & Company, 140 Cornwallis Street, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Bangiya Chalachitra Karmachari Samity, 124C Dharmatala Street, Calcutta-13. (Case No. VIII-282 of 1961)

BEFORE THE FIRST INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri S. N. GUHA ROY, Judge,
First Industrial Tribunal.

Appearances:

For the Company: Shri S. K. Bose and Shri P. K. Mukherjee.

For the Union: Shri Sunil Kumar Dhar and Shri Mani Mukherjee.

In this reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, made by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department order No. 5167-I.R.[IR[11L-341[61, dated the 24th August 1961, of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Radha Cinema & Company and their workmen, represented by the Bangiya Chalachitra Karmachari Samity, the only issue is whether the termination of employment of the following workmen is justified and what relief, if any, they are entitled to—

(a) Shri Keshab Mukherjee.

(b) Shri Govinda Sunder Mukherjee.

The Company's case in its written statement is that on the 31st of January 1961, Sarbasri Keshab Mukherjee and Govinda Sundar Mukherjee left their duties while the evening show was in progress in spite of the request of the manager that they should remain on duty. They also abused and threatened the manager, officers and other employees with assault when they left the Cinema House and this was reported to Shyampukur police-station. This led the Cinema Company to frame charges against the workmen and the charge-sheets were put on the notice board and were sent by registered post to the two workmen. The registered letter, however, addressed to Shri Govinda Mukherjee was returned with the remark "no such man here, return to sender". On the 24th of February 1961 the Company sent a registered notice to the charge-sheeted workmen for attending an enquiry to be held on the 3rd of March at 7 p.m. Meanwhile the Assistant Labour Commissioner had written to the Company about the dismissal of these two workmen and the Company in due course replied to the Assistant Labour Commissioner. An enquiry was held on the 3rd of March, 1961 at 7 p.m. in the office of the Cinema House. Both the workmen attended the enquiry at the beginning but left later on before the enquiry was completed. On enquiry both the workmen were found guilty of insubordination, illegal action, gross dereliction of duties and on the 6th of March 1961 they were actually dismissed. It is further the case of the Cinema Company that the Bangiya Chalachitra Karmachari Samity cannot legally represent the workmen of this Cinema Company because the employees of this Cinema Company have a Union of their own known as Radha Cinema Employees' Association and the employees of Radha Cinema & Company are not represented by Bangiya Chalachitra Karmachari Samity so that they have no right to raise a dispute or to proceed with the reference.

The Union's case, on the other hand, is that the two employees were never allowed an interval for rest in course of their three or four years of service and for the first time on 31st January 1961 they wanted to assert their rights of an interval for rest and Shri Keshab Mukherjee approached the Manager for rest during the 2nd show on the date but instead of making any proper arrangement the manager asked Shri Mukherjee to go back to his cabin in a rude manner, that the manager also followed them and refused them interval for rest and asked them to continue their work and ultimately the employer applied physical force and turned them out of the cabin and after the incident Shri Mukherjee lodged an information at the local police station and a complaint was made to the Labour Commissioner on 2nd February 1961. It is further the Union's case that the employer wanted to make a show of enquiry and asked Shri Mukherjee to attend the enquiry and on receipt of the enquiry notice Shri Mukherjee attended the enquiry with his witness Shri Govinda Mukherjee though Shri Govinda Mukherjee did not received any enquiry notice nor he knew that the enquiry as against him also would be held. According to the Union, actually no enquiry was held nor any witness was examined in their presence and the employees were not asked anything but they were simply asked to leave the house and Shri Keshab Mukherjee brought the fact to the notice of the employer by a letter, dated 5th March 1961. It is further alleged that they were dismissed by letters, dated the 6th of March 1961, although in fact they had already been dismissed on 31st January 1961 and the charge-sheets and the subsequent enquiry were nothing but a show. It is further the case of the Union that the cause of the dismissed workmen was supported by a group of existing operators who were members of Bangiya Chalachitra Karmachari Sam and who authorised the Vive-President of the sa Samity in writing to raise an industrial dispute l lodging a complaint to the Labour Commissioner a that the Bangiya Chalachitra Karmachari Samity is Union of employees employed in the same industry is carried on by the employer and the employees the employer enrolled themselves as members of t above Samity.

On behalf of the employers only one witness w examined namely Shri Bibhuti Bhusan Sur, one of t partners of Radha Cinema & Company who held t enquiry into the charge-sheets against the two worl men concerned, and for the Union Shri Kesha Mukherjee and Shri Mani Mukherjee, Vice-Preside of the Bangiya Chalachitra Karmachari Samity wer examined. Shri Bibhuti Sur proves only what happe ed at the enquiry. Shri Keshab Mukherjee seeks t prove the incident or rather the Union's version of th incident. On behalf of the Company no witness wa examined to prove what actually happened but th record of the proceedings contains statements fro witnesses including Gour Chandra Biswas, Manage showing what had actually happened. It is admitte by Shri Keshab Mukherjee that both he and Govind Mukherjee appeared at the place of enquiry at abou 5 p.m. and they left that place at about 9 p.m. O course he says he did not see Bibhuti Sur there He saw only the manager. The definite evidence o Shri Bibhuti Sur is that at the enquiry Govind Mukherjee and Keshab Mukherjee both turned u and after the charge-sheets had been read out to them Govinda Mukherjee and Keshab Mukherjee both stated that they did not know English and the charge sheets should be explained to them in Bengali and when this was done and they were asked to sign the proceedings in token of the fact that the charge-sheets had been translated to them in Bengali both of them refused to do so. Govinda at the same time state that as he did not receive any charge-sheet nor an letter relating to that he would leave the enquiry, an so saying Govinda Mukherjee left but according Bibhuti Sur Keshab Mukherjee stayed all the tim during the examination of Shri Gour Biswas, th manager and though he was asked to cross-exami Shri Biswas he did not put any question to hi Shri Bibhuti Sur admits in his cross-examination th although he did not ask personally Keshab Mukherj to cross-examine Gour Babu, Bidyadhar Mallick d so. This Bidyadhar Mallick is the Vice-President Radha Cinema Employees' Association and P. C Dhar is the Secretary of that Association. It appea from the evidence of Shri Bibhuti Sur that Shri Bidy dhar Mallick and P. C. Dhar had come into the roo and then when the enquiry began he himself aske them to stay on. On behalf of the Union this ha been criticised as unwarranted. Shri Bibhuti Sur wa also criticised because he had allowed Shri Badyadha Mullick to tell Keshab Mukherjee to cross-exa Shri Gour Biswas. On behalf of the Union Bibhuti Sur's authority to hold the enquiry questioned. It appears from Shri Bibhuti evidence that he was asked by Shri Nishit Ku Biswas, one of the partners of the Cinema Comp to hold the enquiry. There is no reason why should be disbelieved and this verbal authority to an enquiry is legally as good as a written autho There is, therefore, no substance in this challenge authority of Shri Bibhuti Sur to hold the enquiry. at during an enquiry into the conduct of the two rkmen of the Cinema House the enquiring partner ri Sur allowed the Vice-President and the Secretary the Radha Cinema Employees' Association which, cording to the Company, was the Union of the ployees of that Company, there is no legitimate ound for criticising and as a matter of fact the sence of the Vice-President and the Secretary of Union was likely to ensure the enquiry being conted on fair and proper lines, for the Association was ely to look after the interests of the workers ncerned. I am not, therefore, prepared to hold t the presence of Shri Bidyadhar Mallick and ri Paresh Dhar during the enquiry or the fact that ri Bidyadhar Mullick was allowed to ask Shri Keshab ukherjee to put questions to Shri Gour Biswas was any way wrong or vitiated the enquiry in any way.

Shri Keshab Mukherjee stated in his cross-examinan that he did not even see Bibhuti Sur, he only w the manager, and although he denied Ext 11(2) be the signature of Sushil Bose, he admitted that shil Bose told him that he had attended an enquiry d was examined as a witness. The record of the oceedings of the enquiry shows that amongst other tnesses Shri Sushil Bose was also examined during e enquiry. In these circumstances I have no doubt at there was an enquiry and that this enquiry took ace in presence of Shri Keshab Mukherjee so that ere is no reason why the evidence recorded during e enquiry should not be considered as against him. f course, admittedly he left the enquiry after Gour iswas was examined but he did so at his own risk, hen he did not even ask for an adjournment. So r as Govinda Mukherjee is concerned, it cannot be id that there was a proper enquiry because admittedly ovinda Mukherjee was not served with a copy of e charge-sheet nor did he file any explanation and n the date of the enquiry he appeared with Keshab lukherjee and then left. The enquiring partner hri Sur should have asked him whether he wanted me for filing his written explanation and then for cing present at the enquiry. But it does not appear at anything like that was done. In the circumtances, I cannot say that the evidence recorded during he enquiry could be made use of as against hri Govinda Mukherjee.

The case of the Company as I have already said is hat while the second show was in progress on 31st nuary 1961 these two workmen first left their duties d the manager asked them to stay on. In the nion's written statement again the case made was at these two workmen for the first time on 31st nuary 1961 wanted to assert their rights of an terval for rest. It is nowhere stated in the Union's ritten statement that they had been working during e earlier show and when the evening show was bout to start they asked for rest as Shri Keshab lukherjee now seeks to say in his evidence. His tatement in his examination in chief is that on the 1st January 1961 Govinda Mukherjee and himself ere on duty from 2 p.m. and there was no other perator present on that day. His written explanation the charge-sheet is Ext. B, proved on behalf of the ion. In this explanation the incident of the 31st tarated as follows:—

"That on the evening of 31st January at about 5-30 p.m. while I was on duty and the show was in progress Shri Gour Biswas. Shri Balai Biswas and Shri Nishith Biswas entered into the cabin and applied physical force to make myself and Govinda out of the cabin and house too which was absolutely unexpectetd".

Then again in another place it is stated:—

"that on the 31st January 1961 I and Govinda Mukherjee were running the show. At about 6-30 p.m. I approached the manager with a request for an interval of rest. I said to the manager that there was no reason to allow us rest when Shri Rabi Das is present (probably the word 'not' between 'reason' and 'to' has been left out in this). Having heard this he asked to go back to cabin which I did. After a couple of minutes he went up to the cabin and asked us to continue the show. I and Govinda persisted for rest. At this Gour Biswas became furious and got away from the cabin and threatening us with the consequences. A few minutes later Shri Gour Biswas along with Shri Balai, Shri Nishit Biswas and durwan rushed into the cabin and applied physical force to turn us out and gave us no scope to speak any".

In this lengthy statement there is hardly any hint that Shri Keshab Mukherjee and Govinda Mukherjee had been working during the earlier show also and that there was no other operator present. On the other hand, the case made by the Union in its written statement goes to suggest that on that occasion for the first time these two workmen asserted their right of rest but even there also it was not made clear whether it was rest in the middle of one show or it was rest between two shows in both of which the workmen concerned worked. On the materials, therefore, it is impossible to say that there is any truth in the case as made by the workman on behalf of the Union.

On behalf of the Company the agreements under which these two workmen were employed for the last time have been proved. These agreements are Exts. 8 and 9. Ext 8 is the agreement between the Company and Shri Keshab Mukherjee. It shows that he was employed under this agreement for a term from 10th July 1960 to 9th February 1961. Ext. 9 is the agreement between the Company and Govinda Mukherjee which shows that he was employed also for a term from 1st July 1960 to 31st January 1961. It is of course, the case of the Union that these employees and other employees signed similar agreements before and on the expiry of the term in an earlier agreement each of them was called upon to enter into a new agreement and unless they did so there was a risk of their being thrown out of employment. No evidence has been led on behalf of the Company to show in what circumstances such agreements for limited periods were entered into. On behalf of the Union it was argued that this by itself amounted to an unfair labour practice. On the materials before me it is hardly possible to say whether this is so or not. If the employer uses such short term agreements only to avoid having to make permanent appointments that is certainly most undesirable but it is possible that the employer has other reasons for making such short term appointments. The question whether that is so or not can be gone into on a proper reference but in this reference there is no issue as to whether such a practice constitutes an unfair labour practice or not. Nor is there any evidence before me to suggest that this by itself would constitute an unfair labour practice. Even if it could be assumed that it does constitute an unfair labour practice, it is not open to this Tribunal to give necessary direction in this reference for the simple reason that there is no issue before me on that point. The question could be gone into only incidentally and that would be an unsatisfactory way of dealing with it. In any event it would not entitle the workmen concerned to be considered permanent employees when on the contracts their employment was for a term only. As regards the contract Shri Keshab Mukherjee goes to the length of saying that he did not know its contents. It is difficult to believe such a statement particularly when he signed his name in English. Gobinda Mukherjee has not come before me at all to testify to the circumstances in which he entered into the agreement, Ext. 9. It is clear from these two agreements that the term of agreement of Shri Keshab Mukherjee terminated on 9th February 1961, i.e., only nine days after the incident and the term of employment of Shri Govinda Mukherjee terminated on the very day of the incident, dated 31 January 1961. Of course, Shri Keshab Mukherjee was placed under suspension, vide Ext. 1, dated the 2nd of February 1961 but that suspension could have its effect only up to the 9th of February 1961 when the term of employment was due to terminate and as the term of contract of Shri Govinda Mukherjee already terminated on the 31st January 1961 the order of suspension as far as he is concerned is practically meaningless. As far as Shri Keshab Mukherjee is concerned, I have already stated that it is impossible to hold on the materials before me that he was actually turned out of the office as alleged by him when he asked for a period of rest. The dismissal of Shri Keshab Mukherjee for having left his duties in the middle of a show might have been held to be justified on the facts if Radha Cinema Company had jurisdiction to enquire into the matter at the time when it actually did so. But as his term of employment expired on the 9th of February 1961, the Cinema Company had no jurisdiction to call on him to attend an enquiry to be made into the charge-sheet issued earlier against him, on the 3rd of March 1961 when he was no longer in the employ of that Cinema. The mere fact that Keshab Mukherjee attended the enquiry for a little while could not confer such jurisdiction on the management of the Cinema, because the only thing that confers such jurisdiction, namely, the relationship of master and servant as between the Cinema House and Keshab Mukherjee was non-existent at the time. The Cinema Company therefore could not proceed with the enquiry against him nor was it open to the Cinema Company to order his dismissal on the 6th of March 1961. Exts. 12 and 13, the letters of dismissal of Shri Keshab Mukherjee and Govinda Mukherjee respectively are both dated the 6th of March 1961. The dismissal of a man means the termination of his employment so that to dismiss a man who was ceased to be in the employ of the person dismissing him is utterly meaningless. In the circumstances the order of dismissal of Shri Keshab Mukherjee though it might have been justified on the facts cannot be said to be legally valid and at the same time as the term of employment of Shri Keshab Mukherjee expired on the 9th of February 1961 and as Keshab Mukherjee was legally under suspension up to 9th of February 1961, Shri Keshab Mukherjee is entitled to no relief. As far as Shri Govinda Mukherjee is concerned I have already said actually there was no proper enquiry against him is there any evidence before me on behalf of Company to show what had happened. He was served with a copy of the charge-sheet nor hac filed any explanation. Of course the incident which he figures is the same incident in wl Shri Keshab Mukherjee also figured but then as Company did not lead any evidence to show v had happened before me I do not think it will fair to say anything about Govinda's part in incident. In any event the order of dismissal of Company as against him cannot be held to be cor in view of the fact that there was no enquiry aga him. But, then as I have already pointted out, term of his employment expired on 31st January 1 so that thereafter he had no subsisting righ employment in that cinema house. In the circ stances, therefore, although the Company's orde dismissal against him cannot be held to be right proper, he is not entitled to any relief in view of tact that he had no subsisting right of employmen that cinema house.

In view of the conclusion I have arrived at on first issue the question whether this is an indust dispute or not is merely of academic importance still as the point has been raised and argued, I th I must deal with it very briefly.

On behalf of the Company no evidence has been to show that none of the employees of the Cinema members of Bangiya Chalachitar Karmachari Sam The only evidence on behalf of the Union on the p is that of Shri Keshab Mukherjee who says in examination in chief itself that altogether 12 or employees of Radha Cinema are members of Bangiya Chalachitra Karmachari Samity and th were 50 or 60 employees of Radha Cinema on the c of the occurrence, i.e., on the 31st of January 19 In his cross-examination he named five of the empl ees of Radha Cinema as members of Bangiya Cha chitra Karmachari Samity and said that some sweep also were its members but he did not know th names. All these members of the Samity are discharged employees of Radha Cinema, but he d not throw any light as to whether all these memb of the Samity became members of the Samity after before their discharge. Among those named by hi only Rabi Das is not a discharged employee of Rad Cinema. He further says that Sushil Bose became member of the Union in August 1960. But there no evidence to show when Sushil Bose was discharg or if he was discharged at all. The Secretary of t Union has been examined but he does not s anything on the point nor did the Union produce a register to show how many of the employees of Radh Cinema were members of the Bangiya Chalachit Karmachari Samity. There is another fact whi cannot be altogether ignored. When the parties we called upon to file documents on which they relied th Union filed a copy of a letter of authority from som men to Shri Mani Mukherjee, Vice-President of th Bangiya Chalachitra Karmachari Samity, for raising dispute about the dismissal of Shri Keshab Mukherjee and Govinda Mukherjee and conducting the dispute. This copy has been marked Ext. D(1). During the hearing, however, the Union produced Ext. D, evidently supposed to be the original of Ext. D(1). It is quite clear that Ext D(1) is not a true copy of Ext.D nor

Ext. D the original of Ext. D(1), and when this was pointed out to Shri Mani Mukherjee in his cross-examination he admitted this and said that the original of that copy had not been produced and the only explanation for not producing the original of that copy was that while filing Ext. D in Court he did not go through that copy. Now, as Ext. D stands, it merely is an authority to Shri Mani Mukherjee by five men namely K. G. Mukherjee, Rabindra Nath Das, Sushil Kumar Sadhu, Dipen Kumar Bhattacherjee and Sushil Bose to raise and conduct a dispute before the Labour Directorate in connection with the dismissal of Shri Keshab Mukherjee and Govinda Mukherjee. This authority by a set of individual workmen to Shri Mani Mukherjee personally and not even as the Vice-President of the Union to conduct the dispute makes one suspect whether after all as stated by Shri Keshab Mukherjee as many as 14 or 15 employees of Radha Cinema were members of the Bangiya Chalachitra Karmachari Samity. This doubt is strengthened to some extent by the non-production of the register of members of the Union, although to meet the point ratised on behalf of the employer that would have been the best evidence. In any event, even if it could be held on the materials on the record that as many as 12 or 14 employees of Radha Cinema were members of the Bangiya Chalachitra Karmachari Samity, the question arises whether a Union consisting of 12 or 14 employees of the Radha Cinema, the total number of whose employees is about 50 or 60 is entitled to convert an individual dispute into an industrial dispute or a dispute in which the employees of Radha Cinema as a whole, are involved, particularly when most of them appear to be the discharged employees of the Cinema. There is no doubt that prima facie the dismissal of two employees out of a total of 50 or 60 is an individual dispute but this individual dispute can be converted into an industrial dispute only if it is taken up by a substantial number of the employees of Radha Cinema or by a Union representing such employees. Out of the numerous cases cited on behalf of the parties there is only one which seems to me to be relevant for the purpose of the present case. It is the case between the Indian ble Company Ltd. and its workmen 1962, I.F.&LR, olume IV, page 444. The dispute in this case fore the Supreme Court arose in connection with termination of the services of all its workmen mbering 11 at its Ambala Branch. The case of ly six of these 11 workmen was referred to the ibunal. Before the Tribunal the question was raised ether these are merely individual disputes or an dustrial dispute. After referring to certain observaons of the Supreme Court in Central Provinces ansport Service Ltd. versus Raghunath Gopal twardhan 1957, I, L.L.J page 27 and having pointed it that the view taken in that case was adopted in ewspapers Ltd. versus State Industrial Tribunal, Uttar odesh and others 1957, II, L.L.J page 1 and Bambay nion of Journalists and others versus The "Hindu", ombay" and another 1961, II, L.L.J 436, it goes on point out that although in the decisions cited the spute was raised by a single workman, the reason on hich these decisions rest, viz., that the policy behind e Industrial Disputes Act is to protect workmen as class against the unfair labour practices and not to act special provisions for enforcing the claims of dividual workmen, would equally militate against e contention that a dispute which is essentially individual in character would become an industrial dispute merely because two persons have joined in it. Then their Lordships observed as follows:—

"What imparts to the dispute of a workman the character of industrial dispute is that it affects the rights of the workmen as a class. That is why the above decisions lay down that the dispute of a single workman would become an industrial dispute when it is sponsored by a Union or by a considerable number of werkmen, for it can then be taken that it does affect them as a class. No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to the number of workmen whose association will convert an individual into an industrial dispute. That must depend on the facts of each case, and the nature of the dispute. The group might even be a minority, as held by this Court in Associated Cement Companies Ltd and their workmen 1960, 1, L.L.J 491. But it must be such as to lead to an inference that the dispute is one which affects workmen as a class."

This case was cited on behalf of the Union and I think it does indicate the lines on which one must proceed in order to come to a conclusion as to whether a particular dispute is an industrial dispute or not. In this case the dismissal of the two workmen is the result of their leaving their duty as operators while the show was still in progress. To my mind this is a dispute which does not affect the workmen of the Radha Cinema as a class and on that principle although it might have been open to 12 or 14 workmen out of a total of 50 or 60 to raise an industrial dispute the nature of the dispute seems to indicate that is was not a dispute affecting the workmen of the Cinema as a class, for when a workman leaves his place of duty during the working hours it is merely a failure on the part of the workman concerned and would not normally affect the interests of the workmen as a class. On an application of the principles, as laid down by the Supreme Court it has got to be found that the dispute was not an industrial dispute.

My finding accordingly is that the dismissal of neither of the workman is legally valid although the dismissal of Shri Keshab Mukherjee might have been justified on the facts but as the term of employment of Shri Keshab Mukherjee expired on the 9th of February, 1961 and as he was legally under suspension from the 2nd of February to the 9th February 1961 he would be entitled to no relief. Similarly as the term of epmloyment of Shri Govinda Mukherjee expired on the 31st January 1961, he also would be entitled to no relief but as I have found that this is not an industrial dispute, but only an individual dispute, the reference itself does not seem to be legally valid and consequently there cannot be any award even according to the findings I have arrived at on the question referred.

Taken at my dictation and corrected by me.

AWARD

An industrial dispute between Messrs. Hindusthan Refractories & Ceramics (P) Ltd., Durgapur, district Burdwan, and their workmen represented by Hisdusthan Refractories Shramic Union, Durgapur, was referred to this Court (Second Labour Court) by the Government of West Bengal, in the Labour Department by their order No. 3444-I.R./IR/11L-57/58, dated the 18th August 1958. That dispute is still pending before this Court. On 28th April 1960 Messrs. Hindusthan Refractories & Ceramics (P) Ltd (hereinafter referred to as the Company) filed an application under section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act before this Court seeking approval of their action in dismissing Shri Dhakhineswar Roy of Durgapur, district Burdwan, workman of the above Company. On 3rd June 1960, the above Shri Dhakhineswar Roy filed a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act before this Court about his dismissal. With the consent of both the sides the two cases arising out of the above application and the above complaint were heard together. So this award covers both the above cases.

The first point that has been raised is about the maintainability of the above application and the above complaint. It is the common case of both sides that Shri Dhakhineswar Roy was discharged by a letter, dated 24th March 1960. The application under section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act was filed by the Company on 28th April 1960 i.e., one month and four days after the date of dismissal. The representative of Shri Dhakhineswar Roy has argued that this delay in filing of the application contravenes the proviso to section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act. The Company has adduced evidence to explain the delay in filing of the application. The explanation is far from convincing. It is now a settled law that an application under section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act should be filed immediately after the dismissal for which approval is being sought in that application. As there has been a delay of more than a month in filing of the application in the present case, I hold that the Company has contravened the proviso to section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act. Hence I hold that the complaint of Shri Dhakineswar Roy under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is maintainable.

I now enter into the merits of the dismissal. A charge-sheet was issued to Shri Dhakhineswar Roy on 11th February 1960. He gave a reply to it on the following day. An enquiry about the charge sheet was held on 29th February 1960. The admitted fact leading to the issue of the charge-sheet is that on 11th February 1960 at about 8 a.m. Shri Dhakhineswar Roy refused to take head-load. The further allegation of the Company in the charge sheet is that Shri Dhakhineswar Roy behaved with the Secretary of the Company in a very indecent way that very day. In his reply to the charge-sheet Shri Dhakhineswar Roy does not admit specifically that he was asked to take head-load; but he makes his statement therein to the effect that he never carried coal on his head. This is an inferential admission on his part of the allegation of the Company that he was asked to carry coal on his head. In the reply he has denied the other charge about indecent behaviour to the Secretary. As a result of the enquiry the Enquiring Officer found Shri Dhakhineswar Roy guilty of the charges mentioned in the charge-sheet. But instead of dismissing him on that finding the management decided to give him a further chance to work in the Company provided a clear understanding was given by him n writing that he had no objection to carry head-oad in near future. The Company communicated his to him by a letter, dated 2nd March 1960. He ent his reply on 10th March 1960; in that reply he lid not agree to carry head-load. Accordingly on 16th March 1960 the Company wrote him another letter pointing him out that as a manual labour t was his duty to carry head-load and telling him hat he was at liberty to leave the employment of he company as he was not willing to carry head-oad; he was given a time for 43 hours for his inal reply. As no reply was received from him on 24th March 1960 the Company issued the letter of dismissal.

There are two charges in the charge-sheet. The first is the refusal to carry head-load and the second is the indecent behaviour to the Secretary of the Company. Shri Dhakhineswar Roy has practically admitted that he refused to carry head-load; his only reply is as to that charge is that it was not his duty to carry head-load. He has denied the second charge. So the only points for determination are whether (1) carrying head-load was a duty of Shri Dhakhineswar Roy; and (2) he behaved in an indecent manner with the Secretary of the Company.

It is admitted by Shri Dhakhineswar Roy that an enquiry about the charge-sheet was held. His grievance is that the enquiry was not proper. The Company has examined before me the Enquiring Officer who has proved the proceedings of the iquiry and his report. It appears from the pro-edings of the enquiry that two witnesses, viz., Shri N. Chatterjee, Secretary of the Company and one ri Bishuram Mahato, a workman were examined behalf of the Company and that Shri Dhakhines-ar Roy was also examined. There is no signa-re or thumb-impression of Shri Bishuram Mahato the statement ascribed to him. There is a note the Enquiring Officer that he refused to put his umb-impression on it. It appears from that state-ent and it is also the case of the Company that e charge-sheet was issued to Shri Dhakhineswar oy on the complaint of that Bishuram Mahato. If iis were so, there is no reason why Shri Bishuram lahato should refuse to sign the statement. The ompany could produce him before me in support f its statement that what was recorded as his state-ent at the enquiry was really his statement. It true that he is no longer in the service of the ompany, but it is not that he is dead. The Com-any could produce his son, Chowbey Ram (P.W.), as its witness. So, there is no reason why it ould not produce him also. As regards the state-ent of Shri Dhakhineswar Roy, he says in his vidence before me that he asked for a copy of the roceedings of the enquiry and that on his request eing rejected he refused to sign his statement. is has been admitted by the Enquiring Officer in evidence before me. It may be said that refusal give a copy of the proceedings does not violate principle of natural justice. But the principles natural justice require that the statement of a rge-sheeted workman and the evidence adduced inst him should not be read over and explained him. There is no endorsement to the effect that proceedings of the enquiry were read over and plained to Shri Dhakhineswar Roy. The Lawyer the Company has argued that the proceedings of the enquiry were in Bengali which is understood by Shri Dhakhineswar Roy. This may excuse explanation of the proceedings to him; but this is no ground for the proceedings not being read over to him. In his evidence before me the Enquiring Officer has said that Shri S. N. Chatterjee was examined first; but in his report of enquiry [Ext. 2(a)] he has stated that Shri Dhakhineswar Roy was examined first. Shri S. N. Chatterjee has stated in his evidence that he was present when the evidence of Shri Bishuram Mahato was recorded and vice versa. This shows that the only two witnesses on behalf of the Company were examined in presence of each other. This is clearly an impediment to independent evidence. The Lawyer of the Company has argued that Shri Dhakhineswar Roy in his letter, dated 10th March 1960 [Ext. 3(a)] has referred to the enquiry. On this it has been sought to be inferred that Shri Dhakhineswar Roy has admitted the enquiry to have been properly held; but in that very letter Shri Dhakhineswar Roy has pointed out the defect in the enquiry. He has stated in his evidence before me that at the enquiry he was not asked any question nor was any evidence adduced against him. The Company has not been able to show that this statement of Shri Dhakhineswar Roy is false. Hence I hold the enquiry was not properly held in that it violated the principles of natural justice.

Let me now examine the findings of the Enquiring Officer. Considered even on the basis of the evidence recorded my him, the most important finding is based on no evidence. That finding is to the effect that it has been stated by the Company's witnesses that Shri Dhakhineswar Roy has previously carried head-load without any objection. But the proceedings of the enquiry does not show any such statement by any of the alleged witnesses of the Company. So this findings of Enquiring Officer is perverse. At the enquiry there is not an iota of evidence as to the indecent behaviour of Shri Dhakhineswar Roy with the Secretary of the Company. So the finding of the Enquiring Officer that the charges as stated in the charge-sheet have been clearly established is perverse. Hence I reject the findings of the Enquiring Officer and hold that the case is at large before me. So I now proceed to dispose of the complaint on the evidence adduced before me. The Company has produced two witnesses to say that Shri Dhakhineswar Roy carried heal-load earlier. One of the witnesses is P.W. 3 Shri Satyajit Bhowmick. He says that he is a Supervisor in the factory of the Company and that while working as a cooly under him Shri Dhakhineswas Roy used to carry earth in baskets on his head. He admits in his cross-examination that there is a roster in his Department showing the nature of work to be done by each worker. He has not produced that roster to show that Shri Dhakhineswar Roy actually did the work of carrying earth in baskets on his head. Another very important consideration is that this witness who is so very vital for the Company was not examined at the domestic enquiry. The other witness is P.W. 4 Shri Chowbey Ram. He is a son of Bishuram Mahato. He says that more than three years back he and Shri Dhakhineswar Roy worked together in carrying earth in baskets on their heads. He also says that thereafter he left the service of the Company and has again been working there for about six months now. He has not been able to produce any paper to show that he worked in the Company at that time or even that he is now working there. So it is not possible to believe the oral evidence of these two witnesses. The Lawyer of the Company has argued that Shri Dhakhineswar Roy has failed to prove that carrying head-load was not a part of his duty. But I say that in the absence of any written contract of service the onus is on the Company to show that carrying head-load was a part of the duty of Shri Dhakhineswar Roy. Nevertheless, Shri Dhakhineswar Roy has stated in his evidence that he never carried head-loads. He has also stated that the work of carrying head-loads is done by the female labourers in the factory of the Company. There is nothing in his cross-examination or in the evidence adduced by the Company to controvert the above statement of Shri Dhakhineswar Roy. Even if it be believed that Chowbey Ram, Bishuram Mahato or some other cooly carried head-loads, this is not sufficient to establish that carrying head-loads was a part of the duty of Shri Dhakhineswar Roy. The Lawyer of the Company has argued that since Shri Dhakhineswar Roy has himself admitted that he is called a cooly in the factory, this shows that carrying head-loads is a part of his duty. If the word "cooly" means a railway porter, certainly such a cooly is bound to carry head-loads. But the word "cooly" here means a manual labourer. The duty of a manual labourer does not ipso facto connotate carrying head-loads. In the absence of a definite evidence, I hold that carrying head-loads was not a part of the duty of Shri Dhakhineswar Roy. So his violation of the order given to him to carry head-loads is not disobedience of a reasonable or a lawful order, as contemplated under Clause 2B(i) of the Standing Orders of the Company. So he is not guilty of the charge of insubordination or disobedience mentioned in the charge-sheet. The Company has not adduced any evidence before me as to his insolent behaviour with the Secretary of the Company. So that charge also fails.

In view of the above considerations, I hold that the dismissal of Shri Dhakhineswar Roy is unjustified. Hence I order that he be reinstated and be paid back wages at the rate of Rs. 2 per day.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act filed by Shri Indraiit Upadhaya [c|o Secretary, National Union of Jute Workers (Victoria Jute Works Branch), Ferry Ghat Street, Telinipara, Hooghly], an employee of Messrs. Victoria Jute Works Ltd., post-office Telinipara, district Hooghly, against the aforesaid Company. (Case No. 18 und section 33A of 1962)

BEFORE THE SECOND INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNA WEST BENGAL

Present for the applicant: Shri Nikhil Ro Advocate.

Present for the Company: Shri S. C. Sen, Advocat

The original reference out of which this case ha arisen was made under Government order No. 578(I.R.|IR|7L-57(A)|61, dated the 30th Septembe 1961.

This is an application under section 33A of th Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, filed by Shri Indraji Upadhaya, an employee of the opposite party Company. The allegations made by the applican are thus:

The applicant had been serving the opposite party as a permanent Durwan for the last two years with uniformly good record of service. He is a member of the National Union of Jute Workers, and for that he has been in the bad book of the opposite party. On 15th January 1962 the opposite party wrongfully and unjustifiably charge-sheeted the applicant alleging misconduct against him under rule 14(c)(ix) of the Standing Orders, and was also suspended with immediate effect. The allegations made in the charge-sheet were absolutely false and malicious. The applicant submitted written reply by denying those allegations. Subsequently, without holding any enquiry, the opposite party dismissed the applicant with effect from 26th February 1962. The opposite party contravened the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act inasmuch as it had neither paid one month's wages to the applicant, nor filed any application for approval of the action under section 33(2)(b) of the Act. The act of the opposite party in dismissing the applicant was wholly unjust, mala fide and opposed to the principle of natural justice. On these allegations, the applicant prays for reinstatement with back wages, etc.

The case of the opposite party Company is briefly this:

The present complaint is not legally maintainable s there was no contravention of the provisions of ection 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. In fact, he applicant was only a badli Durwan, and was emoved from service for gross misconduct, viz., utter eglect of duty, and as such no application for appro- al of such action was necessary or called for within he meaning of section 33(2)(b) of the Act.

In the night of the 12|13th January 1962, some aluable Renold Chain worth Rs 2,378.33 nP was tolen from the Company's Store Room on account f utter negligence of duty on the part of the appli- ant as well as five other Durwans and three Jamadars. After the theft was detected in the morning of 13th January 1962, a preliminary enquiry was held, and statements of persons concerned were recorded. Then formal charge-sheets were issued to those rsons who submitted their written replies. There- er a formal domestic enquiry was held against all ose persons including the present applicant as well. ter the enquiry report was received, whereby six t of nine persons were found guilty of gross mis- nduct for utter neglect of duties, three were given nefit of doubt, in pursuance of the recommendations the Enquiring Officer, the Company dismissed three rmanent Durwans, and two Jamadars, removed the me of the present applicant from the list of badli orkers, and retained two Durwans and one Jamadar service as they were given benefit of doubt. The tion taken by the Company was quite fair and bona and there was no failure of justice in any way. all these reasons, therefore, the present applica- must fall through.

irst of all I take up the question of legal objection ed by and on behalf of the opposite party npany. Its case is that the applicant Indrajit dhaya was simply a badli Durwan and under the ding Orders of the Company his name was liable e struck off from the list of badli workers in case gross misconduct. It is not gainsaid that serious lect of duty would tantamount to gross misconduct. There was also no usual order of "dismissal" of this applicant. His name was struck off from the list of badli Durwans as appears from the order incorporated on the back side of the relevant charge-sheet, Ext. B. The applicant's case is that he was a permanent Durwan since 1960. He contends that on 19th May 1954 he entered the service as a coolie and worked as such before 1960 in the capacity of a badli worker. But he asserts in his evidence that since 1960 he worked as a Durwan continuously till the time of his charge-sheet, and that he was not a badli during this whole period. The Company has put in the service card (Ext. A). This card is in respect of casual and temporary workers, and in this card is entered the name of the present applicant. It is true that in this card this applicant has not been specifically described as a badli worker, though the card relates to casual and temporary workers. The Company asserts that such a card is meant for badli workers. This card shows applicant's actual service from 7th March 1960 to 2nd April 1960, 10th April 1960 to 28th May 1960, 4th June 1960 to 23rd July 1960, 1st August 1960 to 29th October 1960, 3rd November 1960 to 2nd August 1961 and 18th September 1961 to 12th January 1962. Thus, according to this card, there were many gaps in actual work of the applicant during the period from 7th March 1960 to 12th January 1962. To explain these gaps, I think, the applicant says that during this period he took leave twice—once for six weeks, and at another time for one week. This explanation does not cover the periods of gaps appearing from Ext. A. The applicant admits in his cross-examination that he did not get any employment book from the Company, such book being supplied to permanent Durwans. This admission in a way goes to support the contention of the Company. Shri Roy, on behalf of the applicant, has laid stress on the fact of non-production of the badli register. I do not think this omission is at all substantial or helpful to the applicant. In the charge-sheet (Ext. B) the applicant was described as "budli". In the reply given by him this description was neither denied or challenged. So the fact remains that the applicant was really a badly Durwan, not a permanent worker at all. The name of this badli worker was struck off from the list of badli workers on ground of misconduct. For such an action, I hold, no application is at all necessary under section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act. A similar case appears to have been decided by my learned predecessor-in-office in favour of the Company. That being so, it cannot be said that the opposite party Company contravened the provision of section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act, and as such the present application under section 33A which would lie only when there is contravention of section 33, is not maintainable in law. The application should be rejected on this score alone.

Coming to the question of merit, I am rather constrained to observe that there is not a very good case for the Company. In view of the facts and circumstances, as disclosed from evidence, both oral and documentary, it can well be taken that there was an occurrence of theft of some length of renold chain from the Company's Store Room in the night of 12|13th January, 1962. But the actual time of theft has remained quite unascertained. The applicant's duty hours were from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. If the occurrence could be definitely said to have taken place during that particular period, then of course, the applicant could have been found guilty on account of neglect of duty. It appears that the enquiring officer gave benefit of doubt to those whose duties were from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. and recommended punishment for those who attended from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. and 2 a.m. to 6 a.m. If the theft did not take place during the first period of 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. it cannot be definitely held in the circumstances, that the occurrence took place during the time from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. On the contrary, the occurrence might have taken place between 2 a.m. and 6 a.m., in which case the present applicant could not have been held guilty of theft. In the circumstances of the unascertained and unascertainable time of occurrence of theft, the Company would do well to give benefit of doubt to the present applicant also. In short, on point of merits I would certainly give benefit of doubt to the present applicant Indrajit Upadhaya. In that case the action taken against him by the Company would be unfair and unjustified. But in view of the findings on point of law, the decision on point of merit comes to no help to the applicant as the application itself is unmaintainable in law.

In the result, the application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act stands rejected.

Award is passed accordingly.

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Industrial Tribunal, Shrimati Khiro Nayak and another workman of Barasat Municipality made a complaint in writing to the said Industrial Tribunal against the said Municipality alleging that the said Municipality had altered, to the prejudice of the said workmen, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the commencement of the said proceedings;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Industrial Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of a complaint under section 33A Industrial Disputes Act, by Shrimati Khiro Nayak and Shri Bircho Baspe, workmen of Baraset Municipality, represented by Shri Balai Chatterjee of West Bengal Municipal Employees Federation, 213 KL Traffic Quarters, Asansol (Case No. 28 of 1962 under section 33A.)

BEFORE THE SEVENTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri S. K. RAY, Judge, Seventh Industrial Tribunal

For the Complainants: Shri Balai Chatterjee.

For the Municipal Commissioners: Shri S. C. Dutta Gupta, Advocate, and Shri S. Roy, Advocate.

AWARD

This is an application under section 33A, Industrial Disputes Act, by two workers of the Baraset Municipality belonging to the conservancy staff complaining of contravention of the provisions of section 33 Industrial Disputes Act, by the Municipality during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings in respect of an industrial dispute regarding the conservancy staff of the Municipalities in West Bengal including this Municipality, which was referred to this Tribunal by Government Order No. 3623-I.R./IR/14L-14/60, dated 19th July 1960. The specific complaint is that section 33 was contravened by the Municipality by altering to the prejudice of the workers the conditions of service applicable to them in respect of leave by refusing paid maternity leave to complainant No. 1 Khiro Nayak, a female worker from 7th October 1961 to 15th November 1961, and paid medical leave to complainant No. 2 Bircho Baspa from 7th November 1961 to 3rd December 1961, though according to conditions of their service they were entitled to such leave. Accordingly, the complainants pray for an award directing the Municipality to restore the benefit of paid maternity and medical leave and a other kinds of leave to them. It is alleged that the conservancy workers were in enjoyment of paid maternity and medical leave prior to the reference of the main dispute to this Tribunal by the Government order mentioned above.

The municipality O. P. has appeared and filed a written statement. It has taken up the position that all workers of the conservancy staff of this Municipality are casual workers not covered by any definite conditions of service and they were not in enjoyment of the benefit of paid maternity and medical leave as a condition of service prior to the main reference. It is further contended that all applications of the conservancy workers in respect of such leave are considered by the Commissioners, keeping in view the exigencies of the circumstances and not on the basis of any privilege enjoyed by the workers as a condition of service and leave is granted in particular cases under special circumstances and as special cases. It is not denied that these two complainants were not granted maternity and medical leave as stated in their petition of complaint.

From the nature of the complaint made in the present case, it is to be deemed to be a complaint about contravention of the provisions of section 33(1)(a), Industrial Disputes Act. This position was also taken up by the learned representative of the complainants at the hearing. It is to be noted that the issue for decision in the main reference relates to the question of decasualisation of conservancy and other staff, i.e., personnel employed on "no work no pay" basis and admissibility of connected benefits to such workers in connection with their service nd among the benefits paid leave is mentioned as ne of the items. In view of the aforesaid issue the main reference, it may be said that the matter nder complaint is connected with the dispute overed by the main reference, because it relates to ie grant of paid maternity and medical leave to the vorkers of the conservancy staff. Therefore, the resent complaint is really a complaint of contraention of the provisions of section 33(1)(a), Industrial)isputes Act.

It is first of all to be declared whether the conervancy workers of this Municipality were enjoying aid maternity and medical leave as a condition of heir service before the commencement of the proeedings of the main reference.

As already indicated above, the Municipality has aken up the definite position that all workers of the :onservancy staff of this Municipality are casual vorkers. In his evidence, the Chairman of the Muni-ipality, O.P.W. 1 Shri Gobordhan Banerji, has ated that they are all employed in "no work, no ay" basis. He has further stated that there are o leave rules regarding such workers and there also no custom or general practice of granting aid maternity or sick leave to conservancy workers, lough such leave might have been granted to some 'orkers as special cases. As against this there is ie oral evidence of P. W. 1 Shri Dwijahari Das, ie Secretary of the Baraset Municipal Employees' Jnion, and of P. W. 2 Shri Ananta Nayak, a amadar of the Municipality, to the effect that paid laternity and medical leave used to be granted to ie workers of the conservancy staff and the grant of uch leave was stopped from the middle of 1961. The Municipality has produced the Minute Book of the proceedings of the meetings of the Municipal Commissioners and copies of Muster Rolls [Exts. C and D(1)]. Exhibit D is the Muster Roll for the period before the main reference, dated 19th July 1960, and Ext. D(1) is the Muster Roll for the subsequent period. It clearly appears from the Muster Rolls that in most cases the conservancy workers were granted leave without pay and only in a few cases some workers were granted leave with pay, both before and after the reference, dated 19th July 1960. It appears that paid leave was always granted by special resolutions of the Commissioners at the meetings and not by the Chairman in exercising of his ordinary executive function. There is no evidence to show that any leave rule for conservancy workers was ever framed by the Municipality under section 75, Bengal Municipal Act, which lays down that the Commissioners may frame such rules, subject to the sanction of the State Government. I am satisfied from the evidence produced before me that there is no authoritative rule laying down the provision that the workers of the conservancy staff would be entitled to paid maternity and medical leave as a condition of service and as a matter of right and there was no invariable general custom or practice of granting such leave to the conservancy workers before the main reference, dated 19th July 1960, though in a few cases, such leave was granted to such workers under special circumstances and as special cases by special resolutions of the Commissioners. There is practically no challenge to the Chairman's evidence that the conservancy workers are employed on "no work no pay" basis and they are purely casual staff. He is the most competent person to speak about this matter and so his evidence in this matter is to be accepted. It has, therefore, not been established that the conservancy workers were entitled to paid maternity and medical leave as a matter of right and as a condition of their service. All that has been established is that the conservancy workers are casual workers on "no work no pay" basis and it is in the discretion of the Municipality to grant any of them paid leave in special cases and under special circumstances and this position has been continuing since before the main reference, dated 19th July 1960. As the benefit of paid maternity and medical leave was not within the conditions of service of conservancy workers, nor was there any general and invariable practice regarding the grant of such leave to such workers, it cannot be held that the Municipality contravened the provisions of section 33(1)(a), Industrial Disputes Act, in the present case by refusing paid maternity and medical leave to the complainants. The question how far the benefit of such paid leave should be extended to the conservancy workers will fall for decision in the main reference. The Municipality cannot also be said to have acted unjustly and unfairly and with some ulterior motive in refusing paid maternity and sick leave to the complainants in the present case. There is nothing to prove that the municipal authorities had any grudge or bias against these complainants and so acted unjustly and unfairly by refusing them paid maternity and medical leave.

On the findings and for the reasons recorded above, I find that there is no substance in the present complaint under section 33A, Industrial Disputes Act, and the complainants are not entitled to any relief in the present case and I award accordingly.

By order of the Governor,
S. C. MUKHERJEE, Asst. Secy.

No. 6691-I.R./IR/7L-28(A)/62. — 1st December 1962.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 6647-I.R./IR/7L-57/61, dated the 8th November 1961, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Victoria Jute Works, P.O. Telinipara, district Hooghly, and their workmen represented by (i) Jute Workers' Federation, 35B Wellington Street, Calcutta, and (ii) National Union of Jute Workers, Victoria Jute Works Branch, Ferry Ghat Street, Telinipara, Hooghly, regarding the issue mentioned in the said order being a matter specified in the third schedule to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), was referred for adjudication to the Fifth Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Fifth Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Victoria Jute Works, P.O. Telinipara, district Hooghly, and their workmen represented by (i) Jute Workers' Federation, 35B Wellington Street, Calcutta and (ii) National Union of Jute Workers, Victoria Jute Works' Branch, Ferry Ghat Street, Telinipara, Hooghly, referred under G. O. No. 6647-I.R./IR/7L-57/61, dated 8th November 1961. (Case No. VIII-356/61.)

BEFORE THE FIFTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri N. B. CHAUDHURI, Judge.

Appearances:

For the Company: Shri S. C. Sen, Advocate, Messrs. Orr Dignam & Co., and Solicitors.

For the Union: (i) Shri Nikhil Ranjan Ray, Advocate, for National Union of Jute Workers and (ii) Shri Phani Ghose for Jute Workers' Federation.

The Government of West Bengal by its Labour Department order No. 6647-I.R./IR/7L-57/61, dated 8th November 1961, referred to this Tribunal an industrial dispute between Messrs. Victoria Jute Works, P.O. Telinipara, district Hooghly (hereinafter referred to as the Company), and their workmen represented by (i) Jute Workers' Fedaration 35B Wellington Street, Calcutta (hereinafter referred to as the Federation), and (ii) National Union of Jute Workers, Victoria Jute Works Branch, Ferry Ghat Street, Telinipara, Hooghly (hereinafter referred to as the Union), for adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The issue referred to this Tribunal for adjudication is as follows:

1. Whether the non-payment of wages for 2nd March 1961 and for the period of lock-out from 4th March 1961 to 12th March 1961 to the workmen is justified? To what relief. if any, are they entitled?

AWARD

Both the parties to this dispute have filed their respective written statements. It may be mentioned in this connection that the workmen of the present dispute are represented by two different Unions and each of these two Unions filed separate written statements. The Jute Workers' Federation mentioned in the order of reference represents the clerks of the Victoria Jute Works and the case of this Union is this:

Due to some disturbances in the weaving department of the Victoria Jute Works there was a lock-out of the mills from 4th to 11th March 1961 and normal work was resumed on the 13th of March 1961 after certain agreement between the operatives and the Management. Normally during periods of lock-outs, the clerks are required and allowed to work and they are paid their normal wages also. But during the lock-out in question, though the clerks offered themselves for work, the Company was pleased to allow only some of the clerks to work during the lock-out period but others were not allowed to do so. Thus. about 70 clerks were denied their wages for the period of lock-out. In the circumstances, it is urged by the Federation that the clerks, not employed during the period of lock-out, should be paid their normal wages irrespective of the question whether their services were required or not required.

National Union of Jute Workers represents the other workmen of this concern and the case of this Union may be briefly stated as follows:

Victoria Jute Works runs two mills known as mill No. 1 and mill No. 2. Before the lock-out in question, the weaving department of mill No. 1 used to run in two shifts. The working hours of A and B shift workers were as follows:

	A Shift.	B Shift.
Monday to Friday	6 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.	11 a.m. to 2 p.m and 5 p.m. to 10 p.m.
Saturday	6 a.m. to 10 a.m.	10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

For certain reasons the Company expressed its sire to change the working hours of the weaving partment and consulted the Works Committee of ill No. 1 in this connection. The workmen, how-er, felt aggrieved over this decision of the anagement and tried to represent their case fore the mill authorities, but the Management fused to discuss the matter with the workers' presentatives. On the other hand, the Manage-ent took vindictive measures against some of the nployees on account of their protest against the opsed change of working hours. This high-indedness of the Management gave extreme ovocation to the workers of mill No. 1 and in nsequence thereof the workmen of this mill opped work on and from 2nd January 1961. The ompany, however, without any justification what-ever, locked out both the mills, with effect from d March 1961 though nothing was alleged against e employees of mill No. 2. On the intervention the Deputy Labour Commissioner, a settlement as arrived at between the parties and the mills sumed their work from 13th March 1961. It is lded that the 2nd of March 1961 was a festival liday on account of Holi, and the workmen were titled to wages for that day irrespective of the nsideration of the incident, if any, that took ace on that day. Hence it is urged that the nployees of the mills are entitled to wages for e festival holiday, as well as the lock-out period.

The Company's case on the other hand is in ort this:

Victoria Jute Works is not a legal entity or a ridical person. It is only a jute mill owned by ictoria Jute Company Ltd. So, the proper mployer has not really been impleaded in the resent dispute. As to the subject matter of the ispute it is alleged that for certain reasons the anagement was of the opinion that the working ours of the two shifts should be changed in certain spects. In this view of the matter, a meeting of e Works Committee was held on the 1st of rch 1961, and a number of other representatives t members of the Works Committee) also ually attended that meeting. This meeting agreed the proposed change and the change was intended be given effect to from 6th of March 1961. The rkers, however, suddenly commenced a stay-strike at about 6 a.m. on the 2nd of March 1961 d in spite of Management's request, they refused come forward and discussed the cause of the ike with the Management. They not only tinued this strike but created a state of demonium and also assaulted some workers and cers. The Management issued notice asking the rkers to behave properly but to no effect. By a.m. on the 2nd of March 1961, the workers of h the shifts resorted to violence and the work the two mills was brought to a stand-still. So safeguard the property of the Company and also lives of the loyal workers, the Company was mpelled to declare a lock-out of both the mills, th effect from the 3rd of March 1961. Both the lls had to be closed down as the manufacturing ocess of the two mills was dependant on each ier and dislocation in one had automatic reper-ion on the other. Thus, the laving off of the kmen concerned was due to an illegal strike on part of the workmen; and so, they are not tled to any compensation whatsoever for the -out period and also for 2nd March 1961.

Other facts will appear from the body of the award that follows:

From what I have stated above it will be sufficiently clear that the Company declared a lock-out of both the mills, with effect from 3rd March 1961 and normal work thereof was resumed on 13th March 1961, after a settlement between the parties. The question is whether the Management had sufficient justification for declaring a lock-out and thus laying off all the workmen. The clear case of the Company is that the workers resorted not only to stay-in-strike on 2nd March 1961 without any justification but they took recourse to various acts of violence and indiscipline which resulted in hospitalisation of some of the workers. Thus, this illegal strike and gross acts of indiscipline and violence compelled the Management to declare a lock-out. In this connection, the workers have examined two witnesses. P.W. 1 Shri Md. Haniff, a weaver of mill No. 1 (since retired), admits that there was a commotion in the factory premises on 2nd March 1961 and according to him this commotion was due to a notice issued by the Management in respect of change in working hours of the two shifts. He further admits that the workers stopped the machines and stayed inside the factory premises. Thus, it is clear from the worker's own evidence also that the workers of the two mills resorted to stay-in-strike for some reasons or other. It is a fact that on the eve of this incident, the Management was contemplating some change in the timing of working hours of the two shifts. For certain reasons the Company was thinking of introducing straight shifts in place of the existing arrangement of working hours. It is also admitted by the Company that it had convened meeting of Works Committee and some representative workers on 1st March 1961 and this meeting approved the proposed change. However, the Company's case is that no notice for changing the working hours was actually issued on or before 2nd March 1961. So, the workmen had no reason to feel aggrieved by 2nd March 1961. The workers alleged that a notice was actually issued by the Management in this connection before 2nd March 1961, but there is no document or anything in writing on this record to show that the Company actually issued any such notice on or before 2nd March 1961. However, it appears to me somehow or other the workmen came to know of the proposed change in working hours and presumbly this information which might leak otherwise also annoyed the workmen and they resorted to a stay-in-strike. Assuming that the Company actually intended to introduce some change into the working hours, I may yet observe that the workers had no sufficient reason on that ground for launching a stay-in strike. It appears the trouble first ensued in the morning shift of 2nd March 1961 in mill No. 1 and the weaver of this mill stopped work. But from the commencement of the next shift the workers of the other mill also joined with the weavers of the mill No. 1 and they all stopped work and yet remained inside the mill premises. Shri Hanif also admits that the weavers of both the hessian and sacking sections stopped work. It is conceded by both the sides that some workers actually worked on 2nd March 1961 and they got their wages also. But others who had joined the strike were not paid their wages and in fact they are not asking also for wages for that day on that ground. The case of the workmen is that the Company cannot withhold payment of wages for 2nd March 1961 irrespective of the question of strike or no strike, because 2nd March 1961 was a festival holiday with wages. But the Management strongly denies this allegation and it is the positive evidence of the Management that in fact, Holi Festival holiday came on 3rd March 1961 and not 2nd March 1961. It is the common case of both the parties that the workers attended the mills on 2nd March 1961. If 2nd March 1961 would be a festival holiday, I would normally expect the workers not to attend their duties on that day. So it does not lie in the mouth of the workmen to say that Holi Festival holiday actually came on 2nd March 1961 and not on 3rd March 1961. The notice Ext. A/2 also shows that Holi Festival was to come on 3rd March 1961. In fact there is no dispute for wages of 3rd March 1961 in spite of lock-out. So it is idle to claim the wages for 2nd March 1961 on the allegation that it was a Festival holiday with wages. From the evidence of Shri G. P. Sehgal, O.P.W. 1, it is clear that the workmen without any sufficient reason started a stay-in strike, with effect from the morning of 2nd March 1961 and in fact this is not denied by the workmen also as discussed above. Shri Sehgal further swears that from after 11-30 a.m. of 2nd March 1961 the workers not only continued a stay-in strike but they took recourse to violence also. He, adds that at about 11-30 a.m. the weavers of A and B shifts of mill No. 1 rushed towards the Manager's office and there was a great commotion. The weavers had knives with them and one Alam Sardar was found profusely bleeding presumbly on account of some assault or violence of the workers. It is also clear from Shri Sehgal's deposition that several other workers also were assaulted and six of the overseers of the Company were caught and pushed down to the ground by the weavers. Thus, there is no eacape from the conclusion that the workers not only started an illegal stay-in strike, but they also took recourse to violenec and acts of gross indiscipline. Shri Hanif, practically the only witness on the side of the workmen, tries to say that there was no assault on any body during his shift, that is, first shift and that he cannot say what happened during other shifts. But I may at once point out that it is neither party's case that any violence actually took place before 11-30 a.m. So, mere ignorance of Shri Hanif does not prove that there was no violence and that the statement of Shri Sehgal was false. The other witness on the side of the workmen is Shri Bhagawan Das Gupta, the Joint Secretary of the National Union of Jute Workers. But I may at once point out that this witness had no access to the mill premises and so he was not in a position to say what actually took place inside the mill premises. So, Shri Das Gupta's evidence is of no help to me in this respect. In this view of the matter, the evidence of Shri G. P. Sehgal, the Chief Personnel Officer of Thomas Duff & Co. Ltd., the Managing Agents of Victoria Jute Works, remains unshaken and I have no reason whatsoever to disbelieve a responsible officer like him. Thus, I have no doubt whatsoever in my mind that the workers of the two mills were guilty of stay-in strike and use of violence, etc., on 2nd March 1961. So, it was only natural for the Management to declare a lock-out of the two mills, with effect from the following morning in order to save the property of the Company and also to ensure security for the loyal workers, some of whom were seriously assaulted on the previous day.

It is next urged on behalf of the workmen that the real offenders, if any, were the workers of mill No. 1, and in fact, most of the workers of mill No. 2 carried on their normal duties on 2nd March 1961. So, the Management had no sufficient reason for declaring a lock-out of both the mills. But in this connection I may at once point out to the deposition of Shri Sehgal again. These two mills are actually situated side by side being separated by a passage only. It is also in evidence that the work of these two mills are highly interdependent. Shri Sehgal states on oath that the two millls are not self-sufficient units; that the process of wor of the two mills is dependent on each other; tha the warp of one mill actually feeds both the mills that the jute for both the mills are issued from th same godown and that waft prepared in mill No. feeds both the mills. Thus, it is sufficiently clea that if the work in mill No. 1 is totally stopped o if lock-out be declared in mill No. 1, the other mil cannot function. Thus, practically the two constituted one establishment for all practical pur poses and if mill No. 1 is stopped, the other canno but be stopped. So, there is no substance in th contention that the Company had no justificatio for locking out the mill No. 2 on account of th laches, if any, on the part of workers of mill No. 1 In this connection, I may at once refer to sec tion 25E of the Industrial Disputes Act, wherei it has been clearly laid down that no compensatio shall be paid to a workman who has been laid of if such laying off is due to a strike or slowing dow of production on the part of workman in anothe part of the establishment. Thus, in this view o the matter, the illegal strike, as well as the acts o violence in one part of the establishment ar sufficient to justify locking out of the other par of the establishment as well. The lock-out no doub laid off all the workers of the two mills, except fo few whose services were required by the Manage ment for continuing some unavoidable and essentia services. But this laying off was due to the sai strike and violence and so the workers cannot clain any compensation whatsoever for the period o lock-out.

Lastly it is contended on behalf of the clerks tha none of the clerks actually resorted to any strik or violence. The strike or violence, if any, wa resorted to by the operatives or mill hands only and so, the Management had no sufficient reason fc laying off the clerks who were always willing t work and rather offered themselves to work in th lock-out period also. It is also pointed out that i fact large number of clerks were employed by th Management during the lock-out period, but faile to employ certain others. Hence it is urged tha the excluded clerks at least should be paid for th lock-out period irrespective of the question of lock out or the strike. Shri Sehgal in his depositio explains the circumstances under which some of th clerks were employed during the lock-out perio and in spite of lock-out. His statement is that the essential services of the mills were required to be maintained during the lock-out period also and for maintaining these essential services, some employees were required to work in the factory during the lock-out period. For this reason, some clerks were employed for making payments of wages to the workers who worked in the previous week, for preparing pay-sheets and other connected papers. In fact, all the durwans also were kept employed for security reasons. But the Company had no work for the rest of the clerks in view of the lock-out declared for justifiable reasons. I may simply observe that some of the clerks who have been laid off for no fault of theirs were actually laid off on account of lock-out only and this lock-out was forced upon the Management on account of an illegal strike and violence of some of the workers in some part of the establishment. So, in view of the provisions of the section 25E already referred to, I am afraid the Company is not bound to pay compensation to the clerks also. I may feel for them, but I am afraid I cannot help them in view of the clear provision of the statute mentioned above. Undoubtedly the Management became apprehensive on account of the violent attitude of certain section of the workers resorting to illegal strike and thus justifiably locked out the mills.

Thus, considering the facts and circumstances of the present case, I am of opinion that the Company had sufficient justification for non-payment of wages for 2nd March 1961 and also for the period of lock-out from 4th March 1961 to 12th March 1961. The workers are, therefore, not entitled to any relief in the present case.

This is my award.

No. 6690-I.R./IR/4L-68/60.—1st December 1962.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 1785-I.R./IR/4L-68/60, dated the 10th April 1961, the industrial dispute between Shri Kartick Chandra Dey, P. O and village Mahisadal, district Midnapore, and his workmen represented by Tamluk Motor Workers' Union, P. O. Tamluk, district Midnapore, regarding the issue mentioned in the said order being a matter specified in the second schedule to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), was referred for adjudication to the Second Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Second Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute existing between Shri Kartick Chandra Dey, P. O. and village Mahisadal, district Midnapore, and his workmen represented by Tamluk Motor Workers' Union, P. O. Tamluk, district Midnapore. (Case No. 126 of 1961.)

BEFORE THE SECOND INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

Present:

Shri P. C. PAL, Judge, Second Industrial Tribunal.

Present for the Union: Shri M. M. Saha, Advocate.

Present for the Employer: Shri A. K. Sarkar, Advocate.

This is a reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 1785-I.R./IR/4L-68/60, dated the 10th April 1961, for adjudication upon the following issue, viz.:

"Whether the refusal of employment to Shri Oshiur Rahman is justified? What relief, if any, is he entitled to?"

The case of the Union, as made out in its written statement, is briefly this: The employer Shri Kartick Chandra Dey is the owner of one public carrier truck No. 1358. He earns good profit by running this truck. The concerned workman Shri Oshiur Rahman was the only driver of this truck. The employees under Shri Dey were not paid even the minimum wages according to the provisions of the Minimum Wages Act. The workmen are denied under threat of dismissal all sorts of statutory benefits. The Union started agitation for implementation of the minimum wages. The workman concerned has been victimised by the employer in a very nasty manner. The truck-owner asked the workman to give a writing to the effect that he had received wages of Rs. 117 though he had been actually paid Rs. 90 per month. The owner also asked him to sign in a blank sheet of paper for motives best known to the former, and threatened him with unemployment if he failed to sign the blank sheet of paper and resign his membership from the Union. The concerned workman refused to comply with this direction. As a result the workman was thrown out of employment since the 1st of October 1960 quite verbally and unceremoniously, violating all the principles of natural justice. The discharge or refusal of employment to the workman was mala fide and unjustified and was by way of victimisation.

The employer's case, as averred in his written statement, is briefly this: The dispute is an "individual dispute", not an industrial dispute, and hence the reference is untenable in law. The worker concerned was purely a casual hand having worked for four and half months only. The story of victimisation, and the story of the employer's asking the worker to sign a blank paper, etc., are absolutely false. In fact, the worker used to receive wages of Rs. 150 per month, inclusive of khoraki (fooding). He left the employment of his own accord by contending that he was getting a better chance elsewhere. The truck in question was taken in possession by the Auto Finance Corporation for non-payment of instalment prices under a hire-purchase contract made by the employer and, as such, there is no question of any employment of the workman at present. For all these reasons, the case of the Union must fail.

Decision

The Union has examined its Joint Secretary Shri Lakshmi Narain Maity (P. W. 2) and the workman concerned Shri Oshiur Rahman. The Union has put in a hat-chita (Ext. 1) and a copy of a letter by the Union Secretary to the Assistant Labour Commissioner (Ext. 2). On the other side the employer Shri Kartick Dey has examined himself (O.P.W. 1) and one Akhil Chandra Bera (O.P.W. 2), a keeper of a sweetmeat shop at Mahisadal market. The employer has produced an Account Khata (Ext. A), a few telegrams (Ext. B-2), correspondences (Exts. B to B-7) and a hire-purchase agreement (Ext. C).

First of all I take up the legal objection as raised on behalf of the employer. The contention of Shri Sarkar is that all the employees of trucks and buses of the relevant area are not members of the Union and do not support the case of the workman concerned. Hence the present dispute is not properly represented by the Tamluk Motor Workers' Union. The Secretary of the Union has deposed that the workers in respect of trucks and buses of the Tamluk subdivision are members of this Union, to which the workman concerned belongs. Of course, he admits in his cross-examination that the employer has coolies for his truck, but those coolies are not members of this Union, nor have they any support for this dispute. From this, it is argued by Shri Sarkar that all the workmen under the employer are not members of the Union, and do not support the case for the sake of the workman concerned, and hence the dispute is not an industrial dispute. Shri Sarkar has referred me to the case of the Hind, Bombay, reported in 1961(2) L.L.J. 436. The principle enunciated in that case obviously does not apply in the present case inasmuch as the concerned workman was the only driver under the employer and has been a member of the said Union which took up the case of this workman. The evidence of the Secretary remains that except the coolies all other workers in regard to all trucks and buses of the entire subdivision of Tamluk are members of this Union. That being so, the case of the worker Oshiur Rahman has been properly represented, and hence the dispute is an industrial dispute. The legal objection is, therefore, overruled.

As regards merits of the case, Union's case is that Oshiur Rahman was discharged or thrown out of employment by way of victimisation since 1st October 1960. The employer's contention is that the story of victimisation or discharge of the workman is untrue, and that, in fact Oshiur Rahman himself gave up the job of his own accord on the ground that he was getting a better job elsewhere. Oshiur Rahman has vehemently denied that he gave up the job of his own accord. It has been elicited in his cross-examination that subsequent to his discharge he works temporarily under one Vim Dey for 4/5 days in a month at intervals, and is getting Rs. 3.50 nP. per day. According to the employer's case, Oshiur used to get from him total wages of Rs. 150 per month (Rs. 90 as basic wages plus Rs. 60 for fooding). In that view, Oshiur used to get from the employer Rs. 5 per day. It is, therefore, rediculous to assert that Oshiur Rahman left the job wilfully for a better chance where he could get only Rs. 3.50 nP. per day, i.e., at a loss of Rs. 1.50 nP. a day. Of course, O.P.W. 2 Shri Akhil Bera, an unsummoned witness for the employer, has deposed that on the 14th Asvin 1367 B.S. Oshiur was paid his outstanding dues of Rs. 80 and Oshiur signed in a Khata inside the witness's shop and left the job of his own accord, as his pay was not increased by the employer. The employer himself has deposed that on 30th September 1960 Oshiur got from him outstanding balance of Rs. 90 and signed in the Khata for Rs. 150, the total pay for the month. Even he himself does not say that that transaction took place inside the shop of Akhil Bera. According to the workmen concerned, the employer discharged him and engaged a new driver on the spot, viz., near the new bus-stand at Mahisadal. The employer has said that the affairs of 30th September 1960 took place in front of the Sahid Bedi at Mahisadal, in presence of Akhil Bera. It may be that the Sahid Bedi is 10 to 15 cubits from the shop of Akhil Bera. But the employer did not say that the transaction took place inside the shop. Besides, as already found, the story of giving up of the job wilfully for a better chance is unbelievable and unacceptable. In the circumstances, Akhil Bera appears to be a purely got up witness, and the evidence of such a man is far from reliable. There is one important fact which would also go to discredit the evidence of the employer and his case altogether. The entries in the Khata are admittedly signed by Oshiur Rahman, but the explanation is that he signed at one sitting as he was given to understand that on his signature he would be paid the outstanding balance by the employer. He has also deposed that after having signed in the Khata he asked for the balance of wages, but to no effect. This Khata shows payment of Rs. 50 for 10 days of May 1960, Rs. 115 for 23 days of June 1960, Rs. 153 for full months of July and August each, and Rs. 150 for Septemebr 1960. On the contrary, the hat-chita (Ext. 1) shows total payments of much less amounts, viz., Rs. 21 for part of May, Rs. 84-6 for June, Rs. 41-8 for July, Rs. 145.25 nP. for August and Rs. 77.50 for September, the total being Rs. 370.72 nP. Thus the difference between the two sets of amounts is Rs. 250.28 nP. The employer has admitted in his cross-examination that nothing was paid which is not in Ext. 1. That being so, the entires in Ext. 1 are to be taken as correct, not those in Ext. A. The employer keeps regular Jama-kharas accounts, but these have not been put in. In view of these facts and circumstances, I have no reliance on the evidence of the employer and, as such, his contentions are untenable.

The net result of my above findings is that the worker Shri Oshiur Rahman did not give up the job wilfully, but he was discharged or refused employment by the employer as alleged by the workman. It is needless to consider about the Union's allegation that the worker was victimised on account of his demand for implementation of the minimum wage of Rs. 117 (basic Rs. 75 and D. A. Rs. 42) as fixed under the Minimum Wages Act, though it appears that the contention of the Union is not to be brushed aside lightly. The action of the employer against the workman concerned is, therefore, quite unjustifiable.

Regarding the question of the workman's reinstatement, the employer's case is that he got the truck under an hire-purchase agreement, but as he could not make payment of instalments of prices, the Auto Finance Corporation took away the truck from his possession in Pous 1368 B.S. The Union denies his story and asserts that the truck is still in possession of the employer. The employer admits that his name still exists with the seller as purchaser of the truck. The telegrams and correspondences led by him only show repeated demands for instalments. But there is nothing cogent to find that the selling agency actually took possession of the truck in question. The employer has totally failed in this respect. Hence it must be taken that he is still in possession of the truck. That being so, there can be no objection to the reinstatement of the workman in his former job.

The workman concerned has asked for back wages. In fact, he is not totally out of employment since October 1960. He says that he works at intervals for 4/5 days in a month and the rest of the year he works on cultivation in Bhag. It is unbelievable that Bhag cultivation would continue throughout the year at all. In my belief, he works for more days than he admits.

In view of the above findings, the employer Shri Partick Chandra Dey is directed to reinstate the workman Oshiur Rahman in his former job and to pay him 1/4th of the back wages for the total period from 1st October 1960 till his reinstatement within a month from the date of publication of this decision in the "Calcutta Gazette".

Award is passed accordingly.

AWARD

By Order No. 5521-I.R.|IR|10L-190|61, dated the 15th September 1961, the Government of West Bengal, in the Labour Department, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Vaz & Bose, Contractors, Young Road, P.O. Asansol, district Burdwan, and their workmen represented by the United Contractors Workers' Union, Burnpur Road, P.O. Burnpur, district Burdwan, regarding the matter specified in the schedule, to the Third Industrial Tribunal, constituted under section 7A of the Industrial Disputes Act, by Notification No. 808-I.R.|IR|3A-2|57, dated the 11th March 1957, for adjudication.

Issue

Is the termination of employment of Shri Jagadish Pandey justified? What relief, if any, is he entitled to?

The present reference came from the Government for adjudication of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Vaz & Bose, Contractors of Asansol in the district of Burdwan (hereinafter be referred to as the Company) and their workmen represented by United Contractors Workers' Union of Burnpur in the district of Burdwan (hereinafter be referred to as the Union).

The dispute arose out of termination of employment of a workman named Jagadish Pandey.

Both parties on receipt of notices from this Tribunal entered appearance and filed their respective written statements. They also took other steps leading to the hearing of the case. The case was actually heard in part on 19th November 1962 when the Union examined two witnesses including the dismissed workman Jagadish Pandey. Some documents also were tendered into evidence. It transpired in course of the hearing of the case that the workman sustained some serious physical injury for which he had to be confined in hospital for a considerable time. The Company on his discharge from the hospital gave him light work in consideration of his partial physical disability. For his partial physical disability the workman also received legal compensation under the provisions of law. The workman's grievance before this Tribunal was that after some time he was again asked to do heavy manual work which he was unable to do on account of his physical condition. Ultimately, however, his services were terminated by the Company as alleged by the Union. But the Company's case is that he voluntarily left his work. Of course, if the work which the workman was asked to do was too heavy for him in view of his partial physical disability due to the accident in which he was involved, while discharging his duty as was allotted to him by the Company, it was not possible for him to carry on. Be that as it may, at the stage of conclusion of the Union's case both parties came to terms and I must express my satisfaction at the Company's sympathetic attitude for the poor partially disabled workman who injured his leg almost permanently while faithfully discharging the work of his employer (the Company).

Both parties accordingly filed a joint petition of compromise on 27th November 1962 whereby the Company agreed to re-employ Shri Jagadish Pandey on his appearing before the Company any day within a fortnight. The Company has further agreed to pay him wages at the rate he was previously drawing in September 1960. I consider the terms, in the circumstances of the case, fair and reasonable and as such I accept them and give an award on compromise in terms thereof. The joint petition of compromise filed on 27th November 1962 do form part of the compromise award as an Annexure.

This is my award.

The only issue referred to this Tribunal for judication is as follows:—

Additional bonus for 1956-57 payable in 1958.

AWARD

After service of usual notices on the parties, both rties have filed their respective written statements.

The case of the workmen in short is this. The Company manufactures jeep, truck and other engineering products and also carries on business in steel. It has also import business of different kinds. Thus, the Company every year earns a huge profit, but the workmen are denied even minimum wages. The workmen, however, have been getting some customary bonus and/or bonus as a condition of service for many years. In the year under consideration, the Company has earned substantial profits and paid some bonus to its employees, but in view of the huge income made by the Company, the workmen are entitled to additional bonus. The Company having refused to pay the additional bonus, this dispute arises.

The case of the Company, on the other hand, is in short this. This Company is only a unit in the engineering industry functioning in a highly competitive market and it enjoys no particular advantage over its competitors either in respect of production or profits. The Company is also Managing Agents, Secretaries and Treasurers of Machinery Manufacturing Corporation Ltd., Mahindra Engineering Co. Ltd. and Indian National Diesel Engine Co. Ltd., Mahindra Owen Ltd. and Dr. Beck & Co. The workmen of this Company, however, have no real grievance in matters of wages, amenities, benefits and other service conditions. The remuneration paid by the Company is not in any way inferior to what prevails in the industry. This Company never paid to its workmen any bonus as customary or as conditions of service, as alleged. The bonus, if any, is payable from available surplus of profits. In the financial year under consideration, Company no doubt earned some profits and actually paid bonus equivalent to three months' consolidated wages. The trading results of the Company do not warrant payment of further bonus or additional bonus, as claimed because after meeting the revenue expenditure and various prior charges, no surplus will be available for the purpose.

Other facts will appear from the body of the award that follows.

From what I have stated above, it is sufficiently clear that the Company, Messrs. Mahindra and Mahindra Ltd., not only manufactures jeep, truck, etc., but also carries on various other kinds of business. The Company acts as Managing Agents, Secretaries and Treasurers of other associates of this Company. The Head Office of this Company is in Bombay and it has branches in Calcutta and Delhi also. It had a factory at Pimpri in Poona region, but this factory has since been taken over by some other Company. Admittedly, this Company has earned some profits and it has already paid bonus equivalent to three months' consolidated wages to its workers, but the workers are not satisfied with the bonus already paid. They preferred this additional claim for bonus on different grounds. Their contention is that they are entitled to bonus not only out of profits earned but also bonus as customary or as condition of service, irrespective of the profits earned by the Company. I may, however, at once observe that the claim for additional bonus has not been pressed on the ground of custom or condition of service before this Tribunal. At the time of hearing, no evidence has been adduced to prove that the workers are entitled to customary bonus or bonus as condition of service. I may at once point out that the Hon'ble

Supreme Court has laid down various tests for showing under what circumstances customary bonus or bonus as condition of service can be claimed by workmen. In a case between Ispahani Ltd., Calcutta, and Ispahani Employees' Union [1959 (II) L.L.J., 41, the Hon'ble Supreme Court accepted the tests laid down in Mahaluxmi Mills Ltd., Calcutta [1952 (II) L.L.J., 635] as correct. These tests show that payment of bonus must be unbroken for a sufficiently long period irrespective of profit and loss of the Company before bonus as condition of service is claimed. Similarly, in a case between Grahams Trading Co. (India) Ltd. and their workmen [1959 (II) L.L.J., 393]. the Hon'ble Supreme Court has laid down four tests which must be satisfied before customary or traditional bonus is claimed. In this case also it has been laid down that payment of bonus must be for a sufficiently long period in unbroken series of years, irrespective of profit and loss of the Company and the rate of payment must be uniform throughout. Judged by these tests, it can be at once observed that the workmen concerned have not been able to establish any case for customary bonus or bonus as condition of service in the present case.

So, I am to consider whether the workmen concerned are really entitled to profit-sharing bonus for the trading year 1956-57 over and above what has been already paid voluntarily by the Company. The business year or the trading year of the Company ends on 31st October. So, we are concerned with the business year which commenced on the 1st day of November 1956 and ended on 31st October 1957. This Company is admittedly a public limited one and the balance-sheet and the profit and loss account (hereinafter referred to as P.L. Account) have already been published and Ext. A is a copy thereof. It is now well-settled law that profit-sharing bonus has to be determined in accordance with the Full Bench formula which presupposes ascertainment of available surplus after providing for the prior charges of the Company. I need not discuss at length what are the principles of the said Full Bench formula. The formula was originally evolved by the Hon'ble Labour Appellate Tribunal while deciding a bonus dispute between Mill-owners' Association, Bombay, and Rashtriya Mill Mazdoor Sangha [1950 (II) L.L.J., 1247]. The formula has since been accepted, explained and elucidated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in its different decisions including that of A.C.C. case [(1959) 1 L.L.J. 644]. So, there is no escape from the conclusion that for determining the claim for additional bonus, I am to work out the Full Bench formula mentioned above. Bonus, specially the profit-sharing bonus, is primarily intended to recover the gap fully or partly between the standard of living wages and the actual wages paid by the employer to its employees or workmen. I may also mention that the primary onus to prove that there is disparity between the existing wages and the living standard of wages lies on the workmen. But nevertheless I may observe that in the present case, it is nobody's contention that the workers of the present concern are being paid living wages. It is the definite case of the workmen in their written statement that they are being denied even the minimum wages. If this contention be correct, the workers are not getting fair wages even, far less living wages. The Company, in its written statement has not the courage to deny this allegation outright It is also not the case of the Company that it is paying living wages to its employees. The Company simply tries to say that the remuneration paid by the Company is not in any way inferior to what prevails in the Industry. The learned representative for the Company does not venture to suggest that the Industry in question of our country has yet been able to pay fair wages or living wages. In the circumstances I may at once conclude that there is certainly a wide gap between the existing wages of the workmen concerned and the standard of living wages. I may also mention that the learned representative of the Company fairly concedes that the Company has no valid defence on this ground. It is more or less a common knowledge that in our country the ideal of living wages will remain a dream for many more years to come. It may be incidentally mentioned that payment of living wages or fair wages to one or a few of the workmen is not sufficient to defeat the claim for bonus. The real test is whether the average of existing wages has actually reached the standard of living wages and I am afraid, the Company has no reason to say that the average of wages paid by it has already reached the standard. So without further discussion, I hold that the workmen have accordingly satisfied the first essential condition for claiming bonus.

The second condition for claiming profit-sharing bonus is that the Industry must earn profits during the year under consideration. This claim for bonus must be determined by the trading results of the year and the balance-sheet cum P.L. Account should be taken as the basis for these trading results, unless it is established by unimpeachable evidence that the entries in the balance-sheet or P.L. Account or any one of them are undependable. It must also be proved that the workers concerned did contribute to the earning of these profits, if any. Ext. A includes the duly audited balance-sheet and P.L. Account. This document has been proved practically without any challenge from the other side by Shri M. D. Dhume, the Chief Accountant of the Company. Shri Dhume swears that there is only one consolidated balance-sheet for all the branches of the Company. He also swears that the entries in the balance-sheet and P.L. Account are correct and they are based on the books of accounts maintained by the Company. On the other hand the only witness examined on behalf of the workmen has not a word to say against the balance-sheet or the P.L. Account. So, I may at once accept the correctness of the balance-sheet and the P.L. Account and the determination of available surplus, if any, for bonus purposes must be on the basis of these two documents.

The working of the formula begins with the figure of gross profits taken from P.L. Account which are arrived at after payment of wages and dearness allowance to the employees and other items of expenditure. As a general rule, the amount of gross profits thus ascertained is accepted without submitting the statement of P.L. Account to a close scrutiny. If however, it appears that entries have been made on the debit side deliberately and mala fide to reduce the amounts of gross profits, it would be open to the Tribunal to examine the question and if it is satisfied that the impugned entries have been made mala fide it may disallow them. After ascertaining the gross profits, the Tribunal has to deduct the prior charges of the Company for ascertainment of available surplus. I have already mentioned that no particular entry in the P.L. Account has been challenged to be mala fide but nevertheless the parties differ in ascertaining the gross profits. So, before I discuss about the calculations of gross profits and prior charges, I must quote in extenso the different calculations submitted by the two parties. It may also be mentioned that both the parties filed more than one calculations in this connection. But I accept for the present the latest calculation filed by both the parties.

N.B. 1. Amount of Bonus for one month will be Rs. 3,83,000

2. In the event, the Company pays additional bonus, it will be entitled to further Income Tax Rebate on the same.

From the two calculations quoted above, it will be clear that the parties do not differ regarding the amount of profit as per P.L. Account. Exhibit A will bear out the figure that a sum of Rs. 22.16 lakhs was earned as profit according to the P.L. Account. For assessing gross profits, both parties have added back certain items. But whereas the Company seeks to add five such items only, the Union seeks to add two more items. According to the Union, the amount shown as bad debts and the amounts shown as expenditure on account of small tools consumed should also be added back for ascertaining gross profits. So, the question arises whether these two disputed items of expenditure should be taken into consideration for ascertaining gross profits for bonus purposes. It is the common experience of every dealer that some of the debtors fail to pay their debt in full. The debts which are thus found to be irrecoverable are called bad debts and will have to be written off as such and so should find place in the debit side of the P.L. Account. The contention of the workmen is that the amount shown as bad debts was not really irrecoverable. So, if any such amount has been declared as irrecoverable on account of the laches of the Management, the workers should not be deprived of the benefits of that portion of the revenue which is called upon to be written off as bad debts. In fact, this is the evidence of P.W. 1 Shri Phani Bagchi, who happens to be the President of the Union concerned. The Company has filed the copy of a resolution to show that the amount actually written off as bad debt was not only considered as bad debt but the Board of Directors by a resolution approved of this writing off of bad debt [vide Ext. B(9)]. Thus, there is not the least doubt that the Management decided to write off this amount as bad debt. The learned representative of the workmen contends that most of the debtors mentioned in Ext. B(9) were sufficiently solvent to pay up their debts and the present Company failed to realise the amounts either due to negligence or for other reasons not clearly explained by the Company before this Tribunal. I have carefully scrutinised this Ext. B(9) and it may be a fact that most of these debtors were not only solvent companies but they included the Central Government, different Government Railways, etc., also. But, I must point out that though the debtors were themselves sufficiently solvent, the small amounts of debts shown in the list might be irrecoverable for many other reasons and the Company thought it fit not to press for realisation of those debts. The fact remains that the Company treated those items as bad debts and thought it fit to write them off. So, this amount of bad debts cannot but be treated as revenue expenditure of the year for it was written off in the year under consideration. Even if it be assumed for argument's sake that some of these items of debts might be realised in future, I may point out that those amounts if realised will then be treated as profits of that year and the benefits, if any, thereof will go to the workmen also. So, without further discussion, I hold that the amount of bad debts shown in the P.L. Account cannot be added back for ascertaining gross profits. The amount must be charged to the revenue of the year.

The next disputed item is the amount on account of small tools consumed. The learned representative for the workmen contends that this item of expenditure should rather be treated as capital expenditure and not revenue expenditure. Thus, according to the workmen, this item of expenditure should rather find place in the asset side of the balance-sheet and not the debit side of the profit and loss account. So, it is very much important to see whether this expenditure should at all be considered as capital expenditure, as contended on behalf of the Union. All expenditure which results in the acquisition of permanent assets which are intended to be continually used in the business for the purpose of earing revenue is called capital expenditure. All establishment and other expenses incurred in the conduct and administration of the business come under the heading of "revenue expenditure". So, the question is whether the small tools consumed during the year should be treated as permanent assets and thus consumption thereof as capital expenditure. It is more or less undisputed that these small tools are consumed very quickly while in operation and such tools cannot be treated as permanent acquisitions for earning profits. They are like other consumable stores of the Company. These small tools do not really enhance the revenue earning capacity by increasing production or reducing cost of production. They are not permanent equipments also. So, my considered opinion is that the small tools consumed cannot be treated as permanent assets and so, when expended they cannot be treated as items of capital expenditure. Accordingly, I find that the amount of expenditure on account of small tools consumed must be treated as an item of revenue expenditure and shown in the debit side of the P.L. Account. Thus, I accept the add backs of the Company as correct. Thus, the correct amount of gross profit comes to Rs. 56.90 lakhs. Before coming to deductions under Full Bench formula, I may point out that the Company likes to deduct some other amounts on the ground that those items of profits are either extraneous incomes or not related to the year under consideration. The Supreme Court accepted as sound the view that since labour and capital both contribute to the earnings of the industrial concern, it is fair that labour should derive some benefit if there is a surplus after meeting the prior or necessary charges specified in the formula. It is also, however, accepted that if there are profits unrelated to workers' efforts, such profits must be left out of account in deciding the question of available surplus in any particular year. It is also the accepted view that for ascertaining the available surplus, the year under consideration should be taken individually and no profit or loss of any prior year should be taken into consideration. The Company likes to deduct an amount of Rs. 1.46 lakhs on the ground that this amount was actually received on account of previous years. In this connection, I may refer to page 13 of Ext. A. This page showing the last item of the credit side of the profit and loss account will bear out the Company's assertion in this connection. Under the present law, the Company is bound to show the profits, if any, which accrued in years earlier to the year of accounting and this item of entry will show that an amount of Rs. 1.46 lakhs actually related to previous years. So, there is no escape from the conclusion that the Company has every right to deduct this amount of profit out of the gross profits before prior charges are deducted.

The Company next seeks to deduct two other items of profits on the ground that they were extraneous incomes. According to the Company, a sum of Rs. 4 lakhs related to surplus of parts from previous years and a sum of Rs. 1.21 lakhs was earned as commission on direct sales unrelated to the efforts of the workmen. The profit and loss account of the Company for the relevant year shows that the Company earned a sum of about Rs. 5 lakhs on account of accumulated surplus of parts from previous years to date in the assembly plant. Similarly, the credit side of the P. L. Account shows that the Company earned about Rs. 14 lakhs as commission. The Company does not like to deduct both these amounts in entirety. Their simple contention is that the major portion of the accumulated surplus parts was actually acquired in previous years and a fraction thereof only was acquired during the year under consideration. However, the P. L. Account does not clearly specify what portion of the accumulated surplus parts was actually acquired in earlier years. The Company has, however, adduced both oral and documentary evidences in this respect. The Company's witness No. 1 Shri M. D. Dhume states in his deposition:—

> "Our Principal—Willys Motors incorporated in U.S.A. have been sending us parts and components for assembly and manufacture of vehicles in this country. While sending such components, they invariably send to us some excess parts beyond our requirements for which we have already placed orders with them, and for these excess parts no payment is made by us. These excess parts are in addition to the parts billed for. Right from the beginning, we have been receiving excess parts and we were keeping them aside, and they have been taken into account only the year under consideration. The total value of such parts up to 31st October 1957, would come up to Rs. 4,99,560 and this was brought into account during the year under consideration. Out of this amount, parts valued at Rs. 99,000 and odd were actually received in excess during the year under consideration. The remaining amount relates to excess parts received in previous years."

It is also in evidence that there is an inventory to show the value of parts received in different years and this inventory is marked Ext. D. Thus, from what I have quoted above, it would be clear that the entire profit earned from surplus excess parts is not treated as extraneous or fortuitous income. The Company makes no attempt to have the entire amount deducted on the ground that this income is unrelated to workmen's efforts. All that it urges is that the parts which were received during previous years, though not accounted for in previous years, should be treated as income relating to earlier years and thus left out of consideration while assessing the gross profits for the relevant year. It may be urged on behalf of the workmen that the Company should not be allowed to treat any part of this income as income of previous years, because it did not care to bring same to account in earlier years. But I may simply observe that this argument cannot be accepted because there is evidence to show what portion of the excess parts was actually received in earlier years. I fully appreciate the view that the income out of these excess parts was nevertheless business income, though the excess parts were in addition to the parts billed for or paid for. In fact, these surplus parts are concomitants to ordinary business transactions when certain components are ordered for from foreign Principals. Thus, though the receipt of surplus parts is a regular feature in this sort of business, the receipt on account of previous years, cannot be taken into consideration for the relevant year. In this view of the matter, I think the Company rightly asked for deduction of about Rs. 4 lakhs in this connection.

The next question is whether the Company is entitled to deduct a sum of about Rs. 1.21 lakhs said to be profit on account of commission received by the Company from its foreign Associates or Principals. I have already pointed out that the total income of the Company on account of commission during the year was about Rs. 13.71 lakhs. It is not the case of the Company that this whole amount should be deducted out of the gross profit as extraneous income. The reason for excluding the major portion of the commission income is not very far to seek. The Company acts as sole distributors for certain foreign manufacturers. It is also the Managing Agents of Messrs. Machinery Manufacturers Corporation Ltd. Messrs. Indian and Eastern Engineers Co. Ltd., and Messrs. Turner Hoare & Co. (Private) Ltd. and Messrs. Mahindra Engineering Co. (Private) Ltd. are subsidiaries of the present Company. The Company's business consists of manufacture of certain parts and assembling and sale of jeep, trailors, etc. It also deals in spare parts and steel material. As commission agents of different companies mentioned above, the Company earns a fairly big amount as commission income. The vehicles manufactured by foreign manufacturers, who are Principal of this Company, may be sold directly by the manufacturer through this Company as Agent. When the vehicles are sold through this Company, this Company no doubt earns commission and the employees of this concern have to contribute in one way or other to the earning of this commission. Even when the vehicles are sold by the foreign manufacturers directly to their customers in India, the present Company is entitled to some commission, because during the period of guarantee thereof, the purchasers may ask for free service from this Company as agent, in respect of the vehicles, directly purchased from the manufacturers. In this view of the matter, it is conceded by the Company that the workers may legitimately claim a share of the commission income if such commission was earned by the Company in collaboration with the efforts rendered by the workmen. But, the Company adds that certain steel which is sold by the foreign manufacturers directly to customers in India and some commission is earned by the Company on such transactions also but this portion of the commission is entirely unconnected with the efforts of Labour. The labour is not required to render any service whatsoever in respect of steel sold by foreign manufacturers directly to its customers. The commission income from such directly sold steel, it is alleged, amounted to Rs. 1.21 lakhs for the year under consideration and accordingly, the Company wants that this amount should be deducted out of the gross profits assessed for the purpose of this calculation. The evidence of the Chief Accountant of the Company (Shri Dhume) in this connection is this:—

"We have deducted a sum of Rs. 1,20,993 as commission on direct sale from a sum of Rs. 13,71,340 shown as total commission received during the year. The amount of Rs. 1,20,993 was received by us as commission on sales made by foreign manufacturers directly to consumers in India, and our Company happens to be the Agent of those foreign manufacturers. The Company was not required to handle any business in relation to this commission. In regard to directly sold vehicles by the foreign manufacturers, our duty is to inspect them when they first land in India and make them roadworthy. For the service we thus render to the vehicles directly sold by the foreign manufacturers, we render accounts to the foreign manufacturers and get commission. For all vehicles, there is a guarantee period during which the purchasers may ask for free service, and this service is done by our Company in respect of vehicles directly sold in India by foreign manufacturers. Our employees also may have to render this service, and we maintain accounts in that connection. The amount of Rs. 1,20,993 was earned by the Company as commission on steel alone supplied directly by the foreign manufacturers, and the Company has got no duty to render any service in respect of these imported steel. We do not maintain any separate account of the steel directly sold by the foreign manufacturers, and we come to know of this only when commission is credited to us by the foreign concern. These steel manufacturers making direct sale in India, have no connection with Willy's."

In short, the Company's case is that the portion of commission earned on directly sold steel is absolutely unrelated to the efforts of the workmen concerned, though the commission earned on account of other kinds of direct sales cannot be said to be so unconnected. So, the real question is whether this commission on steel should be deducted from the gross profits or not in the circumstances of the present case. But, I may observe at once that commission agency is a part of normal business of the present Company. So, the commission income so far as this Company is concerned, is not really a fortuitous income. In these circumstances, it may be said that direct sale commission earned in course of normal business of the Company cannot be and should not be considered extraneous income. I may also mention that this total earning on account of commission was shown in one item in the credit side of the profit and loss account and the Company is for the first time trying to dissect this item of income at the time of hearing in order to take out a portion of this income from the reach of the workmen. The workers naturally have no access to the account, if any, maintained by the Company in this connection and such account, if any, has not been produced before this Tribunal also. The only evidence in this connection falls from the lips of a witness of the Company and this Tribunal or the workmen has no material before it to verify the truth or otherwise of this statement. Be that as it may, the normal principle in this connection is that direct sale commission from associate companies should not be treated as extraneous income ordinarily. It is no doubt open to the parties to claim the exclusion of items either on the credit or on the debit side on the ground that the impugned items are wholly or extraneous and entirely unrelated to the trading profits of the year. But in considering such a plea, the Tribunal must resist the temptation of dissecting the balance-sheet too minutely or of attempting to reconstruct it in any manner It is only in glaring cases where the impugned items may be apparently and obviously extraneous that a plea for its exclusion should be entertained. Where the employer makes profits in the course of carrying on his trade or business, it would be unreasonable to enquire whether each one of the items of the said profit is related to the contribution made by the labour. In such matters, the Tribunal must take an overall, practical and commonsense view. This appears to be one of the fundamental principles enunciated by their lordships of the Supreme Court in the famous A.C.C. case also referred to above. Considered in this light, I think it will not be proper for the Company to ask me to dissect Company's total earning on commission and hold that the workmen had no contribution to a particular item of commission income. So, my considered opinion is that the commissions sought to be excluded from the gross profits in the present case cannot be permitted. Before I conclude, I may also mention that even in respect of this disputed portion of commission, the workmen of this Company had something to do, however insignificant it may look in the eye of the Management. The employees of this concern were no doubt required to receive credit notes in respect of this portion of commission also and enter same in the Company's books of accounts. Against these credit notes, remittances are also received by the employees and the remittances are deposited in the bank by the employees themselves. So, theoretically speaking, it cannot be said that this disputed portion of commission income was absolutely unrelated to labour. So, I reject the contention of the Company in respect of this portion of the income.

The above calculation of gross profits is based on the agreed position taken by the parties and this amount includes a sum of Rs. 11,50,000 already paid as bonus voluntarily by the Company, charged to the revenue of the year and shown as such in the profit and loss account of the year. The income-tax assessment order also shows that the Company treated this amount as revenue expenditure and no income-tax was paid or assessed thereon. So, as the amount was paid voluntarily by the Manage nent and treated as business expenditure of the year, I think it will be convenient to treat same as revenue expenditure for bonus purpose also. Accordingly, the gross profits should come to Rs. 39,94,251.

Having ascertained the amount of gross profits as mentioned above, I am to deduct the different prior charges in accordance with the Full Bench formula for assessing available surplus, if any. The prior charges are in short—

(1) Notional normal depreciation including multiple shift allowance,

(2) Income-tax and Wealth Tax,

(3) Return on paid up capital,

(4) Return on reserves used as working capital, and

(5) Rehabilitation charges, if any, in excess of allowable depreciation.

In this connection, I may at once refer to Company's calculation of available surplus, as well as Union's calculation of available surplus, quoted above in extenso. From the said calculations, it appears that the parties do not differ with regard to the amounts to be deducted on account of first three prior charges narrated above. The Company has not filed papers to show in detail how the normal depreciation has been calculated and the Union also has not an iota of evidence to contradict Company's claim or evidence in this connection. Company's calculation however shows normal depreciation assessed for income-t purposes on the basis of written down value. B according to the Full Bench formula, the Compar is entitled to deduct notional normal depreciatic (but not initial or additional depreciation accordi to the Income-tax Act) on the basis of original pri of the plant and machineries, etc. of the Compan But it is more or less indisputable that under norm circumstances, the notional normal depreciation ca culated in straight line method on the basis original price of different kinds of assets is not like to be smaller than the normal depreciation allowab under the Income-tax Act. So, it cannot be argu that the Company has asked for normal depreciatic in the present case to the prejudice of the workm concerned. There is also no dispute that the Con pany was liable to pay Wealth Tax in respect of th year under consideration and this Wealth Tax als must be treated as a prior charge, though Wealt Tax was never mentioned in the Full Bench formul The fact is that Wealth Tax did not come into exis ence at all at the time the formula was evolved. Bu this Wealth Tax, is compulsorily payable by th Company like Income-tax and so, the Wealth Ta also must be treated as one of the items of tax treated as prior charge by the Full Bench formul There is also no dispute with regard to the tot amount of paid up capital of the Company. Th Company has claimed 6 per cent. return of this pai up capital and it is not the contention of the worl men also that this claim of 6 per cent. return is u usual or unreasonable. Up to this extent, I acce the position of the parties so far the first three pric charges are concerned. But still with regard t income-tax, I am unable to accept the actual calcula tion of the Company even though the Union did no see any objection to it. I have already pointed ou that bonus paid has been treated as one of th items of revenue expenditure and was actuall charged to the revenue of the year. Accordingly, n Income-tax was payable or has been paid thereon So, for assessing Income-tax, that amount must no be taken into consideration. Furthermore, the Com pany seeks to deduct Rs. 14,32,393 on account o statutory depreciation including development rebat from the gross profits for assessing income-tax pay able [vide Ext. B(1)]. But I am afraid, the Compan has under-assessed the amount of statutory depreci tion-cum-development rebate. The Company has no filed any detailed calculation how this statuto depreciation has been actually calculated. But in thi connection, I may at once refer to Ext. F, th Income-tax assessment order. From that assessmen order, it will be sufficiently clear that the tota amount of statutory depreciation-cum-developmen rebate amounted to Rs. 17,43,700. So, this whol amount must be deducted from the gross profit before calculation of income-tax. It is more or les not in dispute that at the relevant time income-ta is payable at the rate of 513 per cent. roughly o the gross profits. In this view of the matter, th total notional income-tax payable for the year fo bonus purposes will amount to Rs. 13,65,033 beside Wealth Tax of Rs. 63,039.

Next, I shall discuss with regard to the two oth items of prior charges mentioned above.

Before I enter into a detailed discussion as to th validity of Company's claim of 4 per cent. return o reserves used as working capital, I must mention on of the objections raised in this connection by th

Company. From the Company's calculations of available surplus (vide Ext. B), read with Ext. B(3), it will be apparent that Company claims Rs. 3,15,348 as return on reserves used as working capital. From the Union's calculations, it appears that the Company's claim on this item should be Rs. 1.57 lakhs, calculating such return at 2 per cent. only on reserves. Thus, it will be at once clear that the Union likes to concede half of the Company's claim only, but this difference is not apparently due to any difference of opinion with regard to the total amount of reserves used as working capital. While Company claims 4 per cent. return, the Union concedes 2 per cent. only and accordingly tries to reduce the claim by half. From this aspect of the matter, the learned representative of the Company urges before me that the Tribunal has no jurisdiction to go into the details as to the amount of reserve used as working capital, because the Union does not in fact challenge the amount of reserve used as working capital. But, I am afraid, in applying the Full Bench formula, the Tribunal is not bound always by the admission of the Union, unless such admission is warranted by facts and the law on the point. I am afraid, the learned representative of the Union did not try to scrutinise or examine the detailed calculations of the amount of reserves said to have been used as working capital in the present case and tacitly assumed that the Company's figure of reserves used as working capital to be correct. But, to me, it appears that the reserve has not been properly calculated and consequently, the return also may not come up to the figure claimed by the Company, even if the return be calculated at 4 per cent. The Company shows its calculation of return on reserves in Ext. B(3) and has calculation of return on reserves used as working capital is one of the most knotty points in applying the Full Bench formula, I like to quote in extenso the Company's calculation in this respect and it is as follows:—

Total Reserves—
		Rs.		Rs.
Opening Balance as on 1-11-1956.		16,12,095
Closing Balance as on 31-10-1957.		27,16,134

From the Company's calculation of reserves and return thereon as calculated above, it will appear that it takes into account three different kinds of reserves said to have been used as working capital during the year. In doing so, the Company shows what was the position of any one of these reserves on the opening date of the business year and the closing date thereof. However, for calculating return on reserves, it takes the average of all these different figures and it is urged before me that the representative figure of reserves during the year should be taken as the average of the opening balance and the closing balance. In this connection, the learned representative for the Company places reliance on certain observations made by Shri S. T. Bilgrami, Judge, Industrial Tribunal, Maharastra, while deciding a case between the Associated Cement Co. Ltd., Bombay, the Cement Market Co. of India (Private) Ltd., Bombay, on one side and the workmen respectively employed under them on the other side as reported in Maharastra Government Gazette, dated August 24, 1961, page 1995 (2098). The observations run as follows:—

> "Exhibit C(62) shows the details of the reserves used working capital on which the Company claims 4 per cent. return. In column 2, are shown the amounts which were available at the end of the year and in column 1 the amounts which have been used since the beginning of the year. The total of the first column is Rs. 779.48 lakhs and the second column Rs. 1,021.68 lakhs. The Company has claimed 4 per cent. on the average which is shown in the last column at Rs. 900.58 lakhs. Shri Cooper has been examined on this point. * * * He says that in Ext. C(62) reserve for taxation at the beginning of the year as well as at the end of the same year shows for 1954-55 an average of Rs. 342.26 lakhs and page 2 of the same Ext. shows that the nett assets used in the business represented by the reserves were higher than the average reserves. From this, it is obvious that the reserve for taxation was used in the business throughout the year. He says that in all reserves additions are made at the end of the year. However, as the profits accrue from month to month, the average of the opening and closing balance in each reserve would give a representative figure of the average reserve available and used in the business. * * * In the previous reference also under these circumstances, return on working capital was allowed by Shri Naik and the Supreme Court has not disturbed his award on this point."

From this, it is sought to be argued that in assessing the amount of reserve used as working capital, the average of the opening and the closing balance of the reserve should be taken as the correct figure. But, with all respect to the learned Tribunal, I may point out that mere silence of the Hon'ble Supreme Court on any such point does not necessarily mean that the principle enunciated by Shri Naik was accepted as correct, though for the purpose of that case the decision might be said to have been final. The broad principle enunciated by their lordships in different cases is that the Company is entitled to some return on reserves actually used as working capital and the return should be commensurate with the period of its actual user. In one place the Supreme Court has itself observed that 'numerous decisions of this Court make it abundantly clear that any portion of the reserve actually utilised as working capital in the year under consideration should be treated as entitled to a reasonable rate of return.' This return is allowed on the ground that if these reserves are not used for this purpose, the concern would have to borrow money and pay interest on that. So, we must first understand what is meant by the word 'reserve' and why the return is actually allowed. The reserves which are carried over from year to year in law belong to the Company and therefore it is entitled to some return if such fluid money be used as working capital. The Company is entitled to deal with this money and the return thereon as it chooses, and neither the shareholders individually nor the employees can as of right claim any direct benefit accruing out of the employed capital. But no amount can be treated as reserve or reserve fund until it is set apart out of divisible profits and transferred to the liability's side of the balance-sheet by proper appropriation or charged to the revenue of the year. So, in this view of the matter, no amount can be treated as reserve until the amount is so transferred by appropriation to appropriate account. From the statement submitted by the Company, it appears that the amount of reserve was much lower at the commencement of the business year. At the close of the year, when profits of the year were assessed, some additional sum was set apart and added to the reserve existing from before. Thus, the additional sum shown as reserve by the end of the year had no occasion to be treated as reserve before the close of the year and it cannot be said that this reserve belonged to the Company entitling it to a return thereon. Profits may accrue day to day or month to month, but such profits cannot be at once treated as reserve belonging to the Company until the profits are assessed and reserves are created by proper appropriation. Nobody can say what amount of profit accrued on any date of the year until it was assessed. So, a hypothetical assumption that average of the closing and the opening balance will represent the correct amount of reserve during the year cannot be accepted as a correct proposition. In this view of the matter, I finally hold that there is no sufficient justification for taking average, as suggested by the learned representative for the Company. I think the opening balance of the year will correctly represent the reserves, if any, in the hand of the Company during the year under consideration. The balance-sheet shows that the total amount of reserves and surplus at the commencement of the business year was Rs. 16,12,095. Similarly, the page 17 of Ext. A will show that the Company had a sum of Rs. 34,62,244 in hand by way of provision for taxation and so this amount alone should be treated as a reserve for the purpose.

The next contention of the Company is that the Company had a depreciation fund or reserve of Rs. 7,30,755 at the commencement of the business year and a sum of Rs. 12,56,894 at the close of the year. For reasons already explained, I cannot take into consideration the closing figure of this depreciation reserve. The extra provision towards depreciation for the year under consideration has been made at the close of the year and it is not known whether this extra provision has been actually utilised for any part of the year or for what part of the year. Schedule E of the balance-sheet at page 18 of Ext. A will show that the depreciation provided for up to the commencement of the year under consideration amounted to Rs. 7,30,755. So, in assessing the total amount of reserves and depreciation fund, I take this amount only under consideration. Thus in short, it may be said that a sum of Rs. 58,05,094 was available as reserve for being utilised as working capital. Of course, it is for the Company to prove what portion if any, of this amount of reserve was actually utilised as working capital during the year.

Next, it is urged that the Company had in its hand on 1st November 1956 a sum of Rs. 8,37,500 as provision for dividend and this amount was actually disbursed to the share-holders on 3rd June 1957. Accordingly, it is urged that this undisbursed dividend in the hands of the Company should be treated as reserve for working capital. But, I may at once observe that any fluid money set apart for a particular purpose and disbursed also during the year is not really Company's money or reserve whereon return can be claimed by it. It is an accepted principle by now that unpaid dividends and the balance at the foot of the P.L. Account are not to be treated as reserves. So, in this view of the matter, the provision for dividend as unpaid dividend only cannot be treated as reserve. Before I close this point, I may also point out that in assessing the closing balance of total reserve as on 31st October 1957, the Company not only included the appropriation out of divisible profits of the year but also balance at credit of profit and loss account at the close of the business year in question. I have already said that the balance at the foot of the profit and loss account can never be treated as reserve. In this view of the matter also, the Company's assessment of total reserve as at the close of the year was not correct.

From what I have shown above, it would be clear that the total amount of reserves in the hand of the Company at the relevant time for working capital may amount to Rs. 58,05,094. Now I am to consider what portion, if any, of this amount was actually utilised by the Company as working capital during the year and if so used, during what part of the year. I have already mentioned that the Company is entitled to return on such reserve only as was used as working capital during the year under consideration. In this connection, I may at once refer to the balance-sheet, Ext. A. It will show that the paid up capital of the Company fell short of the fixed assets alone by about Rs. 17 lakhs. So, an amount more than the total "reserves and surplus" available at the commencement of the year was presumably locked up in the fixed assets alone. A sum of Rs. 24 lakhs and odd was in the hand of the Company in ready cash and bank balance at the close of the year. Besides above, the asset side of the balance-sheet will show that the Company invested about 19½ lakhs of rupees in different companies. Thus, more than the total amount of reserve was offset by cash, bank balance and investments. The Company is certainly not entitled to any return on the cash and bank balance in the hand of the Company. The current assets of the Company at the close of the year was roughly Rs. 779 lakhs. A sum of about Rs. 261 lakhs was due to the Company by way of loans and advances. As against this, a sum of Rs. 717 lakhs was due from the company as loans. Besides above, Rs. 306 lakhs or so was other current liabilities of the Company. Thus, the current assets of the Company were off-set by loans and current liabilities of the Company more or less. So in this view of the matter, not more than Rs. 1 lakhs coming out of Company's reserves could b ually utilised as working capital by the Company. mpany's only evidence in this connection is as lows:—

"Annexure C shows the amount of reserves and provisions used as working capital and the figures therein are correct to the best of my knowledge. Schedule B at page 16 of the balance-sheet will show the amount of reserves and surplus ultimately carried to the liabilities side of the balance-sheet. The entire reserves and surplus was used as working capital during the year. It is certain that reserves, surplus and provisions that stood in the beginning of the year were utilised by the Company as working capital throughout the entire year. * * * *" (vide O.P.W. 1 Shri M. D. Dhume).

ius, from the deposition of the above witness, ther the only witness for the Company in this conion, it simply appears as if the whole of the nount of reserves was used as working capital. at I have already pointed out that a portion of the serves was presumably locked up in the fixed sets and thus it was not available for being used working capital. There is no evidence to show at some portion of borrowed money was used for quiring fixed assets. The current liabilities were most counter-balance by current assets. Yet it ust be conceded that some portion of the investent must have come out of the reserves available. he profit from dividends received by the Company om the invested amount has been treated as business rofit of the year. So, the amount of reserves, if y, invested by the Company must also be treated working capital and accordingly, the Company n legitimately claims reasonable return on this rtion of the reserve. The parties of-course differ to the rate of return allowable on such reserves ed as working capital. Company has claimed 4 r cent. return thereon. The Union contends that rate of return should not exceed 2 per cent. But nay at once observe that 4 per cent. return on such serves is not an unreasonable claim. The Union e not been able to show any extra reason, why ulv low return should be allowed on this part of reserves. So, considering all the circumstances, ink the Company should be allowed 4 per cent. arn on that portion of the reserves which was d as working capital during the year. I may also ntion in this connection that this portion of the erves was used as working capital throughout the ar. The following calculations will show the iount of reserves used as working capital and also e return available thereon.

The last but not the least disputed item of prior charge is the claim of rehabilitation charges. The Company claims a sum of Rs. 6,71,901 on this item. The Union contends that in the earlier calculation filed by the Company, no amount whatsoever was claimed on this item, and so, nothing should be allowed as rehabilitation charges. I may, however, observe at once that the Company cannot be deprived of this item of claim simply on the ground that no such claims was advanced in the earlier calculation filed. The claim must be judged by its intrinsic merit. The Ext. B(7) of the Company shows how this rehabilitation charges have been calculated. The Company of course has not made any attempt to state what should be the multipliers in respect of different blocks of plants and machineries of different years. It has somehow calculated replacement cost said to have been based on some quotations received from different manufacturers and dealers. The Company, however, takes the total useful life of plant and machineries to be 10 years only. The only witness examined by the Company in this connection is O.P.W. 2 Shri V. V. Bate, a Mechanical Engineer lately employed by the Company as the Assistant Purchase Officer of the Mechanical Department. The evidence is that he has supplied the replacement cost after taking into consideration the Company's subsequent purchases, current quotations and his knowledge about the price trend of the plants and machineries in the market. He alleges that the Company has to replace its machineries every 10 years on average. In short, this is the only evidence available on the Company's side. As against this, the Union has not been able to adduce any evidence whatsoever on this point. The cross-examination of the engineer-witness of the Company by the workmen is also not very happy or sufficient. So, I must scrutinise the evidence of the Company with great caution. The only witness examined by the Company happens to be an employee of the Company itself and so, it will not be very safe to accept his statement without proper scrutiny. Ext. B(5) and Ext. B(6), read with Ext. E series, show that the Company made certain purchases and got quotations in respect of certain items of machineries. The learned representative for the Company urges that the Company has shown the price trend of representative items of plants and machineries and from those quotations and statements, the price trend can be easily gauged and replacement costs also calculated. But from a scrutiny of the papers filed by the Company, it appears that the quotations and purchases made by the Company do not really show helpfully what should be the proper multiplier in all cases. For instance, the automatic compressor which was purchased by the Company in the middle of 1949 for about Rs. 1,800 is intended to be replaced by a compressor worth about Rs. 17,600. Similarly, the churchhill grinder having an original cost of Rs. 21,000 roughly in 1950, is sought to be replaced by a grinder worth about Rs. 1,18,000. Similarly, a scrutiny of Ext. B(5) will also show that the trend of replacement cost in different years is shown to be rather arbitrary. In many cases, the replacement cost appear to be several times of the original costs. This shows that the machinery which is intended to replace the old machinery, cannot be a replica of the old machinery. The cost of new machinery may really include not only the cost of replacement but also cost of partial expansion. I have reasons to believe that in many cases the later additions of costly machines were rather improved varieties with better efficiency and productivity. So, in assessing the multiplier, these factors must be taken into consideration. A scrutiny of Ext. B(7) also will bear me out in this connection. According to the Company, 1947-48 block shows roughly a multiplier of 3 and 1948-49 block roughly a multiplier of 2 only. 1949-50 block, 1953-54 block and 1954-55 block tend to show a multiplier of about 4. This shows that the price trend was rather arbitrary. This arbitrariness, I am afraid, was really due to an element of expansion also and not simply replacement. Thus, from the statements and the quotations relied on by the Company, no proper multiplier can be straightaway determined. But after carefully considering all the materials on the record and also other facts and circumstances, my considered opinion is that the multiplier for the years 1947-48 to 1949-50 should be assessed at 2 only and the multipliers for blocks from 1950-51 to 1953-54 at 1.5 only. For the rest of the period, the multiplier should be unit.

The next question is what should be the diviser. According to the Company, as I have already said, the total useful life of plants and machineries should be assessed at 10 years only. O.P.W. 2 Shri Patel swears that the normal useful life of new machines the Company is using will be 10 years. The Company is admittedly working in two shifts. It is stated that for the manufacture of jeep components, the Company is to maintain specific tolerence on dimensions of the components. The old machines will not keep this specific tolerence. It is further added that for the manufacture of jeeps, the Company is to undertake mostly precision jobs. As against this, P.W. 1 Shri Phani Bagchi, states as follows:—

> "I worked for 20 years in different Companies. I served in Textile Machinery Corporation, Jai Enginering Works, Machinery Manufacturers Corporation and so on. I had occasions to see as also carry on operations on many a machine of the nature mentioned in the list submitted by the Company. From my personal and practical experience and also my study of machines abroad, no machines should have useful life less than 20 years in a concern like the present Company. Machines like 'Cincinate-British Built No. 2', Universal Cutters' and tool grinders as at page 21 of Ext. B(7) are also there in Texmaco and there they are still in use, although their life is already 15 years. Similarly, some other machines of the list supplied by the Company are being used by other concerns for more than 15 years and this is to my knowledge."

Shri Patel in his cross-examination admits that there are papers to show when a particular machine was actually replaced or rejected by the Company. The Company was started in 1945 or so and the first acquisition of machines was in 1948 or 1949. The witness adds that he is quite sure that no machine acquired in that year is still in use. He, however, admits that some times machines which have outlived their useful life are kept apart as stand-by machines and are utilised in case of emergency. He further adds that after 10 years' use, the machin certainly fetch more than scrap value or bre value. Second-hand general purpose machines be sold to other Companies which do not carr precision jobs. Thus, from these admissions al Shri Patel, it appears that the total utility of machineries is not exhausted after 10 years' So, it is not at all improbable that such mach have useful life of more than 10 years. Of-co it may be argued that in an automobile indu majority of the machines are to carry on prec jobs and as such, machines which may be other useful to companies not carrying on precision may not be found useful for precision jobs carrie by automobile industry. But it is also a fact tha the machines are not supposed to carry on prec jobs. So, after careful consideration of both pa evidence, I think for an automobile industry like present concern, the average useful life of machine should be assessed at 15 years at least and reha tation charges should be calculated on this basis

Next question is what should be the residual v of the machineries after their utility or useful has been spent up. Usually, 5 per cent. of the orig cost is treated as the break-up value or scrap v of the machineries. It may be argued on behalf of Union that in an industry of precision job automobile industry, the machineries are required be discarded before they reach the scrap val In this view of the matter, it may be urged, perhaps with some justification, that the resid value of the rejected machineries should be w at a rate higher than 5 per cent. I may add in t connection that in a recent award on bonus in resp of Hindusthan Motors Ltd., I assessed the us life of the machineries at 12 years, but assessed residual value at 10 per cent. of the cost. In present case, I am afraid, for manufacture of au mobiles like jeeps and trailors, the jobs need not so precise in the case of passenger cars manuf tured by Hindusthan Motors Ltd. In this view the matter, I have actually assessed above the use life of the machineries of the present concern at years and in consonance therewith, I assess t break-up value in the present case at 5 per cent. the cost only for the purpose of this case. T following statement will show what will be t annual requirement for replacement of t machineries of the present concern.

In this connection I may mention that the Com pany has not adduced any evidence or furnished a sufficient materials for calculation of rehabilitatio charges of the buildings and other fixed assets. has claimed rehabilitation charges in respect of plan and machineries for jeep manufacturing divisio only. In Ext. B/7, the Company has asses according to its own idea annual requirement rehabilitation charges and after deducting therefr the provision for depreciation the balance has b claimed as a prior charge for rehabilitation. So, following statement really relates to plant a machineries only in respect of jeep manufacturi division. Other items of fixed assets have not be taken into consideration for the purpose.

From the calculation of annual requirements for rehabilitation purposes it will appear that for plant and machineries, the Company requires roughly a sum of Rs. 3.32 lacs. The reserves and depreciation fund available at the commencement of the year were utilised as working capital or fixed capital and no part thereof was available during the year for rehabilitation purposes. But at the close of the year the Company has provided a sum of Rs. 5.42 lacs out of its annual profit or revenue towards depreciation (vide P. L. Account of the year). Thus the annual requirement as assessed above for rehabilitation purposes is smaller than the provision already made out of profits of the year for rehabilitation purposes. So, I allow no extra amount as rehabilitation charges out of the gross profits of the year. The notional normal depreciation deducted as prior charge is also sufficient to meet the rehabilitation requirements. So, the final calculation of available surplus is given below:—

Final Calculation of available surplus.

	Rs.
Profit as per P. L. Account	22,16,539
Add—
Provisions for taxation	15,50,000
Depreciation	5,42,438
Expenses for previous years	1,93,319
Less—
Receipts for previous years	1,45,865
Less—
Extraneous Income from surplus parts ..	4,00,000
Gross Profits ..	39,94,251
Less prior charges—
Notional normal depreciation	5,45,196
Income Tax	13,65,033
Wealth Tax	63,039
Return on paid up capital	4,80,000
Return on working capital	67,273
Rehabilitation charges	Nil.
Available Surplus ..	14,73,710

From the above calculation it will appear that abo 14.74 lakhs of rupees remains as available surplu But it must be clearly remembered that the Cor pany has already paid a sum of Rs. 11.50 lakhs bonus. In appropriating the available surplus a determining the quantum of bonus admissible, must be clearly remembered that there are thr parties who are entitled to claim a share in t available surplus. Their Lordships of the Supren Court in the case of the Associated Cemer Companies observe as follows:—

> "Once the amount of rehabilitation is thu determined the available surplus for the bonu year is ascertained and the final stage is reache when the Tribunal has to give direction for th distribution of the said available surplus. It i not seriously disputed that 3 parties are entitlec to claim a share in this available surplus; labour claims bonus from it, the industry claims a share for the purpose of its expansion and other needs, and shareholders claim a share by way of additional return on the capital invested by them."

It must be presumed that the sum of Rs. 11.50 lakhs already distributed as bonus, must have come out of available surplus after meeting all the prior charges and revenue expenditure of the Company. Though the labour has been given a share of the surplus by way of bonus, the share of the Company and the shareholders in respect of the amount already distributed as bonus, has not yet been made out of the available surplus. One can legitimately ask for a similar or proper amount to be set apart out of available surplus for the Company and the shareholders. So, if out of Rs. 14.74 lakhs, a sum equal to Rs. 11.50 lakhs at least be set apart for the Company and the shareholders, the net surplus for additional bonus will be in the neighbourhood of Rs. 3.21 lakhs. So, question will arise whether an additional bonus should be granted out of this residue available surplus to the workers as claimed in the present case. From the report of the Directors in Ext. A it appears that the Company has a big expansion programme. So, a reasonable amount should be set apart for the Company and the shareholders out of the available surplus. It may also be mentioned in this connection that as a jeep manufacturing concern in India protected by tariff wall, the present Company has no competitor as yet in the field and the Central and the State Governments are the biggest buyers of the jeep and trailors manufactured by the Company. In fact, this is the reason why this automobile concern could earn a reasonable profit almost from the very inception of its manufacturing business. But this monopoly position may not persist for all time to come, and the Company should have consideration for consumers as well. So, it is not unreasonable to expect that the Company should provide for lean years also, if any, in future. It is not in dispute that the Company paid bonus equal to two months' wages during the years from 1950 to 1953 and three months' wages from 1954 to 1960. In the year under consideration, the Company was not required to pay any income tax in respect of the bonus already paid. From the deposition of Shri M. D. Dhume (O.P.W. 1), it appears that the total amount payable to all the employees per month in the year 1956-57 was about 3.2 lakhs. So, if the workmen be allowed one month's additional bonus, it will apparently consume the whole of the residue available surplus. But the Company will be entitled to refund of income tax of half of this amount on account of this additional payment of bonus. From the Directors' report it appears that the Company has declared 17½ per cent. as dividend on the ordinary shares for the year under consideration. I think, the shareholders have already got enough of return for the money invested by them in the Company. So, the income tax rebate allowable for bonus payment will be sufficient for Company's share of the residue available surplus. Thus considering all facts and circumstances, I think, the workers can claim additional bonus roughly equivalent to one month's consolidated wages for the year under consideration. It may be mentioned in this connection that ordinarily bonus should be paid on the basis of basic wages where dearness allowances are separable from the wages. But in the present Company, most of the employees do get consolidated wages, and dearness allowance is not separately mentioned. In these circumstances, I have no alternative but to direct that additional bonus should be paid on the basis of consolidated wages of the workers. So I finally direct that the workers be paid additional bonus equal to 1/12th of the consolidated wages earned by the workmen during the year under consideration. This additional bonus be paid within one month of the publication of the award.

This is my award.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF POLICE, CALCUTTA

NOTIFICATIONS

Dated the 7th December 1962

Whereas it is necessary in the interest of public safety and convenience and because of the nature of the road, to restrict the movement of all types of vehicles on Rani Rashmoni Avenue, the portion between tram tracks and gyratory island, due to the proposed repairs of the damaged culverts on Rani Rashmoni Avenue, I, the undersigned, by virtue of powers vested in me under sections 74 and 75 of the Indian Motor Vehicles Act (Act IV of 1939), read with the Government of West Bengal, Home (Transport) Department order No. 2383/WT, dated the 9th April 1957, order that the vehicles specified in column I shall be prohibited to use the road as specified in column II below.

This order will come into force with immediate effect and will remain in force until further orders.

Column I	Column II
All types of motor vehicles.	Rani Rashmoni Avenue, the portion between tram tracks and gyratory island on all days and at all hours.

S. M. GHOSH, Commissioner of Police.

Dated the 7th December 1962

In accordance with section 71(2) of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939 (Act IV of 1939), and in exercise of the powers delegated to me under Government order No. 260(27)Pl., dated the 8th February 1940, and as I am satisfied that it is necessary to restrict the speed of motor vehicles, in the interest of public safety, I hereby order that the maximum speed limit of the undermentioned motor vehicles along Middleton Row, Calcutta-16, shall be as noted against each.

Class of vehicles	Maximum speed per hour miles. Miles.
Motor cycle, motor car, motor cab.	10
Delivery Vans	10

S. M. GHOSH, Commissioner of Police.

Dated the 4th December 1962

Whereas I am satisfied that the northern portion of Canning Street towards west from its junction with New Howrah Bridge Approach Road up to three yards west of the entrance Gate of Jewish Synagogue at 109 Canning Street should be made a "No Parking Zone" in the interest of public safety and convenience, I, the undersigned, by virtue of powers vested in me under sections 74 and 75 of the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1939 (Act IV of 1939), read with Government of West Bengal, Home (Transport) Department order No. 2383/WT, dated the 9th April 1957, order that the aforesaid northern portion of the road be declared as "No Parking Zone".

S. M. GHOSH, Commissioner of Police.

Dated the 1st December 1962.

Whereas I am satisfied that it is necessary in the interest of public safety and convenience and because of the nature of the road, to restrict the movements of all types of goods vehicles on the portion of Ballav Das Street from its junction with Madan Mohan Burman Street up to its junction with Munshi Saddaruddin Lane, I, the undersigned, by virtue of powers vested in me under sections 74 and 75 of the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1939 (Act IV of 1939), read with the Government of West Bengal, Home (Transport) Department order No. 2383/WT, dated the 9th April 1957, order that the motor vehicles as specified below in column A shall be prohibited to use the portion of the road as specified below in column B.

Column A

Goods vehicles, empty or loaded, with or without trailer.

Column B

Portion of Ballav Das Street from its junction with Madan Mohan Burman Street up to its junction with Munshi Saddaruddin Lane on all days and at all hours.

S. M. GHOSH, Commissioner of Police.

Dated the 1st December 1962.

Whereas it is considered necessary in the interest of public safety and convenience and because of the narrowness of the road, to revise the system of parking of motor vehicles on the portion of the road specified below, due to frequent traffic obstruction and congestion which very often causes difficulties in the smooth circulation of traffic, I, the undersigned, by virtue of powers vested in me under sections 75 and 76 of the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1939 (Act IV of 1939), read with the Government of West Bengal, Home (Transport) Department order No. 2383 WT, dated the 9th April 1957, in supersession of my previous order, dated the 11th September 1961, order that all types of motor vehicles shall park or shall not park on the portion of the road as mentioned below in column A in the manner as described below in column B.

Column A

Ramesh Mitter Road from Ashutosh Mukherjee Road up to Lansdowne Road.

Column B

NOTIFICATIONS

No. 6514-WT. —16th October 1962.— Whereas the Calcutta Hackney-carriage Act, 1919 (Bengal Act I of 1919), has been extended to the old Malda Municipality, in the district of Malda, under clause (a) of section 2 of the said Act;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by sub-section (1) of section 84 of the Calcutta Hackney-carriage Act, 1919 (Bengal Act I of 1919), the Governor is pleased hereby to appoint the Commissioners of the Old Malda Municipality, in the district of Malda, to exercise and perform within the said Municipality the same powers and duties as are conferred and imposed by the said Act on the Corporation of Calcutta and the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.

No. 6513-WT. —16th October 1962.—In exercise of the power conferred by sub-section (1) of section 7 of the Calcutta Hackney-carriage Act, 1919 (Bengal Act I of 1919), the Governor is pleased hereby to make the following by-laws for the Old Malda Municipality (hereinafter referred to as the said Municipality), in the district of Malda, namely:—

By-laws.

1. Definitions.—In these by-laws, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "Commissioner" means a Commissioner of the said Municipality.

2. Nothing in these by-laws shall apply to a rickshaw other than a cycle-rickshaw as defined in section 4(8) of the Act.

3. Appointment and duties of the Registering Officer.—Every rickshaw in the said Municipality shall be annually registered on such date as the Commissioners may direct, by a Registering Officer specially appointed for the purpose by the State Government by a notification in the Official Gazette. The Registering Officer shall keep the registers in accordance with the provisions of the Act and shall enter therein the particulars specified in these by-laws.

4. Qualifications and conditions for issue of bearer's license.—Every person applying for a rickshaw bearer's license shall be required to satisfy the Registering Officer—

(a) that he knows how to drive and control a rickshaw;

(b) that he is well acquainted with the principal streets, offices and places in and around the said Municipality;

(c) that he has a thorough knowledge of the tables of fares and distances prepared by the Commissioners in this behalf;

(d) that he knows the rules of the road and the conventional signals used by the bearers and drivers of vehicles and by the traffic police;

(e) that he is between 18 and 45 years of age on the date of the application for issue of the bearer's license; and

(f) that he is both physically and in all other respects a fit person for such employment.

5. Contents of license.—There shall be affixed to each license issued to the bearer of a rickshaw—

(a) the thumb mark or the signature of the bearer;

(b) a half-post card size photograph of the bearer to be supplied by him; and

(c) a printed table of fares and distances prepared by the Commissioners, for which no charge shall have to be paid by the bearer.

6. Production of License, etc.—Every bearer of a rickshaw shall carry with him his license and shall produce it whenever called upon to do so by any Policeman on duty, any Commissioner or any other person authorised by the Commissioners in this behalf.

7. Condition of rickshaws.—(1) The body of the rickshaw shall be kept sound and clean and all the boards shall be strong and properly secured;

(2) The wheels shall be fitted with pneumatic tyres, and shall be strong and sound so as to run smoothly, without rattling or shaking and shall be protected by properly fitted splash boards;

(3) The springs and axles shall be of good metal, strong and properly rivetted and free from rust.

(4) The iron support at the back which shall be of good metal, strong and free from rust shall be properly curved and securely fixed on each side.

(5) The hood, apron and cushions shall be made of, and covered with good cloth, canvas or other material approved of by the Commissioners at a meeting.

(6) The shafts shall be of strong wood, securely fixed, furnished at the fore end with a ring-shaped metal support and connected by a collision guard.

(7) The hood and apron shall be so fitted as to make the vehicle water-tight.

(8) Every rickshaw shall have two good lamps—one facing the front and the other the rear.

(9) The lamp facing the rear shall have a red glass-cover and shall be so placed that the light through the cover be visible from a point ten metres in the rear of the centre of the vehicle.

(10) Each arm of the rickshaw shall be so constructed as to serve as a support to the passenger.

(11) Every rickshaw shall have a bell or a horn, as may be approved of by the Commissioners, affixed to the handle bars or cross bars on the cycle in such a way that it can be operated by fingers and give continuous ringing as and when necessary.

8. Dimensions and pattern of Rickshaws.—Every rickshaw shall conform to the following dimensions and be of such pattern as may be specified by the Commissioners at a meeting:—

Length of the seats	...	700 millimetres.
Width of the seats	...	400 millimetres.
Height of the seats	..	425 millimetres.
Height of the cushion	...	100 millimetres.
Height of the hood from above the cushion	...	925 millimetres.

9. Fees.—Fees in respect of the items mentioned in column I of the table below shall be paid at the office of the Commissioners at the rates prescribed in the corresponding entries in column II of the said table:—

Column I. (Items.)		Column II. (Scale of fees.) Rs. nP.

		For whole day which shall not exceed a period of nine hours.	5·00
		Halting charges for every half hour.	0·30

11. Speed and halting charges of rickshaws.—When a rickshaw is hired, the bearer shall ordinarily drive the same at a speed of not less than thirteen kilometres per hour. If a rickshaw after being hired is made to halt, halting charge shall be paid according to the scale laid down in the fare table in by-law 10.

12. Passengers are to pay other charges.—Passengers are to pay the ferry and other similar charges over and above the rates payable to the bearers of rickshaws.

13. Prohibition of smoking, etc.—While driving, the bearer of a rickshaw shall not smoke or muffle up his face in such a manner as to endanger the proper driving of his vehicle.

14. Maximum load to be carried in rickshaw.—The total weight of the passengers and the luggage, if any, carried in a rickshaw shall not exceed 150 kilograms.

15. Advertisement on rickshaws.—No advertisement shall be displayed on the body of a rickshaw without the previous permission of the Commissioners and when such permission is obtained, it shall be displayed in such a manner as not to cover either wholly or partly the number plate and the fare table affixed to the rickshaw.

16. Rickshaws to wait at stand.—Every rickshaw while at rest, shall be parked at a stand fixed by the Commissioners for such purpose.

17. Power of entry.—It shall be lawful for a Commissioner or any other person authorised in this behalf by the Chairman or the Commissioners, at any time between sun-rise and sun-set, to enter any premises in which any licensed rickshaw or any other thing used therewith are kept, in order to carry out any of the provisions of the Act or of these by-laws, and the owner or occupier of the premises or his agent, as the case may be, shall afford every reasonable facility to such Commissioner or person for such inspection.

18. Tables of fares and distance.—The Commissioners shall cause to be prepared and kept, printed copies of the table of fares and distances for sale to the public, at a price fixed by the Commissioners.

19. Refusal to ply.—No bearer of a rickshaw shall, except on reasonable grounds, refuse to ply the rickshaw on hire.

20. Particulars of registers.—The registers and licenses maintained and issued under the Act shall contain the following particulars, namely:—

Public Health

NOTIFICATION

No. P.H./1081/2R-4/60.—22nd February 1962.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 311 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932 (Bengal Act XV of 1932), and in supersession of all previous rules on the subject in so far as the same relates to the Baranagore Municipality, the Governor is pleased to make, after previous publication as required by sub-section (1) of section 505 of the said Act, the following rules for the regulation of the supply of filtered water to private premises for domestic purposes in the said municipality of Baranagore in the district of 24-Parganas, namely:—

Rules

So long as the Commissioners deem it practicable and consistent with the maintenance of an efficient water supply, they may grant to any owner or occupier of a holding paying a water-rate imposed under the provisions of Chapter V of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932, on the annual value of such holding, when such annual value is not less than Rs. 100, a connecting pipe from the service-pipes of the Commissioners for the purpose of leading water to such holding for domestic purposes only.

Sanction for all connections which have not been taken in hand within three months of sanction shall be considered as automatically revoked and fresh sanction must be obtained before the connection is made.

1. The owner or occupier of any holding requiring water to be laid on to such holding for domestic purposes shall apply to the Commissioners for the same on the printed Form A to be supplied free of cost at the municipal office. The conditions subject to which a house-connection will be given are set out in the form, and the owner or occupier shall sign the statement undertaking to observe the rules before a house-connection will be given.

2. A fee shall be paid at the rates mentioned hereunder, to the Commissioners by such owner or occupier for each connection to municipal main supply before any work is commenced, such fee to be in addition to all the other costs and charges imposed under these rules:

For holding with annual valuation up to Rs. 2[illegible] —Rs. 150.

For holding with annual valuation above Rs. 2[illegible] —Rs. 200.

In the case of an application for a connection to holding adjoining a road in which there is no municipal main, the applicant will have to bear the extra cost of providing and laying a service pipe from the nearest municipal main to the boundary of his holding minus such expenses as the Commissioners would normally incur to provide and fix the ferrule in the municipal main and connect the service pipe to it as well as for providing and fixing the stop-cock complete with chamber and the requisite check-pipes. All such service pipes as are laid at the expenses of the applicant shall be vested in the Commissioners from the date on which the connection to the holding is completed.

If the applicant is not willing to incur such expenditure, it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to refuse his application until such time as the number of applications for house-connections to holdings in that road is sufficient to justify the laying of a branch main therein at the expense of the Commissioners, on which point the decision of the Commissioners shall be final.

3. Each holding shall have a separate connection to the municipal main supply-pipe. On application, a holding consisting of two or more houses (excluding out-house) in one compound, may at the discretion of the Commissioners, be split into parts and each part connected separately to the municipal supply pipe, provided that the sum total of the daily supply in all such parts shall not exceed the quantity of water admissible to the holding under rule 10. All such conections shall, for the purpose of rule 2, be treated as separate connections. Extension from the communication-pipe of one holding to another holding shall not be permitted and combination of holdings for the purpose of these rules shall not be allowed.

4. The connection shall consist of two portions—

(a) the service pipe from the street main to the boundary of holding, including ferrule, stop-cock and check-pipes;

(b) the storage tank (or tanks) with service-pipe connecting to it from the boundary of the holding, also outlet pipes, taps and other accessories as required.

5. The items referred to in clause (a) of rule 4 shall be provided and fixed by and at the expense of the Commissioners, and such pipes and fittings shall remain as their property.

6. The items referred to in clause (b) of rule 4 shall be provided and fixed at the expense of the owner or occupier and shall be maintained by him in good wroking order. The tank is to be suitably covered and protected and is to be provided with a locked lid, ball-valve, stop-valve and overflow pipe. The inlet and outlet pipes shall be so laid that they will be protected from the head of the sun.

7. The owner or occupier shall not permit the rvice-pipe including the items referred to in clauses) and (b) of rule 4 or any part thereof, to be altered, moved or interfered with by any person other an an authorised representative of the Commis-oners, who shall be empowered by the Commis-oners to alter or adjust the service pipe as may om time to time be necessary for the maintenance the requisite flow of water. No tapping or anching off of the service pipe shall be allowed cept at a level approximately the same as that of the ll-valve.

8. The tank referred to in clause (b) of rule 4 shall durable and water tight and the cover, overflow-pe and other accessories shall be so constructed at mosquitoes cannot enter the tank. The ball-lve and the other fittings shall be exact duplicate standard samples kept in the office of the ranagore-Kamarhati Joint Water-Supply Com-ittee and approved by them at a meeting. The orage tank or tanks shall be cleaned and sterilized arterly by the staff of the Commissioners under e supervision of one of their officers and the said ficer shall have the power of locking up tank or nks if he thinks so desirable.

9. Every storage tank shall be fitted with an over-w-pipe, the end of which shall project over the wall the house and shall be placed in a conspicuous sition. Discharge of water from the overflow-pipe eans that the ball-valve is failing to function, and e owner or occupier shall notify the Water Works ficers every time he finds such discharge occurring, d such officers shall, if necessary, rectify the defect ith the help of the staff of and with materials longing to the Commissioners.

10. Every owner or occupier of any holding, in spect of which a connection has been made under ese rules, shall be entitled to supply of water cor-sponding to the annual valuation of such holding cording to the following table:—

nual valuation the holdings.		Gallons of water per day to which entitled.
From Rs.	To Rs.	Holding with service privies.	Holding with water closets.

201	1,400	350	460
401	1,500

For holding with annual valuation above Rs. 1,500 the daily quantity of water (in gallons) will be calculated as follows:—

Holdings with service-pipes—The annual valuation divided by 4.

Holdings with water-closets—The annual valuation divided by 3.

11. If additional water is required over and above the supply of water referred to rule 10, requisition shall be made for the same to the Commissioners in Form C. The requisition shall be for a period of not less than one year, and payment shall be made in advance for the whole year at the rate of one pie per 10 gallons of additional water requisitioned.

When the above conditions have been complied with, the Commissioners shall have the house-connection adjusted so as to enable the additional water to be supplied, the adjustment of the connection and the payment being based on the particulars furnished by the applicant in Form C.

12. In case the owner or occupier having house-connection requires for a special occasion or for any other purpose more water than the amount to which he is entitled according to rule 10 or rules 10 and 11 together as the case may be, or any person having no house-connection requires a temporary supply of water for a special occasion, he may apply to the Commissioners in Form B (obtainable at the municipal office free of charge) for a temporary connection. He shall pay in advance the sum of Rs. 10 per tank, and also shall pay in advance for every week or part of a week during which he retains the temporary connection the following charges:—

	Per day. Rs.	as.
(a) For a supply of 200 gallons per day ...	0	8
(b) For a supply of 300 gallons per day ...	0	12
(c) For a supply of 450 gallons per day . .	1	0
(d) For a supply of 600 gallons per day ...	1	4
(e) For a supply of 750 gallons per day ...	1	8
(f) For a supply of 900 gallons per day ...	1	12
(g) For a supply of 1,100 gallons per day ...	2	0

He shall state in his application the number of days for which the connection is required.

13. On receipt of the application together with the fees as provided in rule 12, the Commissioners shall forthwith instal within the compound and at a level of two feet above ground a storage tank (or tanks), of 300 gallons capacity with ball-value and two taps fixed to each tank. They shall connect the same to the street main by a service pipe or pipes, check pipe or pipes and do all other work necessary to commence and maintain the supply.

The Commissioners shall keep in stock a number of tanks, with pipes, fittings, etc., for the above purpose.

14. The payment referred to in rule 12 shall be made once a week in advance. In case the owner or occupier fails to make the payment weekly, the Commissioners or their officers may at once stop the temporary supply of water by cutting off the temporary connection and remove the storage tank or tanks, temporary service-pipe, etc., fixed for such connection.

15. Two or more such temporary connections may be taken, if required, on payment of additional costs and weekly charges, as mentioned in rule 12.

16. The Commissioners may cut off the connection between any part of the Water Works and any holding to which water is supplied from such works, or may turn off such supply, in any of the following cases besides those referred to in sub-section (1) of section 309 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932, namely:—

(a) if the occupier fails to pay his water-rate;

(b) if the occupier in any way interfers with, damages or alters, the service-pipe; and

(c) if the occupier refuses to admit any officer duly empowered in that behalf into the holding for the purpose of making any examination or inspection of the service-pipe or storage tank, or prevents such officer from making such examination or inspection:

Provided that twenty-four hours' notice in writing of such examination or inspection may be demanded.

17. The works required under clause (b) of rule 4 shall be carried out by a person or firm employed by owner or occupier and approved by the Commissioners. For this purpose the Commissioners shall grant licenses to approved persons or firms, who should preferably have had previous experience in plumbling work.

18. No connection shall be permitted to any holding unless and until the owner or occupier makes effective provision to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for draining away all waste water.

19. The Commissioners will not be responsible for any interruption or diminution of water-supply due to occurrences beyond their control.

LABOUR DEPARTMENT

No. 5440-L.W./LW/1R-3/61.—28th August 1962.—The following draft of amendments which, in exercise of the powers conferred by section 112 and, in particular, by sections 6(1), 7, 8(1), 9, 10(4), 11(1), 12(2), 15(1), 17(4), 18(4), 19(3), 20(2), 21(2), 22(1), 23(2), 29(2), 31(2), 34(2), 35, 36(6), 37(5), 38(1), 38(7), 42(2), 45(1), 45(4), 46, 47, 48(3), 53(2), 59(4), 59(5), 60, 61(8), 62(2), 72(3), 73(2), 76, 80, 83, 87, 88, 89(1), 107(1), 108(1), 109 and 110 of the Factories Act, 1948 (LXIII of 1948), the Governor proposes to make in the West Bengal Factories Rules, 1958, as subsequently amended (hereinafter referred to as the said Rules), is hereby published as required by section 115 of the said Act for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

2. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 1st of April 1963, and any objection or suggestion with respect thereto which may be received by the undersigned before that date will be considered.

Draft Amendments

In the said Rules—

1. In sub-rule (1) of rule 3 for the words "such construction, extension or use" substitute the words "the site and for the construction, extension or use".

2. In place of the proviso appearing after Schedule C to rule 5, insert the following:

"Provided that if the fee for renewal of licence is not deposited within the time specified in sub-rule (2) of rule 7, then notwithstanding any other action which may be taken, the amount of the fee payable for renewal of the license shall be 25 per cent. in excess of the amount which would otherwise be payable if the payment is made within three calendar months of the time specified and shall be 50 per cent. in excess of the amount which would otherwise be payable for further default beyond three calendar months; the Chief Inspector may, however, waive payment of excess fee if he is satisfied that there was sufficient reason for delay in payment:

Provided further that if part of the renewal fee is paid within the due date then the excess fee shall only be payable on the balance due".

3. After sub-rule (8) of rule 16 add the following sub-rule, namely:

"(9) If the examination of persons employed in processes covered by the rules relating to dangerous operations cannot be carried out at the factory owing to the special nature of any examination that may be necessary, the manager of the factory shall arrange to send such persons to such places as may be required by the Certifying Surgeon".

4. After rule 13, insert the following rule, namely:

"13A. Notice of change of Manager: The occupier of a factory shall send a duly signed Notice containing the following particulars as and when there is change of Manager in the factory:

(a) Name of the factory with licence number;

(b) Postal address of the factory;

(c) Name of the outgoing Manager;

(d) Name of the new Manager with postal address of his residence and telephone number, if any; and

(e) Date of appointment of new Manager."

5. After rule 50 insert the following rule, namely:

"50A. Precautions against electrical hazards: (1) In every factory all electric supply lines and apparatus shall be sufficient in size and power for the work they may be required to do, and shall be constructed, situated, protected, worked and maintained in such a manner as to cause no risk of bodily injury:

Provided that where automatic machanism is installed which renders 'dead' any electrical equipment on the occurrence of danger, such mechanism shall be taken into account by the Inspector when considering the adequacy or otherwise of the protection furnished:

Provided further that in no case shall the Inspector accept as adequate any conditions or combination of conditions which are subject to objection under any other Act.

(2)(a) Every portable hand lamp must be equipped with an insulating handle and the bulb must be enclosed in a wire cage which must be insulated from the metal parts of the lamp border.

(b) No portable hand lamp of voltage exceeding twenty-four volts shall be permitted in any factory for use inside any chamber, tank, vat, pipe, flue or pit, other confined space.

(3) Wherever practicable, connection between the flexible cable of a portable apparatus and the supply line shall be made by a properly designed three pin plug and socket, so arranged that wrong insertion will not be possible.

(4) The type and the lay out of electrical apparatus to be used, and the method of electrical wiring, in any part of a factory in which any substance likely to induce ignitable or explosive mixture is used or stored, shall be subject to the approval of the Chief Inspector.

Explanation: 'Apparatus' includes all apparatus, machines and fittings in which conductors are used, or of which they form parts."

6. In clause (b) of sub-rule (2) of rule 55 for the words "shall be used, so however, that the foregoing" substitute the words "shall be used. The foregoing".

7. After sub-rule (8) of rule 55, insert the following sub-rules namely:—

"(9). Overhead Travelling cranes shall be provided with safe access by stairways or fixed ladders from the ground or floor to the crane cabs and from the crane cabs to the bridge footwalks.

(10) Where the regular footwalks or platforms provided on the bridges of overhead travelling cranes do not afford safe support for changing or repairing wheels of end-trucks, special platforms shall be provided for that purpose at both ends of each bay:

Provided that this provision shall apply to new factories and also to existing factories in respect of such overhead travelling cranes as are taken into use after this sub-rule comes into force.

Provided further that the Chief Inspector may exempt any factory in respect of any particular overhead travelling crane from the operation of any provision of this sub-rule subject to such condition as he may direct in writing".

For rule 56 substitute the following rule, namely:—

"56. Pressure plant: (1) Every plant or machinery other than the working cylinders of prime movers used in a factory, and operated at a pressure greater than atmospheric pressure, shall be—

(a) of good construction, sound material, adequate strength, and free from any patent defect;
(b) properly maintained in a safe condition;
(c) fitted with—

(i) a suitable safety valve or other effective device to ensure that the maximum permissible working pressure of the vessel shall not be exceeded;

(ii) a suitable pressure gauge easily visible and designed to show, at all times, the correct internal pressure in pounds per square inch, and marked with a prominent red mark at the safe working pressure of the vessel;

(iii) a suitable stop valve or valves by which the vessel may be insolated from other vessels or source of supply of pressure;

(iv) a suitable drain cock or valve at the lowest part of the vessel for the discharge of collected liquid:

Provided that it shall be sufficient for the purposes of clause (c) if the safety valve, pressure gauge and stop valve are mounted on a pipe line immediately adjacent to the vessels and where there is a range of two or more similar vessels in a plant served by the same pressure lead, only one set of such mountings need be fitted, provided they cannot be isolated;

(d) thoroughly examined by a competent person—

(i) externally, once in every period of six months, to ensure general condition of the vessel and the working of its fittings;

(ii) internally, once in every period of twelve months, to ensure condition of the walls, seams and ties, both inside and outside vessel, soundness of the parts of the vessel, and the effects of corrosion. If by reason of construction of the vessel, a thorough internal examination is not possible, this examination may be replaced by a hydraulic test which shall be carried out once in every two years provided that the vessels in continuous processes which cannot be frequently opened, the period of internal examination may be extended to four years;

(iii) hydraulically at intervals of not more than four years provided that in respect of pressure vessels with thin walls such as sizing cylinders made of copper or any other non-ferrous metal periodic hydraulic test may be dispensed with on the condition that the requirements laid down in sub-rule (2) are fulfilled.

(2)(a) In respect of pressure vessels of thin walls such as sizing cylinders made of copper or any other non-ferrous metal the safe working pressure shall be reduced at the rate of 5 per cent. of the original working pressure for every year of its use after the first five years and no such cylinder shall be continued to be used for more than twenty years after it was first taken into use.

(b) If no information as to the date of construction, thickness of walls and safe working pressure is available, the age of the sizing cylinder shall be determined by the competent person in consultation with the Chief Inspector from any other particulars available with the Manager.

(c) Every new and second hand cylinder of thin walls to which repairs which may affect its safety, have been carried out, shall be tested before use to at least one and half times its working pressure.

(3) Every vessel other than part of a prime mover operated at a pressure greater than atmospheric pressure, working pressure at the source of supply, or the maximum pressure which can be obtained in the pipe connecting the vessel with any other source of supply shall be fitted with a suitable reducing valve or other suitable automatic device to prevent the safe working pressure of the vessel being exceeded.

(4) In cases where owing to the nature of the process or the action of the contents of the vessels, a pressure gauge or safety valve or both cannot work reliably, a tested and reliable working thermometer with a sufficient large scale, on which shall be clearly marked the maximum permissible temperature in the vessel or pyrometers or rupture discs in addition to the pressure gauge and safety valve may be fitted as may be directed by the Chief Inspector.

(5) If during thorough examination, doubt arises as to the ability of a vessel to work safely until the next examination provided for in these rules then the competent person shall enter in his report in Form No. 9 a statement mentioning the reasons for authorising the vessel for further work subject to a lowering of pressure or to more frequent inspection or subject to both of these requirements.

(6) No vessel which has undergone alterations or repairs shall be taken into use unless it is thoroughly examined by a competent person.

(7) A report of the result of every examination made shall be completed in Form No. 9 and signed by the person making the examination and shall be kept available for perusal by an Inspector.

(8) No vessel which has previously been used elsewhere shall be taken into use in any factory for the first time in the factory until it has been examined and reported in accordance with these rules and no new vessel shall be taken into use unless a certificate specifying the maximum permissible working pressure thereof, and the nature of the tests to which the vessel and its fittings (if any) have been subjected has been obtained from the maker of the vessel, or from a competent person. The certificate shall be kept available for perusal by an Inspector, and the vessel shall be so marked as to enable it to be identified, to which the certificate relates.

(9) Where the report of any examination under this rule specified conditions for securing the safe working of a vessel, the vessel shall be so marked as to enable it to be identified, to which the certificate relates.

Where the report of any examination under this rule specifies conditions for securing the safe working of a vessel, the vessel shall not be used except in accordance with these conditions.

(10) The competent person making the report of any examination under this rule shall, within seven days of the completion of the examination, send to the Inspector a copy of the report in every case where the maximum permissible working pressure is reduced, or the examination shows that the part cannot continue to be used with safety unless certain repairs are carried out immediately or within a specified time.

(11) The requirements of this rule shall be in addition to and not in derogation of the requirement of any other Act, rules or regulations.

(12) Nothing in this rule shall apply to—

(a) Any plant which comes within the scope of the Indian Boilers Act, 1923; and

(b) Portable cylinders or vessels used for transport of gases.

Explanation: 'Vessel' means any closed vessel of any capacity but does not include feed pumps, steam traps, turbine casings, compressor cylinders, valves, air vessels on pumps, pipes, pipe coils of normal design, accessories of instruments and appliances such as cylinder and piston assemblies used for operating relays and interlocking type of guards, gas holders with working pressure only slightly over atmospheric pressure and of capacity less than 5,000 cubic ft., vessels with liquids subject to static head only and hydraulic operating cylinders other than any communicating with an air loaded accumulator."

9. After sub-rule (2) of rule 57 the following proviso shall be inserted, namely:

"Provided that in case of transport of round articles by rolling on the floor or transport of articles by means of hand operated wheeled vehicles, the maximum weights specified in the Schedule may be increased by fifty per cent. in each case for the purposes of sub-rules (1) and (2)."

10. In the marginal note of rule 61 for the figure "(1)" substitute the following rule, namely:

"62. Fire fighting apparatus and water supply: (1) In every factory there shall be provided and maintained—two fire buckets of not less than 2 gallon capacity for every 1,000 sq. ft. of floor area subject to a minimum of four buckets on each floor, and every such becket shall—

(i) conform to appropriate Indian Standards Specification;

(ii) be kept in a position approved by the Inspector and shall be used for no other purpose than fire extinguishing; and

(iii) at all times be kept full of water, except where the principle fire risk arises from inflamable liquid or other substances where water cannot be used, it shall be kept full of clean, fine dry sand, stone dust or other inert material:

Provided that where the Chief Inspector is of opinion that owing to other adequate fire fighting apparatus provided in the factory building or room, all or any of the provisions of this sub-rule may be relaxed, he may issue a certificate in writing (which he may at his discretion revoke) specifying the extent to which the above requirements are relaxed in respect of that building or room.

(2) In every factory adequate provision of water supply for fire fighting shall be made and where the amount of water required in gallons per minute, as calculated from the formula $A+B+C+D$ divided by 1,000, is 120 gallons or more, power driven trailer pumps of adequate capacity to meet the requirement of water as calculated above shall be provided and maintained.

In the above formula—

A = the total area in sq. ft. of all floors including galleries in all buildings of the factory;

B = the total area in sq. ft. of all floors and galleries including open spaces in which combustible materials are handled or stored;

C = the total area in sq. ft. of all floors over 50 feet above ground level; and

D = the total area in sq. ft. of all floors of all buildings other than those of fire resisting construction:

Provided that in areas where the fire risk involved does not require use of water, such areas under B, C, or D may, for the purpose of calculation, be halved:

Provided further that where the areas under B, C or D are protected by permanent automatic fire-fighting installations approved by fire association or fire insurance company, such areas may, for the purpose of calculation, be halved:

Provided also that where the factory is situated at not more than 2 miles from an established city or town fire service, the pumping capacity based on the amount of water arrived at by the above formula may be reduced by 25 per cent. but no account shall be taken of this reduction in calculating water supply required under sub-rule (7).

(3) Each trailer pump shall be provided with equipment as per Appendix A. Such equipment shall conform to Indian Standards Specifications wherever they exist.

(4) Five men (inclusive of Driver-operator) and one leader for each trailer pump adequately trained in fire fighting and in operation of trailer pumps shall be available during all times.

(5) Trailer pumps shall be housed in a separate shed/sheds which shall be sited close to principal source of water supplies in the vicinity of the main risks of the factory.

(6) In factories where the area is such as cannot be reached by men —hauling of trailer pumps within reasonable time, vehicles with towing attachment shall be provided at the scale of one for every four trailer pumps with a minimum of one such vehicle kept available at all times.

(7) Water supply shall be provided to give flow of water as required under sub-rule (2) for at least 100 minutes. At least 50 per cent of this water supply or 1 lakh gallons whichever is less, shall be in the form of static tanks of adequate capacities (not less than 10,000 gallons each) distributed round the factory. (Where piped supply is provided, the size of the mains shall not be less than 6" diameter and it shall be capable of supplying minimum of 1,000 gallons per minute at a pressure of not less than 10 lbs. per square inch.)

(8) Fire fighting drills and practices by fire crew shall be held at least once a week and shall closely approximate to actual conditions of fire fighting including use of equipment.

(9) (a) In factories having more than 1,000 sq. ft. floor area and where fire may occur due to combustible materials other than inflammable liquids, electrical equipment and ignitable metals, soda acid or equivalent type of portable extinguishers at the rate of one for every 5,000 sq. ft. of area spaced at not more than 100 ft. apart subject to a minimum of one extinguisher shall be provided in addition to fire buckets required under sub-rule (1).

(b) In factories where fires may occur due to inflammable liquids or grease or paint, the extinguishers to be provided at the scale laid down in clause (a) shall consist of foam, carbon tretrachloride, dry powder, carbondioxide, chlorobromomethane or other equivalent type.

(c) In factories where fires may occur due to electrical equipment, the extinguisher to be provided at the scale laid down in clause (a) shall consist of carbondioxide, dry powder, carbon tetrachloride or equivalent types.

(d) In factories where fire may occur due to magnesium, aluminium or zinc dust or shavings of other ignitable metals, the use of liquids, carbondioxide and foam type extinguishers shall be prohibited, and an ample supply of clean, fine, dry sand, stone dust or other inert material shall be kept ready for segregating such fires.

(e) Every type of portable fire extinguisher shall be kept mounted in a position approved by the Inspector:

Provided that where the Chief Inspector is of opinion that owing to other adequate fire fighting apparatus or permanent automatic fire fighting installations approved by any recognised fire association or fire insurance company provided in the factory building or room, all or any of the provisions of this sub-rule may be relaxed, he may issue a certificate in writing (which he may at his discretion, revoke) specifying the extent to which the above requirements are relaxed in respect of that building or room.

(10) (a) Every portable fire extinguisher to be provided under sub-rule (9) shall—

(i) conform to the appropriate Indian Standards Specification;

(ii) be kept charged ready for use, properly mounted in a position approved by the Inspector and accompanied by the maker's printed instructions for its use; and

(iii) be examined, tested or discharged periodically in accordance with the maker's recommendation.

(b) The manager of every factory shall keep and maintain sufficient number of spare charges for each type of extinguisher provided in the factory with a minimum of 12 spare charges always in stock and readily available.

(11) Every worker of the factory should as far as possible, be trained in the use of portable fire extinguishers, subject to a minimum of at least one-fourth of the number of workers engaged separately in each section of the factory.

(12) Each factory shall have a trained officer who shall be responsible for the proper maintenance and upkeep of all fire-fighting equipments.

(13) The manager shall prepare a detailed 'Fire Safety Plan' for proper enforcement of fire safety rules and for action to be taken, in proper sequence, in case of a fire in the factory."

12. (a) In rule 65, paragraph A, after item (x) add the following item, namely:—

"(xi) Aspirin 5 gr. tablets, ointment for burns, and suitable surgical antiseptic solution;"

(b) In paragraph B after item (xii) add the following item, namely:—

"(xiii) Aspirin 5 gr. tablets, ointment for burns, and suitable surgical antiseptic solution;"

(c) In paragraph C after item (xviii) insert the following item, namely:—

"(xix) Aspirin 5 gr. tablets, ointment for burns, and any suitable surgical antiseptic solution;"

13. In sub-rule (2) of rule 66 for the words beginning with "The ambulance room or dispensary shall" and ending with "and the room shall contain at least:" substitute the following, namely:

"The ambulance room or dispensary shall be separate from the rest of the factory and shall not be situated in close proximity to any part of the factory in which noisy processes are carried on. Plan and site plan, in duplicate, of the building to be constructed or adopted, as the ambulance room or dispensary, shall be submitted for the approval of the Chief Inspector.

The ambulance room shall have smooth, hard, impervious floor and walls imperivous up to a height of 5 ft. and shall be adequately ventilated and lighted by both natural and artificial means. It shall be used only for the purpose of first-aid treatment and rest.

Ambulance room constructed or taken into use after 1st ....., 1962 shall have a floor area of at least 300 sq. ft. and the height of every room in the building shall be not less than 12 ft. from the floor level to the lowest part of the roof, and there shall be attached at least one latrine and one urinal of sanitary type.

Suitable beds shall be provided for rest. An adequate supply of wholesome drinking water shall be laid on and the room shall contain at least:—".

14. For clause (b) substitute the following clause, namely:—

"(b)(i) The building shall accommodate at a time at least 10 per cent. of the workers working at a time:

Provided that, in any particular factory or in any particular class of factories, the Chief Inspector may, by an order in writing in this behalf, alter the percentage of workers to be accommodated;

(ii) The height of every room in the building shall be not less than 12 ft. from floor level to the lowest part of the room, and there shall be at least 10 sq. ft. of floor area for every worker to be accommodated as prescribed in clause (b)(i);"

15. (i) In rule 80 in the heading, after the words "cash equivalent" insert the words "overtime slips";

(ii) In the marginal note after the word and figure "Section 59" add the words and figure "and section 112";

(iii) After sub-rule (2) add the following sub-rule, namely:—

"(3) Period of overtime work shall be entered in overtime slips, in duplicate, a copy of which duly signed by the Manager or by a person duly authorised by him, shall be given to the workers immediately after completion of the overtime work.".

16. In rule 88, in the marginal note for the words "Rules 88 and 93" substitute the words "Rules 88 to 93";

17. (i) In rule 94 in sub-rule (1) in item (g) for the words "Generating petrol gas from petrol" substitute the words "Generation of Gas from dangerous petroleum";

(ii) After item (n) add the following items, namely:

"(o) Manufacture of compressed hydrogen or compressed oxygen.

(p) Manufacture of pottery.

(q) Manufacture of rayon by the viscose process.

(r) Manufacturing processes and processes incidental thereto carried out in chemical works mentioned in Appendix I of Schedule XVIII.".

18. For sub-paragraph (a) of paragraph 7 of Schedule II substitute the following sub-paragraph, namely:—

"(a) Every person employed shall be examined by the Certifying Surgeon once in every 14 days or at such other intervals as may be specified by the Chief Inspector, and such examination shall normally be made at the factory;".

19. For Schedule VII substitute the following Schedule, namely:—

"SCHEDULE VII

(Generation of gas from dangerous petroleum)

1. Definition: 'Dangerous petroleum' has the same meaning as in the Petroleum Act, 1934 (30 of 1934).

2. Prohibition relating to women and young persons: No woman or young person shall be employed or permitted to work in or shall be allowed to enter any building in which the generation of gas from dangerous petroleum is carried on.

3. Flame Traps: The plant for generation of gas from dangerous petroleum and associated piping and fittings shall be fitted with at least two efficient flame traps so designed and maintained as to prevent a flash back from any burner to the plant. One of these traps shall be fitted as close to the plant as possible. The plant and all pipes and valves shall be installed and maintained free from leaks.

4. Generating room or building: All plants from generation of gas from dangerous petroleum erected after the coming into force of the provisions specified in this schedule, shall be erected in a well ventilated building (hereinafter referred to as the generating building), completely separate from other buildings. In the case of such plant erected before the coming into force of the provisions specified in this schedule there shall be no direct communication between the room where such plants are erected (hereinafter referred to as the generating room) and the remainder of the factory building. So far as practicable, all such generating rooms shall be constructed of fire-resisting materials.

5. Fire extinguishers: An efficient means of extinguishing flammable liquid fires shall be maintained in an easily accessible position near the plant for generation of gas from dangerous petroleum.

6. Plant to be approved by Chief Inspector: The design and construction of the plant used for generating gas from dangerous petroleum shall be approved by the Chief Inspector.

7. Escape of dangerous petroleum: Effective steps shall be taken to prevent dangerous petroleum from escaping into any drain or sewer.

8. Prohibition relating to smoking: No person shall smoke or carry matches, fire or naked light or other means of producing a naked light or spark in the generating room or building or in the vicinity thereof, and a warning notice in the language understood by the majority of the workers shall be affixed at the entrance of every generating room or building prohibiting smoking and the carrying of matches, fire or naked light or other means of producing a naked light or spark into such room or building.

9. Access to dangerous petroleum or container: No unauthorised person shall have access to any dangerous petroleum or to a vessel containing or having actually contained dangerous petroleum.

10. Electric fittings: All electric fittings shall be of flame-proof construction, shall be maintained in flame-proof state, and all electric conductors shall be enclosed in metal conduits.

11. Construction of doors: All doors in the generating room or building shall be constructed to open outwards or to slide, a no door shall be locked or obstructed or fastened in such a manner that it cannot be easily and immediately opened from the inside while gas is being generated and any person is working in the generating room or building.

12. Repair of containers: No vessel that has contained dangerous petroleum shall be repaired in a generating room or building, and no repairs to any such vessel shall be undertaken unless live steam has been blown into the vessel and until the interior is thoroughly steamed out or other equally effective steps have been taken to ensure that it has been rendered free from dangerous petroleum or inflammable vapour."

20. For paragraph 8 of Schedule XIV substitute the following section 46 of the Act."

"8. Mess-room: There shall be provided and maintained for the use of all persons employed in a lead process and remaining on the premises during the meal intervals, a suitable mess-room which shall be furnished with sufficient tables and benches: Provided that this provision shall not apply where a canteen has been provided under section 46 of the Act."

21. After Schedule XIV, add the following schedules, namely:—

"SCHEDULE XV

(Manufacture of compressed hydrogen or compressed oxygen)

1. The provision of this Schedule shall apply to all factories where either hidrogen or oxigen or both the gases are manufactured with a view to compressing the gases for any purpose whatsoever.

2. Where the gases are manufactured by the electrolytic method, the caustic soda or the caustic potash used for making lye shall be of electrolytic quality, and the water used shall be distilled.

3. (a) Where the gases are manufactured by the electrolytic method the purity of the gases shall be tested at an interval of every 4 hours by a competent person, and the results of analysis shall be entered in a register showing (a) date of test, (b) time of test, (c) purity of the gas tested and (d) signature of the person carrying out the test.

(b) The register shall be available to the Inspector at all times.

4. Either of the gases referred to in paragraph 1 shall not be compressed if its purity falls below 98 per cent.

5. High pressure gas vessels shall be preferably located in open-sided sheds. If located otherwise, provision shall be made for adequate ventilation to the satisfaction of the Inspector.

6. All electric fittings shall be of flame-proof construction, shall be maintained in flame-proof state, and all electric conductors shall be enclosed in metal conduits.

7. Gas holders, gas pipe lines and, wherever possible, high pressure gas vessels shall be effectively earthed.

8. Prominent notices in the language understood by the majority of the workers and legible both in day and night, prohibiting smoking or the use of naked lights, and the carrying of matches, or any apparatus for producing a naked light or spark, shall be affixed at the entrance of every room or place where there is risk of fire or explosion.

9. Electrical connections of the electrolytic cells shall be so arranged as to overrule the possibility of wrong connections of terminals leading to reversal of polarity.

10. Oxigen and hydrogen pipes shall be painted with distinguishing colours so as to eliminate the possibility of inter-connections.

11. If for any reason hydrogen gas pipe joints are broken, all such pipe lines shall be purged of air after re-connecting and before drawing hydrogen gas.

12. Each plant shall be provided with at least two gas holders for each kind of gas fitted with adequate number of interlinked stop valves so that no gas holder shall be connected to the compresser and to the electrolyser at the same time.

13. The bell of the gas holder shall not be permitted to go within 30 cm. (12 inches) of its lowest position when empty. A visual and an audible signal shall be fitted to the gas holder to indicate when this limit is reached.

14. No work of operation repair or maintenance shall be undertaken except under the direct supervision of a person who by his training, experience and knowledge of the necessary precautions against risk of explosion is competent to supervise such work.

SCHEDULE XVI

(Manufacture of Pottery)

1. Definition: (a) 'Efficient exhaust' means localised ventilation affected by mechanical or other mens for the removal of dust or fume so as to prevent it from escaping into the air of any place in which work is carried on. No draught shall be deemed efficient which fails to remove effectively dust or fume generated at the point where dust or fume originated;

(b) 'Fettling' includes scalloping, towing, and papering, sand sticking, brushing or any other process or cleaning of pottery ware in which dust is given off;

(c) 'Ground or powdered flint or quartz' does not include natural sands;

(d) 'Leadless glass' means a glass which does not contain more than one per cent. of its dry weight of a lead compound calculated as lead monoxide;

(e) Low solubility glaze means a glaze which does not yield to dilute hydrochloric acid more than five per cent. of its dry weight of a soluble lead compound calculated as lead monoxide when determined in the manner described below:

A weighed quantity of the material which has been dried at 100°C and thoroughly mixed shall be continuously shaken for one hour, at the common temperature with 1,000 times its weight of an aqueous solution of hydrochloric acid containing 0.25 per cent. by weight of hydrogen chloride. This solution shall thereafter be allowed to stand for one hour and then filtered. The lead salt contained in the clear filtrate shall then be precipitated as lead sulphide and weighed as lead sulphate;

(f) 'Pottery' includes earthenware, stoneware, porcelain, Chinatile and any other articles made from clay or from a mixture containing clay and other materials such as quartz, flint, feldspar; and

(g) 'Potters' shops' includes all places where pottery is formed by pressing or by any other process and all places where shaping, fettling or other treatment of pottery articles prior to placing for the biscuit fire is carried on.

2. Efficient exhaust draught: The following processes shall not be carried on without the use of an efficient exhaust draught, namely:

(i) all processes involving the manipulation or use of a dry and unfritted lead compound;

(ii) fettling operations of any kind, whether on greenware or biscuit, provided that this shall not apply to the wet fettling, and to the occasional finishing of pottery articles without the aid of mechanical power;

(iii) sifting of clay dust or any other material for making tiles or other articles by pressure, except where—

(a) this is done in a machine so enclosed as to effectually prevent the escape of dust; or

(b) the material to be sifted is so damp that no dust can be given off;

(iv) pressing of tiles from clay dust, or pressing from clay dust of articles other than tiles unless the materials is so damp that no dust is given off, and in any such case the exhaust draught shall be applied to each press;

(v) fettling of tiles made from clay dust by pressure, except where the fettling is done wholly on, or with, damp material; this clause shall be also apply to the fettling of other articles made from clay dust, unless the material is so damp that no dust is given off;

(vi) process of loading and unloading of saggars where handling and manipulation of ground and powdered flint, quartz, alumina or other materials are involved;

(vii) brushing of earthenware biscuit, unless the process is carried on in a room provided with efficient general mechanical ventilation or other ventilation which is certified by the Inspector of Factories as adequate, having regard to all the circumstances of the case;

(viii) fettling of biscuit ware which has been fired in powdered flint or quartz except where this is done in machines so enclosed as to effectually prevent the escape of dust;

(ix) ware cleaning after the application of glaze by dipping or other process;

(x) crushing or dry grinding of materials for pottery bodies, and saggars, unless carried on in a machine so enclosed as to effectively prevent the escape of dust or is so damp that no dust can be given off;

(xi) sieving or manipulation of powdered flint, quartz, clay grog or mixture of those materials unless it is so damp that no dust can be given off;

(xii) grinding of tiles on a power driven wheel unless an efficient water spray is used on the wheel;

(xiii) lifting and conveying of materials by elevators and conveyors unless they are effectively enclosed and so arranged as to prevent escape of dust into the air in or near to any place where persons are employed;

(xiv) preparation or weighing out of flow material, lawning of dry colours, colour dusting and colour blowing;

(xv) mould making unless the bins or similar receptacles used for holding plaster of Paris are provided with suitable covers, and

(xvi) manipulation of clacined material unless the material has been made and remains so wet that no dust is given off.

3. Each of the following processes shall be carried on in such a manner and under such conditions so as to secure effectual separation from one another, and from other wet processes, namely:—

(i) crushing and dry grinding or sieving of materials, fittling, pressing of tiles, drying of clay and green-ware, loading and unloading of saggars,

(ii) all processes involving the use of a dry lead compound.

4. No glaze which is not a leadless glaze or a low solubility glaze shall be used in a factory in which pottery is manufactured.

5. No woman or young person below of ..... years shall be employed or permitted to work in any of the operations specified in paragraph 2, or at any place where such operations are carried on.

6. The potter's wheel (Jolly and Jigger) shall be provided with screens or so constructed as to prevent clay scrapings being thrown off beyond the wheel.

7. (a) All practical measures shall be taken by damping or otherwise to prevent dust arising during cleaning of floors, and

(b) damp saw-dust or other suitable material shall be used to render the moist method effective in preventing dust rising into the air during the cleaning process which shall be carried out after work has ceased.

8. The floors of potters' shops, slip houses, dipping houses and ware cleaning rooms shall be hard, smooth and impervious and shall be thoroughly cleaned daily by a moist method by an adult male.

9. Medical examination: (1) All persons employed in any process referred to in paragraph 2 shall be examined by the Certifying Surgeon within 7 days preceding or following the date of their first employment in such process; thereafter all persons employed in any process included under clauses (i) and (xiv) of the said paragraph shall be examined by the Certifying Surgeon once in every three calender months, and those employed in any process included in clauses (ii) to (xiii) and (xv) and (xvi) of the said paragraph once in every 12 months by the Certifying Surgeon. Records of such examinations shall be entered by the Certifying Surgeon in the Health Register and certificate of fitness granted to him under paragraph 10.

(2) If at any time the Certifying Surgeon is of opinion that any person employed in any process included in paragraph 2 is no longer fit for employment on the ground that continuance would involve damage to his health, he shall cancel the certificate of fitness granted to that person.

(3) No person whose certificate of fitness has been cancelled shall be re-employed unless the Certifying Surgeon after examination, again certifies him to be fit for employment.

10. Certificate of fitness: A person medically examined under paragraph 9 and found fit for employment shall be granted by the Certifying Surgeon a certificate of fitness in Form No. 25 and such certificate shall be in the custody of the Manager of the factory. The certificate shall be kept readily available for inspection by an Inspector and the person granted such a certificate shall carry with him while at work, a token giving reference to such certificate.

11. Protective equipment: (1) The occupier shall provide and maintain suitable over-alls and head coverings for all persons employed in processes included under paragraph 2.

(2) The occupier shall provide and maintain suitable aprons of water-proof or similar material, which can be sponged daily, for the use of the dippers, dippers assistants, throwers, jolly workers, casters, mould makers, and filter press and pug mill workers.

(3) Aprons provided in pursuance of paragraph 11(2) shall be thoroughly cleaned daily by the wearers by sponging or other wet process. All over-alls and head coverings shall be washed, cleaned and mended at least once a week, and this washing, cleaning or mending shall be provided for by the occupier.

(4) No person shall be allowed to work in emptying sacks of dusty materials, weighing out and mixing of dusty materials, and charing of ball mills and blungers without wearing a suitable and efficient dust respirator.

12. Washing facilities: The occupier shall provide and maintain, in a clean condition and in good repair, for the use of all persons employed in any of the processes specified in paragraph 2, a wash place under cover, with—

(a) (i) a trough with smooth impervious surface fitted with a waste pipe, without plug, and of sufficient length to allow at least two feet for every five such persons employed at any one time, and having a constant supply of clean water from taps or jets above the trough at intervals of not more than two feet; or

(ii) at least one tap or stand pipe for every five such persons employed at any time, and having a constant supply of clean water, the tap or stand pipe being spaced not less than 4 feet apart;

(b) a sufficient supply of clean towels made of suitable material changed daily, with sufficient supply of nail brushes and soap.

13. Time allowed for washing: Before each meal and before the end of the day's work at least ten minutes, in addition to the regular meal times, shall be allowed for washing to each person employed in any of the processes mentioned in paragraph 2.

14. Mess-room: (1) There shall be provided and maintained for use of all persons remaining within the premises during the rest intervals, a suitable mess-room providing accommodation of 10 square feet per head and furnished with—

(i) a sufficient number of tables and chairs or benches with back rest;

(ii) arrangements for washing utensils;

(iii) adequate means for warming food; and

(iv) adequate quantity of drinking water.

Provided that this paragraph shall not apply to a factory where a canteen has been provided under rule 67.

(2) The room shall be adequately ventilated by the circulation of fresh air and placed under the charge of a responsible person and shall be kept clean.

15. Food, drinks, etc., prohibited in work-rooms: No food, drink, pan and supari, or tobacco shall be brought into, or consumed by any worker in any work-room in which any of the processes mentioned in paragraph 2 are carried on, and no person shall remain in any such room during intervals for meals or rest.

16. Cloak-room, etc.: There shall be provided and maintained for the use of all persons employed in any of the processes mentioned in paragraph 2:

(a) a cloak-room for clothing put off during working hours and such accommodation shall be separate from any mess room;

(b) separate and suitable arrangements for the shortage of protective equipment referred to in paragraph 11.

17. The provisions of this Schedule shall not apply to a factory in which any of the following articles, but no other pottery are made:—

(a) unglazed or salt glazed bricks and tiles; and

(b) architectural terra-cotta made from plastic clay and either unglazed or glazed with a leadless glaze only.

18. Exemption: If in respect of any factory the Chief Inspector is satisfied that all or any of the provisions of this Schedule are not necessary for the protection of the persons employed in such factory, he may by a certificate in writing exempt such factory from all or any of such provisions, subject to such conditions as he may specify therein. Such certificate may at any time be revoked by the Chief Inspector without assigning any reasons.

SCHEDULE XVII

(Manufacture of rayon by the viscose process)

1. Definition: 'Efficient exhaust draught' means localised ventilation effected by mechanical means for the removal of gas, vapour or fumes so as to prevent them from contaminating the air of any place in which work is carried on.

2. The ventilation of the following work room shall be controlled by efficient exhaust draught and fresh air supply effected by mechanical means, namely:

(i) Churn room, (ii) Mixer room, (iii) Filtration room, (iv) Spinning machine room, (v) After treatment room.

3. Concentration of carbon disulphide and hydrogen sulphide in the air of the work rooms shall be kept below 20 parts per million.

4. (1) Estimations of carbon disulphide and hydrogen sulphide concentrations in the breathing zone of the workers shall be carried out by a competent person once in every seven days.

(2) The places at which air samples are to be taken shall be subject to the approval of the Inspector.

(3) A register, to be available to the Inspector at all times, shall be maintained containing the following particulars, namely:

(i) date of estimation;

(ii) place where air sample was taken;

(iii) concentration of carbon disuphide and hydrogen sulphide detected by the estimation; and

(iv) signature of person who carried out the estimation.

5. A qualified medical practitioner shall examine all workers exposed to carbon disulphide and hydrogen sulphide, at least once in every six months, and the results of such examination shall be recorded in a register. If any case of poisoning is detected the medical practitioner shall record his findings in the register against the name of the worker affected. The register shall be available to the Inspector at all times.

Explanation: 'Qualified medical practitioner' has the same meaning as in the Explanation to section 10 of the Factories Act, 1948.

SCHEDULE XVIII

(Manufacturing processes and processes incidental thereto carried on in Chemical Works)

1. Application: This schedule shall apply to all manufactures and processes incidental thereto carried on in chemical works. The provisions of this schedule shall be in addition to and not in derogation of any provisions of the Factories Act, 1948, or any other rules made thereunder or of any other Act or rules made under the same.

2. Definitions: (a) 'Bleaching powder' means the bleaching powder commonly called chloride of lime.

(b) 'Breathing Apparatus' means a helmet or facepiece with necessary connections by means of which a person using it in a poisonous, asphyxiating or irritant atmosphere breathes ordinary air, or any other suitable apparatus approved in writing by the Chief Inspector.

(c) 'Caustic' means hydroxide of potassium or sodium.

(d) 'Caustic pot' means a metal pot fixed over a furnace or flue and surrounded by brickwork, such as is commonly used for concentrating caustic liquor, whether such pot be used for concentrating or boiling caustic or other liquor.

(e) 'Chemical Works' means any factory or such parts of any factory as are named in Appendix I to this Schedule.

(f) 'Chlorate' means chlorate or perchlorate.

(g) 'Chrome process' means the manufacture of chromate or bichromate of potassium or sodium, or the manipulation movement or other treatment of these substances in connection with their manufacture.

(h) 'Efficient exhaust draught' means localised ventilation effected by mechanical or other means for the removal of gas, vapour, fume or dust to prevent it from escaping into air of any place in which work is carried on.

(i) 'Life belt' means a belt made of leather or other suitable material which can be securely fastened round the body, with a suitable length of rope attached to it, each of which is sufficiently strong to sustain the weight of a man.

(j) 'Nitro or Amido process' means the manufacture of nitro or amido derivatives of phenol and of benzene or its homologues, and the making of explosives with the use of any of these substances.

(k) 'Surgeon' means a Certifying Surgeon appointed under section 10 of the Factories Act, 1948.

Exceptions: If the Chief Inspector is satisfied in respect of any factory or any process that, owing to the special conditions or special methods of work, or by reason of the infrequency of the process or for other reason all or any of the requirements of this schedule are not necessary for the protection of persons employed in any factory or process he may by order in writing (which he may in his discretion revoke) exempt such factory or process from all or any of the provisions of this schedule, subject to such conditions as he may by such order prescribe.

PART I

Applying to all the works mentioned in Appendix I

GENERAL

1. House-keeping: (a) Every part of the ways, work, machinery and plant shall be maintained in a clean and tidy condition.

(b) Any spillage of materials shall be cleaned up without delay.

(c) Floors, platforms, stairways, passages, and gangways shall be kept free of temporary obstructions.

(d) There shall be provided easy means of access to all parts of the plant to facilitate cleaning, maintenance and repairs.

2. Improper use of chemicals: (a) No chemicals or solvents shall be used by workers for any purpose apart from the processes for which they are supplied.

(b) Workers shall be instructed on the possible dangers arising from such misuse. These instructions shall further be displayed in bold letters in prominent places in the different sections.

3. Storage of food and tasting: (a) No food, drink, tobacco, pan or similar article shall be stored or consumed on or near any part of the plant.

(b) Workers shall be instructed on the possible dangers arising from the tasting of materials or of the use for drinking purposes of any vessel used in or in connection with, the manufacture of chemicals. These instructions shall further be displayed in bold letters in prominent places in the different sections.

4. Process hazards: Before commencing any large-scale experimental work, or any new manufacture, all possible steps shall be taken to ascertain definitely all the hazards involved both from the actual operations and the chemical reactions. The properties of the raw materials used, the final products to be made, and by-products arising during manufacture, shall be carefully studied and provisions shall be made for dealing with any hazards including effects on workers, which may arise during manufacture.

The design of the buildings and plant shall be based on the information so obtained.

5. Entry inside the factory: (a) Unauthorised persons shall not be permitted to enter any section of the factory or plant where there are special dangers.

(b) Visitors shall be provided where necessary, with suitable safety equipment and shall be accompanied by a responsible official while going near dangerous plant.

6. Cocks and valves: Suitable valves shall be provided in all service lines at sufficiently short intervals for convenience in blanking off, etc. All cocks and valves shall be operated at least once a month, and tested periodically by a competent person, and records of these tests shall be kept in a register. A plan of all service installations shall be kept readily available for perusal.

8. Manhole: No manhole shall be opened for entry until effective fencing has been erected round it.

9. Emergency Instruction: Simple and special instructions shall be framed to ensure that effective measures will be carried out in cases of emergency, to deal with escapes of inflammable, poisonous or deleterious gases, vapours, liquids, or dusts. These instructions shall further be displayed in bold letters in prominent places in the different sections. All workers shall be trained and instructed in the section to take in such emergencies, and in the general hazards of their employment.

10. Protection of Reaction Mixtures: Suitable arrangements shall be made to ensure that no foreign matter of any sort can fall into reaction mixtures.

11. Electrical Apparatus: Electrical plant, fittings and conductors shall, if exposed to damp or corrosive atmosphere, be adequately protected. Periodical tests shall be carried out on all circuits.

12. Place of Works: (a) Workers shall only be allowed in those places in which they have been given orders to work.

(b) In dangerous sections of a factory, the number of workers shall be kept to the minimum compatible with the process.

13. Packing, Storage and Transport Chemicals: Chemicals shall be packed and stored in containers suitable for the purpose and of adequate strength for storage or transport. All such containers shall be suitably labelled so that they will be stored and transported in such a manner as to ensure that, in the event of a spillate, they will neither produce a reacting mixture, nor cause the development of toxic or fire risks in contact with other products in its vicinity or with walls, floors, or dust thereon.

14. Fire and Explosion Risks: (a) Building and plant shall be sited with due regard to the dangers which may arise from the processes involved, and in particular shall be spaced at distances which are deemed safe for the fire and explosion risks connected with the processes in adjacent buildings. Due consideration shall be given to the effect of any processes carried out in adjacent factories.

(b) Where special dangers exist, separate buildings shall be used for the different parts of a process. They shall be spaced at sufficient distances apart and shielded to prevent damage to each other in the event of fire or explosion, and shall be safeguarded by the provision of suitable blow-out panels or roofs. Where the risk of fire or explosion is considerable, the building shall be divided by blast or protective screen walls.

(c) No combustible materials shall be used in the erection of working buildings, unless there are special reasons necessitating their use, when they shall be rendered fire-resistant. The roof shall be of light fire-resistant construction and floors shall be impervious fire resistant material and shall be regularly maintained in such condition.

15. Dangers of ignition including lighting installations: (a) No internal combustion engine, and no electric motor or other electric equipment, capable of generating sparks or otherwise causing combustion shall be installed or used in a building or danger zone. Electric conductors shall be fitted with screwed steel conduits.

(b) All hot exhaust pipes shall be installed outside a building and other hot pipes shall be suitably protected.

(c) Portable electric hand pumps shall not be used unless the same are of an intrinsically safe type, and portable electric tools connected by flexible wires shall not be used unless the same are of the flame-proof type.

(d) Where an inflammable atmosphere may occur the soles of footwear worn by workers shall have no metal on them, and the wheels of trucks or conveyors shall be of conducting non-sparking materials. Adequate precautions shall be taken to prevent the ignition of explosive or inflammable substances by sparks emitted from locomotives of other vehicles operated in the factory or on public lines.

(e) No electric arc lamp, or naked light, fixed or portable, shall be used, and no person shall have in his possession any match or any apparatus of any kind for producing a naked light or spark in, or on, or about any part of the factory where there is liability to fire or explosion from inflammable gas, vapour or dust, and all incandescent electric lights in such parts shall be in double air tight glass covers.

(f) Prominent notices in the language understood by the majority of the workers and legible during day and night, prohibiting smoking, the use of naked lights, and the carrying of matches or any apparatus for producing a naked light or spark, shall be affixed at the entrance of every room or place where there is a risk of fire or explosion from inflammable gas, vapour or dust. In the case of illiterate workers, the contents of the notices shall be fully and carefully explained to them when they commence work in the factory for the first time and again when they have completed one week at the factory.

(g) A sufficient supply of spades, scrapers and pails made from non-sparking material shall be provided for the use of persons employed in cleaning out or removing residues from any chamber, still tank, or other vessel where an inflammable or explosive danger may occur.

(Note: The risk is not always obvious and may arise, for example, through the production of hydrogen in acid tanks.)

16. Static Electricity: (a) All machinery and plant, particularly, pipe lines and belt drives, on which static electricity is likely to accumulate, shall be effectively earthed. Receptacles for inflammable liquids shall have metallic connections to the earthed supply tanks to prevent static sparking. Where necessary, humidity shall be controlled.

(b) Mobile tank wagons shall be earthed during filling and discharge, and precautions shall be taken to ensure that earthing is effective before such filling or discharge takes place.

(c) Lighting protection apparatus shall be fitted where necessary, and shall be maintained in good condition.

17. Process Heating: The method of providing heat for a process shall be as safe as possible and where the use of naked flame is necessary, the plant shall be so constructed as to prevent any escaping inflammable gas, vapour or dust coming into contact with the flame, or exhaust gases, or other hot agency likely to cause ignition. So far as practicable, the heating medium shall be automatically controlled at a predetermined temperature below the danger temperature.

18. Escape of Materials: (a) Provision shall be made in all plant, sewers, drains, flues, ducts, culverts and buried pipes to prevent the escape and spread of any liquid, gas, vapour, fume or dust likely to give rise to fire or explosion, both during normal working and in the event of accident or emergency

(b) If escape occurs, such substances shall be removed expeditiously and efficiently at the point of liberation. The effluent shall be trapped and rendered safe outside the danger area.

19. Leakage of Inflammable Liquids: (a) Provision shall be made to confine by means of bund walls, sumps, etc., possible leakages from vessels containing inflammable liquids.

(b) Adequate and suitable fixed fire fitting appliances shall be installed in the vicinity of such vessels.

20. Cleaning of Empty Containers and Storage of combustible materials: (1) All empty containers which have held inflammable liquids, and metal containers which held sulphuric acid shall not be repaired permanently safe as soon as practicable, and shall not be repaired or destroyed until such cleaning has been completed.

(2) (a) Combustible and inflammable materials shall not be stored in close proximity to chemicals which are liable to cause ignition.

(b) Rubbish shall be removed from buildings without delay and placed in special metal containers provided with close fitting lids. The contents shall be removed daily and suitably dealt with. Waste products containing inflammable or explosive materials shall not be placed on rubbish heaps but shall be destroyed in an appropriate manner.

21. Installing of Pipe Lines for Inflammable Liquids: All pipe lines for the transport of inflammable liquids shall be protected from breakage, shall be arranged so that there is no risk of mechanical damage from vehicles and shall be so laid that they drain throughout without the collection of deposits in any part. All flanged joints, bends and other connections shall be regularly inspected. Cocks and valves shall be so constructed that explosive residues cannot collect therein. The open and closed positions of all cocks and valves shall be clearly indicated on the outside.

22. Examination, testing and repair of plant: Examination, testing and repair of plant parts which have been in contact with explosive and inflammable material or which is under pressure, shall only be carried out under proper supervision.

23. Alarm Systems: (a) Gravity or pressure feed systems of supplying inflammable materials to the various parts of the buildings or plant shall be fitted with alarm systems, automatic cut-offs or other devices to prevent overcharging or otherwise endangering the plant.

(b) The amount of inflammable material taken into a building in bulk containers at any one time shall be kept as low as practicable.

(c) Adequate steps shall be taken to prevent the escape of inflammable and explosive vapours from any container into the atmosphere of any building.

Gas, Vapour, Fume or Dust Risks

24. Escape of Gases, etc.: (a) Effective steps shall be taken to prevent the escape of dangerous gases, vapours, fumes or dust from any part of the plant by the total enclosure of the process involved or by the provision of efficient exhaust draught. Effective arrangements shall be made to ensure in the event of failure of the control measure provided in compliance of the foregoing, the process shall stop immediately.

(b) In the event of any such escape, provision shall be made to trap the materials and render them safe.

25. Danger, due to effluents: (a) Adequate precautions shall be taken to prevent the mixing of effluents which may cause dangerous or poisonous gases to be evolved.

(b) Effluents which may contain or give rise in the presence of other effluents to such gases shall be provided with independent drainage systems to ensure that they may be trapped and rendered safe.

26. Staging: (a) Staging shall not be erected over any open vessel unless the vessel is so constructed and ventilated so as to prevent the omission of vapour or fumes about such staging.

(b) Where such staging is provided to give access to higher levels in large plants, effective means shall be provided at all levels with direct means of access to the outer side of the room or building and thence to ground level.

(c) Such staging shall be fitted with suitable handrails and toeboards, and the floors and stagging shall be impervious and easily cleaned.

27. Instructions as regards risk: Before commencing work, every worker, shall be fully instructed on the properties of the materials they have to handle, and of the dangers arising from any gas, fume, vapour or dust which may be evolved during the process. Workers shall also be instructed in the measures to be taken to deal with an escape of gas, fume, etc. in the event of an emergency.

28. Breathing Apparatus: (a) There shall be provided in every factory where dangerous gas or fume is liable to excape a sufficient supply of:—

(i) breathing apparatus of an approved make for the hazards involved;

(ii) oxygen and suitable means of its administration; and

(iii) life-belts.

(b) Such breathing apparatus and other appliances shall (i) be maintained in good order and kept in an ambulance room or in some other place approved in writing by the Chief Inspector and (ii) be thoroughly inspected once every month by a competent person, appointed in writing by the occupier, and a record of their condition shall be entered in a book provided for that purpose, which shall be produced when required by an Inspector.

(c) Workers shall be trained, and given a periodic refresher course, in the use of breathing apparatus and respirators,

(d) Respirators shall be kept properly labelled, in clean, dry, light-proof cabinets, and if liable to be affected by fumes, shall be protected by suitable containers. Respirators shall be dried and cleaned after use and shall be periodically disinfected.

29. Treatment of persons: In every room or place or wherever required in writing by the Chief Inspector there shall be affixed the official cautionary notice regarding gassing and burns. Such notices shall be legible during day and night, and shall be printed in the language understood by the majority of the workers.

30. Treatment Protective Equipment: (a) Suitable protective clothing shall be provided for the use of operatives—

(i) when operating valves or cocks controlling fluids which by their nature, pressure or temperature would be highly dangerous if a blow-out occurred or when cleaning chokes in systems containing such fluids if pressure is likely to exist behind the chokes;

(ii) When there is danger of injury by absorption through the skin during the performance of normal duties or in the event of emergency,

(iii) whenever there is risk of injury in handling corrosive substances, hot or cold articles and sharp or rough objects, and

(iv) when there is risk of poisonous materials being carried away on their clothes.

(b) There shall be provided for the use of all persons employed in the processes specified in Appendix II to this Schedule an adequate supply of suitable protective equipment including gloves, overalls and protective footwear, and of goggles and respirators. Respirators shall be of a type approved in writing by the Chief Inspector.

(c) Protective equipment shall be provided and stored in the appropriate place for use during abnormal conditions or in an emergency.

(d) Arrangement shall be made for the proper and efficient cleaning of all such protective equipment.

31. Cloak Rooms: There shall be provided and maintained for the use of all persons employed in the processes specified in Appendix II to this schedule a suitable cloak-room, for clothing put off during working hours and a suitable place separate from the cloakroom, for the storage of overalls or working clothes. The accommodation so provided shall be placed in the charge of a responsible person, and shall be kept clean.

32. Special Bathing Accommodation: There shall be provided for the use of all persons employed in the processes specified in Appendix III to this schedule separate sanitary conveniences and sufficient and suitable bathing facilities, which shall be to the satisfaction of the Chief Inspector.

33. Entry into Vessels: (a) Before any person enters, for any purpose except that of rescue, any absorber, boiler, culvert, drain, flue, gas, purifier, sewer, still, tank, tower, vitriol chamber or other place where there is reason to apprehend the presence of dangerous gas or fume, a responsible person appointed in writing by the occupier for the purpose, shall personally examine such place and shall certify in writing in a book kept for the purpose either that such place is isolated and sealed from every source of such gas or fume and is free from danger, or that it is not so isolated and sealed and free from danger. No person shall enter any such place which is certified not to be so isolated and sealed and free from danger unless he is wearing a breathing apparatus, and (where there are no cross stays or obstructions likely to cause entanglement) a life-belt, the free end of the rope attached to which shall be left with a man outside whose sole duty shall be to keep watch and to draw out the wearer if he appears to be affected by gas or fume. The belt and rope shall be so adjusted and worn that the wearer can be drawn up head foremost through any manhole or opening.

(b) A person entering for the purpose of rescue any such place for which a clearance certificate has not been issued shall wear a breathing apparatus and a life-belt in the manner specified.

34. Examination and repair of plant: Where poisonous materials are likely to be present, the examination and repair of plant and piping, shall only be done under the supervision of a competent person, and after the plant and piping has been thoroughly cleaned and ventilated. When opening vessels and breaking joints in pipe lines, respirators, goggles and protective clothing shall be worn to the extent required by the competent person.

35. Storage of acid Carboys: Carboys containing nitric acid or "mixed" acid shall be stored in opensided sheds detached from other buildings, and placed on a flooring of sandstone, brick or other suitable inorganic material. A passageway shall be provided and kept free from obstruction between every four rows of such carboys. An ample supply of water shall be available for washing away spilt acid and all precautions shall be taken to prevent workers being exposed to fumes.

Corrosive of Deleterious Substances Risks

36. Buildings: The site of all buildings and plant shall be located with due regard to possible dangers from accidental liberation or splashing of corrosive and deleterious liquids, and shall be so designed as to facilitate thorough washing and cleaning. The construction of staging and other parts of buildings shall be carried out with materials impervious and resistant to corrosion so far as practicable.

37. Leakage: (a) All plants shall be so designed and constructed as to obviate the escape of corrosive liquid. Where necessary, separate buildings, rooms, or protective structures shall be used for the dangerous stages of the process and the buildings shall be so designed as to localise any escape of liquid.

(b) Catch pits, bund walls, or other suitable precautions shall be provided to restrict the serious effects of such leakages. Catch pits shall be placed below joints in pipe-lines where there is danger involved to maintenance and other workers from such leakage.

(c) Passages and work-stations shall not be situated directly below any part of plant where there is risk of escape of dangerous liquid. Access to such parts shall, so far as practicable, be prohibited, and danger notices shall be affixed at suitable points.

38. Precautions against escape: Adequate precautions shall be taken to prevent the escape of corrosive or deleterious substances and means shall be provided for rendering safety against such escape.

39. Drainage: Adequate drainage shall be provided and shall lead to special treatment tanks where deleterious material shall be neutralised or otherwise rendered safe before it is discharged into ordinary drains or sewers.

40. Covering of Vessels: (a) Every fixed vessel or structure containing any dangerous material, and not so covered as to eliminate all possible risk of accidental immersion into it of any portion of the body of a worker, shall be so constructed that there is no foothold on the top or the sides.

(b) Such vessel shall, unless its edge is at least three feet above the adjoining ground or platform, be securely fenced to a height of at least three feet above such adjoining ground or platform.

(c) No plank or gangway shall be placed across or inside any such vessel, unless such plank or gangway is at least 18 inches wide, and is securely fenced on both sides by rails spaced at 9 inches apart to a height of at least 3 feet, or by other equally efficient means.

(d) Where such vessels adjoin and the space between them, clear of any surrounding brick or other work, is either less than 18 inches in width, or is 18 or more inches in width, but is not securely fenced on both sides to a height of at least three feet, secure barriers shall be so placed as to prevent passage between them:

Provided that sub-paragraph (b) of this paragraph shall not apply to—

(i) saturators used in the manufacture of sulphate of ammonia, and

(ii) that part of the sides of brine evaporating pans which require raking, drawing or filling.

41. Ventilation: Adequate ventilation shall be provided and maintained at all times in rooms or buildings where dangerous gas, vapour, fume or dust may be evolved.

42. Means of escape: Adequate means of escape from rooms or buildings in the event of a leakage of corrosive liquid shall be provided and maintained.

43. Treatment of Personnel: In all places where strong acids or dangerous corrosive liquids are used—

(a) there shall be provided for use in an emergency—

(i) adequate and readily accessible means of drenching with cold water persons and the clothing of persons who have become splashed with such liquid;

(ii) adequate special arrangements to deal with any person who has been splashed with poisonous material that can be absorbed through the skin; and

(iii) a sufficient number of eye-wash bottles filled with distilled water or other suitable liquid, kept in boxes or cupboards conveniently situated and clearly indicated by a distinctive sign which shall be visible at all times.

(b) except where the manipulation of such corrosive liquids is so carried on as to prevent risk of personal injury from splashing or otherwise, there shall be provided for those who have to manipulate such liquids, suitable goggles and gloves or other suitable protection for the eyes and hands; if gloves are provided, they shall be collected, examined, and cleansed at the close of the day's work and shall be repaired or renewed when necessary.

44. Maintenance: (a) Before any examination or repairs are carried out on plant or pipe lines, a competent person shall issue a clearance certificate permitting such examination or repairs.

(b) Adequate precautions shall be taken to liberate any pockets of gas or liquid which may have been at the point where dismantling takes place.

45. Washing facilities: (a) There shall be provided and maintained in every factory for the use of employed persons adequate and suitable facilities for washing which shall include soap and nail brushes or other suitable means of cleaning and the facilities shall be conveniently accessible and shall be kept in a clean and orderly condition.

(b) If female workers are employed, separate washing facilities shall be provided and so enclosed or screened that the interiors are not visible from any place where persons of the other sex work or pass. The entrance to such place shall bear conspicuous in the language understood by the majority of the workers "For Women Only" and shall also be indicated pictorially.

46. Mess-Room Facilities: In every factory there shall be provided and maintained for the use of those remaining on the premises during the rest intervals, suitable and adequate mess-room accommodation which shall be furnished with sufficient tables and chairs, or benches with back rests, and where sufficient drinking water is available. This paragraph shall not, however, apply where a canteen has been provided under rule 67.

47. Medical Centre: (a) In every factory in which more than 250 persons are employed on the process to which this Schedule applies there shall be provided and maintained in good order a medical centre.

The medical centre shall be a separate room used only for the purpose of treatment and rest. It shall have floor space of not less than 100 square feet, and smooth, hard and impervious floor and walls up to a height of five feet, and shall be provided with ample means of natural and artificial lighting. It shall contain all the items shown in Appendix IV.

Where persons of both sexes are employed, arrangements shall be made at the medical centre for their separate treatment.

The medical centre shall be placed under the charge of a qualified nurse or other person trained in first aid, who shall always be readily available during working hours. The person in charge of the medical centre shall keep a record of all cases of accidents or sickness treated in the centre.

(b) In every factory there shall be provided and maintained in good condition a suitably constructed ambulance van for the purpose of the removal of serious cases of accident or sickness, unless arrangements have been made with a hospital or other places in telephonic communication with the factory for obtaining such a carriage immediately when required.

48. Medical Personnel: There shall be a whole-time Medical Officer in every factory employing 250 persons or more.

49. Medical Examination: In a chrome process and in a nitre or amido process—

(a) a Health Register containing the names of all persons employed in the process shall be kept in a form approved by the Chief Inspector;

(b) no person shall be newly employed for more than 14 days without a certificate of fitness granted after examination by the Certifying Surgeon by a signed entry in the Health Register;

(c) every person employed in the process shall be examined by the Certifying Surgeon once in each calendar month (or at such other intervals as may be prescribed in writing by the Chief Inspector) on a date or dates of which due notice shall be given to all concerned;

(d) every person so employed shall present himself at the appointed time for examination by the Certifying Surgeon as provided in sub-paragraphs (b) and (c);

(e) the Certifying Surgeon shall have power of suspension as regards all persons employed and no person after suspension shall be employed without written sanction from the Surgeon in the Health Register.

50. Duties of Workers: (a) Every person employed shall—

(i) report to his foreman any defect in any fencing, breathing apparatus, appliance or other requisite provided in pursuance of the provisions of this schedule, as soon as he becomes aware of such defect;

(ii) use the articles, appliances or accommodation required by the provisions of this schedule for the purpose for which they are provided;

(iii) wear the breathing apparatus and life-belt where required.

(b) No person shall—

(i) remove any fencing provided in pursuance of paragraph 40 unless duly authorised; or

(ii) stand on the edge or on the side of any vessel to which paragraph 40 applies;

(iii) pass or attempt to pass any barrier erected in pursuance of paragraph 40;

(iv) place across or inside any vessel to which paragraph 40 applies any plank or gangway which does not comply with that paragraph or make use of any such plank or gangway while in such position;

(v) take a naked light or any lamp or matches or any apparatus for producing a naked light or spark into, or smoke in, any part of the works where there is liability to explosion from inflammable gas, vapour or dust;

(vi) use a metal spade, scraper or pail when cleaning out or removing the residues from any chamber, still, tank or other vessel which has contained sulphuric acid or hydrochloric acid or other substance which may cause evolution of arseniuretted hydrogen;

(vii) remove from a First Aid Box or cupboard or from the medical centre any First Aid Appliance or dressing except for the treatment of injuries in the works.

PART II

Applying to Works or parts thereof in which—

I. caustic pots are used; or

II. chlorate or bleaching powder is manufactured; or

III. (a) gas tar or coal tar is distilled or is used in any process of chemical manufacture; or

(b) a nitro or amido process is carried on; or

(c) a chrome process is carried on; or

IV. crude shalle oil is refined or processes incidental thereto are carried on; or

V. nitric acid is used in the manufacture of nitro compounds; or

VI. the evaporation of brine in open pans and the stoving of salt are carried on; or

VII. the manufacture or recovery of hydro-fluoric acid or any of its salts is carried on; or

VIII. work at a furnace where the treatment of zinc ores is carried on; or

IX. insecticides mentioned in Appendix I are manufactured, mixed, blended, or packed.

51. Entry into gas tar or coal tar still: Before any person enters a gas tar or coal tar still for any purpose except that of rescue, it shall be completely isolated from adjoining tar stills by disconnecting—either (a) the pipe leading from the swan neck to the condenser worm, or (b) the waste gas pipe fixed to the work and/or receiver; and in addition, blank flanges shall be inserted between the disconnected parts, and the pitch discharge pipe or cock at the bottom of the still shall be disconnected.

52. Entry into bleaching powder Chambers: (a) No person shall enter a chamber for the purpose of withdrawing the charge of bleaching power unless and until—

(i) the chamber is efficiently ventilated, and

(ii) the air in the chamber has been tested and found to contain not more than 2.5 grains of free chlorine gas per cubic foot.

(b) A register containing details of all such tests shall be kept in a form approved by the Chief Inspector.

53. Special Precautions for nitro and Amido processes: In a nitro or amido process—

(a) if crystallised substances are broken or any liquor agitated by hand, means shall be taken to prevent, as far as practicable, the escape of dust or fume into the air of any place in which any person is employed and the handles of all implements used in the operations shall be cleansed daily;

(b) cartridges shall not be filled by hand except by means of a suitable scoop;

(c) every drying stove shall be efficiently ventilated to the outside air in such a manner that hot air from the stove shall not be drawn into any workroom;

(d) no person shall enter a stove to remove the contents until a free current of air has been passed through it;

(e) every vessel containing nitro or amido derivatives of phenol or of benzene or its homologues shall, if steam is passed into or around it, or if the temperature of the content be at or above the temperature of boiling water, be covered in such a way that steam or vapour shall be discharged into the open air at a height of not less than 25 feet from the ground or the working platform and at a point where it cannot be blown back again into the workroom.

54. Precautions during caustic grinding, etc.: (a) Every machine used for grinding or crushing caustic shall be enclosed, and

(b) where any of the following processes are carried on, namely—

(i) grinding or crushing of caustic,

For the Union: Shri Panchanan Bhattacharya.

AWARD

The above dispute over the issue given in the letter of reference and reproduced below was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, letter No. 4121-I.R./IR/4L-43/62, dated the 12th September 1962.

Issue

(1) Is the termination of service of Shri Banarasi Santi, Driver, justified? What relief, if any, is he entitled to ?

Notices of this reference were duly issued by this Tribunal to the parties by registered post. The notice issued to the employers was returned as "refused." The Union accepted the notice and subsequently appeared and filed its written statement. There was no appearance on behalf of the employers and, needless to say, no written statement was filed on their behalf. As the employers refused to accept the notice of this reference sent by registered post, it is to be deemed under the law that the notice was duly served upon them. The case was first fixed for appearances of the parties on 17th October 1962 and notices were issued accordingly. On 17th October 1962 no appearance was made by either party. The Union had accepted the notice and employers had refused to accept it, as already stated above. The Tribunal suo motu adjourned the case to 31st October 1962 for final disposal according to law if no appearance was made and no written statement was filed by the parties. On 31st October 1962 the Union filed its written statement, but there was no appearance on behalf of the employers. The Tribunal again suo motu adjourned the case to 10th October 1962 for filing of written statement by the employers. On 10th November 1962 there was again no appearance on behalf of the employers. In these circumstances, the case was adjourned to 27th November 1962 for ex-parte hearing. The case was heard ex-parte on that date in the absence of the employers.

The case put forward by the Union on behalf of the concerned worker is briefly as follows: This worker was a driver of Bus No. WBR 1112 of route No. 85 under these employers, who are the owners of the bus. He was verbally dismissed on 19th March 1961. Before that, the bus went off the road for repairs and so there was stoppage of work in regard to this bus for some time. This driver demanded some monetary relief for the period for which the bus was off the road on the morning of 19th March 1961. His demand was refused and he was summarily dismissed verbally on that very date. The Union has prayed for reinstatement of the concerned worker with full wages for the period of forced unemployment.

As already indicated above, there is no written statement in reply to the written statement filed by the Union. So, there is no counter-case on behalf of the employers against the case put forward by the Union on behalf of the concerned worker in its written statement.

The Union examined two witnesses at the ex-parte trial. They were the concerned driver (P.W. 1) and Shri Shibu Prosad Chowdhury, who was employed as cleaner of this bus at the relevant time (P.W. 2). Both of them have concurrently proved the case put forward by the Union on behalf of the concerned worker in its written statement. They have testified that this driver was employed in bus No. WBR 1112, that there was stoppage of work in regard to this bus for some time for repairs to the bus, that the driver demanded some allowance for the period during which the bus was off the road and so he had no work, that this demand was refused and then he was summarily dismissed from service. The driver has further testified that he had not committed any offence and that no charge-sheet was ever issued to him. I am satisfied from the evidence produced before me by the Union that it was a case of summary dismissal without any charge-sheet and for no sufficient reason and the dismissal was against all principles of natural justice. I am further satisfied that the employers so dismissed this worker from service because he demanded some allowance for the period of stoppage of work when the bus was under repairs. The dismissal was, therefore, not bona fide. The dismissal was also against the clear directions of the award in regard to dismissal or other punishment to the workers of buses of routes Nos. 78 and 85 in an industrial dispute between the owners of buses lying on these routes and their workers made by Shri S. C. Mukherji, Judge, Fourth Industrial Tribunal, on 28th May 1954, and published in the "Calcutta Gazette" dated 24th June 1954. This matter fell under issues 2 and 5 and it was awarded in regard to dismissal or other punishment that no one should be dismissed or otherwise punished without furnishing a charge-sheet and enquiring into the matter. It may be mentioned here that this worker was employed in a bus of route No. 85 when he was dismissed summarily without any enquiry.

On the finding and for the reasons given above, I award that the dismissal of the concerned worker, Shri Banarasi Tanti, and the consequent termination of his service was not justified and that he is to be reinstated to his former job by the employers on his reporting for duty within 15 days of the publication of this award and the employers shall also pay him compensation amounting to Rs. 100 within 15 days of his reporting for duty.

By order of the Governor,
S. C. MUKHERJEE, Asst. Secy.

No. 6711-I.R.|IR|11L-382|61.—4th December 1962.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5990-I.R.|IR|11L-382|61, dated the 26th October 1961, the industrial dispute between Messrs. R. B. Rodda & Co. Ltd., 2 Wellesley Place, Calcutta-1, and their workmen represented by the R. B. Rodda Workers' Union, 20 Strand Road, Calcutta-1, regarding the issues mentioned in the said order being matters specified in the second and the third schedules to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), was referred for adjudication to the Third Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Third Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. R. B. Rodda & Co. Ltd., 2 Wellesley Place, Calcutta-1, and their workmen represented by the R. B. Rodda Workers' Union, 20 Strand Road, Calcutta-1. (Case No. VIII-340 of 1961)

For the Company: Shri S. C. Sen, Advocate assisted by Shri Rabin Mazumdar, Advocate.

AWARD

By Order No. 5990-I.R.|IR|11L-382|61, dated the 26th October 1961, the Government of West Bengal in the Labour Department, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. R. B. Rodda & Co. Ltd., 2 Wellesley Place, Calcutta-1, and their workmen represented by the R. B. Rodda Workers Union, 20 Strand Road, Calcutta-1, regarding the matters specified in the schedule, to the Third Industrial Tribunal constituted under section 7A of the Industrial Disputes Act, by Notification No. 808-I.R.|IR|3A-57, dated the 11th March 1957, for adjudication.

Issues

1. Confirmation.
2. Basic Wages—Grades and scales of pay.
3. Dearness Allowance.
4. Is the dismissal of Shri Annanda Prosad Das justified? What relief, if any is he entitled to?

The present reference relates to some industrial disputes existing between Messrs. R. B. Rodda & Co. Ltd., of 2 Wellesly Place, Calcutta-1, (hereinafter be referred to as the Company), and their workmen represented by R. B. Rodda Workers' Union (hereinafter be referred to as the Union).

As usual after receipt of the reference both parties were given notice by this Tribunal. They entered appearance in pursuance thereof and filed their respective written statements. Both parties having completed other intermediary steps, the case came up for hearing on 12th November 1962 when the workmen filed a petition before this Tribunal together with a copy of a letter, dated 5th of May 1961, addressed by the workmen of the Company to the Labour Commissioner, Government of West Bengal. By this petition the workmen intimated this Tribunal that they are no longer interested in the disputes. They have already conferred with the Company and in view of the Company's present financial position they have decided not to press their claims in view of the Company's financial stringency and to that effect they have already wirtten to the Labour

Commissioner on the 5th of May 1961, copy whereof has been annexed. The workmen also have deputed one of them Shri Lachmi Narayan Lal to make submissions before this Tribunal. The said workman was heard in presence of the learned representatives of the parties and there was an order passed on 12th November 1962. The learned Advocate representing the Union did not want to press the workmen's claim for (1) confirmation, (2) basic wages—grades and scales of pay, and (3) dearness allowance. So, these three items of claims as embodied in the order of reference stood withdrawn at the desire of the workmen. The only issue that remained for adjudication is—Issue No. 4: Is the dismissal of Shri Annanda Prosad Das justified? What relief, if any, is he entitled to? On that day both parties expressed a desire to settle up this dispute also amicably if possible and accordingly both parties asked for an adjournment which was granted. I am happy to note that they have been successful in their mission and this particular dispute has been amicably settled out of Court. Both parties have on this the 28th day of November 1962 filed a joint petition of compromise embodying therein the terms of settlement. It has been agreed upon that the dismissal of the workman Shri Annada Prosad Das will be treated as termination of service and that the said workman would not press for his reinstatement. He has just received from the Company a sum of Rs 350 in all as ex-gratia payment in full and final settlement of all his claims including his claim for reinstatement.

I have considered the terms of settlement and I have also heard the concerned workmen besides the learned Advocates of the parties. I am satisfied, in the circumstances of the case, that the terms agreed upon are fair and reasonable and as such I accept the terms and give an award on compromise as prayed for in terms of the joint petition of compromise which do form a part of the award as an annexure.

This is my award.

And

their workmen represented by R. B. Rodda Workers' Union.

Government Order No. 5990-I.R.IR/11L-382/61, dated 26th October 1961.

The humble petition of the employer-Company and the workman represented by the above Union—

Most respectfully sheweth:

That both the parties to the dispute have amicably settled the dispute with regard to the issue No. 4—dismissal of Shri Annada Prosad Das on the following terms and conditions:

(1) That the dismissal of Shri Annada Prosad Das will be treated as termination of service.

(2) That Shri Annada Prosad Das accepts the termination of service and would not press for his reinstatement and he will get Rs 350 (rupees three hundred and fifty only) in all as ex-gratia payment in full and final settlement of all of his claims and he will have no further claim against the Company.

It is, therefore, submitted that your honour would be pleased to accept this joint petition of compromise and shall pass necessary award.

And for this act of kindness, the petitioners, as in duty bound, shall ever pray.

No. 6629-I.R./IR/8L-14(A)/61. — 29th November 1962.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2899-I.R./IR/8L-14(A)/61, dated the 3rd June 1961, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Keshoram Cotton Mills Ltd., 42 Garden Reach Road, Calcutta-24, and their workmen represented by Garden Reach Textile Workers' Union, Q-77 Akra Road, Calcutta-24, regarding the issue mentioned in the said order being a matter specified in the second schedule to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), was referred for adjudication to the First Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said First Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Keshoram Cotton Mills Ltd., 42 Garden Reach Road, Calcutta-24, and their workmen represented by Garden Reach Textile Workers' Union, Q-77 Akra Road, Calcutta-24. (Case No. VIII-193 of 1961.)

BEFORE THE FIRST INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri S. N. GUHA ROY, Judge, First Industrial Tribunal.

Appearances:

For the Company: Shri S. K. Basu, Counsel and Shri K. P. Mukherjee, Counsel.

For the Union: Shri Patit Paban Pathak, Shri Arun Sen, and Shri Ramen Banerji, Advocate.

In this reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, made by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department order No. 2899-I.R./IR/8L-14(A)/61, dated the 3rd June 1961, of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Kesoram Cotton Mills Ltd. and their workmen represented by Garden Reach Textile Workers' Union, the only issue is whether the dismissal of the workmen named below is justified and to what relief if any, they are entitled?

1	Sibоo,	10	Merai,
2	Bhaskar,	11	Sarbadin,
3	Mithoo,	12	Haldhar,
4	Bharat,	13	Dharmoo,
5	Kailash	14	Sahiblal,
6	Nidhiram	15	Mataprosad,
7	Sk. Ramjan,	16	Chintamoni,
8	Ramkewal,	17	Ramasankar.
9	Ramfer,

The parties in due course filed their written statements. I shall set out the respective cases of the parties above the different sets of workmen involved as I deal with their cases.

Out of the 17 workmen, involved in this reference, the cases of two, namely Bharat, Sl. No. 4, and Dharmoo, Sl. No. 13, were not pressed on behalf of the Union and on behalf of both the parties a petition was filed to the effect that the Garden Reach Textile Workers' Union does not press their cases and it wants to treat it as settled. Both the parties accordingly prayed for the cases of Bharat and Dharmoo being treated as settled between the parties. On the basis therefore, of the statement of the parties as regards the cases of Bharat and Dharmoo, their cases will be left out of the award, as having been settled without the intervention of the Tribunal.

Out of the remaining 15 workmen, 10 have been divided into three groups, partly according to the departments in which they were engaged and partly according to the nature of the charges against them. In the first of these three groups there are Sibu, Sl. No. 1, Bhaskar, Sl. No. 2, and Mithoo, Sl. No. 3, all working in C shift in the Carding Department. in Group 2 there are five, namely Kailash, Sl. No. 5, Nidhiram, Sl. No. 6, Sk. Ramjan, Sl. No. 7, Ramfer, Sl. No. 9, and Merai, Sl. No. 10. Of these Kailash belonged to the Weft Spinning Department, C shift, and the other four in the Carding Department, C shift. The third group consists of Sarbadin and Haladhar both working in the Warp Spinning Department, C shift. The remaining five do not fall into any group and have to be treated individually.

Group No. 1—Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo

The Company's case about these three workmen Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo is contained in paragraphs 5(a) to (g) of its written statement. The substance of that case is that on the 1st of July 1960, at about 9-30 p.m. at the commencement of C shift they incited the workmen of that department in their shift to commence and continue an illegal stay-in-strike which was also unjustified and mala fide and that they themselves participated in the same stay-in-strike. Thereafter on the same day at about 12 midnight these three workmen Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo assaulted during the factory hours and inside the factory another workman Benarasi, causing him grievous physical injuries, because Benarasi was running his machine and did not participate in the strike. The Company issued charge-sheets against them, dated the 4th of July 1960, on the report of the departmental in charge and they were suspended pending enquiry into the charges. Thereafter these three workmen were duly notified by letters sent by registered post that enquiry would be held in respect of the charges. An enquiry was actually held but the workers did not choose to attend it, only one of them Mithoo having attended the enquiry on one day. The Company after due consideration of the charge-sheets, the report and proceedings of the enquiry dismissed these workmen by letters of dismissal, dated the 26th of October 1960, and in view of a reference pending before this Tribunal the Company made applications under section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act for approval of the action taken by it and one month's wages were also duly tendered in compliance with the provisions of the Act.

The Union's case in respect of these three workmen is contained in paragraph 3(a) of its written statement. There was a general denial of the various allegations made in paragraph 5(a) to (g) of the Company's written statement and they claim to have submitted their replies to the charge-sheets. They also say that all of them were called for enquiries on the 14th July 1960 but they were not allowed to enter the factory by the durwans. The matter was duly reported to the Garden Reach Police-station and to the Factory Manager. Subsequently they were once again called for enquiries, Sibu was called on 20th September 1960 and Bhaskar on 16th August 1960. but on those occasions also they were not allowed to enter the mill and this also was duly reported to the authorities. Mithoo was also called on 16th August 1960. On his arrival the Factory Manager informed him that the enquiry had been postponed and that he would be informed later but no further intimation was received by him.

On behalf of the Company three witnesses were examined before me, namely D. C. Sachihar, commonly known as Shri Joshi, who was at the relevant time the Labour Officer of Kesoram Industries and Cotton Mills Ltd. and who held the enquiry into the charge-sheets against these three workmen, witness No. 2, Benarasi Lal, the workman said to have been assaulted at about mid-night on the 1st of July 1960 and witness No. 3, Shri Chandra Sekhar, another workman of the mill who worked in the C shift. On behalf of the Union there were two witnesses, namely, Shri Arun Sen, the General Secretary of Garden Reach Textile Workers' Union, and Shri Bhaskar, i.e., only one out of the three workmen concerned.

Admittedly during the domestic enquiry the three charge-sheeted workmen were not all throughout present. It would in the circumstances be fair first of all to examine the evidence before me regarding the two charges against these three workmen. The charge-sheets against these three workmen Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo and Exts. 1(1), 1(2) and 1(3) all of them dated 4th July 1960. As they are in identical terms it will be enough to reproduce only one of them:

"It has been reported by your in charge that on 1st July 1960 at 9-30 p.m. at the commencement of C shift you along with the above co-workers incited the workmen of your department under your shift to commence a stay-in-strike in an illegal and unjustified manner in which you also participated and later at about 12 mid-night you along with the above co-workers assaulted your co-worker Shri Benarasi for running his machine inside your department, causing him grievous physical injuries".

Admittedly to these charge-sheets all the three workmen submitted explanations. The explanation of Sibu is Exts. 1(4) and F, that of Mithoo Exts. 1(5) and G and Ext. 1(6) and I that of Bhaskar, both the parties having filed, the Company the originals and the workmen the copies of the written explanations of these three workmen. The explanations are practically the same. Each of them denies that he incited his co-workers to a stay-in-strike on 1st July 1960. Each of them also denies the assault on Benarasi. The evidence on the side of the Company is, as I have already said, that of three witnesses, namely, Sachihar, Benarasilal and Chandra Sekhar. Of these three again, Sachihar proves nothing but what happened during the domestic enquiry. Benarasi and Chandrasekhar are thus the only witnesses on behalf of the Company who testify to the incident forming the subject-matter of the charge-sheets. Benarasi stated in his evidence that on the 1st of July 1960 at 9-30 p.m. when he was going to start his work Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo came to the place where he was working and asked him to stop the machine. Benarasi enquired of them the reason for that and he attempted to start the machine but they stopped the machine, but when Benarasi again attempted to start the machine they took out rods, about 2 feet in length, and struck him on the head. As a result he fell down and became unconscious. In his cross-examination he says that his work was to wind thread on the bobbins with the help of the machine, and when he reached his machine, he saw some yarn already wound round the bobbins. He was asked by Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo to stop the machine and there were others ahead of them and behind them. He also says that not only his machine was stopped by them but also all the machines of his department were stopped by them. Benarasi then says that about 10 or 15 minutes afterwards he tried to re-start the machine and there was no officer of the Company at the time in the Carding Section when this incident happened. He also says in his cross-examination that he stated during the domestic enquiry whatever he stated before the Tribunal. He also stated that there were many workers in the Carding Section when he was assaulted by Sibu, Mithoo and Bhaskar, but he did not call any witness from his department in support of his case. The evidence of Chandra Sekhar is that on the first of July 1960 about 5 or 10 minutes after he had started operating his machine at about 9-30 p.m. as usual he found Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo coming towards his machine after stopping some other machines. They asked Chandrasekhar to stop his machine. Chandra Sekhar asked them why he should stop his machine and they told him that the machine must be stopped first and the reasons would be communicated later. They then stopped his machine and proceeded further. When they went away Chandra Sekhar re-started his machine, on finding that some other machines had already been re-started. Then Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo came back to his machine and stopped his machine and then again went away. Again after they had left Chandra Sekhar re-started his machine, they again came to his machine, and told him that if he did not stop his machine he would be assaulted. Then afraid of being assaulted Chandra Sekhar stopped the machine and stood near the electric motor. It was about mid-night then. Then Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo went to the machine of Benarasi who was trying to push the operating handle of the machine for starting it and these persons were trying to put the handle on the stop position. In this way Benarasi did not stop his machine and these three persons, namely, Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo took three spindles in their hands, started assaulting Benarasi at the same time. They hit him on the head and Benarasi became unconscious and fell down on the floor. In his cross-examination which is very short he said that he did not make any report to any one of the Company on the day of the incident or thereafter what he had seen with his own eyes, and the reasons why he did not make the report was that the Shaheb was there. Benarasi did not see the Saheb by which he evidently means the Departmental-in-charge at the time of the incident. That would not necessarily go to show that the Shaheb was not there, because after he was hit on the head, Benarasi was evidently not in a position to see whether the Shaheb was there or not. He also says that he did not at any time prior to the enquiry report to the management that he saw the incident in question. He repeats however, in cross-examination that what he stated about Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo was correct. As against this there is on the side of the Union the evidence of Shri Arun Sen, General Secretary and of Shri Bhaskar. Shri Sen was not an eye-witness to the occurrence and does not throw any light on the incident because his knowledge about it is derived only from the workmen themselves. Bhaskar, the only workman in this group examined for the Union, states in his examination in chief that it is not a fact that there was a stay-in-strike in their department and that he instigated his co-workers to any such strike; he says the department was running. According to him, it is also not a fact that at 12 mid-night he along with others caused grievous physical injuries to Shri Benarasi for running the machine inside their department. In his cross-examination he says that he used to work on machine No. 7, Mithoo on machine No. 3 and Sibu on machine No. 6 in the same department and that Benarasi was working in the Spinning Department. According to him on the first of July 1960 nobody assaulted Benarasi. Questioned whether Benarasi went to the hospital he answered that he did not know. That Benarasi is a workman of the Spinning Department does not appear to have been suggested to him on behalf of the Union, though in his cross-examination he stated that he was a worker of the Carding Department in the C shift. Chandra Sekhar was also a workman in the Carding Department in C shift. He also says that Benarasi used to work on a machine in the Carding Section C shift. This statement of his does not appear to have been challenged at all. It is only Bhaskar who stated in his cross-examination, as I have already stated, that Benarasi was working in the Spinning Department. In their written explanations the three charge-sheeted workmen merely stated that Benarasi did not work in the same shed where they worked but in a different shed but even there they did not say that he worked in the Spinning Department. In any event there is against the statement of Bhaskar the evidence of two witnesses namely Benarasi and Chandra Sekhar who at any rate belonged to the Carding Section and according to both of them Benarasi was working in the Carding Section. There is therefore, no inherent improbability in the story that Benarasi was assaulted by some one or other. During the domestic enquiry proceedings, a medical certificate, Ext. 8, was placed before the enquiring officer and this has come to the Tribunal as part of the record of the proceedings. This is the certificate, dated 11th of October 1960. It states that the doctor who gave this certificate and who is the doctor of the mill gave Benarasi first aid on 2nd July 1960 at 12-30 a.m. mid-night, and found a lacerated wound in the front of the sculp with severe hamorrhage and he was immediately sent to the Police Case Hospital in a Garden Reach Municipality Ambulance. The certificate also states that after returning from the Police Case Hospital Benarasi was admitted in the Mills Indoor Hospital the same day, i.e., on 2nd July 1960, and was kept there up to 5th August 1960 when he was discharged. This certificate shows that Benarasi had received an injury of a pretty serious nature which made it necessary for the hospital authorities to detain him up to 5th August 1960, i.e., for a little over a month. In this connection, may also be considered the assault on Hemraj which, although it is another assault, is alleged to have taken place at about the same time on the same day by another set of workmen. The police in Ext. NN appears to have treated the case of assault on Hemraj and the case of assault on Benarasi as parts of the same transaction and to have drawn up only one F.I.R. on the two cases of assault. The body of the F.I.R. of Ext. NN represents the statement of Hemraj but in the other parts of the form, evidently prepared by the police, it is stated that the accused were charged with voluntarily causing hurt by assaulting the complainant and his co-worker Benarasi and one Kedar with iron rods at about 12 noon on 1st/2nd July 1960 inside the Carding Section of Kesoram Cotton Mills and thereby causing injuries as per N.C. The police report was that there was not sufficient evidence against the accused to send them up for trial and thus they were discharged. Shri Pathak on behalf of the Union laid considerable stress on this F.I.R. and argued that it showed the utter falsity of the case made on behalf of the Company as regards the assault on Benarasi and Hemraj. Shri Pathak obviously lost sight of a piece of internal evidence in this F.I.R. itself which completely undermines his theory of the assault being reported to have taken place at 12 noon. This internal evidence consists of the police officers own entries in columns 1 and 3 "at about 12 noon on 1st/2nd July 1960" in that part of the F.I.R. which does not represent the statement of the informant Hemraj, though baised on that statement; when the police officer states here that the accused persons are charged with voluntary causing hurt to the person named at 12 noon on 1st/2nd July 1960, he evidently sums up his impression of the statement of Hemraj to him. If the occurrence took place at 12 noon, the date could have been either 1st July 1960 or 2nd July 1960 and not both. Why then does he mention both the dates? The only possible explanation is that according to his infirmation it took place at a point of time which was at about the meeting point of these two dates, i.e., at about mid-night and might either be 1st July 1960 or 2nd July 1960. That at once shows the mistaken expression used by the police officer regarding the information and not the falsity of the case. It is also nobody's case that Benarasi or for the matter of that Hemraj was a workman of any shift other than C shift and if neither of them is a workman in either A or B shift, obviously the assault could not have taken place during the day. There is thus nothing in this part of the contention of Shri Pathak.

Next it has been argued by Shri Pathak, that other workmen of the Carding Section have not been examined on behalf of the management. The Union also has not examined all the three workmen involved not to speak of other workmen. It is not that the management is called upon in a proceeding of this nature to prove a criminal charge against the workmen. All that the management is called upon to prove in such a proceeding is whether or not the allegations made against the workmen concerned in the charge-sheets have been established or in other words whether or not the Tribunal on a fair reading of the evidence is entitled to come to the conclusion that the evidence adduced on behalf of the management is substantially correct. On reading the evidence as a whole I do not see any reason to disbelieve the evidence of Benarasi and Chandra Sekhar. Shri Pathak has challenged the evidence of Chandra Sekhar on the ground that though he did not report about the incident to anyone else he could be examined during the enquiry. There might be many explanations for this, unknown either to Benarasi or to Chandra Sekhar. It is just possible that the management came to learn somehow or other of the presence of Chandra Sekhar at the time of the incident. That however is a matter on which it is needless to speculate. The evidence of Chandra Sekhar is there and if there are no other reasons why he should be disbelieved, the mere fact that it does not appear from the materials before me how he could be cited as a witness during the enquiry although he did not report to any one else would be no ground for disbelieving his evidence. It is admitted by Shri Arun Sen in his evidence that he visited Hemraj in the Police Case Hospital and he found an injury on Hemraj's head. He also says that he found another man also in the Police Case Hospital who is an Oriya, Hemraj and that Oriya were according to him in the hospital for two days. Of course, Benarasi is not an Oriya. According to Hemraj, he and Benarasi were taken to the Police Case Hospital in the same ambulance. Somehow or other Shri Arun Sen may have missed Benarasi in the Police Case Hospital or mistaken him for an Oriya. But the fact that Hemraj was there in the Police Case Hospital for the injury seen by Arun Sen goes to show that Hemraj had an injury and the medical certificate shows that Benarasi also had an injury. It seems to have been more serious because he had to be detained in the hospital for a little over a month but there is no such evidence regarding Hemraj. In any event there is no reason at all why the story of assault on Benarasi should be disbelieved.

Shri Pathak rightly laid stress on the fact that according to Benarasi's statement here the assault took place at 9-30 p.m. He makes the statement in such a way that it undoubtedly gives one the impression that the assault on him took place shortly after he started his machine at about 9-30 p.m. But according to Chandra Sekhar the time of the assault is about midnight, and as I have already pointed out, the time of the assault on Hemraj is about midnight on the same day. The evidence of Benarasi before the enquiry makes this quite clear. In his evidence before the enquiry he stated that on 1st July 1960 he started his machine at 9-30 p.m. Mithoo, Sibu and Bhaskar went to him with others and forcibly stopped the machine and these three persons stopped machines whenever he started it and he could not therefor work. At about 12 midnight when he again started the machine Mithoo, Sibu and Bhaskar came along and beat him with iron rods. During the examination of Benarasi, Mithoo appears to have been present and he put his thumb impression according to the note in the enquiry report. Mithoo was asked to cross-examine Benarasi but he declined to do so, and Benarasi was questioned by the enquiring officer as to whether he had any enmity with any of the charge-sheeted workmen and he said that he had no enmity with any one of them. So Benarasi clearly stated in his evidence during the domestic enquiry though he did not state it clearly before the Tribunal, that the time of the assault on him was mid-night and the statement, made by him before the Tribunal, as I have already pointed out undoubtedly gives one of the impression that the assault on him was made shortly after he started his machine. But it is clear both from his statement before me and from his statement before the enquiring officer that Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo stopped the machine of Benarasi not once but several times and that whereas in his evidence during the domestic enquiry Benarasi clearly stated when the first interruption and the assault took place, he does not clear say so in his evidence before the Tribunal. It is that omission of his in his evidence before the Tribunal which seems to me to be really responsible for the impression which his evidence as given here leaves on one. The evidence of Chandra Sekhar, however, before the Tribunal is clear on this point. His evidence during the domestic enquiry is also substantially the same. Shri Pathak referred to the statement of Chandra Sekhar during the domestic enquiry and argued that this witness could not have been present at the time of the incident. The statements are his answers to the last two questions put by the enquiring officer. These answers are that the whole department was stopped after 12 a.m. and they were given no wages for that night as the department remained completely stopped after 12 a.m. Shri Pathak argues it as absurd that the wages of the workmen for the entire shift should be deducted for their omission to work only during a part of the shift. It is possible that the statement of this witness on this point is not strictly accurate but it is difficult to see how it affects his testimony regarding the incident, or it might be that what he stated is substantially correct because the management might have treated the whole shift as a shift during which the workmen were on strike. In any event it does not seem to me to affect the credibility of Chandra Sekhar as regards the assault on Benarasi in any way. Then about the assault on Benarasi there was the evidence during the domestic enquiry of some more witnesses, namely, Lalan Singh and Satyapal Arora. There was a number of other witnesses to prove their instigation of the strike. The mill doctor who gave Benarasi the certificate was also examined during the domestic enquiry. The doctor certifies that at about 12-30 a.m. on the 1st of July 1960 Benarasi was brought to him in the Mill Hospital and he gave him first aid. There was profuse bleeding from his head and then he was sent to the Police Case Hospital. He also proves his medical certificate. Clearly therefore, Benarasi's omission to state before the Tribunal that the assault on him took place at about 12 midnight cannot bring into doubt the time of this assault in any way.

Shri Sachihar on behalf of the Company tried to prove the notices of enquiry on the three different charge-sheeted workmen. The first notice of enquiry on Sibu is Ext. 2, that on Bhaskar is Ext. 2(1) and that on Mithoo is Ext. 2(2). All these are dated the 9th of July 1960. These notices fixed 14th July 1960 at 4 p.m. for the enquiry. Admittedly these notices were served and admittedly all these workmen went up to the factory gate, it is also admitted that there was a partial stay-in-strike on that day and the workmen were not allowed entry inside the factory. That fully accounts for the absence of the workmen and as a matter of fact no enquiry was held on that day in view of this strike. It was however, the duty of the Company when the workmen had been served with notices of the enquiry, to ensure. that these men were not kept out of the mills in view of the strike when they turned up at the gate but evidently nothing like this was done. The second enquiry notices on these three workmen are Exts. 3(2), 3, and 3(1). Ext. 3(2) being the notice on Sibu, Ext. 3, that on Bhaskar and Ext. 3(1) that on Mithoo. These are all dated the 1st of August 1960 and the enquiry was fixed for 16th August 1960 at 11 am. Ext. 3(a) is the acknowledgement receipt bearing a signature. When Bhaskar was confronted with the Oriya signature on Ext. 3(a) he denied it to be his and said that he could not say whose signature it was. Shri Arun Sen states in his cross-examination that although he does not remember Bhaskar's local address he resided at that local address for about 1½ months after the receipt of the charge-sheet on the 4th or 5th July 1960 and he was in touch with him during that period of 1½ months. The acknowledgement receipt Ext. 3(a) bears two postal seals, one dated 8th August 1960 and the other dated the 10th of August 1960. Bhaskar according to Shri Arun Sen was at his local address up to about the 20th of August 1960. The registered letter containing this notice was addressed to his R/69 Garden Reach Road. Evidently some one must have received the notice and signed it. The acknowledgement receipt naturally made the management think that Bhaskar must have been duly served with the notice and it is difficult to believe when he says that he did not receive it, although according to Shri Arun Sen's evidence he was living at his local address at the time when the registered letter reached that address. Similarly the acknowledgement receipt of the notice on Mithoo, Ext. 3(b), came back with a thumb impression with the endorsement "L.T.I. of Mithoo". Mithoo did not appear before the Tribunal to deny it. The notice on Sibu admittedly came back unserved. The third enquiry notice on Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo are Exts. 4, 4(1) and 4(2) all dated 1st September 1960. Exhibit 4(a) is the acknowledgement receipt of the notice on Sibu, dated 8th September 1960. The notices on Bhaskar and Mithoo, Ext. 4(1) and Ext. 4(2), respectively came back unserved. The fourth enquiry notices on Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo are Exts. 5, 5(1) and 5(2) all dated 21st September 1960. The notice Ext. 5 on Sibu came back unserved, that on Bhaskar appears to have been received by some one on his behalf as the acknowledgement Ext. 5(b) shows. This acknowledgement receipt was placed before Bhaskar in his examination in chief and he says that the text of the Oriya writing in Ext. 5(b) is Bhaskar Panda, cousin of Jadunath Panda. He admits that his uncle's son is Jadu Nath Panda, but he says at the same time that it is not the signature of Jadunath Panda. In his cross-examination he admits that Jadu Nath Panda, his cousin, stays next door to him separately, and the name of his father is Chintamoni Panda. The notice also is addressed to Bhaskar, son of Chintamoni Panda, and the acknowledgement receipt purports to be signed by Jadu Nath Panda, son of an uncle of Bhaskar Panda. Ahtough Bhaskar denies the signature to be of Jadu, there is hardly any reason why the postal peon should have served the notice on any one other than a relation of Bhaskar, in the absence of Bhaskar himself. In any event the management had no means of knowing that this notice on Bhaskar was not served. Although a copy of the notice, Ext. 5(2), on Mithoo shows that it was sent under registered cover with an acknowledgement due, it has not been proved on behalf of the Company that it was really sent in a registered cover with an acknowledgement due. Consequently there is nothing before the Tribunal to show that this notice, Ext. 5(2), was actually served on Mithoo. On the materials therefore before me it does appear that some of the notices were served on some of the workmen but it cannot be held that all the notices were duly served on all the workmen. Consequently there might be good reasons for the absence of some at least of these workmen during the enquiry, though some again might have deliberately kept aloof from the enquiry. Whatever may be the truth in this matter, the fact remains that on the materials before me the charges against these three workmen Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo of having instigated their fellow workmen to a stay-in-strike in the C shift on the 1st of July 1960 and again of assaulting Benarasi at about mid-night in that very shift must be held to have been established. The findings therefore, arrived at during the enquiry are supported by the findings I have arrived at on the evidence before me and the action which the Company took against these three workmen on the enquiry report must be held to be justified under paragraph 14(b) of the Standing Orders, Ext. 29.

It appears that there was a reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act between Kesoram Cotton Mills and their workmen pending on the date of the dismissal of these three workmen. This was the dispute referred under Government Order No. 4928-I.R., dated 17th September 1960, and it was disposed of on 30th September 1961. Applications were filed on 29th December 1960 for approval of the Company's action against Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo. These applications however, were struck off by the Tribunal under a misapprehension and when the mistake was discovered a number of such applications similarly struck off were restored at the instance of the Union or the workmen concerned. But the applications against Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo were not included in the application that were restored. The Company therefore, complied with the requirements of the law after having dismissed Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo.

There is thus no ground for the Tribunal to hold that the dismissal of these three workmen, Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo was not justified in fact and law.

Group III—Sarbadin and Haladhar

I take up next group III instead of Group II. Group III consists of Sarbadin and Haladhar who were charged with instigating others to the stay-in-strike on the 1st of July 1960 and again assaulting Hemraj at about midnight that night. In other words, the first charge against them is exactly the same as that against group I and the second charge against them is similar to that against group I, the persons assaulted by them being Hemraj and the persons assaulted by group I being Benarasi. I have already had occasion to refer to the F.I.R. lodged by Hemraj in connection with the assault on him. The Company's case with regard to these two men Sarbadin and Haladhar is contained in paragraph 7 of the Company's written statement. Both of them according to the Company were employed in Warp Spinning Department C shift and both at about 9-30 p.m. on the commencement of the C shift along with Lingaraj, another workmen, instigated the workmen of the other department in C shift to an illegal and unjustified stay-in-strike in which they themselves also participated. It is also the Company's case against these two that in addition to this alleged incitement to a stay-in-strike and their alleged participation in it these two workmen along with Lingaraj at about midnight assaulted Shri Hemraj of the Weaving Department of the C shift causing him grievous physical injury because Hemraj had gone to bring weft bobbins. The Company then alleges that charge-sheets were issued on the 4th of July 1960 on account of their misconduct and they were duly notified about the dates of enquiry by delivery of notices but the workmen did not attend the enquiry on the 14th of July 1960, the date fixed. Thereafter the Company issued further notices to the two workmen Sarbadin and Haladhar by registered post asking them to be present at the enquiry on the 18th of August 1960. At the enquiry on the 18th the Company's written statement says that Sarbadin and Lingaraj were present and at the same time that the enquiry held on that date was adjourned till the 27th August 1960 in presence of both the workmen Sarbadin and Haladhar. Evidently there has been a mistake here in the written statement as to the identity of one of the two workmen present on that date. The mistake possibly lay in naming Lingaraj in place of Haladhar. This further transpires from the record of the enquiry and the evidence on the record. On the 27th badin attended the enquiry but Haladhar did not. was again adjourned till the 7th of September but ther of the two workmen appeared on that date. the 1st of October 1960, when the enquiry was be resumed at 5 p.m. Haladhar went to the Factory nager's office in connection with his bonus when enquiry officer asked him to wait till 5 p.m. and nd the enquiry, and so Haladhar attended the uiry on the 1st of October 1960. Then at the uest of Haladhar the enquiry was adjourned till 3rd of October and all the witnesses who were mined ex parte, previously were recalled. On the of October 1960, both Sarbadin and Haladhar re present but they refused to participate in the uiry and when the enquiring officer asked them ether they wanted further adjournments they said y would do as directed by the Union. The Comny in order to give them a final opportunity issued tices once again by registered post at their local dress calling upon them to attend the enquiry on 15th November 1960. But those were not served the workmen and the original postal notices were urned unserved with the remark "left". Thereafter other set of notices sent to them at their home dresses but these also were not received by the two rkmen. The enquiry was then held on the 16th December 1960 ex parte and both of them were nd guilty of the charges against them. Lingaraj d meanwhile resigned and his resignation was cepted by the Company. The Company then after e consideration of the charge-sheets, the notices, , against them, the report and the proceedings of enquiry dismissed them by letters of dismissal, ted the 24th of December 1960. As there was a erence under Government order No. 5053-IR/IR/ -32 58, dated the 28th of November 1958, the Comny applied under section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial spures Act. It is the Company's case that the tion taken by the Company against Sarbadin and l adhar is legal, bona fide and justified and the rkmen are not entitled to any relief.

The Union's case in respect of these two workmen set forth in paragraph 3(e) of the Union's written tement. In this paragraph there is a general denial the allegations of the Company in paragraphs 7(a) 7(h) and the facts are stated to be that the workmen re charge-sheeted and suspended on 4th July 1960 t they were not allowed to enter the mills by the rwans. This was duly reported to the Garden each police-station and the authorities, and Sarbadin e once more called for an enquiry on 18th August 60 but again he was refused entry. Haladhar was ver called after 14th July 1960 and as such the rkmen did not know of the enquiry.

On behalf of the employers there is the evidence respect of this group of workmen first of Shri hihar, the enquiry officer, secondly of Hemraj, the rkman involved, witness No. 4, and thirdly of Shri va Ranjan Chakraborty, a Spinning Assistant, ness No. 5. The evidence of Hemraj is that at ut 12 midnight when he was working on the ms as a weaver he found there were no bobbins so he went to collect bobbins from a wooden box the Spinning Department where bobbins were kept. he bent down and collected some bobbins in his gi from the box Lingaraj, Sarbadin and Haladhar ed him why he was collecting bobbins as they had pped the Spinning Department. He replied that weaving department was running and therefore must collect the bobbins and when he further stated that he must take the bobbins they pushed and started hitting him on the head with wooden rollers about a cubit in length. He fell down and became unconscious. When he gained his consciousness he found himself in the hospital of the Company. At about 3 a.m. in the night two policemen came and they asked him how he had sustained the injuries and he described to them the circumstances in which he had sustained them. Then he was taken along with Benarasi to the Police Case Hospital and he found Benarasi bandaged. Of course, he says in his examination-in-chief itself that he was in the Police Case Hospital for about 20 to 22 days and then after his discharge from the hospital he went home where he stayed nearly for three months and two months after his return from home the enquiry took place. At the enquiry he said what had happened. In his cross-examination he was questioned about the duties of helper weavers and he states that the duty of a helper weaver is to relieve a weaver when he goes out for his personal needs and to supply replacements in the machines. He was next questioned about the agreement between the Union and the Company regarding different items of work to be done by a weaver and a helper weaver and he says that he has no knowledge of any such agreement. Then he was questioned about the place where the occurrence took place. It is clear from his statement in cross-examination that the box containing the bobbins is placed on one side of the passage running through the middle of the Spinning Department, on one side of the passage being the finer spinning and on the other the coarse spinning. He found the box full of loaded bobbins when he went to collect the same and he further states in cross-examination that bobbins are collected not only by the helper weavers but also by the weavers. He also says in his cross-examination that the weaving department was working on that day in C shift and his duty in the C shift started at 9-30 p.m. and between 9-30 p.m. and 12 midnight he went to collect bobbins for the first time when the incident took place, and he did not see any other weaver collecting the bobbins from the box on that night but all the looms were working that night. It was suggested to him that the incident for which he had to be taken to the Mill Hospital took place at 12 noon and not at 12 midnight but of course, he denied it. Then there is the evidence of Shri Satya Sankar Chakraborty, a spinning assistant in the Warp Spinning C shift. He says that he saw the assault on Hemraj by Haladhar, Sarbadin and Lingaraj at 12 midnight on the 1st of July 1960. The assault took place near the entry to the Weaving Department and nearabout the centre of the red road taken widthwise. He came to the place on hearing a noise like "Ho Ho" and found a crowd of people near line No. 2 and when he went to the spot he saw Haladhar, Sarbadin and Lingaraj assaulting Hemraj each with a wooden roller on the head. Hemraj fell down and he noticed that he had received bleeding injuries and while the incident was going on Shri Jagmal Singh, in charge of the department, also arrived. When Jagmal Singh arrived he described to him the whole incident and in the meantime the three assailants left and Hemraj was removed to the Kesoram Cotton Mills Hospital. In his cross-examination he says that bobbins which the weavers need are weft bobbins and ordinarily bobbin-carriers collect these bobbins for the weavers but at times weavers also collect the bobbins. Weavers go to collect bobbins themselves under the impression that if they collect them that will help their work, and they do so because weavers are piece-raters and if they have more bobbins they will be able to produce more so as to earn more. He also says that the weft spinning and warp spinning are separated by a wall in which there is a door and as soon as one crosses the door of the Weaving Department one steps into the Spinning department, and the red road separates the Weft Spinning Department from the Warp Spinning Department. The red road is also called the main alley. Exhibit 24 is the report submitted jointly by Shri Jagmal Singh and Shri Chakraborty at 5-15 a.m. on 2nd July 1960 about this incident. It mentions Haladhar, Lingaraj and Sarbadin having incited the workers of the department to go on a stay-in-strike at the beginning of the C shift at 9-30 p.m. and also speaks about the assault at about midnight on Hemraj by these three workmen, so as to cause him grievous injuries when Hemraj came to fetch weft bobbins from the Spinning Department. Shri Chakraborty in his cross-examination also stated that at 9-30 p.m. when he was going on his rounds through line Nos. 6 and 7 he noticed Haladhar, Lingaraj and Sarbadin in the alley of lines Nos. 6 and 7; they were raising their hands and shouted "Ho Ho", "Bandh Karo Bandh Karo", "Stop Stop", and he also says that between 9-30 p.m. and 12 midnight the Spinning Department had stopped work, and as soon as work stopped in line Nos. 6 and 7 he ran to his departmental in charge Shri Jagmal Singh and reported the matter to him, and he further states in his cross-examination that the Spinning Department was closed throughout the night on the 1st of July 1960, and when he arrived at the mills before 9-30 p.m. on that night, the mill was working in the B shift. He further says that there is a box for putting bobbins in each individual spinning machine and these boxes are all kept on the red road. At the time of the assault on Hemraj all the machines in the Spinning Department had been stopped, and at the time of the assault none of the workers of the spinning department were actually at work on their machines, and they were collectively or individually grouped together in places in the department. He also says that even before the duties were allotted that night the workers had stopped working. As regards Ext. 24 he says it does not contain any statement that Jagmal Singh went to the spot and that he narrated to him what he had seen and his explanation of this omission is that he did not mention it because the report was drawn up in presence of Jagmal Singh himself and by Jagmal Singh personally in his own hand and both he and Jagmal Singh signed the report. So Exhibit 24 is really a joint report of Jagmal Singh and Shri Chakraborty. As against this evidence there is on the other side the evidence of Shri Haladhar alone, the other workmen Sarbadin not having been examined. He of course, denies having incited the other workmen to a stay-in-strike in the C shift that night and having participated in that strike. He also denies having participated in an assault on Hemraj at about midnight. He says in his cross-examination that he did not know Hemraj even at the time when he was deposing and he never saw him in his life, but he admits that a police case was started against him on the complaint of Hemraj. Questioned as to why Hemraj should made a false case against him, he replied that he did not know. He claims even uptil the time of his deposition that he did not hear that Hemraj had been assaulted on the night of the 1st of July 1960.

The question now is which of these two se witnesses should be believed. That Hemraj assaulted is proved by the injury which Shri Sen, the General Secretary of the Union, admit saw on Hemraj when he saw him in the Police Hospital, probably on the 2nd of July 1960. medical certificate, Ext. 25, proved during the en also confirms this. This medical certificate sh that there were three lacerated wounds on the and contusions and lacerated wounds on the little finger and left index finger. This conclus proves that there was an assault on Hemraj. when Haladhar says that even up to the time deposed before the Tribunal he did not know of such assault, it is at once obvious that he was telling the truth. The evidence of Hemraj has criticised on behalf of the Union on the ground for a weaver there was no occasion to collect bobb particularly when the Spinning Department already closed. Reliance was placed on behalf the Union in the matter on the agreement, Ex It is a lengthy agreement but for our purpose only portion which is relevant is paragraph 2 at pa under the main heading Loom Shed at page 3. paragraph runs as follows: –

> That the helper weaver will help the line pa in bringing all accessories from the store-r inside the shed and will maintain the working 16 allotted looms in perfect order. He would h the weaver in case of shuttle smash, re-draw chaining the beam, mounting belts and feeding looms with weft bobbins getting them from main alleys.

From this it is argued that the duty of bringing w bobbins from the box in the main alley was the d of the helper weavers and not of the weavers. T is obviously a very narrow interpretation of paragraph as it stands. The duty of the hel weaver is to help the weaver for feeding his loo with weft bobbins getting them from the main alle It is certainly true that under this part of the agr ment it is open to a weaver to call upon his help weaver to collect bobbins from the main alley b then there is nothing here to suggest that the wea if he is willing to pick up the bobbins himself fr the main alley is not entitled to do so. As the du of the helper weaver is merely to help the weav the option is entirely that of the weaver whether would get the bobbins from the main alley hims or whether he would get them through the h weaver. Evidently therefore, this agreement stands does not justify the criticism that it was open to Hemraj to go the main alley for pickin the weft bobbins. In this connection one must once again to the evidence of Hemraj as well a Shri Chakraborty, a spinning assistant that merely the helper weavers but also weavers th selves collect bobbins from the main alley

The next question is whether it was at all prob that Hemraj would go to collect the bobbins in v of the fact that the Spinning Department had clo as Shri Chakraborty admits. The closing of Spinning Department could not in any way affect weavers' need of weft bobbins for their own w in the weaving department, though it could well h affected the supply of such bobbins in the boxes the main alley. But even in spite of the closing the Spinning Department, there might have b weft bobbins in the boxes in the main alley left o from the previous shift. There is no reason why positive evidence of Hemraj and Shri Chakraborty on this point should be disbelieved on the purely speculative ground that there might have been no weft bobbins in the boxes at all, particularly when there was no suggestion to that effect to either of the two witnesses. From the evidence it is also clear that although there was a stay-in-strike there was a set of workmen in some departments who were not merely willing but anxious to work and who in spite of repeated interruptions were trying to go on working. One of those was Benarasi of the Carding Department who was severely assaulted as I have already found. The other evidently was Hemraj of the Weaving Department who tried to collect a few bobbins while the work was at a stand still in order that he might make use of them whenever he would get a chance to use the machine. There is thus no inherent improbability at all in the evidence of Hemraj that he went to pick up weft bobbins from the box in the main alley when he was assaulted. That is the evidence not merely of Hemraj but also of Shri Chakraborty. Then again the evidence of Hemraj has been criticised on the ground that in the F.I.R. the time of the incident was recorded by the police officer at "noon" on 1st July 1960. I have already pointed out elsewhere that the F.I.R. itself contains irrefutable internal evidence to show that the Police Officer used "noon" to denote midnight, the Police Officer's notes, not in the body of the information as given by Hemraj but in his own entries in columns 1 and 3 show that the occurrence must have taken place not at noon but at midnight. The date, as noted in these columns, is 1st 2nd July 1960 which clearly indicates that the occurrence took place at a time which was the meeting point of two dates, namely 1st July 1960 and 2nd July 1960. Obviously then there is nothing in this contention. That on behalf of the Union reliance was placed on this and an attempt was made to build up on it the case that the occurrence took place at noon and not at midnight would themselves suggest that the Union's case could not possibly be true. In this case also on behalf of the Union it was argued that the fact on the police report the accused, namely Haladhar and others were discharged would go to show that the case was false. The police report is simply to the effect that the accused persons may be discharged as there is no sufficient evidence to send them up for trial. Assuming that to be so, all that the police officer said that there was no sufficient evidence against the accused for sending them up for trial in a criminal case, although it is difficult to see how in spite of the evidence of the injured men and the evidence of some other witnesses it could be reasonably said that there was no evidence to send up the accused for trial; in any event in the face of the evidence before me I am not prepared to attach any importance to this kind of a police report, specially when it is not a criminal case that I am trying here. In all these circumstances it must be held on the materials in the record that Hemraj was actually assaulted by these two men Haladhar and Sarbadin at about midnight on the 1st of July 1960 during the C shift and that these two men had also incited other workmen to a stay-in-strike from the beginning of C shift that night at 9-30 p.m. and they themselves participated in that strike.

Ext. 16 is the record of the enquiry proceedings into the charge-sheets against this group. The first enquiry notice, Ext. 19 and Ext. 19(1), dated 9th July 1960, to Haladhar and Sarbadin, as in the case of the first group proved abortive in view of the partial strike on the 14th of July 1960, when the two workmen concerned were not allowed to enter the Mills. The second enquiry notices are Exts. 20 and 20(1). Ext. 20, dated 1st August 1960, came back unserved with a postal endorsement "left" so that this notice on Haladhar was not served but the notice, Ext. 20(1), on Sarbadin appears to have been served on 6th August 1960. The acknowledgement receipt of Ext. 20(1) is Ext. 20(b) which bears the signature purporting to be that of Sarbadin, dated 6th August 1960. Evidently therefore this notice, Ext. 20(1), dated 1st August 1960, was served on Sarbadin. Sarbadin had not come forward to deny its service. The date fixed by this notice for the enquiry was 18th August 1960 at 11 a.m. As a matter of fact from the enquiry proceedings it appears that on the 18th August 1960 at 11 a.m. Haladhar, Lingaraj and Sarbadin all appeared before the enquiry officer. It further appears that Jagmal Singh was examined in their presence and when each of them was asked to cross-examine Shri Jagmal Singh each said that he had no question to put to him but after the evidence of Jagmal Singh as recorded, had been explained to them the workmen refused to sign the same and then after Jagmal Singh's evidence the enquiry was adjourned to 27th August 1960 at 10 a.m. for further evidence. But on the next date of enquiry, i.e., 27th August 1960, it appears that only Sarbadin was present. On that date Jagmal Singh questioned Sarbadin about certain previous charge-sheets against him and then the enquiry was adjourned again to 7th September 1960 for recording further evidence and Sarbadin was asked to inform the other workmen. On the 7th however, none of the workmen was present but it appears that there was no notice to Haladhar who was not present on the preceding day, of this adjournment. On this date the evidence of Shri S. S. Chakraborty was recorded in the absence of any of the workmen concerned and again on the 9th of September 1960 the doctor who had examined Hemraj was examined and he proved the medical certificate. It appears there was no notice to any of the workmen of this adjournment of the hearing either. There was another hearing on the 15th of September, when also none of the workmen were present and it shows that there was no notice of this adjourned hearing to any of the workmen. On this date also a witness was examined ex parte. On the 19th September 1960 also two witnesses were examined ex parte, without any notice of the adjournment to either of the workmen. Then on the 19th of September again without any notice of this adjournment to either of the workmen two witnesses were examined in the absence of the workmen. On the 21st of September 1960 again without any notice of any adjournment and in the absence two witnesses were examined. On the 1st of October 1960 Haladhar and Lingaraj were present and in order to give them an opportunity of cross-examining the witnesses, the enquiry was adjourned to the 3rd of October 1960 at 5 p.m. when all the witnesses of the management except Jagmal Singh were to be recalled for cross-examination by the workmen concerned. On the 3rd October 1960 Haladhar and Sarbadin were present and so were all the witnesses already examined on behalf of the management but it appears from the record of the proceeding that Haladhar and Sarbadin both stated that they had come for the bonus and not for the enquiry and both refused to take part in the proceedings or to put their signatures to the proceedings or to take notice. The attempt, therefore, of the Enquiring Officer to enable these workmen to cross-examine the witnesses of the management failed. Then on 6th October 1960 when the enquiring officer adjourned the hearing to 15th November 1960 for the examination of Hemraj, Jagmal Singh on behalf of the Company insisted on no further notices being given to the workmen concerned but the Enquiry Officer said that it was desirable to give the workmen concerned notices of that hearing and he directed notices to be issued. These notices are Exts 21, 21(1) to Sarbadin and Ext. 21(b)(1) to Haladhar. Ext. 21 is a copy of the original Ext. 21(1). Ext. 21(1) was sent in a registered cover to Sarbadin. This registered cover is Ext. 21(a). It came back unserved with three postal endorsements "not traced", "not known", "left". Ext. 21(b)(1) is the original notice of which a copy is Ext. 21(2)(a)(1). Ext. 21(b)(1) was sent in a registered cover Ext. 21(b) to Haladhar and this registered cover also came back unserved with an endorsement "left". Thus neither of these notices was served and the date fixed for the enquiry in these notices is 15th November 1960. On 15th November 1960 however, it was adjourned to 15th December 1960 as Hemraj was not present and notices were directed to be issued on Haladhar and Sarbadin at their home addresses. These notices are Exts. 22(1) and Ext. 22 on Sarbadin. Ext. 22(a)(1) is the original notice and Ext. 22 is merely a copy. This original notice appears to have been addressed to Sarbadin at his local address and not at his home address as directed by the Enquiring Officer and the registered cover Ext. 22(a) came back unserved with the postal endorsement "left". A copy of the notice on Haladhar is Ext. 22(1). The original notice is not produced nor is the registered acknowledgement produced. There is however a letter Ext. 22(b) purporting to be from Dhajamoni, father of Haladhar. It tells the Company that Haladhar had not gone home for a year. It refers to the registered letter, dated 21st November 1960. This is obviously the original of Ext. 22(1). But then as Haladhar was not at home that notice could not possibly have reached him. Ultimately Hemraj was examined on 15th December 1960 in the absence of any of the workmen concerned. The report of the Enquiring Officer is Ext. 26. The Enquiring Officer after discussing the evidence against each of the workmen, Haladhar and Sarbadin, comes to conclusion that both of them incited the workmen in their department on 1st July 1960 in C shift to go on a stay-in-stirke, stopped their own machines and forcibly stopped the machines of those who did not willingly stop their machines and continued such stay-in-strike throughout their duty hours and he also finds that Haladhar and Sarbadin together with Lingaraj assaulted Hemraj at about midnight on 1st July 1960 and caused him injuries. These are also the findings arrived at by me on the evidence before me. Clearly therefore, the findings arrived at during the enquiry must be held to have been justified in fact. The workmen were liable under paragraph 14(b) of the Standing Orders, Ext. 29, to dismissal.

The Company filed applications under section 33(2)(b) against Haladhar and Sarabadin also but those applications were struck off and were not restored though some of the applications were restored at the instance of the Union or the workmen concerned. The action therefore, taken by the Company must be held to have been legally justified in their case.

Group II—Kailash (Sl. 5), Nidhiram (Sl. 6), Sk. Ramjan (Sl. 7), Ramfer (Sl. 9 and Merai (Sl. 10)

The Company's case against this group is contained in paragraphs 6(a) to (g) of its written statement. Kailash was employed in Weft Spinning C shift and Nidhiram, Ramfer, Sk. Ramjan and Merai, all in Carding C shift. The allegation against them is that is spite of a notice, dated 7th May 1960, these workmen at about 5-15 a.m. during the working hours on the 30th of June 1960 left their place of work, assembled in front of the office of the Secretary and the indoor hospital within the mill premises and after formation of a crowd incited the outgoing workers to shout slogans and created commotion and continued disorder for about half an hour and caused traffic jam and that they themselves participated in slogan shouting and forced others to shout slogans. Charge-sheets were issued against them on the 1st of July 1960 and they duly submitted their replies. Although these workmen did not attend the enquiry on the 1st date, namely the 14th of July 1960, they attended the enquiry on all other dates and on the 14th of July 1960 no enquiry could admittedly be held in view of the partial strike in the mills. On the basis of the report of the enquiry and the proceedings at the enquiry, the Company dismissed all these workmen by its letters, dated the 2nd of September 1960 and thereafter in view of the pendency of the adjudication proceedings in a reference No. 5035IR IR/8L-32/58, dated the 28th of November 1959, made applications under section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act before this Tribunal. According to the Company the dismissal of these workmen was legal, bona fide and justified and the workmen are not entitled to any relief whatever.

The Union's case about these workmen is contained in paragraph 3(b) of its written statement. The different allegations in the written statement of the Company are generally denied. The Union admits the issue of charge-sheets against these workmen and although the workmen could not attend on 14th July 1960 they attended on 13th August 1960 and they were not allowed to cross-examine the witnesses. They were told that their requests and submissions for allowing witnesses would be considered and they would be intimated afterwards but they were never called to produce the witnesses.

Before me on behalf of the Company there was only the evidence of Shri D. C. Sachihar, the Enquiring Officer, and on behalf of the workmen, apart from the evidence of Shri Arun Sen, the General Secretary who was not an eye-witness to the occurrence out of which the charge-sheets arose, there was the evidence of Sk. Ramjan Ali, S.P.W. 3. None of the other workmen of this group has been examined on behalf of the Union. The evidence of Sk. Ramjan Ali is to the effect that he worked in the Slubbing Section of the Weft Carding Department C shift, and his duty hours were from 9-45 p.m. to 5-45 a.m. He denies in his examination-in-chief that on the 30th of June 1960 at about 5-15 a.m. he left the proper place of his work along with some of his co-workers, assembled in front of the Secretary's office and the Indoor Hospital inside the mill premises, collected and incited the outgoing workers to shout slogans or to create commotion, causing traffic jam. About the enquiry he says that he was present during the enquiry lasting for 3/4 days though he could not present himself on the 1st day, namely 14th July 1960 when as a matter of fact no enquiry was actually held. He also claims to have stated before the Enquiring Officer what he stated before the Tribunal. His complaint is that the content of the proceedings at the enquiry were not read over to him but he signed the record of the proceedings as asked for. He also says that he is a member of the executive committee of the Union. The explanation of Kailash, Nidhiram, Sk. Ramjan, Ramfer and Merai are exhibits 12(2) and L, 12(3) and P, 12(4) and M, 12(6) and R and 12(7) and Q. In the explanation of Kailash it is stated that he came out at 5-45 a.m. from the department and when he went to the gate of the mills he found nobody in front of the Secretary's office and he denied having assembled before the Secretary's office. In Nidhiram's explanation however, while there is a denial of his having assembled in front of the Secretary's office as alleged it is stated that as he came out of the department he saw, while passing, a few workers of the Spinning Department standing before the doors of the Secretary's office and when he asked those persons the reason he was told that they were going to complain to the Manager or the "Spinning in charge" about their "in charge". Then in the explanation of Ramjan Ali it is stated that at about 4-45 a.m. he left the looms and while he was going, he saw some workers of the Spinning Department numbering about 4 talking with Shri Jyoti, in charge of the Spinning Department and he heard that they were submitting some complaints to him, but he did not wait there. In Ext. 12(4) which is the original the explanation the figure 4 was evidently 40 itially and '0' appears to have been scored through ithout any initials of whoever scored through it. he explanation of Ramfer also while it denies that assembled before the Secretary's office says that hen he came out from the mills he saw a few orkers were talking to Shri Jyoti of the Spinning epartment but as he had nothing to do with the atter he went out of the mills to his quarters. lerai's explanation also is to the same effect.

Ramjan in his cross-examination states that he ound only four people near the gate of the Secreary's office and those four persons were talking to hri Jyoti and when it was suggested there were orty men there he said that that would be a lie ince he had not seen them. As to his explanation e says that this was drafted by Shri Arun Sen, fter he had intimated to him the facts contained n the explanation but he does not know whether he contents of the explanation were correct as he oes not know English.

As against this there is on the Company's side I have already said, no evidence of any eye witness t during the domestic enquiry there were as many 17 witnesses examined before the Enquiring ficer.* Exhibit 10 is the record of this enquiry. l of these 17 do not speak against all the workmen in this group. Witness No. 2 for the Management Harbanslal Sarpal, Assistant, Weft Spinning C shift, spoke of Kailash not being found at his job. It is noted in the evidence that when the Enquiry Officer asked the charge-sheeted workmen whether they wanted to put any question in cross-examination, none of them had any question to put to him. Then witness No. 3 speaks against Ramfer who was found absent from his machine. Ramfer and Merai appear to have put questions to him in cross-examination. Similarly the next witness Satya Pal Arora spoke of Ramjan, Nidhiram and another having left their places of work and Ramjan appears to have cross-examined him. P.W. 5 Anup Singh stated in his evidence that when he was standing at the mill gate he saw that some workers were blocking the way in the mills and shouting slogans. According to him the number would be 7 or 8 and he identified the workmen present at the enquiry as having been amongst the 7 or 8. They were shouting slogans like Lal Jhanda Ki Jay and Kampani Ka Julum Nahin Chalenga. He appears to have been cross-examined by Ramjan and Kailash. In answer to a question from the Enquiring Officer whether he saw only these men or there were any others, he said that there were nearly 500 workers collected round these men. The Management's witness No. 9 during the domestic enquiry Kurpasindhu speaks of Kailash having left the department about 12/13 minutes before the shift was over. He was cross-examined by Kailash. Mataprasad, witness No. 10 for the Company, spoke of Ramfer having left the department at about 5-15 a.m. before the shift was over. Then the next witness speaks of Ramjan not having attended his machine that morning at 5.15 a.m. The cross-examination of this witness was declined by all the workmen. Then witness No. 13 for the management Shri Rajoo says that when the shift was over at 5-30 a.m. he came out of the department and saw a good many people collected before the Secretary's office and he also says that Nidhiram had come to him and told him that he had to go with others to the office near the hospital and to surround that office. Then witness No. 14 Ramji Dubey, also speaks of about 200 to 250 workers having collected before the Secretary's office thereby blocking the way badly and when they were asked to leave the way clear they said they wanted to make a representation to the manager. The only workman who appears to have cross-examined him is Bharat whose case is not pressed by the Union. Witness No. 15 Giridhari Singh speaks of some workers having collected near the Bada office but he did not name any of the workmen concerned. Similarly witness No. 16, Iswar Singh, speaks of a large crowd assembled in front of the Secretary's office but he does not name any of the workmen. The evidence of the Spinning Master Shri Jyoti is that he was informed in the morning of 1st July 1960 at 5.45 a.m. and some workers of the spinning department had collected before the Secretary's office. He went up to Secretary's office and saw the charge-sheeted workmen and others numbering nearly 100 or 200 collected there. He went to the workers who were in the middle of the crowd and asked them why they had collected there and they said that one Badli workman had not been given work by the department. Then he asked them whether they had taken the case to Shri Jagmal Singh or Shri Chakrabortv as he had asked them to do and if they had not approached the proper authorities, how their grivances could be met. He reprimanded them for their shouting and collecting there and the workmen conceded that they would do as directed. Even then they shouted slogans before the Secretary's office "Lal Jhanda Ki Jai" when Shri Jyoti left. This witness was cross-examined by Kailash, Bharat and Ramjan. On the 25th of August 1960 at about 4 p.m. all the workmen in this group except Bharat were examined and Bharat's case, as I have already stated, is not pressed by the Union. As many as six witnesses were produced on behalf of the workmen on that day. They were examined on behalf of the workmen and cross-examined by Shri Jagmal Singh on behalf of the Company. Witness No. 1 was produced by Ramfer. This witness says that he and Ramfer left the department after 5 or 7 minutes after their duty had been over, and that he found a lrage number of workmen of the Spinning Department standing near the hospital and they asked him to stop but he did not do so and went away. In his cross-examination he says that he could see Ramfer who was working about 15 or 20 yards away from him but as he left the mills immediately he was not in a position to say whether Ramfer stayed with the other workmen near the Secretary's office or not. Witness No. 2 also was produced by Ramfer and he says that he and Ramfer went out of the department at the end of the shift at about 5-30 a.m. and he went straight away to his residence. He says that he parted from Ramfer outside the Mill's main gate. Witness No. 3 was called by Merai and he says that he and Merai went out of the department together and he went away home. In cross-examination he was questioned whether he and Merai were in the department from 5 a.m. to 5-30 a.m. and his answer was "no". Of course in cross-examination he says that he saw nothing near the Secretary's office after 5-30 a.m. and he also says that he left Merai outside the Mill's gate. The next witness Shri Padan was called by Nidhiram. He speaks of having collected the piecers' bags from the piecers including Nidhiram at 5-30 a.m. In his cross-examination he says that piecers' bags are collected about 5 to 10 minutes earlier than the end of a shift and he also says that he did not see Nidhiram after 5-30 a.m. and he himself left the department after 6 a.m. Witness No. 5 is also called by Nidhiram. He says that he was still working on his machine when Nidhiram left and he knows nothing else. He also says he saw workers standing near the Secretary's office in a crowd. The next witness No. 6 Shri Darkhoo was called by Sk. Ramzan and he says that when he went to take over charge in the A shift at 5-30 a.m. Sk. Ramjan got the hanks noted down and then went away. On the next day, i.e., on the 29th of August 1960, Chandramoni was called in as a witness for Kailash, Ratnakar as a witness for Purushuttom, Ramanand for Bharat, Rajkishore for Ramfer, apart from another witness called Purushuttam. Chandramoni stated in his evidence that Kailash was at his work at about 5-30 a.m. In his cross-examination he said that he left his department at about 5-30 a.m. In his cross-examination he says that he saw Kailash standing near the machine up to 5-30 a.m. Then Ramanand says that he and Bharat came out of the department together and went away home from the Mill's main gate when he noticed in front of the Secretary's office about 50/60 persons. The next witness Raj Kishore cited by Ramfer stated that when he came to take charge in the A shift his counterpart Ramfer was still there and thereafter he left. In cross-examination he says that he entered the mill premises at 5-15 a.m. but did not see anything before the Secretary's office and he did not see Ramfer before 5-30 a.m. These were all the witnesses examined on behalf of the workmen. The the workmen concerned were asked if they would make any statement and each one appears to have stated that he stuck to his written explanation. Then the workmen were questioned by Jagmal Singh on behalf of the Company. There is nothing much in the statement of the other workmen but it appears that in answer to Jagmal Singh, Sk. Ramzan stated that he left his department at 5-45 a.m. When he saw before the Secretary's office Shri Jyoti standing and talking to Spinning Department workers and when he was questioned as to the number of the workmen who were collected there, his answer was about 40 or 50. He was again questioned whether he knew all these Spinning Department workers and his answer was that he did not know all of those 40 or 50 workers. Then he was questioned again how he said that they were all workers of the Warp and Weft Spinning and his answer was that they were not all workers of Warp or Weft Spinning and some might be of other departments, and he was not definite about them. On his statement as recorded in the domestic enquiry there is an endorsement under Ramjan's signature "explained in Hindi and admitted to be correct". Ramjan's evidence before the Tribunal is that the record of the proceedings was not read over to him and he signed it merely because he was asked to do so. The allegation that no witnesses examined on behalf of the company were allowed to be cross-examined by the workmen appears to be completely falsified by the record of the proceedings. This record also falsifies the allegation that the request of the workmen for citing witnesses would be considered and they would be intimated afterwards but they were never again called to produce the witnesses. The enquiry report is Ext. 14. After careful and elaborate consideration of the evidence before him the Enquiry Officer came to the finding that on the morning of 1st July 1960 (it appears from the evidence that the incident really took place between about 5-15 a.m. and 5-45 a.m. on 1st July 1960 and not 30th June 1960 as alleged in the charge-sheet), all the charge-sheeted workmen collected before the Secretary's office about 5-20 a.m. or 5-25 a.m. and Ramfer joined them at about 5-30 a.m. and they started shouting slogans stopped outgoing workmen, blocked the way and jammed the traffic by collecting a large crowd and this continued for about half an hour or more and all the charge-sheeted workmen were therefore guilty of serious acts subversive of discipline and riotous and disorderly behaviour during working hours, and all the workmen except Ramfer were also guilty of leaving their respective places of work about 15 minutes before the shift was over. He accordingly recommended dismissal of all of them. The question now is whether on this evidence the finding can be legitimately assailed on the merits. The evidence as analysed by me does go to establish the charges and even according to Ramjan's statement during the domestic enquiry and his explanation as it originally stood, there was a crowd of at least 40 men in front of the Secretary's office that morning. According to the evidence on behalf of the management they were shouting though the evidence on behalf of the workmen does not indicate that there was any shouting of slogans or any blocking of the way, etc. That something happened being admitted by Ramjan Ali and the other workmen in their written explanation though here an attempt is made to produce the impression that nothing happened, there is hardly any reason why the evidence on behalf of the management should be disbelieved. In these circumstances the findings arrived at by the Enquiry Officer do not appear to me to be legitimately open to any serious criticism. That this amounts to at least disorderly behaviour or acts subversive of discipline which is misconduct within paragraph 14(c)(viii) of the Standing Orders of the Company, Ext. 29, goes without saying. Under paragraph 14(b), such misconduct makes a workmen liable to dismissal. The order of the Company therefore, in dismissing these workmen for misconduct appears to be justified on the merits.

It has now to be seen whether there is any legal bar to their dismissal. One of these legal bars is said to be the proviso to section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act. The Company alleged in its written statement that it filed applications under section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act for approval of the action taken against them. Apart from the general denial of all the allegations there is no specific denial of this in the written statement of the Union. Neither party adduced any evidence on the point. It appears however, from the register of the Tribunal that applications had been filed for approval of the action against Kailash, Nidhiram, Ramfer, Ramjan, and Merai on the 17th of September 1960 and these applications were all struck off under a misapprehension by the Tribunal and then when the misapprehension was discovered a number of cases similarly struck off was restored at the instance of the Union but the Union did not press for the revival of the cases as against Kailash, Nidhiram, Ramfer, Ramjan and Merai. It is, herefore, clear that so far as the Company is concerned it complied with the requirements of the proviso to section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The other objection to the dismissal of some of the workmen in this group arises from the fact that they were members of the executive committee of the Union for the year 1960-61 so that they were not liable to dismisal except with the express permission in writing of the Tribunal under section 33(3)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act.

It is the evidence of Shri Arun Sen that Sk. Ramjan, Nidhiram, Kailash and Ramfer were members of the Executive Committee of their Union for the year 1960-61. In his cross-examination he says that they have got 90 members in the Executive Committee. He was not questioned any further on this point in his cross-examination. It further appears from Ext. 37(1) that Shri Arun Sen wrote a letter on the 25th of July 1960 to the Factory Manager enclosing a list of 82 workmen in three shifts as the "protected workmen" for 1960-61. This was sent to the Factory Manager by registered post with acknowledgement due. The postal receipt as well as the acknowledgement due have been also filed. The acknowledgement due has been marked Ext. 37. It appears to have been received by some one on behalf of the Factory Manager on the 27th of July 1960. In these lists the names of Ramfer, Ramzan, Nidhiram and Kailash were included. In the case of Ramzan however, the ticket number does not tally with the ticket number of Ramjan in the charge-sheet. The ticket number of Ramjan as shown in his own explanation is 171, and that is also his ticket number in the charge-sheet. But in the list forming part of Ext. 27(1) the ticket number of Ramjan is 123 but from the fact that in this list, in the charge-sheet and Ramjan's explanation Ramjan is shown as working in the Carding Department C shift, I am inclined to think in spite of the discrepancy in the ticket numbers as shown in the list, in the charge-sheet and his explanation, that Ramjan in the list is identical with the Ramjan who had been charge-sheeted and who is now before the Tribunal in this reference. Evidently therefore, on the materials on the record it must be held that the Company did receive on the 27th of July 1960 at any rate, if not earlier, a letter from the General Secretary of the Union enclosing a list of 82 workmen suggested by the Union for a revision of the list of "protected workmen". There is no evidence on the side of the Company. Rule 71 of the Rules under section 38 of the Industrial Disputes Act is the rule relating to protected workmen. Under sub-rule (1) every registered trade union has to communicate to the employer, before the 30th of September every year, the names and addresses of such of the officers of the Union who are employed in that establishment and who, in the opinion of the Union, should be recognised as "protected workmen". Then sub-rule (2) provides as follows:—

> "The employer shall, subject to section 33, sub-section (4) recognise such workmen to be 'protected workmen' for the purpose of sub-section (3) of the said section and communicate to the Union in writing within the fifteenth day of the receipt of the names and addresses under sub-rule (1), a list of workmen recognised as 'protected workmen'."

Sub-rule (3) provides for copies of communications under sub-rules (1) and (2) being sent to the Labour Commissioner and the conciliation officer concerned. Then sub-rule (4) lays down that where the total number of names received by the employer under sub-rule (1) exceeds the maximum number of the protected workmen, admissible for the establishment, under section 33, sub-section (4), the employer shall recognise as protected workmen only such maximum number of workmen. But under the first proviso to sub-section (4), if there is more than one registered trade union in the establishment the maximum unmber shall be so distributed by the employer among the unions that the number of recognised protected workmen in individual unions bear roughly the same proportion to one another as the membership figures of the Union and the employer shall in that case intimate in writing to the President or the Secretary of the Union the number of protected workmen allotted to it and a copy of that letter shall also be sent to the Labour Commissioner. There is a second proviso to this sub-rule to the effect that where the number of protected workmen allotted to a Union under sub-rule falls short of the number of officers of the Union shall be entitled to select the officers to be recognised as protected workmen and such selection shall be made by the Union and communicated to the employer within five days of the receipt of the employer's letter. Then sub-rule (5) provides that when a dispute arises between an employer and any registered trade union whether a particular workman should be recognised as a "protected workman" or not, the dispute shall be referred to the Labour Commissioner whose decision thereon shall be final.

The question now arises whether on the materials on the record it can be held that the four workmen namely Kailash, Nidhiram, Ramfer and Ramzan were "protected workmen". The explanation at the end of sub-section (3) of section 33 lays down that for the purpose of this sub-section a "protected workman", in relation to an establishment, means a workman who, being an officer of a registered trade union connected with the establishment, is recognised as such in accordance with rules made in this behalf. Evidently therefore, in order that the workman may become a protected workman within the meaning of this definition two things are necessary, namely first that he must be an officer of a registered trade union connected with the establishment and secondly that he must be recognised as such in accordance with rules made in this behalf. Unless both of these two conditions are satisfied a workman cannot be said to be a protected workman within the meaning of this definition. In this case the Union undoubtedly communicated to the management before the required date a list of the workmen who in the opinion of the Union should be recognised as protected workmen. It is stated in the letter, Ext. 37(1), that all the workmen in the lists are office-bearers of the Union and the Secretary hoped that they should be accepted as protected workmen as provided in rule 71 of the West Bengal Industrial Disputes Rules, 1958. There is however, a little technical defect in the list because the addresses of the workmen are not given in the list, as required under the rules but to my mind this is a trifling omission on the part of the Union and the commission could easily have been made good, if the management had pointed it out to the Union. This much then is clear that the first condition of these four workmen being treated as protected workmen was fulfilled in this particular case. The question is whether the second condition was also fulfilled. Admittedly the Company did not even care to reply to this letter of the Union nor has the Company offered any explanation whatever of this silence. Sub-rule (2) obliges the employer, subject of course to section 33(4) to recognise such workmen as protected workmen and to communicate to the Union in writing within 15 days of the receipt of the names and addresses under sub-rule (1) the list of the workmen recognised as protected workmen. The obligation, therefore, imposed by sub-rule (2) on the employer is not an unqualified obligation, it is a qualified obligation. What qualifies the obligation is the requirement of sub-section (4) of section 33 under which the number of workmen to be recognised as protected workmen shall be 1 per cent. of the total number of workmen subject to a minimum of 5 and a maximum of 100 and for this purpose the appropriate Government may make rules provided for the distribution of such protected workmen amongst various trade unions, if any, connected with the establishment and the manner in which the workmen may be chosen and recognised as protected workmen. The State Government has made a rule, namely rule 71 for the purpose. The employer simply sat quite after having received the list of workmen from the Union without caring to reply to it or to take any further steps for clarification of any matters that might need clarification so as to expedite its recognition of a number of workmen of this Union as protected workmen. The question, therefore, arises whether from this omission on the part of the employer which, as far as one can judge on the materials on the record seems to have been deliberate, one is entitled to say that all the workmen mentioned in the list were actually recognised as protected workmen in accordance with the rules made in this behalf. On behalf of the Union the decision of a single Judge of the Punjab High Court in Malout Transport Co. (P) Ltd. and State of Punjab and others, 1961, II, L.F.L. R. 131, has been relied on. What appears to have happened in that case is that during the pendency of an adjudication a workman of the transport company was dismissed on the ground of misconduct and then the dismissed workman filed an application under section 33A. The company in its written statement questioned the maintainability of the complaint under section 33A on the ground that as it had no standing orders the question of contravention under section 33 could not arise. The Tribunal found against the company, that Chanan Singh, as a protected workmen, could not have been dismissed without the written permission of the Tribunal. Then there was a petition by the Company before the High Court under Articles 226 and 227 of the Constitution seeking to quash the award. On behalf of the Company it was argued before the High Court that Chanan Singh was not a protected workman but the High Court overruled that contention. The facts appear to have been that the Union concerned conveyed to the Company the names of four workmen who should be treated as protected workmen. The Company did not raise any dispute in regard to it within 15 days allowed under sub-rule (2) of rule 61 of the Industrial Dispute Punjab Rules, 1958, and it was not brought to the notice of the High Court that at any time any dispute was raised by the Company. The Counsel for the Company appears to have relied on a letter of the Labour Officer to the Company asking it to intimate the action taken by it on the Union's letter regarding the recognition of the protected workmen, and from this letter the High Court was asked to infer that probably it had not till then, been decided whether Chanan Singh was or was not a protected workman The High Court however, did not accept the argument and then dealt with the question as follows:

> "A bare reading of the sub-rules shows that the workers' Union have first to send to the Company a list of protected workmen and the Company has then to treat those workmen as protected workmen or raise a dispute about the same which has to be decided by the Conciliation Officer concerned. The workers in this case did submit the list on the 18th July 1959, that is before the due date (30th September). It is not even alleged by the Company that they raised any dispute within fifteen days or even at any later time with regard to Chanan Singh being a protected workman. Chanan Singh's name was included in the list submited by the workers Union at No. 3 and he must, therefore, be treated as a protected workman and, in my opinion was rightly treated as such by the Labour Court".

The High Court accordingly dismissed the petition of the Company for quashing the award. On behalf of the Company no contrary decision could be cited but with due deference to his Lordship of the Punjab High Court one may point out that in the absence a rule that when an employer fails to discharge of its statutory obligations without being able explain this failure, it must be deemed or pre-ned to have discharged its duty in recognising a rkman as protected, it is difficult to agree with conclusion arrived at by his Lordship, although Court was perfectly within its rights to refuse issue a prerogative writ under Articles 226 and of the Constitution in favour of a party which failed to discharge its statutory duty without reasonable explanation. But, as far as I know re is no such rule of presumption and conse-ntly non-performance of the statutory obligation the employer in this case to my mind leaves un-illed one of the two conditions to be satisfied ore a workman can become a protected work-n within the meaning of the explanation in sub-tion (3) of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes t. It was open to the Union to raise a dispute ut it just as it was open to the management to se any such dispute, if there was anything in the nmunication of the Union which prevented it m taking action on the strength of that commu-ation, but evidently the employer for some son or other thought it more expedient to sit on fence rather than to proceed with the matter evidently the Union fell into the trap of the ployer with the result that one of the two condi-ns, namely, the actual recognition of the work-n concerned as protected workmen by the Com-ny is left unfulfilled. In this view it is hardly ssible to hold that the four workmen concerned re really protected workmen within the meaning the explanation in sub-section (3) of section 33. If y were not protected workmen then the absence an express permission in writing of the Tribunal the dismissal of these workmen is no bar to their missal. It is regrettable that the Company rained from taking any action on the communi-ion of the Union as to the recognition of a mber of these workmen as protected workmen d thereby defeated the purpose of section 33(3) the Industrial Disputes Act; it is equally regret-le that the Union did not proceed further and se a dispute in the matter when the Company had replied to its letter for more than 15 days. On issue I wish it were possible for the Tribunal to something in this reference but the conclusion ived at on the question whether these four work-n were protected workmen or not prevents me m doing anything. In the result it must be found t the dismissal of the workmen in this group was tified in law and fact.

The case against Ramkewal is contained in para-aph 8 of the Company's written statement but at paragraph says nothing beyond this that a arge-sheet was issued against him for unauthoris-absence from 2nd June 1960 to 28th June 1960 d that in the ex parte enquiry that was held after e service of several notices on him, he was found ilty and dismissed. Ramkewal's defence is con-ned in paragraph 3(d) of the Union's written tement where after having denied generally the rious allegations against him in the Company's itten statement it is stated that the workman nt on leave on being sick and he was due to join 2nd June 1960 but he applied for extension on edical grounds and it was never intimated to him at his prayer for extension was not allowed and he came back and reported for duty on 28th June 1960 but was not allowed to resume his duties but about six month's later a charge-sheet was issued against him. On behalf of the Company the only witness examined about Ramkewal is Shri Sachihar who held the enquiry into the charge-sheet against him and on behalf of the Union Ramkewal was examined. Ramkewal is not in a position to state when he actually went on leave, when his leave expired and when he was due to come back, although he states that he came back 7 days after the expiry of even the extended leave if it is held to have been granted. It appears however, from Ext. 33(10) that his application was received by the Company on 28th June 1960. Exhibit 33(6) is the original application of Ramkewal. It appears from the endorsement on this application that he was granted leave for one month and a half from 18th April 1960. Evidently therefore, this leave was due to expire on the 1st of June 1960. The application for extension of leave is Ext. 33(7). The application itself bears no date but the medical certificate accompanying it, Ext. 33(8) is dated 1st June 1960. This letter therefore, could not have been posted earlier than the 1st of June 1960, when the original leave granted to him was due to expire. The endorsement on the application on it shows that it was received by the Company on 3rd June 1960, when the original leave had already expired. There was, therefore, no time for the Company to inform the workman of the refusal of this extension before the expiry of the original leave granted to him. There is endorsement on this application, Ext. 33(7), that no further extension can be granted and this endorsement is dated 7th June 1960. It appears a post card was issued to him under a certificate of posting, Ext. 33(9), on 9th June 1960 but what the contents of the post card were, there is nothing whatever to show; possibly it intimated to him that no further extension could be granted. According to Ramkewal he did not receive the post card. But even this extended period of leave would have expired on the 16th of June 1960. Ramkewal claims to have reported himself for duty 7 days after this period, i.e., 23rd June 1960. Although he himself is not in a position to state when actually he joined, the Union stated in its letter, Ext. Y, dated the 28th of June 1960, to the Factory Manager that the workman came back cured and reported for duty on 23rd June 1960 and applied for resumption of duty but the Union's own case in its written statement is that the workman reported for duty on 28th June 1960 and this is also what the endorsement on Ext. 33(10) shows. As Ramkewal, the only witness who testified on behalf of the Union as regards his own case, is not in a position to state when actually he joined or when the leave expired and as the Union itself made the case in its written statement that he joined on 28th June 1960, a case which supports the endorsement on Ext. 33(10), it is at once obvious that the statement made in Ext. Y is not correct. Whether it was inadvertently made or made deliberately it is difficult to say. In any event this much is clear that although even the extended period of Ramkewal's leave if that extension had been allowed expired on the 16th of June 1960, Ramkewal did not report for duty till the 28th of June 1960. The next question is whether on the materials on the record there are good grounds for holding that he was actually sick and therefore, unable to attend. Exhibit 33(8) the medical certificate, which accompanied Ext. 33(7), his application for an extension of leave, says that Ramkewal was suffering from Colitis and this certificate is from the Medical Officer of a dispensary at Bikapur. Ramkewal in his evidence says that when he was on leave for 1½ months he fell ill and applied for medical leave for 15 days. What the nature of this illness was he does not say at all, nor does he appear to have been questioned about it either in his examination in chief or in his cross-examination. It is impossible on this material to say whether he was actually ill or not. In this state of the evidence it is impossible to hold that the management's refusal to extend the leave originally granted to him was unjustified. But even if it could be assumed that this was unjustified this extended period of leave itself expired on the 16th of June 1960 and he did not, as I have already found, report for duty till the 28th of June 1960. In paragraph 9(b) of the Standing Orders, Ext. 29, if the workman after proceeding on leave desires an extension thereof, he has got to apply to the Manager and the Manager has to send him a written reply either granting or refusing the extension if his address is available and if such reply is likely to reach him before the expiry of the leave originally granted to him. In the circumstances of this case, as I have already pointed out, the application for extension of the leave granted to him did not reach the management till 2 days after the expiry of the leave originally granted to him so that there was no obligation on the management to inform him whether this prayer for extension was granted or not. But even then it appears that the Company sent him a post card under a certificate of posting, Ext. 33(9), on the 9th of June 1960. Then in paragraph 9(c) of the Standing Orders, if the workman remains absent beyond the period of leave originally granted or subsequently extended he shall lose his lien on his appointment unless (a) he returns within either days of the expiry of the leave, and (b) explains to the satisfaction of the Manager his inability to return before the expiry of his leave, and paragraph 9(c) also provides that in case the workman loses the lien on his appointment he shall be entitled to be kept on the Badli list. Now in this case, as already found, the workman did not report within 8 days of the expiry of even the extended period of leave, if that extension be held to have been allowed although in fact it was not allowed nor does he appear to have explained to the satisfaction of the manager his inability to return before the expiry of his leave. If the extension be treated as having been refused as in fact it was, his return to duty was 27 days after the expiry of his original leave and if the extended period is treated as having been granted though it was not, his return to duty was 12 days after so that the first of the two conditions which saves his lien on his appointment was not fulfilled, nor was the second because he offered no satisfactory explanation whatever for his inability to resume his duty before the expiry of the leave. In these circumstances under paragraph 9(c) of the Standing Orders, Ramkewal automatically lost his lien on his appointment and then he had a right to be kept on the Badli list. The Company does not however appear to have proceeded against him in that way. It served him with a charge-sheet, Ext. 33, dated 27th January 1961. In the charge-sheet it is stated that he had been granted leave for 1½ months up to 1st June 1960 but he did not join his duty on 2nd June 1960 and absented himself without extension of leave from 2nd June 1960 to 28th June 1960 by reason of which he lost his lien on his appointment. It is then stated in t charge-sheet that he was directed to join as Ba but he deliberately failed and neglected to join duties as a badli, and it was alleged that by above acts he committed misconduct. Ramkew admittedly did not reply to the charge-sheet nor d he attend the enquiry into the charge-sheet, so th the enquiry into that charge-sheet was ex parte a Ramkewal's explanation of his failure to reply to t charge-sheet or to appear during the enquiry is th the matter had been taken up meanwhile by t Labour Commissioner and as the matter had be taken up by the Union and that was pending befo the Labour Commissioner he did not reply to t charge-sheet and he was not even aware of t enquiry. The explanation offered on behalf of t Company of its decision to proceed against Ramkew by issue of a charge-sheet for misconduct is that h was alleging before the Labour Commissioner tha he still continued to be a permanent workman c the Company, and in support of this on behalf of th Company reference was made to Ext. 4, a letter fro Shri A. Sen to the Factory Manager, dated 28th Jun 1960. It is certainly true that if the Compan actually treated Ramkewal as a workman wh having lost his lien on his appointment was reduce to the status of a Badli, it was quite unnecessary fo it to proceed against Ramkewal by way of a charg sheet, but when it did proceed against him by wa of a charge-sheet, there is certainly an amount c inconsistency between its case that Ramkewal wa treated as a Badli and that he should be proceede against by way of a charge-sheet. On the fact proved before me Ramkewal must be held to have lost his lien on his appointment and so under the Standing Orders his sole right was to be on the Badli list. The Company of course, claimed in its charge-sheet to have directed him to join as a Badli but there is no evidence before me to that effect, beyond the statement in the charge-sheet which of course is not proof of that allegation. If Ramkewal was not informed that he was being put on the Badli list there is hardly any question of his reporting himself for duty as a Badli. The Company by proceeding against Ramkewal for misconduct might have acted by way of abundant caution but at the same time when it does not appear to have proved that he was actually called upon to work as a Badli, there could have been no question of Ramkewal joining as a Badli and it is just possible that if he was called upon to work as a Badli he might have done so. In the circumstances I am inclined to think that the dismissal of Ramkewal is not fully justified, although on the facts proved, as I have already stated, Ramkewal appears to have lost his lien on his appointment as a permanent workman. The proper relief in his case therefore should be to call up him to join as a Badli and if he does not report himself as a Badli within a month of the award coming into force it will be open to the Company to strike off his name from the Badli list.

Mataprosad

The case of Mataprosad like that of Ramkewal is also a case of overstaying leave. The case against him as stated in paragraph 11 of the Company's written statement is that he went on authorised leave for the period between 11th April 1960 and 25th May 1960 but after the expiry of his leave he did not report for duty and remained absent without extension of his original leave for 35 days from the 26th May 1960 to the 30th of June 1960 and subsequently in terms of the provisions of the Standing Orders of the Company he lost his lien on his appointment. It is the Company's case that Mataprosad did not ask for an extension of leave but merely sent two medical certificates one about a week and the other about a month after the expiry of the original leave and no extension was granted by the Company and he was accordingly informed by two letters, dated 10th June 1960 and 30th June 1960. Mataprosad according to the Company came to the mills on the 1st of July 1961 which is obviously mistake for 1960 and was asked by the Company to join as a Badli having lost his lien on his appointment but Mataprosad deliberately failed to join as a Badli, for about 6½ months. Then the Company issued a charge-sheet against him on the 12th of January 1961 and Mataprosad acknowledged the charge-sheet but he did not submit any explanation nor did he attend the enquiry in spite of notices. In an ex parte enquiry he was found guilty of the charges against him.

The Union's case about Mataprosad as stated in paragraph 3(g) of its written statement is that Mataprosad went on sick leave from 11th April 1960 to 25th May 1960 and as he was not cured and was treated in a hospital he prayed for an extension of leave for 20 days and prayed again for another extension for 15 days and when he came back on 1st July 1960, on being cured, with a fit certificate he was not allowed to work. On behalf of the Company the only witness examined in respect of this workman is Shri Sachihar who held the enquiry into the charge-sheet against him and the only witness on behalf of the Union about him is Mataprosad, apart from Shri Arun Sen who however cannot throw any light as to what happened when Mataprosad was away. That Mataprosad was on leave from 11th April 1960 to 25th May 1960 is thus common ground between the parties. It is equally common ground between the parties that Mataprosad came back to the mills on the 1st of July 1960. The first medical certificate that Mataprosad sent to the Company is Ext. 34(3), dated 25th May 1960. It is a certificate from Dr. J. C. Chatterjee, medical officer of a charitable hospital at Pratapgarh. It was to the effect that Mataprosad was unable to perform his duty from 26th May 1960 to 14th June 1960 as he was suffering from dysentery and he recommended for him leave of absence of 20 days with effect from 26th May 1960 for recuperation of his health. The next certificate, dated 14th June 1960, is also from the same doctor. Here he states that Mataprosad is unable to perform his duty from 15th June 1960 to 30th June 1960 as he is suffering from marked general weakness and annoxea but he leaves blank the relevant portion of the next sentence, "I recommend for him a leave for absence ..... day which effect from ..... for recuperation of his health". According to the Company these medical certificates were sent without any application for extension of leave. The Company claims to have informed Mataprosad by one post card under a certificate of posting, Ext. 34(4), on 10th June 1960 and by another post card again under a certificate of posting, Ext. 34(6) on 30th June 1960. The contents of the post cards of course, were not proved by any one, but from the endorsement on the medical certificate, Ext. 34(5), it would seem that the extensions asked for were not allowed and although this is not noted in Ext. 34(3), it is noted in Ext. 34(5). Mataprosad's evidence is that he was admitted to a hospital in Pratapgarh and the doctor advised him 20 days' more leave and he sent an application for an extension for the said period but he did not receive any intimation from the Company refusing his prayer and when he was not cured within the period of 20 days' leave he prayed for further 15 days' leave. He did not receive any reply to this either. Then when he reported for duty on the 1st of July 1960 the Labour Officer told him that his services had already been terminated and he could take his settlement. Then he submitted two applications but was not given a hearing. Then he was served with a charge-sheet but as his case had been taken up with the Labour Commissioner he did not reply to the charge-sheet nor was there any enquiry. There is nothing in his cross-examination to suggest that he was not actually ill nor is there any suggestion to him in his cross-examination that he had ever been directed by the Company to join as a Badli. On behalf of the Company there is no evidence at all to show that he was ever asked by the management to join as a Badli. Of course the two medical certificates do not show that Mataprosad was actually admitted in a hospital though the certificates are from the doctor of a charitable hospital. The Company's second post card sent under certificate of posting, Ext. 34(6), dated 30th June 1960, could not possibly have reached him before the 1st of July 1960 when he admittedly reported for duty but the first sent under a certificate of posting, Ext. 34(4), dated the 10th June 1960, might have. But Mataprosad says that he did not receive any communication. Of course there was no obligation on the Company to inform him when the first medical certificate evidently did not reach the Company before the expiry of the leave originally granted to him because the medical certificate, Ext. 34(3), is dated 25th June 1960 when that leave expired. In these circumstances it is difficult to say that the management was not justified by its standing orders in treating Mataprosad as being absent from duty without leave from the 26th of May 1960 to the 30th of June 1960 although he had sent two medical certificates showing that he was ill. In the circumstances it was certainly open to the Company under the Standing Orders to treat Mataprosad as a workman who had lost his lien on his appointment because admittedly if the extensions which he had asked for are treated as having been refused as they must be on the evidence, the workman under paragraph 9(c) of the Standing Orders lost his lien on his appointment and as such was entitled to be put on the Badli list but then as in the case of Ramkewal the Company proceeded against him by way of a charge-sheet for misconduct and that after several months and there is nothing at all before me to show that the Company had called upon Mataprosad to join as a Badli. In the circumstances, as in the case of Ramkewal, although the Company might have proceeded against him for misconduct by way of abundant caution, the fact remains that Mataprosad does not appear to have been called upon to join as a Badli so that by dismissing him the Company denies him even that right and this is not proper or fair. In the circumstances my finding is that the Company's order of dismissal of Mataprosad is not justified and the relief he is entitled to is that he should be called upon to join as a Badli and if he refuses to join as a Badli within a month of the award coming into force, the Company will be entitled to strike off his name from the Badli list.

In respect of Ramkewal and Mataprosad there are two applications of the Company under the proviso to section 33(2)(b) pending. On behalf of the Company it was conceded by Shri Bose that those applications constitute no bar to the case of Ramkewal and Mataprosad being considered in this reference. These two applications, however, will have to be disposed of in the light of the findings arrived at in this reference after the award has been published.

Saheblal

The case against Saheblal as contained in paragraph 10 of the written statement of the Company is that he was employed on the 18th of March 1960 as a substitute worker in Auto Shed C shift but since the 4th of June 1960 Saheblal started absenting himself from his duty, and as such in terms of the provisions of the Standing Orders of the Company he was not entitled to any relief from the Tribunal.

The Union's case however, as contained in paragraph 3(f) of its written statement is that the various allegations made about him in the Company's written statement are generally denied and then it is stated that on 11th June 1960 he met with an accident while on duty and was removed to N. R. Sarkar Hospital and being fit he reported for duty on 5th July 1960 but he was not allowed to work. It is also stated that his accident was not reported to the Factory Directorate nor was his attendance on 11th June 1960 recorded. On behalf of the Company the only witness examined in respect of Saheblal is witness No. 6 Shri Protap Singh Bhandari, Joint Head Time Keeper of Kesoram Cotton Mills, and on behalf of the Union only Shri Arun Sen spoke about him. Saheblal was not himself put into the box. It is the evidence of Shri Protap Singh Bhandari that Saheblal was a Badli worker and he was appointed as a Badli worker some time in March 1960 and he started absenting himself from some time in the month of June. He produced attendance registers, Exts. 35 and 35(1). It appears from Ext. 35 which is the muster roll of the section in which Saheblal was engaged from 29th May 1960 to the 5th of June 1960, that Saheblal was absent from the 3rd of June to the 5th of June. The other register, Ext. 35(1), is from the 6th of June to the 12th of June 1960. 6th of June was a holiday and Saheblal appears to have absented himself from the 7th of June to the 12th. Shri Protap Singh Bhandari also said so in his examination in chief. In his cross-examination he first says that if a Badli workman attends on any particular day but is not given any work, they do not put any mark against his name except a dash under the date. There is no other marking for that day. In the next sentence he says that if a Badli workman is present and at the same time given work he is not marked absent but he is marked absent only if he be found absent even after work is allotted. He further says in his cross-examination that Exts. 35 and 35(1) show that throughout the second week and for a part of first week he had absented himself. But curiously enough the next sentence in his cross-examination is as follows:

> "His absence mark throughout the second week of June 1960 may indicate that he was not allotted work although he might have been present. When a badli reports for duty but is not given any work he is marked absent. That is the general practice which we follow".

This extract is in flagrant contradiction with what he had stated before and if this part is believed the rest of his evidence to which I have already referred cannot be believed. It seems to me to be obvious that what the witness stated in the last part of his deposition is clearly something which cannot be correct. If a workman is present and he is not allotted work there is hardly any occasion for marking him absent, for it is not certainly the fault of the workman that he has not been given work. On the other hand, it seems quite reasonable that the absent mark should be put against his name if he is found absent only when work has been allotted to him. In the circumstances I find it difficult to accept what the witness stated towards the end of his cross-examination. As against this there is on the side of the Union the evidence of Shri Arun Sen who however has no personal knowledge of the matter. He says in his examination in chief that Saheblal used to work as weaver in the Automatic Shed C shift. On 10th June 1960 at 10 p.m. he sustained an injury and was removed to the hospital on 11th June 1960 and he saw him once in the hospital. This is all that he says in his examination in chief. In his cross-examination he says that he saw Saheblal in the hospital either on the 15th or 16th of June 1960 that he was not actually present when the accident took place and that about the incident he stated here only what he had heard from Saheblal and others. He also says that Saheblal has applied for compensation to the Company and not to the Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation. Shri Sen also says that the period of limitation for a claim under the Workmen's Compensation Act is six months, provided nothing is pending. He thinks that as there is a pending proceeding before this Tribunal, and as the workman concerned also filed an application to the Factory Directorate which took up his case his claim is not time-barred. We are not concerned here with the question whether or not Saheblal sustained an injury while on duty in the mills. The only question we are concerned with is whether Saheblal was only a substitute worker and whether by reason of the fact that he was absenting himself from the mills if he did absent himself at all, he ceased to be an employee of the Company or the Company discharged him on account of any such absence. The registers, Exts. 35 and 35(1) show that Saheblal absented himself from duty from the 3rd of June right up to the 12th of June. A Badli workman as defined in paragraph 2(d) of the Standing Orders, Ext. 29, is a workman who is appointed in the post of a permanent workman or a probationer who is temporarily absent. In other words, such a workman has no guarantee of being given work daily. Then paragraph 13 also provides that no notice shall be necessary in the case of a Badli workman. From this it is clear that when a Badli workman starts absenting himself he loses his right to be given work and in this case, as I have already said the attendance registers show that Saheblal was absenting himself from the 3rd of June, to the 12th June and according to the Union's own case he was in the hospital from the 11th of June, right up to the 5th of July 1960 when he is said to have reported for duty. When a substitute workman absents himself without leave or without any information to the authorities there is nothing in the Standing Orders to suggest that he is entitled to be given work. On general principles also a workman enjoying the precarious tenure of a substitute worker entitled to be given work by his employer only [a permanent worker or a probationer is temporarily absent may at the discretion of the employer be enlisted once again as a Badli but then he has no right to be enlisted or to be given work after a continuous unauthorised absence for more than a month. There is no evidence before me to show that actually the Company terminated his services and on the materials before me the only possible conclusion is that Saheblal terminated his own services as a substitute workman of the Company by his continuous unauthorised absence for nearly a month and the Company did not dismiss him or otherwise terminate his services. He is accordingly entitled to no relief. Exhibit T is a discharge certificate of Saheblal from the hospital which shows that he was under treatment in the hospital from 11th June 1960 to 12nd June 1960 for lacerated injury to scrotum, etc., and then Ext. S is a copy of the certificate from a doctor, dated 4th July 1960, that Saheblal was quite fit to resume his duty after an attack of high temperature after his discharge from hospital when he was under the treatment of this doctor. This does not really affect the case against him, for he had already started absenting himself from the 3rd of June 1960.

Chintamoni

The case against Chintamoni as contained in paragraph 12 of the Company's written statement is that he was employed as a substitute workman in Weft Spinning A shift from the 14th of April 1959 and that this Chintamoni started absenting himself from his duties without any authorised leave from the 13th of October 1960 when also he was only a substitute workman and as such in terms of the provisions of the Standing Orders he is entitled to no relief. The Union's written statement on the other hand, as contained in paragraph 3(h) of its written statement, after a general denial of the various allegations made against him, is that he was a double-side piecer in the Ring Frame Department, Weft Spinning A shift and was taken in a permanent vacancy and as he worked for over one year continuously, and he applied for a permanent ticket which was overdue, and he was turned out on 13th October 1960 and since then he has been denied work. No witness was examined on behalf of the Company about him and Shri Arun Sen does not say anything in his examination in chief about Chintamoni. About Chintamoni he says in his cross-examination that according to him Chintamoni had been dismissed by the Company although the Company did not issue any letter of dismissal. He further stated in his cross-examination that Chintamoni and Ramsankar were in Calcutta and he would not be calling them as witnesses. Chintamon's employment book, Ext. RR, was filed by the Union. It shows that he was employed with effect from the 14th of April 1959 and the use of the letter 'S' at the end of the serial No. 62 against his name in this book goes to show that he was a substitute worker. and he was employed in Weft Spinning B shift. As a substitute worker. he could not evidently be permanent. Even according to the Union he was merely taken in a permanent vacancy and he applied for a permanent ticket after a year's continuous service. Even the Union does not make the case that he was a permanent workman, although it seems that the Union's case is that he was entitled to be made permanent and that when he applied for being made permanent he was turned out by the Company. Thus, even according to the Union he had not yet been made permanent. The question now is whether the Union has been able to substantiate the case that he was dismissed. On this point the evidence of Chintamoni would have been very material and even though Shri Arun Sen admits that he was in Calcutta at the time of the hearing of the reference, he was not produced as a witness. In the circumstances it is impossible to hold that the Company got rid of Chintamoni when he applied for being made permanent. As a matter of fact, when no special reason for such a course of action against a particular workman is shown to exist, there is hardly any reason why when the workman becomes entitled to be made permanent the Company should get rid of him only because he has applied for being made permanent. As far as Chintamoni is concerned there is nothing whatever to suggest that the Company had any motive for getting rid of him merely because he had asked for being made permanent. If he had no right under the rules to be made permanent it was open to the Company to say that he was not entitled to be made permanent. But that itself would be no reason why his services would be terminated. The Company has also produced no register that Chintamoni had started absenting himself from the 13th of October 1960. Thus there is no evidence at all before me to show in what circumstances Chintamoni ceased to be an employee of the Company. But, as I have already stated that according to the Company's case Chintamoni was merely a substitute workman and even according to the Union he was not a permanent workman though he had applied for being made permanent, and as the Company does not appear to have terminated his services, Chintamoni as a substitute workman must be held to have somehow or other terminated his own services and it is probable, though there is no evidence either way that he did so, by absenting himself from the 13th of October 1960 as alleged on behalf of the Company. In the circumstances it cannot be held that he was actually dismissed by the Company so as to be entitled to any relief.

Ramasankar

As regards Ramasankar the Company's case as stated in paragraph 13 is that he was employed on the 19th May 1959 as a substitute workman in Warp Spinning B shift and he started absenting himself without any authorised leave from the 14th July 1960 and as such he was not in terms of the provision of the Standing Orders entitled to any relief. The Union's case on the other hand as stated in paragraph 3(i) of its written statement is a general denial of all the allegations of the Company against him and that he could not report for duty on 14th July 1960 on which day there was a general strike all over the State of West Bengal and on and from 15th July 1960 he was refused work without any charge-sheet or anything of the kind, and there was no enquiry. On behalf of the Company no witness was examined about Ramasankar and on behalf of the Union Shri Arun Sen, the General Secretary of the Union, proved Exts. V and W, copies of two letters of Ramasankar addressed to the Manager and the Deputy Chief Officer of Kesoram Cotton Mills. In his cross-examination he does not appear to have stated anything. Although Ramasankar was in Calcutta he was not called as a witness. Exhibit QQ is Ramasankar's Employment Book filed on behalf of the Union. It shows that he was employed on 19th

May 1959 in the Warp Spinning Department. In this employment book against his serial No. 97 there is the letter 'S' showing thereby that he was a substitute workman only. Exhibit V is a copy of Ramasankar's application to the manager, dated 17th August 1960, in which he states that he could not attend duty on 14th July 1960 because of the strike situation and though he was going to work he was not given any work and Ext. W is a copy of another application to the Deputy Chief Officer of the Kesoram Cotton Mills in which also he repeats the same thing. On behalf of the Company there is no denial of the allegations made here nor is there any evidence to show that the statements made in Exts. V and W were not correct. It must accordingly be held that although Ramasankar could not attend on the 14th of July 1960, he reported for duty thereafter but was not given any work. On the 14th of July 1960 there was a partial strike in the mills as I have already stated in connection with some of the other workmen. The absence of Ramasankar on that day might well have been due to that but according to his petitions Exts. V and W he was reporting himself for duty thereafter. The Company should have, if it were possible for it to do so, certainly tried to provide him with work when he reported for duty. But then if the Company did not do so it is hardly possible for the Tribunal to say that the Company did something wrong in view of the fact that as a substitute workman he had no right to be given work whenever he turned up, as whether or not he should be given work depended on the question whether work was available for him. Whether he was refused work on the days following the 14th of July 1960 in good faith by the Company, it is of course difficult to say on the materials before me. In the circumstances I do not think it is possible for me to hold that the Company terminated his services though it appears that the Company did not give him work from the 15th of July 1960 when he turned up for work at the mills. The workman being merely a substitute workman had no guarantee of work being provided for him and as such the Tribunal cannot give him any relief.

My award then, in this reference, is that the dismissal of Sibu, Bhaskar and Mithoo, Sarbadin and Haladhar, Kailash, Nidhiram, Ramjan, Ramfer and Merai was justified and they are not entitled to any relief; that Ram Kewal and Mataprosad, two permanent workmen, had lost by reason of their unauthorised absence their lien on their appointments, but their dismissal without actually calling upon them to join as substitutes was not justified and so they are entitled to be placed on the Badli list of the Company and if they fail to turn up for work within a month of the award coming into force, it will be open to the Company to strike off their names from the badli list; that Saheblal, Chintamoni and Ramasankar were all badli workmen or substitutes and they were not dismissed; that Saheblal terminated his services by his unauthorised absence and that Chintamoni also probably did so, and that Ramasankar does not appear to have terminated his services by any such unauthorised absence, except on the 14th of July 1960 when he could not attend because of a strike in the mills, but none of them can be given any relief.

As regards Bharat and Dharmu whose cases are not pressed by the Union, on the ground that they have been settled out of court, I make no award.

WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri P. C. PAL, Judge.

Appearances:

For the Employer: Shri B. N. Sen, Advocate.

For the Union: Shri M. M. Saha, Advocate.

This is a reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947 by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 7263-I.R./IR/11L-496/61, dated 25th November 1961, for determination of the issue, namely-

Whether the dismissal of Shri Tulsi Charan Das is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

After the parties put in their respective written statements and completed all necessary tadbirs in due course, the case was finally fixed on 28th November 1962 for hearing. On that date the parties came to terms and reached to an amicable settlement, and accordingly they filed a petition of compromise, embodying the terms and stipulations of settlement. I have heard both parties' lawyers and perused the terms of compromise which are accepted as being fair and reasonable.

The petition of compromise shall form part of the award as an annexure thereto.
